FULL PROGRAMMES of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco can be found in FIGARO—the only paper that has them.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Rehearsal called at the Buckingham at 12 o'clock Thursday, for everybody.

The Ghost Exhibition at the Wonderland is a great performance and is a subject of universal comment. The effects are mysterious and some of the apparitions startling.

The wires tell us that Adam Forepaugh, the circus manager, presented the City of New York, as a New Year's gift, his elephant Tip. Tip will retire from "the business," as he will be domiciled in Central Park, his permanent home after Jan. 2d. Tip tips the scales at five tons. He is ten feet high and only eighteen years old.

The Bijou Theatre at Seattle has been leased and is occupied by the W. C. T. U. Major Geo. A. Hilton, the temperance lecturer, is now conducting a series of gospel revival meetings, and, according to appearances, with good results.

Billy Birch, the ancient minstrel, is spending the winter in New York. He fills occasional engagements only.

Next season Imre Kiralfy will give the "Black Crook" a gorgeous revival at one of the Broadway, N. Y., theatres, where it will be put on for a run of several months.

Mrs. Harry Maynard writes FIGARO from Prescott, Ariz., to acquaint us of the death of Irene Baker, well known in the variety business (widow of Harry Lorraine), who died suddenly on Christmas Day. The deceased was the wife of Bob Brow, and was a general favorite with the members of the profession.

The Wonderland has added a new wonder to its curio department, a perfect giant horse, a little over 20 hands high, weighing over 3400 pounds, the largest horse in the world. The management introduce Prof. Pepper's Ghost, direct from New York, this week—a wonder and a mystery, a puzzle to all.

The Uniques put on their pantomime, Humpty Dumpty on a Farm, in fine style at the Cremorne this week. The pantomime is full of wonderful tricks from beginning to end. The Uniques were booked by the FIGARO Amusement Agency.

"Sam" Lewis has taken the new theatre on Market street, near Seventh, opposite Odd Fellows' Hall, formerly known as the Buckingham, and opens it Saturday night under substantial auspices. He has taken time enough to start off right, make some improvements and gather together a good company before opening. Mr. Lewis is something of a pioneer in vaudeville management, having run the Bella Union and other theatres in time past, and has a good record as a substantial, competent and popular manager.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

Playing snipe nearly cost Ed. Snipe, a young man of Cleburn, Tex., his life. He went behind the target in the shooting gallery where his friend was shooting and hollowing "Boo, I'm a snipe," put his mouth to the bullseye. His friend blazed away and struck the centre, the ball entering the mouth of Mr. Snipe, knocking out several teeth and cutting an ugly and dangerous wound.

Manager of museum, furiously — Wat's de meanen of all dis delay in de show? The Fiji Chief—Pizza, sor, the performin' goat has ate up all the paper cannon balls, and the shtrong man can't go on wid his par-r-t.

"Are you a guest at this house?" asked the clerk at the cigar stand of a traveling man. "A guest." "Oh, no; not at all. I am simply permitted to live here—tolerated at the rate of $4 per day."

Business man — (who has ordered cold roast duck, and is out of patience)—Waiter, how long must I wait? Waiter—If you will kindly have patience, the duck is not yet quite cold.

A Brooklyn man is so modest that he never changes his boarding place until after dark.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Large business was done at all the theatres yesterday afternoon and evening.

Mr. Kiralfy has selected some of the prettiest of the young ladies of his ballet of the San Francisco contingent to strengthen his corps of coryphees, and will take them to New York with him. We lose a few every time a combination leaves 'Frisco. Rice and Carleton took some, and now comes Kiralfy to gather in a few more. The three managers all acknowledge that San Francisco girls are far ahead of all the other cities for grace and beauty.

Manager Morosco made his son a New Year's present of a fine Piute pony with a fast record. Young Morosco is now only waiting to find someone who can beat him in a fair race—that's all.

Thors, the famous photographer, has pictures of Mme. Hading in twelve different positions, characters and costumes. The pictures are a triumph of photographic art.

John D. Gilbert and Edwin Foy are to star next season in a farce comedy.

A dispatch informs us of the death of Alonzo R. Phelps, a pioneer California actor and a leading man in the days of the old Metropolitan Theatre on Montgomery street, in this city, nearly twenty years ago. He died in Philadelphia on the 31st, passing out with the year.

Peck's Bad Boy Co. is doing big business in the interior. Route: Sissons 2, Aetna 3, Yreka 4, Ashland (Or.) 5, Eugene City 7, Albany 8, Salem 9, Portland 10.

McFadden's Uncle Tom Co. will be the attraction New Year's week at the Los Angeles Opera House.

The mechanical effects in A Noble Rogue are very novel and startling. In one scene the drawbridge is opened and swung out far into the orchestra. Many new devices have been used in the production of the piece.

Manager Morosco was presented by his company with an elegant saddle, bridle and blanket this morning—New Years. "Saddle White Surry for the field tomorrow."

Rehearsals have commenced for The Black Crook, which is underlined to follow Mazulm at the Grand Opera House.

Manager Nannery starts out with Neil Warner and Co. this week. Napa 3-4, Vallejo 5. The plays presented will be Othello and Richard III.

Chicago theatrical licenses have been raised from $500 to $1,000.

Mr. J. H. Connell was lately arrested in Chicago because, as manager of The Mystery [illegible] gathered the receipts prior to his unannounced flight from the company.

The Oolah, which is to be played at the Broadway New York next May by Francis Wilson, turns out to be an Americanized version of Lecocq's La Jolie Persanne.

Mike Kelly, the baseball player, is engaged to act in Hoyt's Tin Soldier.

A Chicago newsboy did not enjoy the Coquelin-Hading performances, asserting that he did not go to the Opera House in a carriage, and consequently failed to "catch on to the lingo."

Manager J. M. Hill has concluded to withdraw his Philip Herne from the road.

Sophie Eyre, who was at Wallack's two seasons ago, is in financial trouble, arising from her brief managerial venture at the Gaiety Theatre, London.

JOHN CORT'S CHRISTMAS DINNER.

We copy the following from the Seattle Times of Dec. 26th. It was a royal feast Manager Cort spread for his friends on Christmas Day:

The Armory Hall has contained larger gatherings than that which wended its way thither yesterday in response to John Cort's generous invitation to dinner, but it would be safe to wager a gayer crowd never made the ball resound with their laughter. Christmas turkey, Christmas cranberries, Christmas pies, never tasted sweeter to those jolly professionals, who all drank in flowing bumpers to the beneficence of "The Whitest Manager of the Pacific Coast."

The menu was very extravagant and unique. Nine courses, with from three to eight dishes in each course, and wine unlimited, composed the substantial part of the dinner; while songs, speeches and wit completed it. Each dish was named after some member of the company, giving rise to much humor. When the last course was cleared away, and the wine—the rich, gay wine—was being quaffed, Mr. John Burton, on behalf of the employees of Cort's Standard Theatre, presented Mr. Cort with a most magnificent silver tea service. Mr. Cort responded in a neat speech. The merry-making went on. Dinner over, the guests adjourned to the main hall, where to the strains of Prof. Learned's orchestra they chased the hours away until it was time to return to their posts of duty, and employees never worked with lighter hearts or heavier stomachs than did those same people last evening. During intermissions in the dancing speeches were made by Mr. John A. Costello, Mr. Frank Morley, Mr. Alex. Zanfrette and Mr. Goodkind.

Mr. Press—Did I understand you to say, Madam, that your husband was in favor of the "Omnibus Bill?" Mrs. Congressman (haughtily)—No, sir. My husband always rides in a carriage.

City Man—What effect have these heavy rains on your farm in Tulare, Mr. Hayseed? Mr. Hayseed—Well, I've kinder concluded I'll try raisin' fish for the market instead of garden truck.

When a man dies and leaves a nice widow with plenty of money, and you see her walking out with the executor on Sunday afternoons, a change is imminent.

Buckingham Theatre.

This new theatre, 1342-1344 Market street, opposite Seventh street, will be opened with a strong company Saturday night, under the management of Sam Lewis, an experienced manager and a popular man.

The stage has been lowered, and improvements have been made in the auditorium.

Frank Monroe is the stage manager; Isadore Franks leader of orchestra, and Sam'l Bostwick stage carpenter.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Hourly descriptive lectures by Colonel J. J. Aikens of the 58th Illinois.

EVENING EDITION

WEDNESDAY.....JANUARY 2, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's Bush Street Theatre.

This is the last week of the big show: M. B. Leavitt's Grand European Novelties, a constellation of twenty-odd artists selected by Manager Leavitt from the amusement capitals of Europe during his tour on the continent last Summer; the last chance to see one of the strongest vaudeville companies that ever visited this country. There is a deal of fun evolved in the performance, and every act is finished and refined.

We have heretofore enumerated the excellent qualities of the specialty features of Manager Leavitt's company. They comprise a wide range of talent, and are what their company name indicates: Novelties. The artists forming the company are the best on the stage. Their various lines of business are duly specified in the programme of the theatre on our first page.

Last matinee Saturday. Last performance Sunday night; which will be made memorable as the last night of the old Bush St. Theatre; as it will be a new theatre when re-opened.

Manager Leavitt will temporarily close the Bush Street Theatre to make important changes and improvements; which will make it a new theatre. New boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third-tier gallery, and new decorations and appointments will be the order of improvement, at the cost of $20,000. The new Bush will open on Saturday, January 26th, with Lydia Thompson's English Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company commenced their season in Mynheer Jan, a new opera by the authors of Erminie. The scene of the opera is laid in Holland in the sixteenth century, during the Spanish invasion, and its characters are a mingling of Hollanders and Spaniards. The opera has recorded a success. It is bright and tuneful, and Carleton, Drew, Alice Vincent, Clara Wisdom, and the members of the company generally do their usual good work in singing and acting. The company is strong and everything is favorable for Mynheer Jan's run here.

The cast can be found in the Baldwin's programme space in our columns.

Alcazar Theatre.

A Noble Rogue, Steele Mackey's latest Eastern success, presented for the Christmas attraction, produced in the most elaborate and effective manner, is continued here for the New Year's week.

A Noble Rogue involves the fortunes of a boy stolen in infancy, and, like Oliver Twist, reared by thieves. Brought up in that life he becomes a rogue, trickster and counterfeiter, by force of villainous association and training, but retains an honesty of nature, and finally renounces his bad associates and becomes a good citizen. It is melodramatic and scenic to a degree that keeps both the people on the boards and those behind the scenes busy. Two of its notable effects are a fine steamer scene and a drawbridge that swings out over the orchestra on the turn.

Mr. Carden plays the railroad king better than any part he has yet given us. Geo. Osbourne does a strong piece of character work as the Noble Rogue. He seems to have thoroughly caught Steele Mackey's idea of the character.

Stockwell makes much out of the small comedy part of Peter Slink. Ethel Brandon plays the role of Grace Mortimer very acceptably, and the same must be said of Fanny Young, Minnie Young and Hattie Moore.

Grand Opera House.

Manager Al Hayman's Holiday attraction at the Grand, Imre Kiralfy's spectacular pantomime of Mazulm, the Night Owl, with the scenery and stage garniture as produced at the Academy of Music, New York, is continued indefinitely.

Mazulm is a grand pantomime in all its appointments. There is an acting company, a grand Kiralfy ballet, with a new star premiere, absolute, Mlle. Lile, from the Berlin Opera House, accompanied by four premieres, who make their first appearances in America at the Grand. Besides there are the Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes; Mons. Arnold, the best of grotesque dancers; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Bros. eccentric gymnasts, and other Alhambra novelties.

The pantomime goes with great spirit and dash. The dancing and marching are fine features of the bill. This year Kiralfy has the best appointed ballet he ever had, all being young and comely women.

Special matinee Thursday this week, besides the regular Saturday matinee.

Standard Theatre.

This cosy theatre has been renovated, repainted and placed in complete order for the dramatic season of Miss Jeffreys-Lewis and company.

Miss Lewis appears this week in another of her great impersonations, Geraldine Calthrope (La Belle Russe), a character that brings out all her intellectuality and intensity, and one in which she stands without a rival.

There is the fascination of a strong mentality in Jeffreys-Lewis' impersonations that give zest to their enjoyment, notwithstanding that her lines of characters are abhorrent in themselves, with as much of the fiend as the woman in them. There is a strength and power in her looks and words as she depicts these adventuresses that charms while it repels. Where other actresses fail in depicting these women at war with the world she becomes magnetically interesting and carries her audiences with her, not in sympathy, but by force of mental power. There is no actress on the stage that can equal Jeffreys-Lewis in her favorite line of characters. She has made them her own.

Harry Mainhall has the strength of the support as Captain Brand, and renders it very efficiently. Frank Peters is good as Sir Philip; J. J. Wallace, very dramatically nervous, as Lawyer Quilton, and Miss Lamont sufficiently motherly as Lady Calthorpe to make the strongest play on our boards this week go along very smoothly.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Orpheum Opera House.

Miss Georgie Woodthorpe appears this week in her emotional part of Poor Jo, in the play of that name, dramatized from Charles Dickens' Bleak House, and has made a marked success in the part by the naturalness, feeling and pathos she gives to it. The applause she receives is merited. Poor Jo has found a representative worthy to succeed Jennie Lee, who played it for a year and a half in London.

The cast, which can be found on another page, calls for the Dedlocks, Lawyer Tulkinghorn, Inspector Bucket, Hortense, Guppy and most of the principal characters in "Bleak House."

Miss Anita Fallon is notably good as Hortense and sustains the dialect admirably. Messrs. Cooper, Philleo, Holden and Bronson do careful work and quite hit their characters. Dickens' story is condensely dramatized and makes a very interesting play. It seems like making old acquaintances to see his characters on the stage.

Matinee Saturday and Sunday.

The Orpheum returns to specialty entertainment next week, with Moore's European and American stars, from the East, as the week's attraction.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week's attraction will be My Geraldine, with the return of that popular favorite here, Darrell Vinton, who re-appears in the character of Maurice Arden, Miss Essie Tittel playing the heroine, Geraldine.

Mr. Vinton has met with a hearty welcome from his many friends this week, and it will be a gala week for both star and manager.

Mr. Vinton plays the part of Maurice Arden in a finished manner, and appears to the best advantage, showing at every point his genius as an actor. The company render him strong support, and the immense house is packed at every performance.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of French Blondes, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, are playing with all their old time versatility, and have scored a noteworthy success. Full houses every night.

John P. Brace, the favorite comedian, and Miss Judd London, male impersonator, have been added to the already strong bill.

Laura Ashby, Florence Sylva, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey, May Anderson, F. J. Tierney and Taylor Jahmes continue this week.

Miss Camille Kenyon, serio-comic and burlesquer; Cunningham & Talbot, Bursell, Judd London, the Herberts and Stanley Sisters, together with 16 other ladies, make up a bill of 40 artists for this week.

The bear has been re-engaged, and will wrestle with any man for money or beer.

Billy Arnold's latest sensation, The Parisian Can-Can; or, The French Minuet, opens the bill.

The Can-Can is on for its last week.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Heikes & McClelland's Wonderland.

A Museum and Theatre combined, where performances are given every hour, from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M.

The new features in the Museum this week are the largest horse in the world, 20 hands high, weighing 3400 pounds; Barnum's original tattooed man, Captain Constantine; the Circassian Beauty, and Little Dot, the smallest woman in the world, 22 inches in statue.

Capt. Chittenden's Arctic Museum, the Aztics, the wax-work museum, etc., remain.

The Theatre company are: Charles and May Morrell, Lazelle & Ward, John Bajan, Miss Nina Gordon, Little Shorty Green, the Rubber Ball, 24 inches high—who creates a deal of amusement in his afterpiece, "The Funny Clown in a Barrel," and others.

Prof. Pepper's Ghost, just from the East, a series of wonderful and mysterious tableaux and startling apparitions, will be this week's attraction for the Theatre department.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. A few reserved seats at a slight advance.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

The new people this week are Post & Gross and Millie Davenport.

The Uniques, the Levinos, Leonzo, Will H. Bray and the two $10,000 wrestling bears remain.

The Uniques put on a fine pantomime, Humpty Dumpty on a Farm. All the tricks are cleverly executed, and they are bound to make a big hit with the patrons of the Cremorne. The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; Leonzo, the skillful juggler; Will H. Bray, author and composer; Johnnie Cain, Post & Gross and Miss Millie Davenport are are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne for the Holiday week.

Manager Hallinan is seeing Manager Foster and going him one better—he has two bears, $10,000 bears. They appear every night at the Cremorne in wrestling matches. The first bouts are man against bear, singly, followed by the bears wrestling with each other, catch-as-catch-can. They are big cards.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers re-opened their popular vaudeville house most successfully Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Julia Hilton, Belle Manning, Jennie Miller, Jennie Mason, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Julia Hilton, the charming serio-comic, and Mr. John Miller, comedian, are the new faces this week.

Miss Jennie Miller, serio-comic, and McPherson & McNiece (the Black Lime Lights), comedians, vocalists and dancers, remain.

The Komical Koons open the bill, followed by a very full and diversified olio and the comedy, Push & Company, more olio features, then the farce, A Bowl of Egg-Nog, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall

This is one of the neatest and c theatres in the city, and good man made it one of the most popular o theatres for years past. Manager runs a very strong company. The lady vocalists this week.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Manager Lewis wants specialty ladies for the opening of the Buckingham, Saturday night.

Letters at this office for Prince Wells and Fred. Gardner (2). Will be forwarded on receipt of stamps.

Bush St. Thespian—What, back again! I thought you was going around the world. Manager of Around the World Aggregation of Stars—Well, we started out with that intent and got along well enough until we struck Cloverdale and the total eclipse belt district. That demoral zed our backer. I tell you they thought of nothing else all through that country but the eclipse. Couldn't get 'em to come to see the show. They had eclipse on the brain. Biz was rotten. My solid man jumped the show, and we worked up a ben. to get back here. Bush St. Thespian—What are you going to do; sue him? No. Give him a razzle-dazzle and start out again in two weeks with a panorama of the eclipse to give them in place of a drop curtain to open the show with. That'll catch 'em!

Rehearsal called at the Buckingham at 12 o'clock Saturday, for everybody.

The Ghost Exhibition at the Wonderland is a great performance and is a subject of universal comment. The effects are mysterious and some of the apparitions startling.

The wires tell us that Adam Forepaugh, the circus manager, presented the City of New York, as a New Year's gift, his elephant Tip. Tip will retire from "the business," as he will be domiciled in Central Park, his permanent home after Jan. 2nd. Tip tips the scales at five tons. He is ten feet high and only eighteen years old.

The Bijou Theatre at Seattle has been leased and is occupied by the W. C. T. U. Major Geo. A. Hilton, the temperance lecturer, is now conducting a series of gospel revival meetings, and, according to appearances, with good results.

Next season Imre Kiralfy will give the "Black Crook" a gorgeous revival at one of the Broadway, N. Y., theatres, where it will be put on for a run of several months.

The Wonderland has added a new wonder to its curio department, a perfect giant horse, a little over 20 hands high, weighing over 3400 pounds, the largest horse in the world. The management introduce the London Ghost Mystery, direct from New York, this week—a wonder and a mystery, a puzzle to all.

The Uniques put on their pantomime, Humpty Dumpty on a Farm, in fine style at the Cremorne this week. The pantomime is full of wonderful tricks from beginning to end. The Uniques were booked by the FIGARO Amusement Agency.

"Sam" Lewis has taken the new theatre on Market street, near Seventh, opposite Odd Fellows' Hall, formerly known as the Buckingham, and opens it Saturday night under substantial auspices. He has taken time enough to start off right, make some improvements and gather together a good company before opening. Mr. Lewis is something of a pioneer in vaudeville management, having run the Bella Union and other theatres in time past, and has a good record as a substantial, competent and popular manager.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

Manager of museum, furiously — Wat's de meaneu of all dis delay in de show? The Fiji Chief—Plaze, sor, the performin' goat has ate up all the paper cannon balls, and the shtrong mon can't go on wid his par-r-t.

"Are you a guest at this house?" asked the clerk at the cigar-stand of a traveling man. "A guest." "Oh, no; not at all. I am simply permitted to live here—tolerated at the rate of $4 per day."

When a man dies and leaves a nice widow with plenty of money, and you see her walking out with the executor on Sunday afternoons, a change is imminent.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

John A. Mackay, who was to have opened in Orange, N. J., New Year's night, in his new play, "A Noble Son," has mysteriously disappeared and no traces can be found of him. It is feared that hard study and anxiety about his piece have unbalanced his mind. That is what a dispatch of Jan. 2nd said. But this morning's telegram tells how the missing actor was discovered in Brooklyn, "suffering from an attack of nervous prostration." Too much New Year's.

Mrs. Potter has not met with success in 'Twixt Axe and Crown. Most of the New York critics find much fault with her acting.

Kate Forsythe is very ill and has been ordered to the Southern States by her New York physicians.

Geo. H. Jessop and Ben Teal have finished a melodrama local to New York, which will speedily be produced.

James Barrows has lately been hitting it all around. First as the darky in Held by the Enemy, now as Major Putnam in The Wife.

George S. Knight has so far recovered from the late attack of nervous prostration that his physicians say he will be able to resume professional work with the spring of 1889.

Mr. Kiralfy has selected some of the prettiest of the young ladies of his ballet of the San Francisco contingent to strengthen his corps of coryphees, and will take them to New York with him. We lose a few every time a combination leaves 'Frisco. Rice and Carleton took some, and now comes Kiralfy to gather in a few more. The three managers all acknowledge that San Francisco girls are far ahead of all the other cities for grace and beauty.

Manager Morosco made his son a New Year's present of a fine Pinto pony with a fast record. Young Morosco is now only waiting to find someone who can beat him in a fair race—that's all.

Thors, the famous photographer, has pictures of Mme. Hading in twelve different positions, characters and costumes. The pictures are a triumph of photographic art.

John D. Gilbert and Edwin Foy are to star next season in a farce comedy.

A dispatch informs us of the death of Alonzo R. Phelps, a pioneer California actor and a leading man in the days of the old Metropolitan Theatre on Montgomery street, in this city, nearly twenty years ago. He died in Philadelphia on the 31st, passing out with the year.

Peck's Bad Boy Co. is doing big business in the interior. Route: Yreka 4, Ashland (Or.) 5, Eugene City 7, Albany 8, Salem 9, Portland 10.

Manager Morosco was presented by his company with an elegant saddle, bridle and blanket New Years. "Saddle White Surry for the field to-morrow."

Rehearsals have commenced for The Black Crook, which is underlined to follow Mazulm at the Grand Opera House.

Manager Nannery starts out with Neil Warner and Co. this week. Napa 3-4, Vallejo 5. The plays presented will be Othello and Richard III.

LEONA DARE'S TEACHER.

T. S. Dare, the clown in Mazulm, though he appears quite a young man as he performs his merry antics and skilled feats, has really turned his 40th year. He is not, as is generally supposed, the brother of Leona Dare, who is now doing her great trapeze act in England, but was at one time her husband. About fifteen years ago they first met in New Orleans, where Dare was the stage manager of a theatre. Leona was then about 16 years of age, and had some little experience as a supernumary. She was brought to Dare, who was asked if he could not give her a place in the theatre. He was struck by her appearance, and undertook to teach her to work on the trapeze. She was daring, strong in nerve and muscle, and quick to learn, and it was not long before they were giving exhibitions. Dare traveled with her through the South and into Mexico, and then made a tour of Central and South America, where Leona became a great celebrity and began the conquest of hearts, which afterward proved too much for her vanity and completely turned her head. When they returned to New York Leona created a sensation by eloping. Her appearance here in a Christmas piece at the California Theatre and the sensation that her dashing performance created will be remembered by most of the readers of FIGARO. Her subsequent career, her marriage to a German count, her social splurge in Chicago, the discovery of her identity, the divorce, and the return to the trapeze in company with a new lover, is as well known as it need be. Dare was divorced from her eight years ago, and has been happily married to a more domestic wife for the last six years.

DEATH OF "BETSY B."

Mrs. Joseph Austin, better known as "Betsy B," died at the Palace Hotel on the afternoon of New Year's Day, after a long and painful illness. She wrote much and upon many subjects, but it was as a dramatic critic that she excelled. When the Argonaut was founded by Fred. Somers and Frank Pixley, she was retained as a member of the staff, and her letters became one of the attractions of that journal. Mrs. Austin is a member of a large family. Her brother is Jerome Hart, associate editor of the Argonaut.

The funeral services took place to-day in Trinity Church at 1 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Beers officiated. The burial was strictly private.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Hourly descriptive lectures by Colonel J. J. Aikens of the 58th Illinois.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Buisness man — (who has ordered cold roast duck, and is out of patience)—Waiter, how long must I wait? Waiter — If you will kindly have patience, the duck is not yet quite cold.

Buckingham Theatre.

This new theatre, 1342-1344 Market street, opposite Seventh street, will be opened with a strong company Saturday night, under the management of Sam Lewis, an experienced manager and a popular man.

The stage has been lowered, and improvements have been made in the auditorium.

Frank Monroe is the stage manager; Isadore Franks leader of orchestra, and Sam'l Bostwick stage carpenter.

Lavender & Thompson, an Eastern sketch team; Billy White, John Mortell, the Clifford Sisters, Vernie Vernell, Clarence Starr, Nellie Huffman, Fanny Zolar form a part of the opening company.

FIGARO is the official Journal of all the Grand Theatrical Productions, and the only paper that publishes their full programme.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's Bush Street Theatre.

Where the last week of the big show with Leavitt's Great European Novelties, a [illegible] by artists selected by Manager Leavitt from the successful capitals of Europe, during his tour on the continent last summer. The best chance to see one of the best variety companies that ever visited this country. There is a deal of fun provided in the performance, and every act is [illegible] received.

We have heretofore enumerated the excellent qualities of the specialty features of Manager Leavitt's company. They comprise a wide range of talent, and are what their company claims—Novelties. The artists forming the company are the best on the stage. Their various lines of business are duly specified in the programme of the theatre on our first page.

Last matinee Saturday. Last performance Saturday night, which will be made memorable as the last night of the old Bush St. Theatre; as it will be a new theatre when re-opened.

—o—

Manager Leavitt will temporarily close the Bush Street Theatre to make important changes and improvements; which will make it a new theatre. New boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third-tier gallery, and new decorations and appointments will be the order of improvement, at the cost of $20,000. The new Bush will open on Monday, January 28th, with Lydia Thompson's English Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company commenced their season at Mynheer Jan, a new opera by the authors of Erminie. The scene of the opera is laid in Holland in the sixteenth century during the Spanish invasion, and its characters are a mingling of Hollanders and Spaniards.

Mr. Carleton, as Mynheer Jan, is the head; Chas. Plunkett is the funny man of the cast, and in his character he sings a very funny song during the last act. Mr. Jay C. Taylor, Clara Wisdom and Alice Vincent have lost none of their popularity; they all filled the position given them admirably.

Next week, January 7th, The Queen's Lace Handkerchief.

The cast can be found in the Baldwin's programme space in our columns.

Alcazar Theatre

A Noble Rogue, Steele Mackey's latest Eastern success, presented for the Christmas attraction, produced in the most elaborate and effective manner, is continued here for the New Year's week.

A Noble Rogue involves the fortunes of a boy stolen in infancy, and, like Oliver Twist, reared by thieves. Brought up in that life he becomes a rogue, trickster and counterfeiter, by force of villainous association and training, but retains an honesty of nature, and finally renounces his bad associates and becomes a good citizen. It is melodramatic and scenic to a degree that keeps both the people on the boards and those behind the scenes busy. Two of the notable effects are a fine steamer scene and a drawbridge that swings out over the orchestra on the turn.

Mr. Carden plays the railroad king better than any part he has yet given us. Geo. Osbourne [illegible] piece of character work as the Negro dupe. He seems to have thoroughly caught Steele Mackey's idea of the character.

[illegible] of the specialties introduced in Pete Short's scene. Harrison plays the part of Count Monteleone very acceptably, and he is ably assisted by Fanny Young, Minnie Young and Lottie Moore.

The Orpheum will be the next attraction.

Grand Opera House.

Jacobs & Bonnet's Holiday attraction at the Grand, Imre Kiralfy's spectacular pantomime of Mazulm, The Night Owl, with its scenery and stage furniture as produced at the Academy of Music, New York, is continued indefinitely.

Mazulm is a grand pantomime in all its appointments. There is an acting company, a Grand Kiralfy ballet, with a new star premiere, absolute, Mlle Lile, from the Berlin Opera House, accompanied by four premieres, who make their first appearances in America at the Grand. Besides these are the Clark Sisters, the great aerial artistes; Mons. Arnold, the best of grotesque dancers; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Bros. eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

The pantomime goes with great spirit and dash. The dancing and marching are fine features of the bill. This year Kiralfy has the best appointed ballet he ever had, all being young and comely women.

Standard Theatre.

This cosy theatre has been renovated, repainted and placed in complete order for the dramatic season of Miss Jeffreys-Lewis and company.

Miss Lewis appears this week in another of her great impersonations, Geraldine Calthrope (La Belle Russe), a character that brings out all her intellectuality and intensity, and one in which she stands without a rival.

There is the fascination of a strong mentality in Jeffreys-Lewis' impersonations that give zest to their enjoyment, notwithstanding that her lines of characters are abhorrent in themselves, with as much of the fiend as the woman in them. There is a strength and power in her looks and words as she depicts these adventuresses that charms while it repels. Where other actresses fail in depicting these women at war with the world she becomes magnetically interesting and carries her audiences with her, not in sympathy, but by force of mental power. There is no actress on the stage that can equal Jeffreys-Lewis in her favorite line of characters, she has made them her own.

Harry Meredith has the strength of the support as Captain Brand, and plays the part very [illegible]. Frank Peters is good as Sir Philip, J. J. Wallace very dramatically nervous as Lawyer Quibble, and Miss Lamont sufficiently [illegible] as Lady Calthrope to make the strongest play on our boards this week go along very smoothly.

For [illegible] programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

The strong play of Led Astray will be next week's bill.

Orpheum Opera House.

Miss Georgie Woodthorpe appears this week in her emotional part of Poor Jo, in the play of that name, dramatized from Charles Dickens' Bleak House, and has made a marked success in the part by the naturalness, feeling and pathos she gives to it. The applause she receives is merited. Poor Jo has found a representative worthy to succeed Jennie Lee, who played it for a year and a half in London.

The cast, which can be found on another page, calls for the Dedlocks, Lawyer Tulkinghorn, Inspector Bucket, Hortense, Guppy and most of the principal characters in "Bleak House."

Miss Anita Fallon is notably good as Hortense and sustains the dialect admirably. Messrs. Cooper, Philleo, Holden and Bronson do careful work and quite hit their characters. Dickens' story is condensely dramatized and makes a very interesting play. It seems like making old acquaintances to see his characters on the stage.

Matinee Saturday and Sunday.

The Orpheum returns to specialty entertainment next week, with Moore's European and American stars, from the East, as the week's attraction.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week's attraction will be My Geraldine, with the return of that popular favorite here, Darrell Vinton, who re-appears in the character of Maurice Arden, Miss Essie Tittel playing the heroine, Geraldine.

Mr. Vinton has met with a hearty welcome from his many friends this week, and it will be a gala week for both star and manager.

Mr. Vinton plays the part of Maurice Arden in a finished manner, and appears to the best advantage, showing at every point his genius as an actor. The company render him strong support, and the immense house is packed at every performance.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

Next week's attraction will be Bartley Campbell's White Slave.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of French Blondes, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, are playing with all their old time versatility, and have scored a noteworthy success. Full houses every night.

John P. Brace, the favorite comedian, and Miss Judd London, male impersonator, have been added to the already strong bill.

Laura Ashby, Florence Sylva, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey, May Anderson F. J. Tierney and Taylor Jahmes continue this week.

Miss Camille Kenyon, serio-comic and burlesquer; Cunningham & Talbot, Burnell, Judd London, the Herberts and Stanley Sisters, together with 16 other ladies, make up a bill of 40 artists for this week.

The bear has been re-engaged, and will wrestle with any man for money or beer.

Billy Arnold's latest sensation. The Parisian Can-Can; or, The French Minuet, opens the bill.

The Can-Can is on for its last week.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Heilke & McClelland's Wonderland.

A Museum and Theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The new features in the Museum this week are the largest horse in the world, 20 hands high, weighing 3400 pounds; Barnum's original tattooed man, Captain Constantine; the Circassian Beauty, and Little Dot, the smallest woman in the world, 22 inches in statue.

Capt. Chittenden's Arctic Museum, the Aztlos, the wax-work museum, etc., remain.

The theatre company are: Charles and May Morrell, Arnold & Ward, John Dunn, Miss Nona Gomez, Little Shorty Green, the Rubber Ball, 24 inches high—who creates a deal of amusement in his afterpiece, "The Funny Clown in a Barrel," and others.

Prof. Pepper's Ghost, just from the East, a series of wonderful and mysterious tableaux and startling apparitions, will be this week's attraction for the Theatre department.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. A few reserved seats at a slight advance.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

The new people this week are Post & Gross and Millie Davenport.

The Unique, the Leonos, Lorenzo, Will H. Bray and the two $10,000 wrestling bears remain.

The Unique put on a fine pantomime, Humpty Dumpty on a farm. All the tricks are cleverly executed, and they are bound to make a big hit with the patrons of the Cremorne. The Leonos in their great act, The Rival Arts; Lorenzo, the skillful juggler; Will H. Bray, author and composer; Johnnie Cain, Post & Gross and Miss Millie Davenport are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne for the Holiday week.

Manager Hallinan is seeing Manager Foster and going him one better—he has two bears, $10,000 bears. They appear every night at the Cremorne in wrestling matches. The first bouts are man against bear, singly, followed by the bears wrestling with each other, catch-as-catch-can. They are big cards.

Original Theatre Comique.

Messrs. Burns & Travers re-opened their popular vaudeville house most successfully. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Julia Hilton, Belle Manning, Jennie Miller, Jennie Mason, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Julia Hilton, the charming serio-comic, and Mr. John Miller, comedian, are the new faces this week.

Miss Jennie Miller, serio-comic, and McPherson & McNiece (the Black Lime Lights), comedians, vocalists and dancers, remain.

The Komical Koons open the bill, followed by a very full and diversified olio and the comedy, Push & Company, more olio features, then the farce, A Bowl of Egg-Nog, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department and the company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Fremont & Black, banjo kings, are at the Comique, Spokane Falls, in the good company of Dan Howe, the Ortley Sisters, W. J. Barton, Fisher & Wall, Lulu Powers and Wills & Barton.

Frank Lawlor and Jessie Le Sour are playing a fine engagement at Wade's New Gem Theatre, El Paso.

The Elm St. Theatre, Trinidad, Col., is doing a large business under the able management of C. Montesano.

Howlette, the wire walker, had a benefit at the Oriental Theatre, Denver, Dec. 19th. Over twenty volunteers did their turns to a packed house.

Frank Binney and Kittie Chapman are in the heyday of success at the Theatre Comique, Butte City, as are also Ned Thatcher and Geo. Drew, Glenn & Weston, musical team from the East, are underlined for Jan. 7th.

McBride & Gould, Mamie Goodrich, Wale & Hastings, Pickett & Primrose and an exceptionally strong company are having everything their own way at the People's Theatre, Omaha, this week.

Manager Lewis wants specialty ladies for the opening of the Buckingham, Saturday night.

Letters at this office for Prince Wells and Fred. Gardner (2). Will be forwarded on receipt of stamps.

Bush St. Thespian—What, back again! I thought you was going around the world. Manager of Around the World Aggregation of Stars—Well, we started out with that intent and got along well enough until we struck Cloverdale and the total eclipse belt district. That demoralized our backer. I tell you they thought of nothing else all through that country but the eclipse. Couldn't get 'em to come to see the show. They had eclipse on the brain. Biz. was rotten. My solid man jumped the show, and we worked up a ben. to get back here. Bush St. Thespian—What are you going to do; sue him? No. Give him a razzle-dazzle and start out again in two weeks with a panorama of the eclipse to give them in place of a drop curtain to open the show with. That'll catch 'em!

Rehearsal called at the Buckingham at 12 o'clock Saturday, for everybody.

The Ghost Exhibition at the Wonderland is a great performance and is a subject of universal comment. The effects are mysterious and some of the apparitions startling.

The wires tell us that Adam Forepaugh, the circus manager, presented the City of New York, as a New Year's gift, his elephant Tip. Tip will retire from "the business," as he will be domiciled in Central Park, his permanent home after Jan. 2d. Tip tips the scales at five tons. He is ten feet high and only eighteen years old.

The Bijou Theatre at Seattle has been leased and is occupied by the W. C. T. U. Major Geo. A. Hilton, the temperance lecturer, is now conducting a series of gospel revival meetings, and, according to appearances, with good results.

The Wonderland has added a new wonder to its curio department, a perfect giant horse, a little over 20 hands high, weighing over 3400 pounds, the largest horse in the world. The management introduce the London Ghost Mystery, direct from New York, this week—a wonder and a mystery, a puzzle to all.

The Uniques put on their pantomime, Humpty Dumpty on a Farm, in fine style at the Cremorne this week. The pantomime is full of wonderful tricks from beginning to end. The Uniques were booked by the FIGARO Amusement Agency.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

"Why, who became of all the brandy I left in this bottle ten minutes ago?" howled the tragedian, behind the scenes, flourishing an empty flask, and looking at the comedian with a savage glare. "I saw one of the supers smelling a cork a little while ago," replied the comedian, "and I think your brandy is in the supe."

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Mazulm has caught the popular favor with its pretty girls and glittering armor. Mme. Lille is one of the best of premieres and trips as if she were in love with her art, and is entitled to more hearty applause than she receives. All in all, only commendatory words can be written of Imre Kiralfy's great show piece.

Darrell Vinton is a great favorite on the South side. Every night hundreds are turned away and the jam at the door is something terrific; crush and push and crowd, it seems almost impossible to convince the people that there is not even standing-room left.

Wm. A. Brady, of the Webster-Brady Co., has bought Boucicault's play of After Dark, paying $1500 for it.

The auction sale of Boucicault's plays at the Madison Square Theatre, yesterday, was stopped by the protest of Henry E. Walton, who was present and said that Boucicault had made an agreement with him two years ago for the use of twenty-seven plays. Boucicault declared Walton's claim forfeited and said he had never received a cent from Walton for the use of the plays. The sale will not go on until the titles are settled.

Louis James and Marie Wainwright will produce Twelfth Night on a grand scale next season. It will be seen first in Chicago.

W. C. Coup, one of the most popular showmen in this country, seems to be thriving with his marvelously trained horses.

Agusta Sohike, once a voluptuous premiere danseuse of the Black Crook days, now pirouettes in burnt cork in an Uncle Tom company.

Daniel E. Bandmann will produce Austerlitz at the People's Theatre, N. Y., on Jan. 21st. Mr. Bandmann produced Austerlitz in London at the Queen's Theatre in 1872, with Geo. Rignold in the support. The piece ran the entire season and will be produced in New York with new scenery and a strong support.

The Carleton Opera Co. can boast of some remarkably handsome and shapely young ladies

W. J. Scanlan has realized over $40,000 in royalties from his famous "Peek-a-Boo" song.

John A. Mackay, who was to have opened in Orange, N. J., New Year's night, in his new play, "A Noble Son," has mysteriously disappeared and no traces can be found of him. It is feared that hard study and anxiety about his piece have unbalanced his mind. That is what a dispatch of Jan. 2nd said. But this morning's telegram tells how the missing actor was discovered in Brooklyn, "suffering from an attack of nervous prostration." Too much New Year's.

Mrs. Potter has not met with success in 'Twixt Axe and Crown. Most of the New York critics find much fault with her acting.

Kate Forsythe is very ill and has been ordered to the Southern States by her New York physicians.

Geo. H. Jessop and Ben Teal have finished a melodrama local to New York, which will speedily be produced.

James Barrows has lately been hitting it all around. First as the darky in Held by the Enemy, now as Major Putnam in The Wife.

George S. Knight has so far recovered from the late attack of nervous prostration that his physicians say he will be able to resume professional work with the spring of 1889.

BOOTH'S NEW YEAR'S GIFT.

Edwin Booth formally presented the Players' Club Building to the dramatic profession New Year's Eve. Mr. Booth greeted all present as "Brother Players," and said the object of the club was to inspire the players with reverence for the profession. Booth then presented the title deeds and fired the Yule log, and proposed a toast, to be drunk from his father's flagon to "the players' perpetual prosperity."

Augustin Daly responded, designating Booth's gift a princely one. A poem was read by Lawrence Barrett, composed for the occasion by Dr. T. W. Parsons of Boston. This ended the formal exercises and jollity followed.

The clubhouse, formerly the residence of Clarkson N. Potter, stands next door to the Gramercy Park residence of the late Samuel J. Tilden, which was donated to the city for a library in the will of the dead statesman. It was purchased by Edwin Booth last Spring, when the work of transforming it from an old-fashioned residence into a most unique and one of the most beautiful modern club-houses was commenced. The building is a four-story brownstone house, thirty-seven feet wide, seventy feet deep on the first floor and fifty feet on the upper stories. Its former conventional brownstone face has been most artistically beautified.

A 7,000 Feet Jump.

P. A. Van Tassell made a balloon ascension at Seattle on the 2nd, and rose to a height of 7,000 feet to find a current that would waft him over the bay before jumping. He was a parachute. He fell for the first 500 feet at a terrific velocity; then the umbrella opened and the descent appeared gradual. The sudden stoppage wrenched the handle of the parachute from Van Tassell's hands, leaving him fastened to the parachute only by a small strap around the waist. He finally succeeded in regaining his grasp, and made the remainder of the descent in safety, alighting just at the edge of the bay, in the water waist-deep comparatively unharmed.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the gun-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in grandeur power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Hourly descriptive lectures by Colonel J. J. Adkins of the 68th Illinois.

Mrs. O'Brienie (who is giving a small lunch to some New Years friends, to her daughter at the piano)—Strike up the "Pirates Chorus" now, Bridget. They're just going into the dining-room.

Hard-up—I wouldn't worry, it doesn't do any good to borrow trouble. Borrow trouble? Great Caesar, I ain't borrowing trouble; I've got it to loan.

Buckingham Theatre.

This new theatre, 1342-1344 Market street, opposite Seventh street, will be opened with a strong company Saturday night, under the management of Sam Lewis, an experienced manager and a popular man.

The stage has been lowered, and improvements have been made in the auditorium.

Frank Monroe is the stage manager; Isadore Franks leader of orchestra, and Sam'l Bostwick stage carpenter.

Lavender & Thompson, an Eastern sketch team; Billy White, John Mortell, the Clifford Sisters, Vernie Vernell, Clarence Starr, Nellie Huffman, Fanny Zolar form a part of the opening company.

EVENING EDITION

FRIDAY ..... JANUARY 4, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's Bush Street Theatre.

This is the last week of the big show of B. Leavitt's Grand European Novelties, a constellation of twenty-odd artists selected by Manager Leavitt from the amusement capitals of Europe during his tour on the continent this Summer, the last chance to see one of the strongest vaudeville companies that ever visited this country. There is a deal of fun evolved in the performance, and every act is polished and refined.

We have heretofore enumerated the excellent qualities of the specialty features of Manager Leavitt's company. They comprise a wide range of talent, and are what their company name indicates: Novelties. The artists forming the company are the best on the stage. Their various lines of business are duly specified in the programme of the theatre on our first page.

Last matinee Saturday. Last performance Sunday night; which will be made memorable as the last night of the old Bush St. Theatre; as it will be a new theatre when re-opened.

—o—

Manager Leavitt will temporarily close the Bush Street Theatre to make important changes and improvements; which will make it a new theatre. New boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third-tier gallery, and new decorations and appointments will be the order of improvement, at the cost of $10,000. The new Bush will open on Saturday, January 26th, with Lydia Thompson's English Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company commenced their season in Mynheer Jan, a new opera by the authors of Erminie. The scene of the opera is laid in Holland in the sixteenth century, during the Spanish invasion, and its characters are a mingling of Hollanders and Spaniards.

Mr. Carleton, as Mynheer Jan, is the head; Drew, of course, is the funny man of the cast, and is in his element; he sings a very funny topical song in the last act. Mr. Jay C. Taylor, Clara Wisdom and Alice Vincent have lost none of their popularity; they all filled the position given them admirably.

Next week, January 7th, The Queen's Lace Handkerchief.

The cast can be found in the Baldwin's programme space in our columns.

Alcazar Theatre.

A Noble Rogue, Steele Mackey's latest Eastern success, presented for the Christmas attraction, produced in the most elaborate and effective manner, is continued here for the New Year's week.

A Noble Rogue involves the fortunes of a boy stolen in infancy, and, like Oliver Twist, reared by thieves. Brought up in that life he becomes a rogue, trickster and counterfeiter, by force of villainous association and training, but retains an honesty of nature, and finally renounces his bad associates and becomes a good citizen. It is melodramatic and scenic to a degree that keeps both the people on the boards and those behind the scenes busy. Two of its notable effects are a fine steamer scene and a drawbridge that swings out over the orchestra on the turn.

Mr. Carden plays the railroad king better than any part he has yet given us. Geo. Osbourne does a strong piece of character work as the Noble Rogue. He seems to have thoroughly caught Steele Mackey's idea of the character.

Stockwell makes much out of the small comedy part of Peter Slink. Ethel Brandon plays the role of Grace Mortimer very acceptably, and the same must be said of Fanny Young, Minnie Young and Hattie Moore.

The Golden Giant will be the next attraction.

Grand Opera House.

Manager Al Hayman's Holiday attraction at the Grand, Imre Kiralfy's spectacular pantomime of Mazulm, the Night Owl, with the scenery and stage garniture as produced at the Academy of Music, New York, is continued indefinitely.

Mazulm is a grand pantomime in all its appointments. There is an acting company, a grand Kiralfy ballet, with a new star premier, absolute, Mlle. Lile, from the Berlin Opera House, accompanied by four premieres, who make their first appearances in America at the Grand. Besides there are the Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes; Mons. Arnold, the best of grotesque dancers; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Bros. eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

The pantomime goes with great spirit and dash. The dancing and marching are fine features of the bill. This year Kiralfy has the best appointed ballet he ever had, all being young and comely women.

Standard Theatre.

This cosy theatre has been renovated, repainted and placed in complete order for the dramatic season of Miss Jeffreys-Lewis and company.

Miss Lewis appears this week in another of her great impersonations, Geraldine Calthrope (La Belle Russe), a character that brings out all her intellectuality and intensity, and one in which she stands without a rival.

There is the fascination of a strong mentality in Jeffreys-Lewis' impersonations that give zest to their enjoyment, notwithstanding that her lines of characters are abhorrent in themselves, with as much of the fiend as the woman in them. There is a strength and power in her looks and words as she depicts these adventuresses that charms while it repels. Where other actresses fail in depicting these women at war with the world she becomes magnetically interesting and carries her audiences with her, not in sympathy, but by force of mental power. There is no actress on the stage that can equal Jeffreys-Lewis in her favorite line of characters. She has made them her own.

Harry Mainhall has the strength of the support as Captain Brand, and plays the part very efficiently. Frank Peters is good as Sir Philip, J. J. Wallace very dramatically nervous as Lawyer Quilton, and Miss Lamont sufficiently motherly as Lady Calthorpe to make the strongest play on our boards this week go along very smoothly.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

The strong play of Led Astray will be next week's bill.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Orpheum Opera House.

Miss Georgie Woodthorpe appears this week in her emotional part of Poor Jo, in the play of that name, dramatized from Charles Dickens' Bleak House, and has made a marked success in the part by the naturalness, feeling and pathos she gives to it. The applause she receives is merited. Poor Jo has found a representative worthy to succeed Jennie Lee, who played it for a year and a half in London.

The cast, which can be found on another page, calls for the Dedlocks, Lawyer Tulkinghorn, Inspector Bucket, Hortense, Guppy and most of the principal characters in "Bleak House."

Miss Anita Fallon is notably good as Hortense and sustains the dialect admirably. Messrs. Cooper, Phillco, Holden and Bronson do careful work and quite hit their characters. Dickens' story is condensely dramatized and makes a very interesting play. It seems like making old acquaintances to see his characters on the stage.

Matinee Saturday and Sunday.

The Orpheum returns to specialty entertainment next week, with Moore's European and American stars, from the East, as the week's attraction.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week's attraction will be My Geraldine, with the return of that popular favorite here, Darrell Vinton, who re-appears in the character of Maurice Arden, Miss Essie Tittel playing the heroine, Geraldine.

Mr. Vinton has met with a hearty welcome from his many friends this week, and it will be a gala week for both star and manager.

Mr. Vinton plays the part of Maurice Arden in a finished manner, and appears to the best advantage, showing at every point his genius as an actor. The company render him strong support, and the immense house is packed at every performance.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

Next week's attraction will be Bartley Campbell's White Slave.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of French Blondes, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, are playing with all their old time versatility, and have scored a noteworthy success. Full houses every night.

John P. Brace, the favorite comedian, and Miss Judd London, male impersonator, have been added to the already strong bill.

Laura Ashby, Florence Sylva, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey, May Anderson, F. J. Tierney and Taylor Jahmes continue this week.

Miss Camille Kenyon, serio-comic and burlesquer; Cunningham & Talbot, Bursell, Judd London, the Herberts and Stanley Sisters, together with 16 other ladies, make up a bill of 40 artists for this week.

The bear has been re-engaged, and will wrestle with any man for money or beer.

Billy Arnold's latest sensation, The Parisian Can-Can; or, The French Minuet, opens the bill.

The Can-Can is on for its last week.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Heikes & McClelland's Wonderland.

A Museum and Theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two, and evening at eight o'clock.

The new features in the Museum this week are the largest horse in the world, 20 hands high, weighing 3400 pounds; Barnum's original tattooed man, Captain Constantine; the Circassian Beauty, and Little Dot, the smallest woman in the world, 22 inches in statue.

Capt. Chittenden's Arctic Museum, the Aztics, the wax-work museum, etc., remain.

The theatre company are: Charles and May Morrell, Lozelle & Ward, Jean Rajan, Miss Nina Gordon, Little Shorty Green, the Rubber Ball, 24 inches high—who creates a deal of amusement in his afterpiece, "The Funny Clown in a Barrel," and others.

Prof. Pepper's Ghost, just from the East, a series of wonderful and mysterious tableaux and startling apparitions, will be this week's attraction for the Theatre department.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. A few reserved seats at a slight advance.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

The new people this week are Post & Gross and Millie Davenport.

The Uniques, the Levinos, Leonzo, Will H. Bray and the two $10,000 wrestling bears remain.

The Uniques put on a fine pantomime, Humpty Dumpty on a Farm. All the tricks are cleverly executed, and they are bound to make a big hit with the patrons of the Cremorne. The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; Leonzo, the skillful juggler; Will H. Bray, author and composer; Johnnie Cain, Post & Gross and Miss Millie Davenport are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne for the Holiday week.

Manager Hallinan is seeing Manager Foster and going him one better—he has two bears, $10,000 bears. They appear every night at the Cremorne in wrestling matches. The first bouts are man against bear, singly, followed by the bears wrestling with each other, catch-as-catch-can. They are big cards.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers re-opened their popular vaudeville house most successfully. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Julia Hilton, Belle Manning, Jennie Miller, Jennie Mason, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Julia Hilton, the charming serio-comic, and Mr. John Miller, comedian, are the new faces this week.

Miss Jennie Miller, serio-comic, and McPherson & McNiece (the Black Lime Lights), comedians, vocalists and dancers, remain.

The Komical Koons open the bill, followed by a very full and diversified olio and the comedy, Push & Company, more olio features, then the farce, A Bowl of Egg-Nog, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

We call attention to John Cort's new ad. in to-day's paper. This fixes beyond any question or representation the fact that Manager Cort has exclusive control of the four vaudeville theatres on the Northwest circuit.

Lew Reynolds, for awhile with Gallagher & Devere, has associated himself with the popular Billy Morton. Together they constitute a team that will be hard to beat. They are both fine performers and take immensely wherever they play. They have a large repertoire and can play a long engagement with a change every week.

The handsomest young lady in Kiralfy's ballet is the one who is the centre figure, in silver, in the metallic march. With her stately figure and impassive face, she looks every inch an Amazon, as we imagine them, at least, to look.

Morgan's Theatre, Tacoma, has changed hands. H. H. Cline has become proprietor. Mr. Cline publishes the following card in John Cort's new advertisement elsewhere in FIGARO, which is of importance enough to the profession to warrant its re-production in our columns:

CARD.

Tacoma, W. T., Jan. 1, 1889.
Office of Morgan's Theatre.

Managers and performers are hereby notified that this house is included in John Cort's circuit only, and no other.

H. H. CLINE, Proprietor.

This gives Manager Cort the exclusive booking control of the only variety theatres open in Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane Falls.

Fremont & Black, banjo kings, are at the Comique, Spokane Falls, in the good company of Den Howe, the Ottley Sisters, W. J. Barnes, Fisher & Wall, Lulu Powers and Wills & Barron.

Frank Lavarnie and Jessie Le Seur are playing a fine engagement at Wade's New Gem Theatre, El Paso.

The Elm St. Theatre, Trinidad, Col., is doing a large business under the able management of C. Montaldo.

Hewlette, the wire walker, had a benefit at the Olympic Theatre, Denver, Dec. 19th. Over twenty volunteers did their turns to a packed house.

Frank Binney and Kittie Chapman are in the heyday of success at the Theatre Comique, Butte City, as are also Ned Thatcher and Geo. Drew, Glenn & Weston, musical team from the East, are underlined for Jan. 7th.

W. J. Scanlan has realized over $40,000 in royalties from his famous "Peek-a-Boo" song.

McBride & Gould, Mamie Goodrich, Wade & Hastings, Pickett & Primrose and an exceptionally strong company are having everything their own way at the People's Theatre, Omaha, this week.

Manager Lewis wants specialty ladies for the Buckingham.

Letters at this office for Prince Wells and Fred. Gardner (2). Will be forwarded on receipt of stamps.

The Ghost Exhibition at the Wonderland is a great performance and is a subject of universal comment. The effects are mysterious and some of the apparitions startling.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

A 7,000 Feet Jump.

P. A. Van Tassel made a balloon ascension at Seattle on the 2nd, and rose to a height of 7,000 feet to find a current that would waft him over the bay before jumping. He fell for two miles at a terrific velocity; then the parachute opened and the descent was easy. The parachute struggle with the balloon, the swinging from the trapeze, and the uncertainty of a small stage on which to land, finally succeeded in tangling the lines, and made the remainder of the descent in safety, alighting just at the edge of the bay, in the water waist-deep comparatively unharmed.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The wires tell us that the Hudson-Eckert Juvenile Opera Co., that was organized in this city some four months ago, dismissed its audience at the Madison Street Theatre, Chicago, on the 31 inst. on account of bad business, and closed its engagement there. The show was too light a one for big Chicago. This, at first sight, may look a little gloomy for the unfortunate little ones that have wandered off so far from home; but Chicago is surrounded by dozens of circuits, and the company are too well organized not to find a field open for their profitable operations in some of them. We shall soon hear of their being on the road in some direction. The company was in the throes of dissolution in Victoria three months ago, and yet they crossed the continent over the Northern road in solvent condition.

Alice Harrison is playing in Aimee's piece, "Mam'zelle," at the Third Avenue Theatre, New York. The N. Y. Mercury classifies her as "vocal and frisky." It is the same Alice.

Pauline Markley's Burlesquers, after their manager and treasurer had "skipped," played at Tamaqua, Pa., on the commonwealth plan, to secure enough to take them home. The receipts gave them $2 each. All except one burlesquer left the city. That lady is now sensibly at work in a local knitting mill.

Paulus, the French comic song singer, now receives $120 a night. A few years ago his fee was $1 25. His song, "Il Revient," is considered to have made Gen. Boulanger. He lives in great style with his wife and five children, and his Paris establishment includes three or four horses, a secretary and a composer.

Mazulm has caught the popular favor with its pretty girls and glittering armor. Mme. Lille is one of the best of premiers and trips as if she were in love with her art, and is entitled to more hearty applause than she receives. All in all, only commendatory words can be written of Imre Kiralfy's great show piece.

Darrell Vinton is a great favorite on the South side. Every night hundreds are turned away and the jam at the door is something terrific; crush and push and crowd, it seems almost impossible to convince the people that there is not even standing-room left.

Wm. A. Brady, of the Webster-Brady Co., has bought Boucicault's play of After Dark, paying $1500 for it.

The auction sale of Boucicault's plays at the Madison Square Theatre, N. Y., was stopped by the protest of Henry E. Walton, who was present and said that Boucicault had made an agreement with him two years ago for the use of twenty-seven plays. Boucicault declared Walton's claim forfeited and said he had never received a cent from Walton for the use of the plays. The sale will not go on until the titles are settled.

Louis James and Marie Wainwright will produce Twelfth Night on a grand scale next season. It will be seen first in Chicago.

W. C. Coup, one of the most popular showmen in this country, seems to be thriving with his marvelously trained horses.

Agusta Sohike, once a voluptuous premiere danseuse of the Black Crook days, now pirouettes in burnt cork in an Uncle Tom company.

Daniel E. Bandmann will produce Austerlitz at the People's Theatre, N. Y., on Jan. 21st. Mr. Bandmann produced Austerlitz in London at the Queen's Theatre in 1872, with Geo. Rignold in the support. The piece ran the entire season and will be produced in New York with new scenery and a strong support.

The Carleton Opera Co. can boast of some remarkably handsome and shapely young ladies.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Tacoma, W. T., Jan. 1, 1889
Morgan's Theatre.

EDITOR FIGARO: We opened at Theatre Royal, Portland, and played four weeks; then Tacoma four weeks. But after we close here we had nothing. Only for John Cort knowing us and engaging us, we would have had to jump out of here with only eight weeks. But he engaged us for eight weeks more, four in Seattle and four in Spokane Falls, which makes us all O. K. This house (Morgan's Theatre), under the proprietorship of H. H. Cline closes on Jan. 5th for one week for renovation and will re-open Saturday night, Jan. 12th, under John Cort's circuit. We may have more news for you shortly. Respectfully,

CARROLL & NEALEY.
WARD & LEE.

Jeweler—Yes, sir; I will engrave anything you wish on the ring without extra charge. Young Man—Well, inscribe on it, "From George to Alice." Jeweler—Hem! The lady is your sister, may be? Young Man—The fact is, this is an engagement ring. Jeweler—Ah! My young friend, I have had considerable experience in engagement rings, and I would suggest that the inscription be simply "From George," that will do as well, and if you make a change it will do for anybody. Go ahead. (Jeweler aside—I thought the way I save half the inscription cost.)

Mr. Hayseed—"Say, Mr. Manager, who is it is 'See' who was brought out on the stage last season?" "Why" replied the manager, "he was a professional beauty 2000 years old." "Was she in the ballet?" "No. Up to within a few days of her death she played Little Eva in Uncle Tom's Cabin.

A little girl spent the afternoon at her grandmother's. When she came home her mother asked: "Have you been a good girl, dear?" "Not very, mamma, but, oh, I've had lots of fun."

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Hourly descriptive lectures by Colonel J. J. Aikens of the 58th Illinois.

Buckingham Theatre.

This new theatre, 1342-1344 Market street, opposite Seventh street, opens with a strong company Saturday night, under the management of Sam Lewis, an experienced manager and a popular man.

The stage has been lowered, and improvements have been made in the auditorium.

Frank Monroe is the stage manager; Isadore Franks leader of orchestra, and Sam'l Bostwick stage carpenter.

Lavender & Thompson, an Eastern sketch team; Billy White, John Mortell, the Clifford Sisters, Vernie Vernell, Clarence Starr, Nellie Huffman, Fanny Zolar and Marie Morina form a part of the opening company.

Billy White wakes up fun in his version of Pompey's Troubles, with a portion of the company in the cast.

Monday evening, first appearance of Miss Marie Morina, vocalist; Wellington, the great female contortionists, and Dwyer & Buckley, the sketch artists.

EVENING EDITION

SATURDAY.....JANUARY 5, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's Bush Street Theatre.

Sunday night is the last of the big show: M. B. Leavitt's Grand European Novelties, a constellation of twenty-odd artists selected by Manager Leavitt from the amusement capitals of Europe during his tour on the continent last Summer; the last chance to see one of the strongest vaudeville companies that ever visited this country. There is a deal of fun involved in the performance, and every act is polished and refined.

We have heretofore enumerated the excellent qualities of the specialty features of Manager Leavitt's company. They comprise a wide range of talent, and are what their company name indicates: Novelties. The artists forming the company are the best on the stage. Their various lines of business are duly specified in the programme of the theatre on our first page.

Great matinee to-day. Last performance Sunday night; which will be made memorable as the last night of the old Bush St. Theatre; as it will be a new theatre when re-opened.

Manager Leavitt will temporarily close the Bush Street Theatre to make important changes and improvements; which will make it a new theatre. New boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third-tier gallery, and new decorations and appointments will be the order of improvement, at the cost of $30,000. The new Bush will open on Saturday, January 26th, with Lydia Thompson's English Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company commenced their season in Mynheer Jan, a new opera by the authors of Erminie. The scene of the opera is laid in Holland in the sixteenth century, during the Spanish invasion, and its characters are a mingling of Hollanders and Spaniards.

Mr. Carleton, as Mynheer Jan, is the head; Drew, of course, is the funny man of the cast, and is in his element; he sings a very funny topical song in the last act. Mr. Jay C. Taylor, Clara Wisdom and Alice Vincent have lost none of their popularity; they all filled the position given them admirably.

The cast can be found in the Baldwin's programme space in our columns.

Next week, January 7th, The Queen's Lace Handkerchief.

Alcazar Theatre.

A Noble Rogue, Steele Mackey's latest Eastern success, presented for the Christmas attraction, produced in the most elaborate and effective manner, is continued here for the New Year's week.

A Noble Rogue involves the fortunes of a boy stolen in infancy, and, like Oliver Twist, reared by thieves. Brought up in that life he becomes a rogue, trickster and counterfeiter, by force of villainous association and training, but retains an honesty of nature, and finally renounces his bad associates and becomes a good citizen. It is melodramatic and scenic to a degree that keeps both the people on the boards and those behind the scenes busy. Two of its notable effects are a fine steamer scene and a drawbridge that swings out over the orchestra on the turn.

Mr. Cazden plays the railroad king better than any part he has yet given us. Geo. Osbourne does a strong piece of character work as the Noble Rogue. He seems to have thoroughly caught Steele Mackey's idea of the character.

Stockwell makes much out of the small comedy part of Peter Slink. Ethel Brandon plays the role of Grace Mortimer very acceptably, and the same must be said of Fanny Young, Minnie Young and Hattie Moore.

The Golden Giant will be the next attraction.

Grand Opera House.

Manager Al Hayman's Holiday attraction at the Grand, Imre Kiralfy's spectacular pantomime of Mazulm, the Night Owl, with the scenery and stage garniture as produced at the Academy of Music, New York, is continued indefinitely.

Mazulm is a grand pantomime in all its appointments. There is an acting company, a grand Kiralfy ballet, with a new star premiere, absolute, Mlle. Lile, from the Berlin Opera House, accompanied by four premieres, who make their first appearances in America at the Grand. Besides there are the Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes; Mons. Arnold, the best of grotesque dancers; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Bros. eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

The pantomime goes with great spirit and dash. The dancing and marching are fine features of the bill. This year Kiralfy has the best appointed ballet he ever had, all being young and comely women.

Standard Theatre.

This cosy theatre has been renovated, repainted and placed in complete order for the dramatic season of Miss Jeffreys-Lewis and company.

Miss Lewis appears this week in another of her great impersonations, Geraldine Calthrope (La Belle Russe), a character that brings out all her intellectuality and intensity, and one in which she stands without a rival.

There is the fascination of a strong mentality in Jeffreys-Lewis' impersonations that give zest to their enjoyment, notwithstanding that her lines of characters are abhorrent in themselves, with as much of the fiend as the woman in them. There is a strength and power in her looks and words as she depicts these adventuresses that charms while it repels. Where other actresses fail in depicting these women at war with the world she becomes magnetically interesting and carries her audiences with her, not in sympathy, but by force of mental power. There is no actress on the stage that can equal Jeffreys-Lewis in her favorite line of characters. She has made them her own.

Harry Mainhall has the strength of the support as Captain Brand, and plays the part very efficiently. Frank Peters is good as Sir Philip, J. J. Wallace very dramatically nervous as Lawyer Quilton, and Miss Lamont sufficiently motherly as Lady Calthorpe to make the strongest play on our boards this week go along very smoothly.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

The strong play of Led Astray will be next week's bill.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Orpheum Opera House.

Miss Georgie Woodthorpe appears this week in her emotional part of Poor Jo, in the play of that name, dramatized from Charles Dickens' Bleak House, and has made a marked success in the part by the naturalness, feeling and pathos she gives to it. The applause she receives is merited. Poor Jo has found a representative worthy to succeed Jennie Lee, who played it for a year and a half in London.

The cast, which can be found on another page, calls for the Dedlocks, Lawyer Tulkinghorn, Inspector Bucket, Hortense, Guppy and most of the principal characters in "Bleak House."

Miss Anita Fallon is notably good as Hortense and sustains the dialect admirably. Messrs. Cooper, Philleo, Holden and Bronson do careful work and quite hit their characters. Dickens' story is condensely dramatized and makes a very interesting play. It seems like making old acquaintances to see his characters on the stage.

Matinee Saturday and Sunday.

The Orpheum returns to specialty entertainment next week, with Moore's European and American stars, from the East, as the week's attraction.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week's attraction will be My Geraldine, with the return of that popular favorite here, Darrell Vinton, who re-appears in the character of Maurice Arden, Miss Essie Tittel playing the heroine, Geraldine.

Mr. Vinton has met with a hearty welcome from his many friends this week, and it will be a gala week for both star and manager.

Mr. Vinton plays the part of Maurice Arden in a finished manner, and appears to the best advantage, showing at every point his genius as an actor. The company render him strong support, and the immense house is packed at every performance.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

Next week's attraction will be Bartley Campbell's White Slave.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of French Blondes, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, are playing with all their old time versatility, and have scored a noteworthy success. Full houses every night.

John P. Brace, the favorite comedian, and Miss Judd London, male impersonator, have been added to the already strong bill.

Laura Ashby, Florence Sylva, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey, May Anderson F. J. Tierney and Taylor Jahmes continue this week.

Miss Camille Kenyon, serio-comic and burlesquer; Cunningham & Talbot, Bursell, Judd London, the Herberts and Stanley Sisters, together with 16 other ladies; make up a bill of 40 artists for this week.

The bear has been re-engaged, and will wrestle with any man for money or beer.

Billy Arnold's latest sensation. The Parisian Can-Can; or, The French Minuet, opens the bill.

The Can-Can is on for its last week.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Heikes & McClelland's Wonderland.

A Museum and Theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two, and evening at eight o'clock.

The new features in the Museum this week are the largest horse in the world, 20 hands high, weighing 3400 pounds; Barnum's original tattooed man, Captain Constantine; the Circassian Beauty, and Little Dot, the smallest woman in the world, 22 inches in statue.

Capt. Chittenden's Arctic Museum, the Aztics, the wax-work museum, etc., remain.

The Theatre company are: Charles and May Morrell, Lazelle & Ward, John Bajan, Miss Nina Gordon, Little Shorty Green, the Rubber Ball, 24 inches high—who creates a deal of amusement in his afterpiece, "The Funny Clown in a Barrel," and others.

Prof. Pepper's Ghost, just from the East, a series of wonderful and mysterious tableaux and startling apparitions, will be this week's attraction for the Theatre department.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. A few reserved seats at a slight advance.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

The new people this week are Post & Gross and Millie Davenport.

The Uniques, the Levinos, Leonzo, Will H. Bray and the two $10,000 wrestling bears remain.

The Uniques put on a fine pantomime, Humpty Dumpty on a Farm. All the tricks are cleverly executed, and they are bound to make a big hit with the patrons of the Cremorne. The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; Leonzo, the skillful juggler; Will H. Bray, author and composer; Johnnie Cain, Post & Gross and Miss Millie Davenport are are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne for the Holiday week.

Manager Hallinan is seeing Manager Foster and going him one better—he has two bears, $10,000 bears. They appear every night at the Cremorne in wrestling matches. The first bouts are man against bear, singly, followed by the bears wrestling with each other, catch-as-catch-can. They are big cards.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers re-opened their popular vaudeville house most successfully Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Julia Hilton, Belle Manning, Jennie Miller, Jennie Mason, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Julia Hilton, the charming serio-comic, and Mr. John Miller, comedian, are the new faces this week.

Miss Jennie Miller, serio-comic, and McPherson & McNiece (the Black Lime Lights), comedians, vocalists and dancers, remain.

The Komical Koons open the bill, followed by a very full and diversified olio and the comedy, Push & Company, more olio features, then the farce, A Bowl of Egg-Nog, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and cos theatres in the city, and good manag made it one of the most popular of theatres for years past. Manager W runs a very strong company. There lady vocalists this week.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

We call attention to John Cort's new ad. in to-day's paper. This fixes beyond any question or representation the fact that Manager Cort has exclusive control of the four vaudeville theatres on the Northwest circuit.

Lew Reynolds, for a while with Gallagher & Dewere, has associated himself with the popular Billy Morton. Together they constitute a team that will be hard to beat. They are both fine performers and take immensely wherever they play. They have a large repertoire and can play a long engagement with a change every week.

The handsomest young lady in Kiralfy's ballet is the one who is the centre figure, in silver, in the metallic march. With her stately figure and impassive face, she looks every inch an Amazon, as we imagine them, at least, to look.

Morgan's Theatre, Tacoma, has changed hands. H. H. Cline has become proprietor. Mr. Cline publishes the following card in John Cort's new advertisement elsewhere in FIGARO, which is of importance enough to the profession to warrant its re-production in our columns:

CARD.

Tacoma, W. T., Jan. 1, 1889.
Office of Morgan's Theatre.

Managers and performers are hereby notified that this house is included in John Cort's circuit only, and no other.

H. H. CLINE, Proprietor.

This gives Manager Cort the exclusive booking control of the only variety theatres open in Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane Falls.

Fremont & Black, banjo kings, are at the Comique, Spokane Falls, in the good company of Dan Howe, the Ottley Sisters, W. J. Barnes, Fisher & Wall, Lulu Powers and Willis & Barron.

Frank Lavarnie and Jessie Le Seur are playing a fine engagement at Wade's New Tivoli Theatre, El Paso.

The Elm St. Theatre, Trinidad, Col., is doing a large business under the able management of C. Montaldo.

Hewlette, the wire walker, had a benefit at the Olympic Theatre, Denver, Dec. 19th. Over twenty volunteers did their turns to a packed house.

Frank Bionay and Kittie Chapman are in the heyday of success at the Theatre Comique, Butte City, as are also Ned Thatcher and Geo. Drew, Glenn & Weston, musical team from the East, are underlined for Jan. 7th.

W. J. Scanlan has realized over $40,000 in royalties from his famous "Peek-a-Boo" song.

McBride & Gould, Mamie Goodrich, Wade & Hastings, Pickett & Primrose and an exceptionally strong company are having everything their own way at the People's Theatre, Omaha, this week.

The Ghost Exhibition at the Wonderland is a great performance and is a subject of universal comment. The effects are mysterious and some of the apparitions startling.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

A 7,000 Feet Jump.

P. A. Van Tassell made a balloon ascension at Seattle on the 2nd, and rose to a height of 7 000 feet to find a current that would waft him over the bay before jumping off with his parachute. He fell for the first 500 feet at a terrific velocity; then the umbrella opened and the descent appeared gradual. The sudden stoppage wrenched the handle of the parachute from Van Tassell's hands, leaving him fastened to the parachute only by a small strap around the waist. He finally succeeded in regaining his grasp, and made the remainder of the descent in safety, lighting just at the edge of the bay, in the water waist-deep comparatively unhurt.

A little girl spent the afternoon at her grandmother's. When she came home her mother asked: "Have you been a good girl, dear?" "Not very, mamma, but, oh, I've had lots of fun."

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The wires tell us that the Hudson-Eckert Juvenile Opera Co., that was organized in this city some four months ago, dismissed its audience at the Madison Street Theatre, Chicago, on the 31 inst. on account of bad business, and closed its engagement there. The show was too light a one for big Chicago. This, at first sight, may look a little gloomy for the unfortunate little ones that have wandered off so far from home; but Chicago is surrounded by dozens of circuits, and the company are too well organized not to find a field open for their profitable operations in some of them. We shall soon hear of their being on the road in some direction. The company was in the throes of dissolution in Victoria three months ago, and yet they crossed the continent over the Northern road in solvent condition.

Alice Harrison is playing in Aimee's piece, "Mam'zelle," at the Third Avenue Theatre, New York. The N. Y. Mercury classifies her as "vocal and frisky." It is the same Alice.

Pauline Markley's Burlesquers, after their manager and treasurer had "skipped," played at Tamaqua, Pa., on the commonwealth plan, to secure enough to take them home. The receipts gave them $2 each. All except one burlesquer left the city. That lady is now sensibly at work in a local knitting mill.

Paulus, the French comic song singer, now receives $120 a night. A few years ago his fee was $1 25. His song, "Il Revient," is considered to have made Gen. Boulanger. He lives in great style with his wife and five children, and his Paris establishment includes three or four horses, a secretary and a composer.

Mazulm has caught the popular favor with its pretty girls and glittering armor. Mme. Lille is one of the best of premiers and trips as if she were in love with her art, and is entitled to more hearty applause than she receives. All in all, only commendatory words can be written of Imre Kiralfy's great show piece.

Darrell Vinton is a great favorite on the South side. Every night hundreds are turned away and the jam at the door is something terrific; crush and push and crowd, it seems almost impossible to convince the people that there is not even standing-room left.

Daniel E. Bandmann will produce Austerlitz at the People's Theatre, N. Y., on Jan. 21st. Mr. Bandmann produced Austerlitz in London at the Queen's Theatre in 1872, with Geo. Rignold in the support. The piece ran the entire season and will be produced in New York with new scenery and a strong support.

The Carleton Opera Co. can boast of some remarkably handsome and shapely young ladies.

LEONA DARE'S TEACHER.

T. S. Dare, the clown in Mazulm, though he appears quite a young man as he performs his merry antics and skilled feats, has really turned his 40th year. He is not, as is generally supposed, the brother of Leona Dare, who is now doing her great trapeze act in England, but was at one time her husband. About fifteen years ago they first met in New Orleans, where Dare was the stage manager of a theatre. Leona was then about 16 years of age, and had some little experience as a supernumary. She was brought to Dare, who was asked if he could not give her a place in the theatre. He was struck by her appearance, and undertook to teach her to work on the trapeze. She was daring, strong in nerve and muscle, and quick to learn, and it was not long before they were giving exhibitions. Dare traveled with her through the South and into Mexico, and then made a tour of Central and South America, where Leona became a great celebrity and began the conquest of hearts, which afterward proved too much for her vanity and completely turned her head. When they returned to New York Leona created a sensation by eloping. Her appearance here in a Christmas piece at the California Theatre and the sensation that her dashing performance created will be rememoered by most of the readers of FIGARO. Her subsequent career, her marriage to a German count, her social splurge in Chicago, the discovery of her identity, the divorce, and the return to the trapeze in company with a new lover, is as well known as it need be. Dare was divorced from her eight years ago, and has been happily married to a more domestic wife for the last six years.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Tacoma, W. T., Jan. 1, 1889.
Morgan's Theatre.

EDITOR FIGARO: We opened at Theatre Royal, Portland, and played four weeks; then Tacoma four weeks. But after we close here we had nothing. Only for John Cort knowing us and engaging us, we would have had to jump out of here with only eight weeks. But he engaged us for eight weeks more, four in Seattle and four in Spokane Falls, which makes us all O. K. This house (Morgan's Theatre), under the proprietorship of H. H. Cline, closes on Jan. 5th for one week for renovation and will re-open Saturday night, Jan. 12th, under John Cort's circuit. We may have more news for you shortly. Respectfully,

CARROLL & NEALEY.
WARD & LEE.

Mr. Hayseed—"Say, Mr. Manager, who is this 'She' who was brought out on the stage last season?" "Why" replied the manager, "she was a professional beauty 2000 years old." "Was she in the ballet?" "No. Up to within a few days of her death she played Little Eva in Uncle Tom's Cabin.

Jeweler—Yes, sir; I will engrave anything you wish on this ring without extra charge. Young Man—Well, inscribe on it, "From George to Alice." Jeweler—Hem! The lady is your sister, may be? Young Man—The fact is, this is an engagement ring. Jeweler—Ah! My young friend, I have had considerable experience in engagement rings, and I would suggest that the inscription be simply "From George," that will do as well, and if you make a change it will do for anybody. Go ahead. (Jeweler aside—That's the way I save half of the inscription cost.)

He was a tenderfoot and the cultured cowboy was filling him with information. "Why is it that the Indians wear those head-dresses of feathers?" asked the inquiring and anxious mind. "Well," replied the gentle cowboy. "It's duced cold here nowadays, and he wears them to keep his wigwam.

Mrs. O' Brienie (who is giving a small lunch to some New Year's friends, to her daughter at the piano)—Strike up the 'Pirates Chorus' now, Bridget. They're just going into the dining-room.

"What's become of all the brandy I left in this bottle ten minutes ago?" howled the tragedians, behind the scenes, flourishing an empty flask, and looking at the comedian with a savage glare. "I saw one of the supers smelling a cork a little while ago," replied the comedian, "and I think your brandy is in the supe."

"I never take a sleeper when I travel," said Fakir to Footlights, as they strolled along Bush Street. "There's such a danger of fire from the hangings, and, in case of a crash, just think of the immense weight of the cars." "Yes," replied Footlights, half musingly. "I suppose it really is safer—to walk.

"Are you a guest at this house?" asked the clerk at the cigar-stand of a traveling man. "A guest." "Oh, no; not at all. I am simply permitted to live here—tolerated at the rate of $4 per day."

When a man dies and leaves a nice widow with plenty of money, and you see her walking out with the executor on Sunday afternoons, a change is imminent.

EVENING EDITION

MONDAY.....JANUARY 7, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt has temporarily closed the Bush Street Theatre to make important changes and improvements; which will make it a new theatre. New boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third-tier gallery, and new decorations and appointments will be the order of improvement, at the cost of $20,000. The new Bush will open on Saturday, January 26th, with Lydia Thompson's English Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company produce for their second week that fine opera of Strauss', The Queen's Lace Handkerchief, elegantly appointed in the way of costumes and rich stage settings. Three of the ladies' dresses are embroidered with pearls and other jewels, and one bordered with ermine fourteen inches deep.

The opera is one of the most tuneful in the Carleton repertoire and is admirably given by his company.

The cast can be found in the Baldwin's programme space in our columns.

Alcazar Theatre.

A Noble Rogue, Steele Mackey's latest Eastern success, presented for the Holiday attraction, produced in the most elaborate and effective manner, is continued here for its third and last week.

A Noble Rogue involves the fortunes of a boy stolen in infancy, and, like Oliver Twist, reared by thieves. Brought up in that life he becomes a rogue, trickster and counterfeiter, by force of villainous association and training, but retains an honesty of nature, and finally renounces his bad associates and becomes a good citizen. It is melodramatic and scenic to a degree that keeps both the people on the boards and those behind the scenes busy. Two of its notable effects are a fine steamer scene and a drawbridge that swings out over the orchestra on the turn.

Mr. Carden plays the railroad king better than any part he has yet given us. Geo. Osbourne does a strong piece of character work as the Noble Rogue. He seems to have thoroughly caught Steele Mackey's idea of the character.

Stockwell makes much out of the small comedy part of Peter Slink. Ethel Brandon plays the role of Grace Mortimer very acceptably, and the same must be said of Fanny Young, Minnie Young and Hattie Moore.

The Golden Giant, an interesting and eventful drama, will form next week's bill.

Grand Opera House.

Manager Al Hayman's Holiday attraction at the Grand, Imre Kiralfy's spectacular pantomime of Mazulm, the Night Owl, with the scenery and stage garniture as produced at the Academy of Music, New York, is continued for its third and last week.

Mazulm is a grand pantomime in all its appointments. There is an acting company, a grand Kiralfy ballet, with a new star premiere, absolute, Mlle. Lile, from the Berlin Opera House, accompanied by four premieres, who make their first appearances in America at the Grand. Besides there are the Onge Sisters, the great aerial artistes; Mons. Arnold, the best of grotesque dancers; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Bros. eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

The pantomime goes with great spirit and dash. The dancing and marching are fine features of the bill. This year Kiralfy has the best appointed ballet he ever had, all being young and comely women.

Imre Kiralfy's Black Crook, the Black Crook of stage fame, will take the stage of the Grand on Monday night. Its run is limited to two weeks.

Standard Theatre.

The cosy theatre has been renovated, repainted and placed in complete order for the dramatic season of Miss Jeffreys-Lewis and company.

The strong play of Led Astray will be this week's bill.

This piece is one that will present Miss Lewis to us in a different role from those of the previous weeks, and one in which we shall like her better. As Armande she has scope for her talent in a more pleasing way and one in which she will have the sympathy of her audience. The rest of the cast is in competent hands.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Orpheum returns to specialty entertainment this week, with Moore's European and American stars, from the East, as the week's attraction. Oura's Japanese troupe of jugglers, equilibrists, acrobats, etc.; the Romalos Bros., gymnastic marvels; the Miranda Sisters, aerial artists; Olivette, the swinging wire wonder; Ashley & Hess, the trans-Atlantic stars; Miss Adele Purvis, on the revolving globe; Miss Tilley Morrissey, cantatrice, and McIntyre & Heath make up the galaxy of stars.

Matinee Saturday and Sunday.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week's attraction will be Bartley Campbell's White Slave, a spectacular drama in six acts, introducing the Colored Students with their quaint and melodious singing. As Clay Britton, Darrell Vinton will clearly portray the part. Miss Essie Tittel has an arduous role as Lisa, but the little lady is fully competent and her work will be acceptable. The play calls for many people and an unusually large amount of stage work.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of French Blondes, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, are playing with all their old time versatility, and have scored a noteworthy success. Full houses every night.

Doyle & Leclair, Irish sketch team; the Lawrences, song and dance artists; the Beasleys, colored twins, in double songs and dances, and Alice Percey, serio-comic vocalists and dancer, are the new faces this week.

Billy Arnold's latest sensation, The Parisian Can-Can; or, The French Minuet, opens the bill.

The Can-Can is positively on for its last week.

The Bella Union is playing the largest company of any vaudeville theatre on the Coast, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Buckingham Theatre.

This new theatre, 1342-1344 Market street, opposite Seventh street, was to have opened on Saturday night, under the management of Sam Lewis, an experienced manager and a popular man, but Mr Lewis was stricken down with pneumonia before completing his arrangements for opening, and has not left his bed since. He sent his stage manager a notice postponing the opening until Saturday next. So that conditions at the Buckingham remain the same as they were a week ago. It is a disappointment to the company that should not have been permitted to occur.

Heikes & McClelland's Wonderland.

A Museum and Theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The new features in the Museum this week are the largest horse in the world, 20 hands high, weighing 3400 pounds; Barnum's original tattooed man, Captain Constantine; the Circassian Beauty, and Little Dot, the smallest woman in the world, 22 inches in statue.

Prof. Pepper's Ghost, just from the East, a series of wonderful and mysterious tableaux and startling apparitions, will be continued as the great attraction for the theatre department.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. A few reserved seats at a slight advance.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Eugene Ward, the only footless dancer on earth, direct from the East; Gibbons & Ford, sensational vocalists, and La Drew, the phenomenal, put in their first appearances this week.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Art; the funny comedian, Jonnnie Cain; Post & Gross and Miss Millie Davenport are are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Manager Hallinan is seeing Manager Foster and going him one better—he has two bears, $10,000 bears. They appear every night at the Cremorne in wrestling matches. The first bouts are man against bear, singly, followed by the bears wrestling with each other, catch-as-catch-can. They are big cards.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everythin is bright and new. The company consists of Frankie Hilton, Belle Manning, Julia Bennett, Jennie Mason, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Frankie Hilton, the charming serio-comic; John Miller, comedian; Miss Jennie Miller, serio-comic, and McPherson, the favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, remain.

The Grand Company open the bill, followed by a very full and diversified olio and the comedy, Siamese Twins, more olio features, then the farce, Comedy Camping Out, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are seven lady vocalists this week.

McDonald & Sanford, musical artists, and Bart Kennedy, baritone, have been added to the already strong company.

Helena Richman, Alice Mansfield, Lulu Howard, Mamie Woods, Laura White, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Fletcher, Bart Kennedy, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. Take a hint and drop into the Eureka, one of the coziest houses in town. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

A new act by Geo. C. Dunham, entitled A Warm Day in 'Frisco, will be given by the entire company.

The Eureka gives a matinee every Sunday at 2 P. M.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

John Morrissey, whose good management placed the Olympic, in Chicago, on the top wave of prosperity, has come to this city to reside. It was our climate that did it, in conjunction with a liberal offer to take managerial supervision of our popular Orpheum. He takes his position as manager of the Orpheum this week.

There is some talk of getting up a match between Manager Hallinan's $10,000 bears and Kiralfy's $2 50 black and white bears, Marquis of Queensberry rules.

The Portland Daily Telegram says: "Cort's Standard Theatre is doing all the business and is the best place of amusement in the city, giving better entertainment for the least money and presenting more talent and better bills than any house in Portland. In fact it has no rivals."

It is more than probable that N. D. Roberts, late manager of the Bijou, will organize a minstrel company with Emerson at its head for an interior season. Manager Roberts thought of taking out a "Mazulm" pantomime and specialty company, but it was found that it would cost so much to move company, scenery and pantomime properties by rail, that he abandoned the project.

London Theatre, St. Louis, Dec. 31st: 3½ Days, novelty sketch artists; Eva Bennett, Raffin Bey, the Turkish wonder; Mullaney & Milligan, Lillie Conroy, Millar Bros., Ned Forbes, Behan & Dakin, Mande Lester, Hurley & Ryan and Lee & Frye.

Cort's Standard, Seattle, Jan. 7th: Durell Twin Sisters, Annie Rynar, Dot Melville, Thos. Leo, Drummond & Rowe, Jessie Chapman, Lillie Forrest, Herne & Howard, Ida Chester, Clara Stanley, Zanfretta Family, Louise Leslie, Martin & Rushton, Conlon & Dougherty, Florence Clayton, Miss Camilla and Effie Heuston.

The three Ronaldos, St. Julien, Golden & Quigg, the Bicketts, Cain & Topack, the three Martinetties and Wm. Mauritties were at the Academy of Music, Cleveland, Dec. 31st.

We call attention to John Cort's new ad. in to-day's paper. This fixes beyond any question or representation the fact that Manager Cort has exclusive control of the four vaudeville theatres on the Northwest circuit.

The Judge Family, acrobatic marvels; Delaur & Debrimont; Young and Selle, contortionists; Pettingill and his dog, and James R. Adams, clown, are at Koster & Bial's, N. Y., this week (Jan. 7th).

O'Conor, the New York tragedian, and Ferguson & Mack are with Jas. A. Herne and Co., playing in Boston this week (Jan. 7th).

La Rose Bros., the Suanettes, Geyer and Lord, May Forrest, Wheeler the Wonder, Mulligan and Linton, Whitney and Johnson, the Derville Family (six in number), Beattie and Bentley, Carrie Manning, Heeley Bros., the Misses Ida Campbell, Fannie May, Maud Clayton, Ray Filoorn, Louise Novello, Nellie Waters and the stock company are at Cort's Standard, Portland, this week. Miss Louise Novello closes the entertainment with her picturesque drama, The Gypsy.

The handsomest young lady in Kiralfy's ballet is the one who is the centre figure, in silver, in the metallic march. With her stately figure and impassive face, she looks every inch an Amazon, as we imagine them, at least, to look.

Morgan's Theatre, Tacoma, has changed hands. H. H. Cline has become proprietor. Mr. Cline publishes the following card in John Cort's new advertisement elsewhere in FIGARO, which is of importance enough to the profession to warrant its re-production in our columns:

CARD.

Tacoma, W. T., Jan. 1, 1889.
Office of Morgan's Theatre.

Managers and performers are hereby notified that this house is included in John Cort's circuit only, and no other.

H. H. CLINE, Proprietor.

This gives Manager Cort the exclusive booking control of the only variety theatres open in Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane [illegible].

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Eugene E. Wetherill, Emma Abbott's husband and manager, died in Denver on the 6th, after a two days' attack of pneumonia. Mr. Wetherill was a rich man when he married Emma Abbott. He was a shrewd business man. As manager of his wife's opera company and his judicious land investments in new and growing cities he has made Emma Abbott, in her own right, one of the wealthiest women on the stage to-day. Mr. Wetherill's death leaves her a millionaire. Their married life was a happy one, and the prima has canceled dates for two weeks to accompany the remains of her husband to his home in Gloucester, Mass.

Jeffreys-Lewis had a full house last night at the Standard, and was the recipient of two elegant stands of flowers.

Our Stockwell will toll A Midnight Bell at the Bijou Theatre, N. Y., early in March.

Ellie Wilton is fast recovering from her serious illness.

Rose Easton and company open at the Tivoli, 14th street, Oakland, Jan. 12th, in Passion's Slave, with Rob. E. Vernon and wife in leads and Sam Morris as comedian.

Georgie Woodthorpe plays in Oakland, 11-12; next week in Watsonville, Santa Cruz and San Jose; Los Angeles, 20th, for one week.

George Mothersole goes out as advance representative for Georgie Woodthorpe.

Said Pasha will have its initial performance in Philadelphia Jan 14th.

Prof. Herrmann's latest wonder, which he calls "Cremation," has made a remarkable success.

It is said that hereafter all attractions controlled by Frank W. Sanger, H. C. Miner and Hoyt & Thomas will be booked exclusively through W. W. Randall, of New York fame.

Conried's new opera, The King's Fool, has made a big success in Chicago, where the first week's receipts were close to $9,000.

Alice Harrison is playing in Aimee's piece, "Mam'zelle," at the Third Avenue Theatre, New York. The N. Y. Mercury classifies her as "vocal and frisky." It is the same Alice.

Pauline Markley's Burlesquers, after their manager and treasurer had "skipped," played at Tamaqua, Pa., on the commonwealth plan, to secure enough to take them home. The receipts gave them $2 each. All except one burlesquer left the city. That lady is now sensibly at work in a local knitting mill.

Mazulm has caught the popular favor with its pretty girls and glittering armor. Mme. Lille is one of the best of premiers and trips as if she were in love with her art, and is entitled to more hearty applause than she receives. All in all, only commendatory words can be written of Imre Kiralfy's great show piece.

Darrell Vinton is a great favorite on the South side. Every night hundreds are turned away and the jam at the door is something terrific; crush and push and crowd, it seems almost impossible to convince the people that there is not even standing-room left.

Daniel E. Bandmann will produce Austerlitz at the People's Theatre, N. Y., on Jan. 21st. Mr. Bandmann produced Austerlitz in London at the Queen's Theatre in 1872, with Geo. Rignold in the support. The piece ran the entire season and will be produced in New York with new scenery and a strong support.

The Carleton Opera Co. can boast of some remarkably handsome and shapely young ladies.

LAWRENCE BARRETT'S AFFLICTION.

Lawrence Barrett has closed his joint New York season with Booth, and is suffering severely from what the physicians fear is a tumor, originating in the glands, and causing a dangerous swelling in the neck. It was first observed a year ago, and has enlarged until it has become a striking disfigurement of a threatening character.

The increase of the tumor, if such it is, has been steady during the last two months. His stage costumes have been so altered as to reach to his chin, thus covering the chief swelling, but under his chin are two large lumps that cannot be hidden and which alter the outlines of his face radically.

Barrett has been under medical treatment, but his physician will give no information nor will he satisfy curiosity on the subject. The best understanding is that he will submit to a surgical operation in the Spring and upon the outcome of that will depend his continuance on or retirement from the stage.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Tacoma, W. T., Jan. 1, 1889.
Morgan's Theatre.

EDITOR FIGARO: We opened at Theatre Royal, Portland, and played four weeks; then Tacoma four weeks. But after we close here we had nothing. Only for John Cort knowing us and engaging us, we would have had to jump out of here with only eight weeks. But he engaged us for eight weeks more, four in Seattle and four in Spokane Falls, which makes us all O. K. This house (Morgan's Theatre), under the proprietorship of H. H. Cline, closes on Jan. 5th for one week for renovation and will re-open Saturday night, Jan. 12th, under John Cort's circuit. We may have more news for you shortly. Respectfully,

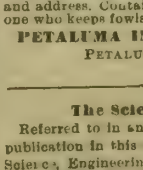
AL LE SAME IN CHINA.



The Hong Kong Daily Press gives the following details of a "disturbance" by a Chinese actor at the local theatre the other evening: At 7:30 the "King of the Sea of a Thousand Golden Isles," whose name off the stage is Ah Sow, was undeniably drunk before the curtain rose at the Ko Shing Theatre, Hong Kong, and the management were driven to despair by the behavior of the principal actor in the cast. To make things worse, the King definitely decided not to act at all unless he got his next month's salary in advance on the spot. On this determination becoming known an actor named Leung A. Hoy, cast for the part of son of the "King of," etc., informed him that he never did anything for his money but "yam" — which is the native lingo for "booze." Put out by this anything but filial expression, his Majesty grabbed a large washing basin and threw it with all his force in the face of the speaker. It struck him on the temple, inflicting a fearful wound and laying the bone bare. The unfortunate man had almost bled to death before he reached the hospital; his injuries were immediately seen to, however, and he will probably recover. His assailant was marched off to the police station in all his war paint, and the head that wore a crown lay very uneasy that night against the bars of a prison cell, while at the same time the anxious audience at the Ka Shing Theatre was appeased by the production of The Fairy Water Lily in lieu of the advertised performance.

Mr. Press—Did I understand you to say, Madam, that your husband was in favor of the "Omnibus Bill?" Mrs. Congressman (haughtily)—No, sir. My husband always rides in a carriage.

City Man—What effect have these heavy rains on your farm in Tulare, Mr. Hayseed? Mr. Hayseed—Well, I've kinder concluded I'll try raisin' fish for the market instead of garden truck.

"What made you tell me a lie, Johnny?" angrily inquired Mrs. Brown. "Because," pleaded little Johnny, "I knew you would lick me if I told you the truth."

EVENING EDITION

TUESDAY.....JANUARY 8, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt has temporarily closed the Bush Street Theatre to make important changes and improvements; which will make it a new theatre. New boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third-tier gallery, and new decorations and appointments will be the order of improvement, at the cost of $12,000.

The stage and parquet floor will be lowered. The front of the stage will be rimmed out in a semi-circle form more into the auditorium and its proscenium arch will be raised, giving it greater depth and elevation. There will be eight proscenium boxes, handsomely appointed. Litherustawalton, will form the staff of the decorations.

The plans of the new Bush Street Theatre show that it will be an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated. The electric light is brought into requisition, and gangs of artisans will be kept at work day and night until the theatre is finished.

The new Bush will open on Saturday, January 26th, with Lydia Thompson's English Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company produce for their second week that fine opera of Strauss', The Queen's Lace Handkerchief, elegantly appointed in the way of costumes and rich stage settings. Three of the ladies' dresses are embroidered with pearls and other jewels, and one bordered with ermine fourteen inches deep.

The opera is one of the most tuneful in the Carleton repertoire and is admirably given by his company.

Mr. Carleton sings Cervantes finely, and in addition to the written score, he introduces "Toreador," from Carmen, with fine effect. Miss Alice Vincent makes a regal queen, and sings with more force and feeling than last week; Miss Clara Lane is the success of the piece however, her singing and acting perfect; Mr. Drew as Sancho, and Broderick, Bestic and Parker, the Cabinet, all give satisfaction in their comedy parts. The chorus is remarkably well drilled and sing with enthusiasm.

The cast can be found in the Baldwin's programme space in our columns.

Alcazar Theatre.

A Noble Rogue, Steele Mackey's latest Eastern success, presented for the Holiday attraction, produced in the most elaborate and effective manner, is continued here for its third and last week.

A Noble Rogue involves the fortunes of a boy stolen in infancy, and, like Oliver Twist, reared by thieves. Brought up in that life he becomes a rogue, trickster and counterfeiter, by force of villainous association and training, but retains an honesty of nature, and finally renounces his bad associates and becomes a good citizen. It is melodramatic and scenic to a degree that keeps both the people on the boards and those behind the scenes busy. Two of its notable effects are a fine steamer scene and a drawbridge that swings out over the orchestra on the turn.

Mr. Carden plays the railroad king better than any part he has yet given us. Geo. Osbourne does a strong piece of character work as the Noble Rogue. He seems to have thoroughly caught Steele Mackey's idea of the character.

Stockwell makes much out of the small comedy part of Peter Slink. Ethel Brandon plays the role of Grace Mortimer very acceptably, and the same must be said of Fanny Young, Minnie Young and Hattie Moore.

The Golden Giant, an interesting and eventful drama, will form next week's bill.

Grand Opera House.

Manager Al Hayman's Holiday attraction at the Grand, Imre Kiralfy's spectacular pantomime of Mazulm, the Night Owl, with the scenery and stage garniture as produced at the Academy of Music, New York, is continued for its third and last week.

Mazulm is a grand pantomime in all its appointments. There is an acting company, a grand Kiralfy ballet, with a new star premiere, absolute, Mlle. Lile, from the Berlin Opera House, accompanied by four premieres, who make their first appearances in America at the Grand. Besides there are the Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes; Mons. Arnold, the best of grotesque dancers; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Bros. eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

The pantomime goes with great spirit and dash. The dancing and marching are fine features of the bill. This year Kiralfy has the best appointed ballet he ever had, all being young and comely women.

Imre Kiralfy's Black Crook, the Black Crook of stage fame, will take the stage of the Grand on Monday night. Its run is limited to two weeks.

Standard Theatre.

This cosy theatre has been renovated, repainted and placed in complete order for the dramatic season of Miss Jeffreys-Lewis and company.

The strong play of Led Astray will be this week's bill.

This piece is one that will present Miss Lewis to us in a different role from those of the previous weeks, and one in which we shall like her better. As Armande she has scope for her talent in a more pleasing way and one in which she has the sympathy of her audience.

Miss Lewis gives her whole soul to the part and plays with intensity and feeling, scoring a success. J. J. Wallace's juvenility is a surprise to everyone as Hector Placide; Harry Mainhall plays Chandoce well, especially in the chamber scene, one of the strongest scenes of the play; the Major O'Hara of Mr. Griffith is well done, and the same may be said of the La Fontaine of Von Rosen; Miss Ida Aubrey is charming Mathilde, and Miss Rossmore plays Suzanne in a very lively manner.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Orpheum returns to specialty entertainment this week, with Moore's European and American stars, from the East, as the week's attraction.

Oura's Japanese troupe of jugglers, equilibrists, acrobats, etc., five in number, form the Oriental contingent stars, and are novel and clever. The Romalos Brothers, gymnastic marvels, do things that are impossible to describe, but that are very pleasing to the eye. The Miranda Sisters, aerial artistes, contribute a high trapeze act and suspend each other by the teeth while turning and oscillating through the air in a most remarkable manner. Olivette does his act on the swinging wire with great equipoise. Miss Jennie Boyer is a fine-voiced and accomplished operatic vocalist. Ashley & Hess come on in a funny skating act. Miss Adele Purvis revolves on the revolving globe, gracefully juggling with knives and firebrands at the same time with the utmost composure, and McIntyre & Heath are added to the galaxy of stars to ring in the fun element.

The whole performance is novel and varied, and several of the acts have dash and daring in them.

Matinee Saturday and Sunday.

Morosco's Ampahtheatre.

This week's attraction will be Bartley Campbell's White Slave, a spectacular drama in six acts, introducing the Colored Students with their quaint and melodious singing. As Clay Britton, Darrell Vinton will clearly portray the part. Miss Essie Tittel has an arduous role as Lisa, but the little lady is fully competent and her work will be acceptable. The play calls for many people and an unusually large amount of stage work.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of French Blondes, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, are playing with all their old time versatility, and have scored a noteworthy success. Full houses every night.

Doyle & Leclair, Irish sketch team; the Lawrences, song and dance artists; the Beasleys, colored twins, in double songs and dances, and Alice Percey, serio-comic vocalistes and dancer, are the new faces this week.

Billy Arnold's latest sensation, The Parisian Can-Can; or, The French Minuet, opens the bill.

The Can-Can is positively on for its last week.

The Bella Union is playing the largest company of any vaudeville theatre on the Coast, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Buckingham Theatre.

This new theatre, 1342-1344 Market street, opposite Seventh street, was to have opened on Saturday night, under the management of Sam Lewis, an experienced manager and a popular man, but Mr Lewis was stricken down with pneumonia before completing his arrangements for opening, and has not left his bed since. He sent his stage manager a notice postponing the opening until Saturday next. So that conditions at the Buckingham remain the same as they were a week ago. It is a disappointment to the company that should not have been permitted to occur.

Heikes & McClelland's Wonderland.

A Museum and Theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The new features in the Museum this week are the largest horse in the world, 20 hands high, weighing 3400 pounds; Barnum's original tattooed man, Captain Constantine; the Circassian Beauty, and Little Dot, the smallest woman in the world, 22 inches in statue.

Prof. Pepper's Ghost, just from the East, a series of wonderful and mysterious tableaux and startling apparitions, will be continued as the great attraction for the theatre department.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Frankie Hilton, Belle Manning, Julia Bennett, Jennie Mason, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

John Miller, comedian, and McPherson, the favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

A Parlor Soiree opens the bill, followed by a very full and diversified olio and the comedy, Siamese Twins, more olio features, then the farce, Comedy Camping Out, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact m or theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

McIntyre & Heath, the clever minstrels and comedians, have been engaged by Manager Leavitt, and leave for the East next week to take a place in one of his companies.

Mlle. Bertha, John Chester, Martin & Lonsdale, Franks & O'Dell, the Winchell Twin Sisters, were at the Club Theatre, Victoria, B. C., Christmas week, and the enterprising managers hung out a nickle-plated bill, one of the showiest we have seen for a long time.

Hicks' Colored Minstrels have made a big hit in New Zealand.

John Morrissey, whose good management placed the Lyceum, in Chicago, on the top wave of prosperity, has come to this city to reside. It was our climate that did it, in conjunction with a liberal offer to take managerial supervision of our popular Orpheum. He takes his position as manager of the Orpheum this week.

The Portland Daily Telegram says: "Cort's Standard Theatre is doing all the business and is the best place of amusement in the city, giving better entertainment for the least money and presenting more talent and better bills than any house in Portland. In fact it has no rivals."

It is more than probable that N. D. Roberts, late manager of the Bijou, will organize a minstrel company with Emerson at its head for an interior season. Manager Roberts thought of taking out a "Mazulm" pantomime and specialty company, but it was found that it would cost so much to move company, scenery and pantomime properties by rail, that he abandoned the project.

Cort's Standard, Seattle, Jan. 7th: Durell Twin Sisters, Annie Ryan, Dot Melville, Thos. Leo, Drummond & Rowe, Jessie Chapman, Lillie Forrest, Henri & Howard, Ida Chester, Clara Stanley, Zanfretta Family, Louise Leslie, Martin & Rushton, Conlon & Dougherty, Florence Clayton, Miss Camilla and Effie Houston.

O'Conor, the New York tragedian, and Ferguson & Mack are with Jas. A. Herne and Co., playing in Boston this week (Jan. 7th).

The handsomest young lady in Kiralfy's ballet is the one who is the centre figure, in silver, in the metallic march. With her stately figure and impassive face, she looks every inch an Amazon, as we imagine them, at least, to look.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

FASHIONABLE FOLLY IN CHICAGO.

Eddy's New York Squib is the authority for stating that numerous applications came from society people in Chicago for permission to act as supernumeraries with Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett. There appears to have been a questionable ambition among the ladies and gentlemen of that city to take part in these performances in order to be able to say that they "acted" with Booth and Barrett. This foolish vanity raged to a considerable extent, and a number of well known people appeared as the Roman army and sometimes as the Venetian populace. One of the ladies who had acted temporarily as a supernumerary is the wife of a journalist of national reputation, but the "super" who caused the most sensation was a young Chicago millionaire who drove to the stage door every night in his private turnout and joined the noble army of auxiliaries, receiving 50 cents for his labors during the evening. When the play was over this young gentleman reentered his carriage at the stage door and drove to his club. He is, no doubt, exceedingly happy in being able to say that he has acted with Booth and Barrett. There is no telling what a splurge he will cut on the strength of it.

The editor of the Astorian says that the fog prevented the eclipse being seen in Astoria, and that everybody was greatly disappointed. Then he goes on to tell his readers that the next eclipse on New Year's Day will occur in 2162. He may have intended that for a consolation, but it is a long while to wait for it.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The reason why so many cane-handle-sucking dudes hunt the front rows of the parquet at Mazulm is explained on the principle of mutual attraction—there are always plenty of calves in Kiralfy's ballet.

The Boston Post, a conservative journal, and not at all given to extravagant ideas in dramatic matters, asserts that "Miss Marlowe is now infinitely beyond Miss Anderson after years of experience, and unless the latter has learned something more during her last visit to London than to speak English rather than Kentuckian, she is not yet capable of sustaining a comparison with her younger competitor. More than this, Miss Marlowe is a better Viola than Miss Neilson was when she first appeared in this country." This is high praise of Miss Marlowe, and sounds like exaggeration, but the stage has had its wonders before, and may have them again. Miss Marlowe is 20 years of age, of English birth, but from childhood a resident of the United States.

Truth has an excellent article anent Booth's New Year's gift, which is very much to the point, and one which will give cause to much serious thought.

Jeffreys-Lewis had a full house last night at the Standard, and was the recipient of two elegant stands of flowers.

Our Stockwell will toll A Midnight Bell at the Bijou Theatre, N. Y., early in March.

Ellie Wilton is fast recovering from her serious illness.

Rose Easton and company open at the Tivoli, 14th street, Oakland, Jan. 12th, in Passion's Slave, with Rob. E. Vernon and wife in leads and Sam Morris as comedian.

Georgie Woodthorpe plays in Oakland, 11 12; next week in Watsonville, Santa Cruz and San Jose; Los Angeles, 20th, for one week.

Said Pasha will have its initial performance in Philadelphia Jan 14th.

It is said that hereafter all attractions controlled by Frank W. Sanger, H. C. Miner and Hoyt & Thomas will be booked exclusively through W. W. Randall, of New York fame.

Conried's new opera, The King's Fool, has made a big success in Chicago, where the first week's receipts were close to $9 000.

The candidates for admission to the new Players' Club in Gramercy Park, New York, are so numerous that the Board of Directors find themselves seriously embarrassed in the matter of elections. The initiation fee is $100.

Wilson Barrett the popular English actor, recently delivered an address at the laying of the corner-stone of a new theatre in Halifax, England. In the course of his address Mr. Barrett paid a very fine tribute to America, where, in the new cities of the West, churches and theatres rise in grandure side by side.

MRS. POTTER'S CLEOPATRA.

The word-picturing Nym Crinkle evidently found in Mrs. Potter's Cleopatra a pleasant surprise. He says in the New York World:

Mrs. Potter's Cleopatra was not only an ambitious, but a strenuous effort, and exhibited in conception and in execution considerable more originality and nervous power than I gave her credit for. She neither virginizes it nor distends it with mock heroics. Historically Cleopatra was thirty-nine when she died, and Shakespeare takes especial pains to emphasize both her maturity and experience. Cleopatra, whose infinite variety age could not wither, is unmistakably drawn as a capricious and wholly undisciplined creature of emotion. This is her variety. It is the variety of a pretty temperament.

Mrs. Potter's chief merit of portrayal is in having seized upon this distinctive temperament and shown it clearly. I have seen the part embodied three times in my dramatic experience, and each time it was made a colorless semi-heroic role, with little reference to the infinite variety of the utter irresponsible and spoiled "royal wench" whims. She rather surprised me with her abandonment and vehemence in the final scenes, just as she charmed me with her heartless coquetry in the early scenes. That she is as good in heavy declamation as in poetic vagaries of dialogue need not be said.

A certain tendency to monotony of key said. Mrs. Potter was effective and as various as the voluptuous type of woman she was portraying could be. Into all her love passages with Antony she threw an abandon and reckless fervor.

Of Kyrle Bellew's Antony it may be said that he was perhaps more Grecian than Roman in his method, but he nevertheless gave a conscientious and thoroughly artistic realization of the doting warrior from his own point of view.

The staging and costuming were elaborate.

Lady (as a blood-curdling war-whoop is heard from the kitchen)—What is happening, Walters? Maid—That is Dinah. She always yells that way, ma'am, when she succeeds in turning the omelette without letting it drop on the floor. She's the daughter of a Zulu chief, mam.

"No, thank you;" said the old Kentucky Colonel; "a man is 80 per cent water, and it would only take 20 per cent more to make him all water. Not any. My Doctor forbid it.

Some body says that "the man who borrows money borrows trouble." It was not supposed that trouble was so hard to borrow.

It is the fathers who are too poor to hire nursegirls who do the carrying trade of the United States.

You can always get a woman to keep a secret, if you give her chloroform enough.

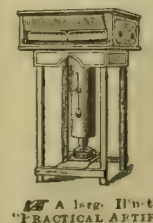
AL LE SAME IN CHINA.



The Hong Kong Daily Press gives the following details of a "disturbance" by a Chinese actor at the local theatre the other evening: At 7:30 the "King of the Sea of a Thousand Golden Isles," whose off the stage is Ah Sow, was undeniably drunk before the curtain rose at the Ko Shing Theatre, Hong Kong, and the management were driven to despair by the behavior of the principal actor in the cast. To make things worse, the King definitely decided not to act at all unless he got his next month's salary in advance on the spot. On this determination becoming known an actor named Leung A. Hoy, cast for the part of son of the King of," etc., informed him that he never did anything for his money but "yam"—which is the native lingo for "booze." Put out by this anything but filial expression, his Majesty grabbed a large washing basin and threw it with all his force in the face of the speaker. It struck him on the temple, inflicting a fearful wound and laying the bone bare. The unfortunate man had almost bled to death before he reached the hospital; his injuries were immediately seen to, however, and he will probably recover. His assailant was marched off to the police station in all his war paint, and the head that wore a crown lay very uneasy that night against the bars of a prison cell, while at the same time the anxious audience at the Ko Shing Theatre was appeased by the production of The Fairy Water Lily in lieu of the advertised performance.

Woman (to tramp)—So you want a drink of some kind? I'll get you something nice. (She brings it to him.) There, drink that! Tramp (suspiciously)—What is it? Woman—It's a mixture of hydrogen and oxygen. Tramp (gratefully)—Oh! I generally drink plain Old Tom, but I s'pose them fancy brands is good enuff so long as they're gin.

A woman can drive a pair of dashing ponies, a bargain, an argument, or a hen; but when it comes to a little flat-headed tack—O my!

Does not go to waist—the material now used in making party dresses.

EVENING EDITION

WEDNESDAY.....JANUARY 9, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt has temporarily closed the Bush Street Theatre to make important changes and improvements; which will make it a new theatre. New boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third-tier gallery, and new decorations and appointments will be the order of improvement, at the cost of $40,000.

The stage and parquet floor will be lowered. The front of the stage will be rimmed out in a semi-circle form more into the auditorium and the proscenium arch will be raised, giving it greater depth and elevation. There will be eight proscenium boxes, handsomely appointed. Linerustawalton will form the staff of the decorations.

The plans of the new Bush Street Theatre show that it will be an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated. The electric light is brought into requisition, and gangs of artisans will be kept at work day and night until the theatre is finished.

The new Bush will open on Saturday, January 26th, with Lydia Thompson's English Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company produce for their second week that fine opera of Strauss', The Queen's Lace Handkerchief, elegantly appointed in the way of costumes and rich stage settings. Three of the ladies' dresses are embroidered with pearls and other jewels, and one bordered with ermine fourteen inches deep.

The opera is one of the most tuneful in the Carleton repertoire and is admirably given by the company.

Mr. Carleton sings Cervantes finely, and in addition to the written score, he introduces "Toreador," from Carmen, with great effect. Miss Alice Vincent makes a regal queen, and sings with more force and feeling than last week; Miss Clara Lane is the success of the piece however, her singing and acting perfect; Mr. Drew as Sancho, and Broderick, Beatie and Parker, the Cabinet, all give satisfaction in their comedy parts. The chorus is remarkably well drilled and sing with enthusiasm.

The cast can be found in the Baldwin's programme space in our columns.

Alcazar Theatre.

A Noble Rogue, Steele Mackey's latest Eastern success, presented for the Holiday attraction, produced in the most elaborate and effective manner, is continued here for its third and last week.

A Noble Rogue involves the fortunes of a boy stolen in infancy, and, like Oliver Twist, reared by thieves. Brought up in that life he becomes a rogue, trickster and counterfeiter, by force of villainous association and training, but retains an honesty of nature, and finally renounces his bad associates and becomes a good citizen. It is melodramatic and scenic to a degree that keeps both the people on the boards and those behind the scenes busy. Two of its notable effects are a fine steamer scene and a drawbridge that swings out over the orchestra on the turn.

Mr. Carden plays the railroad king better than any part he has yet given us. Geo. Osbourne does a strong piece of character work as the Noble Rogue. He seems to have thoroughly caught Steele Mackey's idea of the character.

Stockwell makes much out of the small comedy part of Peter Slunk. Ethel Brandon plays the role of Grace Mortimer very acceptably, and the same must be said of Fanny Young, Minnie Young and Hattie Moore.

The Golden Giant, an interesting and eventful drama, will form next week's bill.

Grand Opera House.

Manager Al Hayman's Holiday attraction at the Grand, Imre Kiralfy's spectacular pantomime of Mazulm, the Night Owl, with the scenery and stage garniture as produced at the Academy of Music, New York, is continued for its third and last week.

Mazulm is a grand pantomime in all its appointments. There is an acting company, a grand Kiralfy ballet, with a new star premiere, absolute, Mlle. Lile, from the Berlin Opera H., accompanied by four premieres, who make their first appearances in America at the Grand. Besides there are the Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes; Mons. Arnold, the best of grotesque dancers; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Bros. eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

The pantomime goes with great spirit and dash. The dancing and marching are fine features of the bill. This year Kiralfy has the best appointed ballet he ever had, all being young and comely women.

Imre Kiralfy's Black Crook, the Black Crook of stage fame, will take the stage of the Grand on Monday night. Its run is limited to two weeks.

Standard Theatre.

This cosy theatre has been renovated, repainted and placed in complete order for the dramatic season of Miss Jeffreys-Lewis and company.

The strong play of Led Astray will be this week's bill.

This piece is one that will present Miss Lewis to us in a different role from those of the previous weeks, and one in which we shall like her better. As Armande she has scope for her talent in a more pleasing way and one in which she has the sympathy of her audience.

Miss Lewis gives her whole soul to the part and plays with intensity and feeling, scoring a success. J. J. Wallace's juvenility is a surprise to everyone as Hector Placide; Harry Mainhall plays Chandoce well, especially in the chamber scene, one of the strongest scenes of the play; Frank Peters lightly outlines the poetic Lesparre; the Major O'Hara of Mr. Griffith is well done, and the same may be said of the La Fontaine of Von Rosen; Miss Ida Aubrey is a charming Mathilde, and Miss Rossmore plays Suzanne in a very lively manner.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Orpheum returns to specialty entertainment this week, with Moore's European and American stars, from the East, as the week's attraction.

Oura's Japanese troupe of jugglers, equilibrists, acrobats, etc., five in number, add the Oriental contingent stars, and are novel and clever. The Romalos Brothers, gymnastic marvels, do things that are impossible to describe, but that are very pleasing to the eye. The Miranda Sisters, aerial artistes, contribute a high trapeze act and suspend each other by the teeth while turning and oscillating through the air in a most remarkable manner. Olivette does a neat act on swinging wire. Ashley & Hess come on in a funny skating act. Miss Adele Purvis revolves on the revolving globe, gracefully juggling with knives and firebrands at the same time with the utmost composure, and McIntyre & Heath are added to the galaxy of stars to ring in the fun element.

The whole performance is novel and varied, and several of the acts have dash and daring in them.

Matinee Sunday.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week's attraction will be Bartley Campbell's White Slave, a spectacular drama in six acts, introducing the Colored Students with their quaint and melodious singing. As Clay Britton, Darrell Vinton clearly portrays the part. Miss Essie Tittel has an arduous role as Lisa, but the little lady is fully competent and her work will be acceptable. The play calls for many people and an unusually large amount of stage work.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of French Blondes, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, are playing with all their old time versatility, and have scored a seven weeks' success. Full houses every night.

Doyle & Leclair, Irish sketch team; the Lawrences, song and dance artists; the Beesleys, colored twins, in double songs and dances, and Alice Percey, serio-comic vocalists and dancer, are the new faces this week.

Billy Arnold's taking sensation, The Parisian Can-Can; or, The French Minuet, opens the bill.

The Can-Can is positively on for its last week.

The Bella Union is playing the largest company of any vaudeville theatre on the Coast, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Buckingham Theatre.

This new theatre, 1342-1344 Market street, opposite Seventh street, was to have opened on Saturday night, under the management of Sam Lewis, an experienced manager and a popular man, but Mr Lewis was stricken down with pneumonia before completing his arrangements for opening, a serious turn of it. He sent his stage manager a notice postponing the opening until Saturday next. So that conditions at the Buckingham remain the same as they were a week ago. It is a disappointment to the company.

Heikes & McClelland's Wonderland.

A Museum and Theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The new features in the Museum this week are the largest horse in the world, 20 hands high, weighing 3400 pounds; Barnum's original tattooed man, Captain Constantine; the Circassian Beauty, and Little Dot, the smallest woman in the world, 22 inches in statue.

Prof. Pepper's Ghost, just from the East, a series of wonderful and mysterious tableaux and startling apparitions, will be continued as the great attraction for the theatre department.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Original Theatre Comique

John Miller, comedian, and McPherson, the favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

A Parlor Soiree opens the bill, followed by a very full and diversified olio and the comedy, Siamese Twins, more olio features, then the farce, Comedy Camping Out, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact m or theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest theatres in the city, and good management made it one of the most popular of our theatres for years past. Manager Walte runs a very strong company. There are lady vocalists this week.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Rehearsal called for the Buckingham Theatre company to-morrow (Friday), at 2 o'clock, for everybody.

Manager Ned Foster sports the greatest little turnout in the country. He has for some time driven a couple of black Shetland pony geldings, the smallest ones ever imported to the United States, before a liliputian road wagon, which attracted general attention by their novelty and the speed with which they got over the ground. But he now eclipses himself and drives through the Park a tandem team of Shetlands. The new ponies are fleet-footed mouse colored ones and scarcely larger than his diminutive blacks. As he drives four-in-hand through the Park his turnout is one that cannot be matched in any other city in the Union.

The fight between Mazulm, the Australian Night Owl, and Billy Mahan, the California Lark, terminated at 4 o'clock this morning in a draw. Running all night is an accepted California diversion. Fighting all night is a new one that we fear our young bloods will not take to as kindly.

Several museum managers of New York and Boston have offered Mme. Dis De Bar six hundred dollars a week to show herself in their museums. The offer was refused.

If the fair Lillian Russell won't wear tights in the Queen's Mate, Manager Duff can't make her; but he can prevent her singing at the Casino, N. Y., at the present, and so the case stands. Exactly why Lillian objects to tights at this late day no one seems to know, as Manager Duff testified that it was an objection she had never raised before in all her long service with him.

Harry Le Clair presented his partner, Edward Leslie, with a handsome gold watch and chain on Christmas Day.

Maggie Cline, Bryant & Saville, Chas. and Martha Steen, Laura Lee, Charles Litchfield, Layman, Dan Hart, James Britton and others appeared in New York at H. H. Jacobs' Sunday concert, Jan. 6.

The Valdis Sisters, with Reilly & Wood's Big Specialty Co., are creating a great sensation.

Wm. Emerson, a son of the well-known minstrel, played the comedy part in a dramatization of Cardinal Wiseman's Fabiola, at St. Xavier's College, Cincinnati, on Christmas night, and made a decided hit.

A big New Year's bill at Tony Pastor's was headed by John Kernell, Lester and Allen, the Horseshoe Four, the Juliens, and the great and only Tony himself.

McIntyre & Heath, the clever minstrels and comedians, have been engaged by Manager Leavitt, and leave for the East next week to take a place in one of his companies.

Mlle. Bertha, John Chester, Martin & Lonsdale, Franke & O'Dell, the Winchell Twin Sisters, were at the Club Theatre, Victoria, B. C., Christmas week, and the enterprising managers hung out a nickle-plated bill, one of the showiest we have seen for a long time.

John Morrissey, whose good management placed the Lyceum, in Chicago, on the top wave of prosperity, has come to this city to reside. It was our climate that did it, in conjunction with a liberal offer to take managerial supervision of our popular Orpheum. He takes his position as manager of the Orpheum this week.

It is more than probable that N. D. Roberts, late manager of the Bijou, will organize a minstrel company with Emerson at its head for an interior season. Manager Roberts thought of taking out a "Mazulm" pantomime and specialty company, but it was found that it would cost so much to move company, scenery and pantomime properties by rail, that he abandoned the project.

Cort's Standard, Seattle, Jan. 7th: Durell Twin Sisters, Annie Rynar, Dot Melville, Thos. Leo, Drummond & Rowe, Jessie Chapman, Lillie Forrest, Herne & Howard, Ida Chester, Clara Stanley, Zanfretta Family, Louise Leslie, Martin & Rushton, Conlon & Dougherty, Florence Clayton, Miss Camilla and Effie Heuston.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

At the Eureka the unusually large

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The young California prima donna, who is pronounced by the European critics to have such a fine voice, and has certainly achieved a remarkable success in concerts and in operas, Miss Alameda (in private life Miss Annie Gleason), is here on a visit to her parents, who reside in this city.

Bishop, the mind-reader, has been arrested in Nashville, Tenn., for beating his last new wife, a handsome young woman of twenty-four. Harrison Milliard, the composer, who has been traveling with Bishop, left him in a huff a short time ago, and since then Bishop has been going to the dogs.

Alice Hastings left all her property to Roland Reed.

Little Lord Fauntleroy played to over $12,000 at the Broadway Theatre, N. Y., last week, and the company on the road to over $4,000.

The Kellogg Opera Troupe is doing a very large one, two and three nights business in the South. The troupe travelled northward after Richmond.

Miss Eleanor Carey, one of the best actresses now before the public, will probably go starring next season. Mr. Heinrich Conried is importing a play expressly for Miss Carey's use.

The Yeoman of the Guard was a disappointment in Washington.

It is hinted that a great theatrical secret will be revealed shortly, something with millions in it.

W. A. Whitecar has joined Maude Banks and will be the leading support.

Mike J. Kelly caught a heavy salary at the Fourteenth St. Theatre, N. Y., last week.

John Gourlay has been appearing in The Brook in Melbourne, Australia. He is a great favorite down there. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Williamson (Maggie Moore) have revived Struck Oil at Sydney. Carrie Swain recently closed a successful season in the same city. Adelaide Detchon, in readings, is doing well at the antipodes. Amy Sherwin has left Adelaide for East India. George Miln, our preacher-actor, recently played a Shakespearean season in Brisbane. The Hicks-Sawyer Minstrels have cut it fat in New Zealand.

Augustin Daly has purchased Marquise, now in rehearsal, from Sardou. Marquise is a bright little comedy in three acts, very much after the style of Divorcons. The story is of a very rich, very frisky young lady, who marries a broken down old marquis solely for his title. Sardou is of the opinion that American young ladies who come to Europe to marry titles will find a moral in Marquise of a rather piquant flavor. Daly has also purchased the American right to another play that Sardou is at work on.

The reason why so many cane-handle-sucking dudes hunt the front rows of the parquet at Mazulm is explained on the principle of mutual attraction—there are always plenty of calves in Kiralfy's ballet.

Truth has an excellent article anent Booth's New Year's gift, which is very much to the point, and one which will give cause to much serious thought.

Our Stockwell will toll A Midnight Bell at the Bijou Theatre, N. Y., early in March.

Rose Easton and company open at the Tivoli, 14th street, Oakland, Jan. 12th, in Passion's Slave, with Rob. E. Vernon and wife in leads and Sam Morris as comedian.

Georgie Woodthorpe plays in Oakland, 11-12; next week in Watsonville, Santa Cruz and San Jose; Los Angeles, 20th, for one week.

Said Pasha will have its initial performance in Philadelphia Jan 14th.

MRS. POTTER'S CLEOPATRA.

The word-picturing Nym Crinkle evidently found in Mrs. Potter's Cleopatra a pleasant surprise. He says in the New York World:

Mrs. Potter's Cleopatra was not only an ambitious, but a strenuous effort, and exhibited in conception and in execution considerable more originality and nervous power than I gave her credit for. She neither virginizes it nor distends it with mock heroics. Historically Cleopatra was thirty-nine when she died, and Shakespeare takes especial pains to emphasize both her maturity and experience. Cleopatra, whose infinite variety age could not wither, is unmistakably drawn as a capricious and wholly undisciplined creature of emotion. This is her variety. It is the variety of a protean temperament.

Mrs. Potter's chief merit of portrayal is in having seized upon this distinctive temperament and shown it clearly. I have seen the part embodied three times in my dramatic experience, and each time it was made a colorless, semi-heroic role, with little reference to the infinite variety of the utter irresponsible and spoiled "royal wench's" whims. She rather surprised me with her abandonment and vehemence in the final scenes, just as she charmed me with her heartless coquetry in the early scenes. That she is as good in heavy declamation as in poetic vagaries of dialogue need not be said.

A certain tendency to monotony of key aside, Mrs. Potter was effective and as vigorous as the voluptuous type of woman she was portraying could be. Into all her love passages with Antony she threw an abandon and reckless fervor.

Of Kyrle Bellew's Antony it may be said that he was perhaps more Grecian than Roman in his method, but he nevertheless gave a conscientious and thorough-

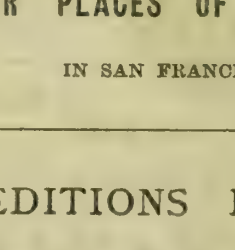
Manager Thomas Hall and the Eastern pedestrians that he is bringing with him to compete for prizes in the walking match that is to come off on the 23d in this city, were caught on the train that was storm-bound the other side of Chicago, and missed the California connection on the 9th. He brings pedestrians Bobby Vint, Thomas Howarth and E. C. Moore with him. The match commences at the Mechanics' Pavilion on the 23d, under the auspices of the Athletic Club.

Jacques—The girls, would never do for a political convention. Never. They would be all on one side. Miss D. — How so? Jacques — Well, for instance, when the chairman asks, "Are you ready for the question?" they would all say aye.



Some body says that "the man who borrows money borrows trouble." It was not supposed that trouble was so hard to borrow.

Woman (to tramp)—So you want a drink of some kind? I'll get you something nice. (She brings it to him). There, drink that! Tramp (suspiciously)—What is it? Woman—It's a mixture of hydrogen and oxygen. Tramp (gratefully) — Oh! I gen'r'ly drinks plain Old Tom, but I s'pose them fancy brands is good enuff so long as they're gin.

Husband (at an entertainment) — "My dear, what a charming manner young Mrs. de Courcy has. I admire temper and spirit in a woman." Wife — "Havn't I temper and spirit, John?" Husband—"Yes, but I mean when they are possessed by other men's wives."

"No, thank you;" said the old Kentucky Colonel; "a man is 80 per cent water, and it would only take 20 per cent more to make him all water. Not any. My Doctor forbid it.

EVENING EDITION

THURSDAY.....JANUARY 10, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt has temporarily closed the Bush Street Theatre to make important changes and improvements; which will make it a new theatre. New boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and gallery—the addition of a new third-tier balcony, and new decorations and appointments will be the order of improvement, at the cost of $20,000.

The stage and parquet floor will be lowered. The front of the stage will be rimmed out in a semi-circle form more into the auditorium and its proscenium arch will be raised, giving it greater depth and elevation. There will be eight proscenium boxes, handsomely appointed. Lincrustawalton will form the staff of the decorations.

The plans of the new Bush Street Theatre show that it will be an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated. The electric light is brought into requisition, and gangs of artisans will be kept at work day and night until the theatre is finished.

The new Bush will open on Saturday, January 26th, with Lydia Thompson's English Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company produced for their second week that fine opera of Strauss', The Queen's Lace Handkerchief, elegantly appointed in the way of costumes and rich stage settings.

The opera is one of the most tuneful in the Carleton repertoire and is admirably given by the company.

Mr. Carleton sings Cervantes finely, and in addition to the written score, he introduces "Toreador," from Carmen, with great effect. Miss Alice Vincent makes a regal queen, and sings with more force and feeling than last week; Miss Clara Lane is the success of the piece however, her singing and acting perfect; Mr. Drew as Sancho, and Broderick, Bestic and Parker, the Cabinet, all give satisfaction in their comedy parts. The chorus is remarkably well drilled and sing with enthusiasm.

The cast can be found in the Baldwin's programme space in our columns.

Next week's repertoire: Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, Dorothy.

Thursday and Saturday evenings, Mikado.

Friday evening and Saturday matinee, Nanon. Seats now on sale.

Alcazar Theatre.

A Noble Rogue, Steele Mackey's latest Eastern success, is continued here for its third and last week.

A Noble Rogue has held its own as a Holiday piece against other attractions, and drawn large houses. It is melodramatic and scenic to a degree that keeps both the people on the boards and those behind the scenes busy. Two of its notable effects are a fine steamer scene and a drawbridge that swings out over the orchestra on the turn.

The company do good work in it, and if the reader has not seen the piece it would pay to do so.

The Golden Giant, an interesting and eventful drama, will form next week's bill. The play is one of standard popularity, and will have a good production and a strong cast.

Grand Opera House.

Manager Al Hayman's Holiday attraction at the Grand, Imre Kiralfy's spectacular pantomime of Mazulm, the Night Owl, with the scenery and stage garniture as produced at the Academy of Music, New York, is continued for its third and last week.

Mazulm is a grand pantomime in all its appointments. There is an acting company, a grand Kiralfy ballet, with a new star premiere, absolute, Mlle. Lile, from the Berlin Opera House, accompanied by four premieres, who make their first appearances in America at the Grand. Besides there are the Onger [illegible]re, the great aerial artistes; Mons. Arnaud, the best of grotesque dancers; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Bros. eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

The pantomime goes with great spirit and dash. The dancing and marching are fine features of the bill. This year Kiralfy has the best appointed ballet he ever had, all being young and comely women.

Imre Kiralfy's Black Crook, the Black Crook

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is giving us a round of intellectual, standard plays here that rank high in merit, and are interpreted by herself and the company that she has selected to support her in a very satisfactory manner. In her lines of characters she has no equal, and her company is doing the best dramatic work in the city, playing fine lines of characters, high comedy and society parts, very acceptably. If you want to see a meritorious performance drop in at the Standard.

The strong play of Led Astray is this week's bill.

This piece is one that presented Miss Lewis to us in a different role from those of the previous weeks. Armande gives scope for her talent in a more pleasing way and one in which she has the sympathy of her audience.

Miss Lewis gives her whole soul to the part and plays with intensity and feeling, scoring a success. J. J. Wallace gives an admirable performance as Hector Pisoide; Harry Mainhall plays Chandoce well, especially in the chamber scene, one of the strongest scenes of the play; Frank Peters lightly outlines the poetic Lesparre: the Major O'Hara of Mr. Griffith is well done, and the same may be said of the La Fontaine of Von Rosen; Miss Ida Aubrey is a charming Mathilde, and Miss Rossmore plays Suzanne in a very lively manner.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

"The Adventures of a Love-Letter," a charming comedy, full of wit and repartee, and very amusing in plot, will be next week's bill.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Orpheum returns to specialty entertainment this week, with Moore's European and American stars, from the East, as the week's attraction.

Oura's Japanese troupe of jugglers, equilibrists, acrobats, etc., five in number, add the Oriental contingent stars, and are novel and clever. The Romalos Brothers, gymnastic marvels, do things that are impossible to describe, but that are very pleasing to the eye. The Miranda Sisters, aerial artistes, contribute a high trapeze act and suspend each other by the teeth while turning and oscillating through the air in a most remarkable manner. Olivette does a neat act on swinging wire. Ashley & Hess come on in a funny skating act. Miss Adele Purvis revolves on the revolving globe, gracefully juggling with knives and firebrands at the same time with the utmost composure, and McIntyre & Heath are added to the galaxy of stars to ring in the fun element.

The whole performance is novel and varied, and several of the acts have dash and daring in them.

Matinee Sunday.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week's attraction will be Bartley Campbell's White Slave, a spectacular drama in six acts, introducing the Colored Students with their quaint and melodious singing. As Clay Britton, Darrell Vinton clearly portrays the part. Miss Essie Tittel has an arduous role as Lisa, but the little lady is fully competent and her work will be acceptable. The play calls for many people and an unusually large amount of stage work.

"Cast Upon the World," a strong five-act play of adventure and dramatic experiences, will hold the stage of this popular East-side theatre next week, with Darrell Vinton as exponent of heroism.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of French Blondes, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, are playing with all their old time versatility, and have scored a seven weeks' success. Full houses every night.

Doyle & Leclair, Irish sketch team; the Lawrences, song and dance artists; the Beasleys, colored twins, in double songs and dances, and Alice Percey, serio-comic vocalists and dancer, are the new faces this week.

Billy Arnold's taking sensation, The Parisian Can-Can; or, The French Minuet, opens the bill.

The Can-Can is positively on for its last week.

The Bella Union is playing the largest company of any vaudeville theatre on the Coast, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Buckingham Theatre.

We are assured, on Market street, will open Saturday night, under the management of Sam Lewis, an experienced manager and a popular man. Mr Lewis was stricken down with pneumonia before completing his arrangements for opening last Saturday. He sent his stage manager a notice postponing the opening until Saturday. The company remains nearly intact. Rehearsal called Friday at 2 P. M.

Heikes & McClelland's Wonderland.

A Museum and Theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The new features in the Museum this week are the largest horse in the world, 20 hands high, weighing 3400 pounds; Barnum's original tattooed man, Captain Constantine; the Circassian Beauty, and Little Dot, the smallest woman in the world, 22 inches in statue.

Prof. Pepper's Ghost, just from the East, a series of wonderful and mysterious tableaux and startling apparitions, will be continued as the great attraction for the theatre department.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Joseph F. Donohue, of Newburg, on the Hudson, won the two mile skating race at Amsterdam, Holland, on the 10th inst. in the championship races being held there. He covered the two miles in 6 minutes, 24 seconds; beating the Russian champion, Pauschin, 7 seconds—70 yards—and lowering the record for the distance; though the ice was softening and the climatic conditions were very different from what the American had been accustomed to on the Hudson river.

Manager Ned Foster sports the greatest little turnout in the country. He has for some time driven a couple of black Shetland pony geldings, the smallest ones ever imported to the United States, before a liliputian road wagon, which attracted general attention by their novelty and the speed with which they got over the ground. But he now eclipses himself and drives through the Park a tandem team of Shetlands. The new ponies are fleet-footed mouse colored ones and scarcely larger than his diminutive blacks. As he drives four-in-hand through the Park his turnout is one that cannot be matched in any other city in the Union.

Several museum managers of New York and Boston have offered Mme. Dia De Bar six hundred dollars a week to show herself in their museums. The offer was refused.

If the fair Lillian Russell won't wear tights in the Queen's Mate, Manager Duff can't make her; but he can prevent her singing at the Casino, N. Y., at the present, and so the case stands. Exactly why Lillian objects to tights at this late day no one seems to know, as Manager Duff testified that it was an objection she had never raised before in all her long service with him.

The reason why so many cane-handle-sucking dudes hunt the front rows of the parquet at Mazuim is explained on the principle of mutual attraction—there are always plenty of calves in Kiralfy's ballet.

Harry Le Clair presented his partner, Edward Leslie, with a handsome gold watch and chain on Christmas Day.

Maggie Cline, Bryant & Saville, Chas. and Martha Steen, Laura Lee, Charles Litchfield, Layman, Dan Hart, James Britton and others appeared in New York at H. H. Jacobs' Sunday concert, Jan. 6.

The Valdis Sisters, with Reilly & Wood's Big Specialty Co., are creating a great sensation.

Wm. Emerson, a son of the well-known minstrel, played the comedy part in a dramatization of Cardinal Wiseman's Fabiola, at St. Xavier's College, Cincinnati, on Christmas night, and made a decided hit.

A big New Year's bill at Tony Pastor's was headed by John Kernell, Lester and Allen, the Horseshoe Four, the Juliens, and the great and only Tony himself.

McIntyre & Heath, the clever minstrels and comedians, have been engaged by Manager Leavitt, and leave for the East next week to take a place in one of his companies.

John Morrissey, whose good management placed the Lyceum, in Chicago, on the top wave of prosperity, has come to this city to reside. It was our climate that did it, in conjunction with a liberal offer to take managerial supervision of our popular Orpheum. He takes his position as manager of the Orpheum this week.

It is more than probable that N. D. Roberts, late manager of the Bijou, will organize a minstrel company with Emerson at its head for an interior season. Manager Roberts thought of taking out a "Mazuim" pantomime and specialty company, but it was found that it would cost so much to move company, scenery and pantomime properties by rail, that he abandoned the project.

Cort's Standard, Seattle, Jan. 7th: Durell Twin Sisters, Annie Rynar, Dot Melville, Thos. Leo, Drummond & Rowe, Jessie Chapman, Lillie Forrest, Herne & Howard, Ida Chester, Clara Stanley, Zanfretta Family, Louise Leslie, Martin & Rushton, Conlon & Dougherty, Florence Clayton, Miss Camilla and Effie Heuston.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The partnership question between Wm. Emerson and the owners of the Bijou Theatre has been amicably arranged outside of the courts. Messrs. Trumbo & Co. have paid all claims, in litigation or otherwise, against the theatre, and have undisputed possession of the property. They have leased the Bijou to a responsible manager, who will open it in about two weeks with a dramatic attraction.

Dramatic people wanted to join a company now in Oregon.

Morris Peyser is back in the Baldwin Theatre box-office again as assistant treasurer.

Robert Daly, the well known young actor, a member of Daly's Vacation Co., died in Boston, Jan. 10th, of consumption, at the home of his brother William. He made his first appearance in Philadelphia in 1876 with his brother Daniel. He was 25 years old.

Maud Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, and her husband, L. McCormick, have been playing 'Forty-nine in Western Kansas with poor success. An importunate hotel-keeper followed McCormick from McCune to Cherokee, Kan., for his bill. A dispute arose and the pair went into the street to fight it out, and the actor knocked Boniface out. This exhibition of pluck made many friends for McCormick and he was given the Opera House for a benefit, and as scores of citizens intetested themselves in his behalf he had a profitable house.

J. G. Stutz' Comedy Co.: Ashland, Or., Jan. 18-19; Eugene City, 21-22-23.

Not long ago J. M. Hill wired to the managers of the Opera House at Laconia, N. H., for a date for Philip Herne. The reply came back: "Don't want you. Your brother, James A. Herne, played here last week and business was rotten."

She, after playing two engagements in New York City is now off for a western trip under the directions of Dave Hayman. The company numbers seventy-two people, and the profits so far this season are over five thousand dollars in advance of last year at this time.

Harry Paulton and Edw'd Jakowbowski, authors of Mynheer Jan, have composed another new opera called "Paolo." Duff will bring it out at the Star, New York. Let us hope it will be an improvement on the Mynheer.

While The Yeomen has done pretty well for Rudolph Aronson in a financial sense, says Freund's Music and Drama, it is doubtful if he will ever again care to negotiate with Gilbert and Sullivan for the American rights to another of their works.

Nat Goodwin contemplates becoming possessor of a theatre of his own in New York, where he will give permanently the class of comedy now furnished to London play-goers by Toole and Wyndham.

The London Gaiety Company go on the road after their engagement at the Standard, New York, and will make the complete American circuit.

Mansfield's Prince Karl is drawing crowded houses in London.

Miss Louise Montague, the $10,000 beauty, recently here with the Rice Evangeline party, has sailed for Italy with a view to three years' musical study. After this she will enter the operatic arena.

Jack l'Eventreuer (Jack, the Ripper) is the title of a play recently offered to the Paris Ambigu.

The young California prima donna, who is pronounced by the European critics to have such a fine voice, and has certainly achieved a remarkable success in concerts and in operas, Miss Alameda (in private life Miss Annie Gleason), is here on a visit to her parents, who reside in this city.

Bishop, the mind-reader, has been arrested in Nashville, Tenn., for beating his last new wife, a handsome young woman of twenty-four. Harrison Milliard, the composer, who has been traveling with Bishop, left him in a huff a short time ago, and since then Bishop has been going to the dogs.

Alice Hastings left all her property to Roland Reed.

Little Lord Fauntleroy played to over $12 000 at the Broadway Theatre, N. Y., last week, and the company on the road to over $4,000.

The Kellogg Opera Troupe is doing a very large one, two and three nights business in the South. The troupe travelled northward after Richmond.

Miss Eleanor Carey, one of the best actresses now before the public, will probably go starring next season. Mr. Heinrich Conried is importing a play expressly for Miss Carey's use.

The Yeoman of the Guard was a disappointment in Washington.

It is hinted that a great theatrical secret will be revealed shortly, something with millions in it.

W. A. Whitecar has joined Maude Banks and will be the leading support.

Mike J. Kelly caught a heavy salary at the Fourteenth St. Theatre, N. Y., last week.

John Gourlay has been appearing in The Brook in Melbourne, Australia. He is a great favorite down there. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Williamson (Maggie Moore) have revived Struck Oil at Sydney. Carrie Swain recently closed a successful season in the same city. Adelaide Detchon, in readings, is doing well at the antipodes. Amy Sherwin has left Adelaide for East India. George Milo, our preacher-actor, recently played a Shakespearean season in Brisbane. The Hicks-Sawyer Minstrels have cut it fat in New Zealand.

Rose Easton and company open at the Tivoli, 14th street, Oakland, Jan. 12th, in Passion's Slave, with Rob. E. Vernon and wife in leads and Sam Morris as comedian.

Georgie Woodthorpe plays in Oakland, 11-12; next week in Watsonville, Santa Cruz and San Jose; Los Angeles, 20th, for one week.

Manager Thomas Hall and the Eastern pedestrians that he is bringing with him to compete for prizes in the walking match that is to come off on the 23d in this city, were caught on the train that was storm-bound the other side of Chicago, and missed the California connection on the 9th. He brings pedestrians Bobby Vint, Thomas Howarth and E. C. Moore with him. The match commences at the Mechanics' Pavilion on the 23d, under the auspices of the Athletic Club.

Husband (at an entertainment)—"My dear, what a charming manner young Mrs. de Courcy has. I admire temper and spirit in a woman." Wife—"Havn't I temper and spirit, John?" Husband—"Yes, but I mean when they are possessed by other men's wives."

"No, thank you;" said the old Kentucky Colonel; "a man is 80 per cent water, and it would only take 20 per cent more to make him all water. Not any. My Doctor forbid it.

Charles B. Bowser will probably be next season in a play of his own. As soon as he closes with She he will give An Only Daughter a trial, and if it proves satisfactory will put it in shape for the road.

EVENING EDITION

FRIDAY.....JANUARY 11, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt has temporarily closed the Bush Street Theatre, torn out the old auditorium, and is converting the Bush into a new theatre. New boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third-tier gallery, and new decorations and appointments will be the order of improvement in the New Bush Street Theatre at the cost of $20,000.

The stage and parquet floor will be lowered. The front of the stage will be rimmed out in a semi-circle form more into the auditorium and its proscenium arch will be raised, giving it greater depth and elevation. There will be eight proscenium boxes, handsomely appointed. Lincrustawalton will form the staff of the decorations.

The plans of the New Bush Street Theatre show that it will be an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated, and absolutely safe.

The electric light supplies the place of daylight and gangs of artisans will be kept at work day and night until the theatre is finished.

The New Bush will open on Saturday, January 26th, with Lydia Thompson's English Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company produced for their second week that fine opera of Strauss', The Queen's Lace Handkerchief, elegantly appointed in the way of costumes and rich stage settings.

The opera is one of the most tuneful in the Carleton repertoire and is admirably given by his company. The action and singing of the opera is sustained throughout by Mr. Carleton and company with spirit and effect.

The cast can be found in the Baldwin's programme space in our columns.

Next week's repertoire: Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, Cellier's quaint and pleasing opera of Dorothy.

Thursday and Saturday evenings, Mikado.

Friday evening and Saturday matinee, Nanon. Seats now on sale.

Alcazar Theatre.

A Noble Rogue, Steele Mackey's latest Eastern success, is continued here for its third and last week.

A Noble Rogue has held its own as a Holiday piece against other attractions, and drawn large houses. It is melodramatic and scenic to a degree that keeps both the people on the boards and those behind the scenes busy. Two of its notable effects are a fine steamer scene and a drawbridge that swings out over the orchestra on the turn.

The company do good work in it, and if the reader has not seen the piece it would pay to do so.

The Golden Giant, an interesting and eventful drama, will form next week's bill. The play is one of standard popularity, and will have a good production and a strong cast.

Grand Opera House.

Manager Al Hayman's Holiday attraction at the Grand, Imre Kiralfy's spectacular pantomime of Mazulm, the Night Owl, with the scenery and stage garniture as produced at the Academy of Music, New York, is continued for its third and last week.

Mazulm is a grand pantomime in all its appointments. There is an acting company, a grand Kiralfy ballet, with a new star premiere, absolute, Mlle. Lile, from the Berlin Opera House, accompanied by four premieres, who make their first appearances in America at the Grand. Besides there are the Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes; Mons. Arnold, the best of grotesque dancers; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Bros. eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

The pantomime goes with great spirit and dash. The dancing and marching are fine features of the bill. This year Kiralfy has the best appointed ballet he ever had, all being young and comely women.

Imre Kiralfy's Black Crook, the Black Crook of stage fame, will take the stage of the Grand on Monday night. Its run is limited to two weeks.

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is giving us a round of intellectual, standard plays here that rank high in merit, and are interpreted by herself and the company that she has selected to support her in a very satisfactory manner. In her lines of characters she has no equal, and her company is doing the best dramatic work in the city, playing fine lines of characters, high comedy and society parts, very acceptably. If you want to see a meritorious performance drop in at the Standard.

The strong play of Led Astray is this week's bill.

This piece is one that presented Miss Lewis to us in a different role from those of the previous weeks. Armande gives scope for her talent in a more pleasing way and one in which she has the sympathy of her audience.

Miss Lewis gives her whole soul to the part and plays with intensity and feeling, scoring a success. J. J. Wallace gives an admirable performance as Hector Placide; Harry Mainhall plays Chandoce well, especially in the chamber scene, one of the strongest scenes of the play; Frank Peters lightly outlines the poetic Lesparre; the Major O'Hara of Mr. Griffith is well done, and the same may be said of the La Fontaine of Von Rosen; Miss Ida Aubrey is a charming Mathilde, and Miss Rossmore plays Suzanne in a very lively manner.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

"The Adventures of a Love-Letter," a charming comedy, full of wit and repartee, and very amusing in plot, will be next week's bill.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Orpheum returns to specialty entertainment this week, with Moore's European and American stars, from the East, as the week's attraction.

Ours's Japanese troupe of jugglers, equilibrists, acrobats, etc., five in number, add the Oriental contingent stars, and are novel and clever. The Romaico Brothers, gymnastic marvels, do things that are impossible to describe, but that are very pleasing to the eye. The Miranda Sisters, aerial artistes, contribute a high trapeze act and suspend each other by the teeth while turning and oscillating through the air in a most remarkable manner. Olivette does a neat act on swinging wire. Ashley & Hess come on in a funny skating act. Miss Adele Purvis revolves on the revolving globe, gracefully juggling with knives and firebrands at the same time with the utmost composure, and McIntyre & Heath are added to the galaxy of stars to ring in the fun element.

The whole performance is novel and varied, and several of the acts have dash and daring in them.

Matinee Sunday.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week's attraction is Bartley Campbell's White Slave, a spectacular drama in six acts, introducing the Colored Students with their quaint and melodious singing. As Clay Britton, Darrell Vinton clearly portrays the part. Miss Essie Tittel has an arduous role as Lisa, but the little lady is fully competent and her work will be acceptable. The play calls for many people and an unusually large amount of stage work.

"Cast Upon the World," a strong five-act play of adventure and dramatic experiences, will hold the stage of this popular East-side theatre next week, with Darrell Vinton as the exponent of heroism.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of French Blondes, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, are playing with all their old time versatility, and have scored a seven weeks' success. Full houses every night.

Doyle & Leclair, Irish sketch team; the Lawrences, song and dance artists; the Beasleys, colored twins, in double songs and dances, and Alice Percey, serio-comic vocalists and dancers, are the new faces this week.

Billy Arnold's taking sensation. The Parisian Can-Can; or, The French Minuet, opens the bill.

The Can-Can is positively on for its last week.

The Bella Union is playing the largest company of any vaudeville theatre on the Coast, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Buckingham Theatre.

This new theatre, 1342-1344 Market street, opposite Seventh street, will be opened on Saturday night, under the management of Sam Lewis, an experienced manager and a popular man. Mr Lewis was stricken down with pneumonia before completing his arrangements for opening last Saturday. He has got about again all right and will open to-morrow night. The company remains nearly intact.

See programme space.

Heikes & McClelland's Wonderland.

A Museum and Theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The new features in the Museum this week are the largest horse in the world, 20 hands high, weighing 3400 pounds; Barnum's original tattooed man, Captain Constantine; the Circassian Beauty, and Little Dot, the smallest woman in the world, 22 inches in statue.

Prof. Pepper's Ghost, just from the East, a series of wonderful and mysterious tableaux and startling apparitions, will be continued as the great attraction for the theatre department.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Eugene Ward, the only footless dancer on earth, direct from the East; Gibbons & Ford, sensational specialists, and La Drew, the phenomenal, put in their first appearances this week.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Post & Gross and Miss Millie Davenport are are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Blanch Leslie, and others, form the female staff of the company.

The French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wiley Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, will be next week's attraction at the Cremorne.

Original Theatre Comique

John Miller, comedian, and McPherson, the favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

A Parlor Soiree opens the bill, followed by a very full and diversified olio and the comedy, Siamese Twins, more olio features, then the farce, Comedy Camping Out, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and co theatres in the city, and good manag made it one of the most popular of theatres for years past. Manager W runs a very strong company. There lady vocalists this week.

EVENING EDITION

FULL PROGRAMMES of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco can be found in FIGARO—the only paper that has them.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Theatre Comique, Butte, Jan. 7th: Josie Forrester, May Mauri, Lola Sutton, Frank Bunney and Kittie Chapman, the Gerry Sisters, May Runnels, Maggie Foster, Millie Thomas, Ned Tomtcher, Geo. Drew and Nelty Andes. Jan. 14th: Rothaw & Alton, Nellie Daniels and Annie Girard.

Academy of Music, Cleveland, Jan. 7: Capt J. W. Decker's All Star Specialty Co., Ryan & Palmer, Harry Pink, Wm. A. Lang, Robert Burton, the Seymours (Fred and Willie) and Senator F. Smith.

People's Theatre, Omaha, Jan. 7th: Lester Howard's Comedy Co., Lester and Emma Howard, Vernon Sisters, Farrell & Smith, the Kings (Harry and Kittie), Tommy Rooney and John J. Sellon.

The Gottlobs, German team; Lavender & Thompson, sketch team; Walter Le Roy, comedian; Munis Leo and Conchita are in town from Cort's Oregon and Wash. Ter. circuit.

Clinton's Theatre Royal, Portland, Jan. 7th: Frankie Overton, Kittie King, Tom Williams, Crimmins & Gore, Jessie Cogill, Mike Brannan, Sadie Fairfield, the Newcombs, Gus Saville, Eva St. Clair, Billy Gilbert, Birdie Robinson and Ned Nestell. Crimmins' drama, The Forrest Forge, closes the bill.

Joseph F. Donohue, of Newburg, on the Hudson, won the two mile skating race at Amsterdam, Holland, on the 10th inst. in the championship races being held there. He covered the two miles in 6 minutes, 24 seconds; beating the Russian champion, Pauschin, 7 seconds—70 yards—and lowering the record for the distance; though the ice was softening and the climatic conditions were very different from what the American had been accustomed to on the Hudson river.

Several museum managers of New York and Boston have offered Mme. Dis De Bar six hundred dollars a week to show herself in their museums. The offer was refused.

If the fair Lillian Russell won't wear tights in the Queen's Mate, Manager Duff can't make her; but he can prevent her singing at the Casino, N. Y., at the present, and so the case stands. Exactly why Lillian objects to tights at this late day no one seems to know, as Manager Duff testified that it was an objection she had never raised before in all her long service with him.

The reason why so many cane-handle-sucking dudes hunt the front rows of the parquet at Mezulm is explained on the principle of mutual attraction—there are always plenty of calves in Kiralfy's ballet.

Maggie Cline, Bryant & Saville, Chas. and Martha Steen, Laura Lee, Charles Litchfield, Layman, Dan Hart, James Britton and others appeared in New York at H. H. Jacobs' Sunday concert, Jan. 6.

Wm. Emerson, a son of the well-known minstrel, played the comedy part in a dramatization of Cardinal Wiseman's Fabiola, at St. Xavier's College, Cincinnati, on Christmas night, and made a decided hit.

Mellotyre & Heath, the clever minstrels and comedians, have been engaged by Manager Leavitt, and leave for the East next week to take a place in one of his companies.

It is more than probable that N. D. Roberts, late manager of the Bijou, will organize a minstrel company with Emerson at its head for an interior season. Manager Roberts thought of taking out a "Mazulm" pantomime and specialty company, but it was found that it would cost so much to move company, scenery and pantomime properties by rail, that he abandoned the project.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

Miss Louise Montague, the $10,000 beauty, recently here with the Rice Evangeline party, has sailed for Italy with a view to three years' musical study. After this she will enter the operatic arena.

The London Gaiety Company go on the road after their engagement at the Standard, New York, and will make the complete American circuit.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The Conreid Opera Co., in The King's Fool and other operas, commence a season of fourteen weeks under M. B. Leavitt's management next week in Kansas City. Mr. Geo. E. Lask, of this city, has left to take personal supervision of the company, under Manager Leavitt's directions. The company is dated for the New Bush St. Theatre in March.

Edward Harrigan has departed from the field of New York local pieces and tried Irish melodrama. His new play is called The Lorgaire. The incidents of the main story are related to a somewhat involved underplot, but the whole forms an interesting narrative. The villainy of the piece is frustrated by the Lorgaire, who does yeomen service righting wrongs. In accomplishing his work as a Scotland Yard detective, Mr. Harrigan assumes five different characters—a commercial traveler, a French smuggler, a village schoolmaster, a man-o'-warsman and a country peddler. He penetrates mysteries and unravels the tangled skein of the plot with the characteristic qualities of a combined Hawkshaw and Pinkerton.

"Undine" and "Lurline," our old-time acquaintances, are the grandmothers of Bolossy Kiralfy's new spectacular piece, "The Water Queen," now playing in Chicago. Like Imre's Mazulm it is an old favorite revived and put on the stage in a new Kiralfy dress and modern appointments.

Managers have more than the regular cold winter's weather to contend with now in the East. It is Mary Anderson. When she strikes a theatre double fires are kept up to counteract her frigidity. When she appears in A Winter's Tale all the water pipes within a mile of the theatre are frozen solid, and the people have just found out the cause of it. A New York manager has offered her all the receipts and a clear benefit if she will put in a week at his theatre in July just to give his house a reputation for a cool temperature as a summer theatre.

The latest convenience for theatre-goers has just been adopted at the New York Casino in the shape of an opera-glass attachment to each of the chairs. On the back of each orchestra chair, for the benefit of the person sitting behind it, is a little case containing a good opera-glass. The only way to open the case is to drop a silver quarter "into the slot." Then the cover flies open and the opera-glass may be removed. The managers are pleased with the working of the mechanism. No glasses have yet been stolen, but, as a precaution, all the pawnbrokers in New York have been provided with a description of them—and that fact is well ventilated.

The partnership question between Wm. Emerson and the owners of the Bijou Theatre has been amicably arranged outside of the courts. Messrs. Trumbo & Co. have paid all claims, in litigation or otherwise, against the theatre, and have undisputed possession of the property. They have leased the Bijou to a responsible manager, who will open it in about two weeks with a dramatic attraction.

Dramatic people wanted to join a company now in Oregon.

Morris Peyser is back in the Baldwin Theatre box-office again as assistant treasurer.

Robert Daly, the well known young actor, a member of Daly's Vacation Co., died in Boston, Jan. 10th, of consumption, at the home of his brother William. He made his first appearance in Philadelphia in 1876 with his brother Daniel. He was 25 years old.

Maud Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, and her husband, L. McCormick, have been playing 'Forty-nine in Western Kansas with poor success. An importunate hotel-keeper followed McCormick from McCune to Cherokee, Kan., for his bill. A dispute arose and the pair went into the street to fight it out, and the actor knocked Boniface out. This exhibition of pluck made many friends for McCormick and he was given the Opera House for a benefit, and as scores of citizens intetested themselves in his behalf he had a profitable house.

J. G. Stutz' Comedy Co.: Ashland, Or., Jan. 18-19; Eugene City, 21-22-23.

Not long ago J. M. Hill wired to the managers of the Opera House at Laconia, N. H., for a date for Philip Herne. The reply came back: "Don't want you. Your brother, James A. Herne, played here last week and business was rotten."

She, after playing two engagements in New York City is now off for a western trip under the direction of Dave Hayman. The company numbers seventy-two people, and the profits so far this season are over five thousand dollars in advance of last year at this time.

Harry Paulton and Edw'd Jakowbowski, authors of Mynheer Jan, have completed another new opera called "Paolo." Duff will bring it out at the Star, New York. Let us hope it will be an improvement on the Mynheer.

Rose Easton and company open at the Tivoli, 14th street, Oakland, Jan. 12th, in Passion's Slave, with Rob. E. Vernon and wife in leads and Sam Morris as comedian.

Georgie Woodthorpe plays in Oakland, 11-12; next week in Watsonville, Santa Cruz and San Jose; Los Angeles, 20th, for one week.

John Gourlay has been appearing in The Brook in Melbourne, Australia. He is a great favorite down there. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Williamson (Maggie Moore) have revived Struck Oil at Sydney. Carrie Swain recently closed a successful season in the same city. Adelaide Detchon, in readings, is doing well at the antipodes. Amy Sherwin has left Adelaide for East India. George Miln, our preacher-actor, recently played a Shakespearean season in Brisbane. The Hicks-Sawyer Minstrels have cut it fat in New Zealand.

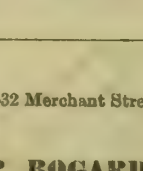
Columbus a Success.

Among the Call's Los Angeles dispatches of Jan. 11th appears the following anent the Lydia Thompson company and Manager Leavitt's new burlesque, that will be the opening attraction of the New Bush Street Theatre: "Columbus, a burlesque by George Dance and Archibald Gordon, was produced for the first time on any stage at the Opera House tonight. The music is charming and the libretto fairly witty. The burlesque is the property of M. B. Leavitt, and was presented by the Lydia Thompson Burlesque Co. The principal members of the organization were very happy in their roles. The production is regarded by a number of theatrical people who were present as one of the best burlesques ever seen in this country.



Little Bessie dropped a harmful of playthings. "Did you break anything?" asked the mother. "Nothing but the quiet," she replied, "and that's mended already."

Manager Thomas Hall and the Eastern pedestrians that he is bringing with him to compete for prizes in the walking match that is to come off on the 23d in this city, were caught on the train that was storm-bound the other side of Chicago, and missed the California connection on the 9th. He brings pedestrians Bobby Vint, Thomas Howarth and E. C. Moore with him. The match commences at the Mechanics' Pavilion on the 23d, under the auspices of the Athletic Club.

Two of the swellest Chicago salesmen were riding downtown in a Clark-street cable car yesterday morning, and were over-heard as follows: "I say, Fwed, were you at Miss de Lard's reception?" "Yes, my dear boy." "How was the feed, Fwed?" Fred (in disgust)—Oh, don't speak of it. The napkins were machine-stitched.

"No, thank you;" said the old Kentucky Colonel; "a man is 80 per cent water, and it would only take 20 per cent more to make him all water. Not any. My Doctor forbid it.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt has temporarily closed the Bush Street Theatre, torn out the old auditorium, and is converting the Bush into a new theatre. New boxes, new seats, new stage new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third-tier gallery, and new decorations and appointments will be the order of improvement in the New Bush Street Theatre at the cost of $5,000.

The stage and parquet floor will be lowered. The front of the stage will be rimmed out in a semi-circle form more into the auditorium and its proscenium arch will be raised, giving it greater depth and elevation. There will be eight proscenium boxes, handsomely appointed. Linerustawalton will form the staff of the decorations.

The plans of the New Bush Street Theatre show that it will be an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated, and absolutely safe.

The electric light supplies the place of daylight and gangs of artisans will be kept at work day and night until the theatre is finished.

The New Bush will open on Saturday, January 26th, with Lydia Thompson's English Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company produced for their second week that fine opera of Strauss', The Queen's Lace Handkerchief, elegantly appointed in the way of costumes and rich stage settings.

The opera is one of the most tuneful in the Carleton repertoire and is admirably given by his company. The action and singing of the opera is sustained throughout by Mr. Carleton and company with spirit and effect.

The cast can be found in the Baldwin's programme space in our columns.

Next week's repertoire: Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, Cellier's quaint and pleasing opera of Dorothy.

Thursday and Saturday evenings, Mikado.

Friday evening and Saturday matinee, Nanon.

Seats now on sale.

Alcazar Theatre.

A Noble Rogue, Steele Mackey's latest Eastern success, is continued here for its third and last week.

A Noble Rogue has held its own as a Holiday piece against other attractions, and drawn large houses. It is melodramatic and scenic to a degree that keeps both the people on the boards and those behind the scenes busy. Two of its notable effects are a fine steamer scene and a drawbridge that swings out over the orchestra on the turn.

The company do good work in it, and if the reader has not seen the piece it would pay to do so.

The Golden Giant, an interesting and eventful drama, will form next week's bill. The play is one of standard popularity, and will have a good production and a strong cast.

Grand Opera House.

There will be no public performance at the Grand on Sunday night, as the stage will be occupied in a full rehearsal of The Black Crook, to be produced on Monday night.

Imre Kiralfy's Black Crook, the Black Crook of stage fame, produced with all its rich appointments, a strong cast, gorgeous scenery, grand ballets and spectacular effects, will be next week's attraction at the Grand.

The prominent scenes of the play are the Devil's Glen, the Golden Terrace, Zamiel's Imperial Palace and the Garden of Beauty.

The grand ballet will appear in Imre Kiralfy's Operatic Ballet, its first production on any stage, and in other changes of ballets.

Besides, there are the daring Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes; Mons. Arnold, the best of grotesque dancers; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Brothers, eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is giving us a round of intellectual, standard plays here that rank high in merit, and are interpreted by herself and the company that she has selected to support her in a very satisfactory manner. In her lines of characters she has no equal, and her comedy and society parts, very acceptably. If you want to see a meritorious performance drop in at the Standard.

The strong play of Led Astray is this week's bill.

This piece is one that presented Miss Lewis to us in a different role from those of the previous weeks. Armande gives scope for her talent in a more pleasing way and one in which she has the sympathy of her audience.

The attendance has been good and the week's business a success, artistically and financially.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

"The Adventures of a Love-Letter," a charming comedy, full of wit and repartee, and very amusing in plot, will be next week's bill.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Orpheum returns to specialty entertainment this week, with Moore's European and American stars, from the East, as the week's attraction.

 Onra's Japanese troupe of jugglers, equilibrists, acrobats, etc., five in number, add the Oriental contingent stars, and are novel and clever. The Romalos Brothers, gymnastic marvels, do things that are impossible to describe, but that are very pleasing to the eye. The Miranda Sisters, aerial artistes, contribute a high trapeze act and suspend each other by the teeth while turning and oscillating through the air in a most remarkable manner. Olivette does a neat act on swinging wire. Ashley & Hess come on in a funny skating act. Miss Adele Purvis revolves on the revolving globe, gracefully juggling with knives and firebrands at the same time with the utmost composure, and McIntyre & Heath are added to the galaxy of stars to ring in the fun element.

The whole performance is novel and varied, and several of the acts have dash and daring in them.

Matinee Sunday.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week's attraction is Bartley Campbell's White Slave, a spectacular drama in six acts, introducing the Colored Students with their quaint and melodious singing. As Clay Britton, Darrell Vinton clearly portrays the part. Miss Essie Tittel has an arduous role as Lisa, but the little lady is fully competent and her work will be acceptable. The play calls for many people and an unusually large amount of stage work.

"Cast Upon the World," a strong five-act play of adventure and dramatic experiences, will hold the stage of this popular East-side theatre next week, with Darrell Vinton as the exponent of heroism.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold, and his troupe of French Blondes, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear next week in their burlesque of "Prince Dandini," produced with all the burlesque accessories of music, mirth and fun, with a grand Amazon march by a stage full of beauties. They have scored a seven weeks' success.

Doyle & Leclair, Irish sketch team; the Lawrences, song and dance artists; the Beesleys, colored twins, in double songs and dances, and Alice Percey, serio-comic vocalists and dancer, are the new faces this week.

The Can-Can is positively on for its last week.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Buckingham Theatre.

This new theatre, 1342-1344 Market street, opposite Seventh street, will be opened this Saturday night, under the management of Sam Lewis, an experienced manager and a popular man. Mr Lewis was stricken down with pneumonia before completing his arrangements for opening last Saturday. He has got about again all right and opens with a well selected and good working company.

The company consists of Billy White, Frank Monroe, John Mortell, Eddie Dwyer, Eddie Buckley, Frankie Hilton, Nellie Lewis, Maggie Gordon, Marie Morina, Miss Wellington (the contortionist) and others.

John Mortell opens the bill with his comedy of Out of Work, and Billy White wakes up fun in his version of Pompey's Troubles, with a portion of the company in the cast, for the afterpiece.

For olio features see programme.

The house is in perfect order, everything new and bright as a new pin.

Heikes & McClelland's Wonderland.

A Museum and Theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The new features in the Museum this week are the largest horse in the world, 20 hands high, weighing 3400 pounds; Barnum's original tattooed man, Captain Constantine; the Circassian Beauty, and Little Dot, the smallest woman in the world, 22 inches in statue.

Prof. Pepper's Ghost, just from the East, a series of wonderful and mysterious tableaux and startling apparitions, will be continued as the great attraction for the theatre department.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Joseph F. Donohue, of Newburg, on the Hudson, won the two mile skating race at Amsterdam, Holland, on the 10th inst. in the championship races being held there. He covered the two miles in 6 minutes, 24 seconds; beating the Russian champion, Pauschin, 7 seconds—70 yards—and lowering the record for the distance; though the ice was softening and the climatic conditions were very different from what the American had been accustomed to on the Hudson river. But Pauschin beat Donohue in a mile race on the 13th by a quarter of a second. The Russian must be a mile spurter.

"Undine" and "Lurline," our old-time acquaintances, are the grandmothers of Bolossy Kiralfy's new spectacular piece, "The Water Queen," now playing in Chicago. Like Imre's Mazulm it is an old favorite revived and put on the stage in a new Kiralfy dress and modern appointments.

Theatre Comique, Butte, Jan. 7th: Jessie Forrester, May Mauri, Lola Seiton, Frank Bunny and Kittie Chapman, the Gerry Sisters, May Runnels, Maggie Foster, Millie Thomas, Ned Thatcher, Geo. Drew and Nelty Andes. Jan. 14th: Retlaw & Alton, Nellie Daniels and Annie Girard.

Academy of Music, Cleveland, Jan. 7: Capt. J. W. Decker's All Star Specialty Co., Ryan & Palmer, Harry Pink, Wm. A. Long, Robert Button, the Seymours (Fred and Willie) and Senator F. Smith.

People's Theatre, Omaha, Jan. 7th: Lester Howard's Comedy Co., Lester and Emma Howard, Vernon Sisters, Farrell & Smith, the Kings (Harry and Kittie), Tommy Rooney and John J. Sellon.

The Gottlobs, German team; Lavender & Thompson, sketch team; Walter Le Roy, comedian; Munis Leo and Conchita are in town from Cort's Oregon and Wash. Ter. circuit.

Clinton's Theatre Royal, Portland, Jan. 7th; Frankie Overton, Kittie King, Tom Williams, Crimmins & Gore, Jessie Cogill, Mike Brannan, Sadie Fairfield, the Newcombs, Gus Saville, Eva St. Clair, Billy Gilbert, Birdie Robinson and Ned Nestell. Crimmins' drama, The Forrest Forge, closes the bill.

Several museum managers of New York and Boston have offered Mme. Dia De Bar six hundred dollars a week to show herself in their museums. The offer was refused.

If the fair Lillian Russell won't wear tights in the Queen's Mate, Manager Duff can't make her; but he can prevent her singing at the Casino, N. Y., at the present, and so the case stands. Exactly why Lillian objects to tights at this late day no one seems to know, as Manager Duff testified that it was an objection she had never raised before in all her long service with him.

The reason why so many cane-handle-sucking dudes hunt the front rows of the parquet at Kiralfy's is explained on the principle of mutual attraction—there are always plenty of calves in Kiralfy's ballet.

Maggie Cline, Bryant & Saville, Chas. and Martha Steen, Laura Lee, Charles Litchfield, Layman, Dan Hart, James Britton and others appeared in New York at H. B. Jacobs' Sunday concert, Jan. 6.

Wm. Emerson, a son of the well known minstrel, played the comedy part in a dramatic edition of Cleveland Wonders—Esbelle, at St. Nicholas Hall, Chicago, on Christmas night, and made a decided hit.

Mulvey & Smith, two Lowell youths and comedians, have been signed by Manager Leavitt, and have left for the East this week to take a place in one of his companies.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

Miss Louise Montague, the $10,000 beauty, recently here with the Rice Evangeline party, has sailed for Italy with a view to three years musical study. After this she will enter the operatic arena.

The London Gaiety Company go on the road after their engagement at the Standard, New York, and will make the complete American circuit.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Billy Emerson and his new minstrel company will re-open the Bijou Theatre on Saturday night next. The partnership question between Mr. Emerson and the owners of the Bijou Theatre has been amicably arranged outside of the courts. Messrs. Trumbo & Co. have paid all claims, in litigation or otherwise, against the theatre, and have undisputed possession of the property. J. T. Wagman, manager and treasurer. N. D. Roberts, Emerson's former manager, business manager.

Lydia Thompson had an attack of pneumonia at Los Angeles on Saturday that laid her off for a performance, and the local dispatcher seized the opportunity to make his sensation in Sunday's Chronicle. He did not exactly say that she was dead, but, "if she recovers at all it is doubtful," cried the little agitator. In to-day's Chronicle he meekly wires that the afflicted one is "out of danger," "improved," but "weak"—a very weak sensation.

Grace Hawthorne has been very ill in London, but is recovering.

The Conreid Opera Co., in The King's Fool and other operas, commence a season of fourteen weeks under M. B. Leavitt's management next week in Kansas City. Mr. Geo. E. Lask, of this city, has left to take personal supervision of the company, under Manager Leavitt's directions. The company is dated for the New Bush St. Theatre in March.

Edward Harrigan has departed from the field of New York local pieces and tried Irish melodrama. His new play is called The Lorgaire. The incidents of the main story are related to a somewhat involved underplot, but the whole forms an interesting narrative. The villainy of the piece is frustrated by the Lorgaire, who does yeomen service righting wrongs. In accomplishing his work as a Scotland Yard detective, Mr. Harrigan assumes five different characters—a commercial traveler, a French smuggler, a village schoolmaster, a man-o'-warsman and a country peddler. He penetrates mysteries and unravels the tangled skein of the plot with the characteristic qualities of a combined Hawkshaw and Pinkerton.

Managers have more than the regular cold winter's weather to contend with now in the East. It is Mary Anderson. When she strikes a theatre double fires are kept up to counteract her frigidity. When she appears in A Winter's Tale all the water pipes within a mile of the theatre are frozen solid, and the people have just found out the cause of it. A New York manager has offered her all the receipts and a clear benefit if she will put in a week at his theatre in July just to give his house a reputation for a cool temperature as a summer theatre.

The latest convenience for theatre-goers has just been adopted at the New York Casino in the shape of an opera-glass attachment to each of the chairs. On the back of each orchestra chair, for the benefit of the person sitting behind it, is a little case containing a good opera-glass. The only way to open the case is to drop a silver quarter "into the slot." Then the cover flies open and the opera-glass may be removed. The managers are pleased with the working of the mechanism. No glasses have yet been stolen, but, as a precaution, all the pawnbrokers in New York have been provided with a description of them—and that fact is well ventilated.

Dramatic people wanted to join a company now in Oregon.

Morris Peyser is back in the Baldwin Theatre box-office again as assistant treasurer.

Maud Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, and her husband, L. McCormick, have been playing 'Forty-nine in Western Kansas with poor success. An importunate hotel-keeper followed McCormick from McCune to Cherokee, Kan., for his bill. A dispute arose and the pair went into the street to fight it out, and the actor knocked Boniface out. This exhibition of pluck made many friends for McCormick and he was given the Opera House for a benefit, and as scores of citizens interested themselves in his behalf he had a profitable house.

Robert Daly, the well known young actor, a member of Daly's Vacation Co., died in Boston, Jan. 10th, of consumption, at the home of his brother William. He made his first appearance in Philadelphia in 1876 with his brother Daniel. He was 25 years old.

She, after playing two engagements in New York City is now off for a western trip under the direction of Dave Hayman. The company numbers seventy-two people, and the profits so far this season are over five thousand dollars in advance of last year at this time.

Harry Paulton and Edward Jakobowski, authors of Mynheer Jan, have composed another new opera called "Paola." Duff will bring it out at the Star, New York. It is said it will be an improvement on the Mynheer.

Rose Easton and company opened the Tivoli, 14th street, Oakland, Jan. 12th, in Fascinating Slave, with Rob. E. Vernon and wife in leads and Sam Morris as comedian.

Georgie Woodthorpe plays this week in Watsonville, Santa Cruz and San Jose; Los Angeles, 20th, for one week.

John Gourlay has been appearing in The Brook in Melbourne, Australia. He is a great favorite down there. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Williamson (Maggie Moore) have revived Struck Oil at Sydney. Carrie Swain recently closed a successful season in the same city. Adelaide Detchon, in readings, is doing well at the antipodes. Amy Sherwin has left Adelaide for East India. George Miln, our preacher-actor, recently played a Shakespearean season in Brisbane. The Hicks-Sawyer Minstrels have cut it fat in New Zealand.

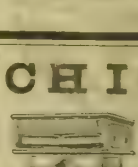
Columbus a Success.

Among the Call's Los Angeles dispatches of Jan. 11th appears the following about the Lydia Thompson company and Manager Leavitt's new burlesque, that will be the opening attraction of the New Bush Street Theatre: "Columbus, a burlesque by George Dance and Archibald Gordon, was produced for the first time on any stage at the Opera House tonight. The music is charming and the libretto fairly witty. The burlesque is the property of M. B. Leavitt, and was presented by the Lydia Thompson Burlesque Co. The principal members of the organization were very happy in their roles. The production is regarded by a number of theatrical people who were present as one of the best burlesques ever seen in this country.



Little Bessie dropped anarmful of playthings. "Did you break anything?" asked the mother. "Nothing but the quiet," she replied, "and that's mended already."

Manager Thomas Hall and the Eastern pedestrians that he is bringing with him to compete for prizes in the walking match that is to come off on the 23d in this city, were caught on the train that was storm-bound on the other side of Chicago, and missed the California connection on the 9th. He brings pedestrians Bobby Vint, Thomas Howarth and E. C. Moore with him. The match commences at the Mechanics' Pavilion on the 23d, under the auspices of the Athletic Club.

Two of the swellest Chicago salesmen were riding downtown in a Clark-street cable car yesterday morning, and were overheard as follows: "Isay, Fwed, were you at Miss de Lardi's reception?" "Yes, my dear boy." "How was the feed, Fwed?" Fred (in disgust)—Oh, don't speak of it. The napkins were machine-stitched.

"No, thank you;" said the old Kentucky Colonel; "a man is 80 per cent water, and it would only take 20 per cent more to make him all water. Not any. My Doctor forbid it.

EVENING EDITION

MONDAY.....JANUARY 14, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt has temporarily closed the Bush Street Theatre, torn out the old auditorium, and is converting the Bush into a new theatre. New boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third-tier gallery, and new decorations and appointments will be the order of improvement in the New Bush Street Theatre at the cost of $30,000.

The stage and parquet floor will be lowered. The front of the stage will be rimmed out in a semi-circle form more into the auditorium and its proscenium arch will be raised, giving it greater depth and elevation. There will be eight proscenium boxes, handsomely appointed. Linerusta-walton will form the staff of the decorations.

The plans of the New Bush Street Theatre show that it will be an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated, and absolutely safe.

The electric light supplies the place of daylight and gangs of artisans will be kept at work day and night until the theatre is finished.

The New Bush will open on Saturday, January 26th, with Lydia Thompson's English Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company produce for their third week three popular operas.

The week's repertoire is: Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, Cellier's quaint and pleasing opera of Dorothy, a last season's success.

The opera is one of the most tuneful in the Carleton repertoire and is admirably given by his company. The action and singing of the opera is sustained throughout by Mr. Carleton and company with spirit and effect.

The cast can be found in the Baldwin's programme space in our columns.

Thursday and Saturday evenings, Mikado, the Carleton Mikado, an admirable performance.

Friday evening and Saturday matinee, Nanon. Another opera in which Carleton excels.

Seats now on sale.

Alcazar Theatre.

The Golden Giant, an interesting and eventful drama, will form this week's bill. The play is one of standard popularity, and will have a good production and a strong cast. George Osbourne plays Jack Mason, a manly honorable fellow, although a gambler by profession, and made a great hit in it when the play was first produced here.

Grand Opera House.

Imre Kiralfy's Black Crook, the Black Crook of stage fame, produced with all its rich appointments, a strong cast, gorgeous scenery, grand ballets and spectacular effects, will be this week's attraction at the Grand.

The prominent scenes of the play are the Devil's Glen, the Golden Terrace, Zamiel's Imperial Palace and the Garden of Beauty.

The grand ballet will appear in Imre Kiralfy's Operatic Ballet, introducing ten character ballets, dancing to the airs of as many different popular operas, its first production on any stage, and in other changes of ballets.

Besides, there are the daring Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes; Mons. Arnold, the best of grotesque dancers; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Brothers, eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is giving us a round of intellectual, standard plays here that rank high in merit, and are interpreted by herself and the company that she has selected to support her in a very satisfactory manner. In her class of characters she has no equal, and her company is doing the best dramatic work in the city, playing fine lines of characters, high comedy and society parts, very acceptably. If you want to see a meritorious performance drop in at the Standard.

"The Adventures of a Love-Letter," a charming comedy, full of wit and repartee, and very amusing in plot, will be this week's bill.

The attendance has been good and the week's business a success, artistically and financially.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees

Orpheum Opera House.

The Orpheum continues its specialty entertainment this week, with Moore's European and American stars, from the East, as the week's attraction.

Miss Tillie Morrissey, a very fine soprano vocalist; Geo. H. Wood, the favorite comedian; Miss Ethel Lynton, vocal soubrette and general favorite, and Quigley's Troupe of Famous Leapers are the new faces this week.

Oura's Japanese troupe of jugglers, equilibrists, acrobats, etc., five in number, add the Oriental contingent stars, and are novel and clever. The Romalas Brothers, gymnastic marvels, do things that are impossible to describe, but that are very pleasing to the eye. Among the best of the people is Clivette, who does a neat act on swinging wire. Ashley & Hess come on in a funny skating act. Miss Adele Purvis revolves on the revolving globe, gracefully juggling with knives and firebrands at the same time with the utmost composure.

The whole performance is novel and varied, and several of the acts have dash and daring in them.

Matinee Sunday.

Morosco's Ampahtheatre.

"Cast Upon the World," a strong five-act play of adventure and dramatic experiences, will hold the stage of this popular East-side theatre this week, with Darrell Vinton as the exponent of heroism.

Miss Essie Tittel, Margaret Marshall, Lottie Beaumont and Jessie Norton, all have important parts, which add largely to the interest of the piece.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold, and his troupe of French Blondes, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their burlesque of "Prince Dandini," produced with all the burlesque accessories of music, mirth and fun, with a grand Amazon march by a stage full of beauties. They have scored a seven weeks' success.

Miss Minnie Pierce, the great flying trapeze artiste, is the only new face this week.

Doyle & Leclair, Irish sketch team; the Lawrences, song and dance artists; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Buckingham Theatre.

This new theatre, 1342-1344 Market street, opposite Seventh street, was opened last Saturday night, under the management of Sam Lewis, an experienced manager and a popular man. Mr Lewis was stricken down with pneumonia before completing his arrangements for opening January 5th. He has got about again all right and opened with a well selected and good working company.

The company consists of Billy White, Frank Monroe, John Mortell, Eddie Dwyer, Eddie Buckley, Blanch Leslie, Nellie Lewis, Maggie Gordon, Marie Morina, Miss Wellington (the contortionist) and others.

John Mortell opens the bill with his comedy of Out of Work, and Billy White wakes up fun in his version of Pompey's Troubles, with a portion of the company in the cast, for the afterpiece.

For olio features, in which the ladies of the company contribute as fine vocalisms as can be heard anywhere, see programme.

The house is in perfect order, everything fine and bright as a new pin.

Heikes & McClelland's Wonderland.

A Museum and Theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The new features in the Museum this week are the largest horse in the world, 20 hands high, weighing 3400 pounds; Barnum's original tattooed man, Captain Constantine; the Circassian Beauty, and Little Dot, the smallest woman in the world, 22 inches in statue.

Prof. Pepper's Ghost, just from the East, a series of wonderful and mysterious tableaux and startling apparitions, will be continued as the great attraction for the theatre department.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

The French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wiley Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, will be this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

Miss Effie Hull, descriptive vocalist, and Miss Carrie Delmar, the talented singer, have been added to the bill.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Blanch Leslie, and others, form the female staff of the com-

Original Theatre Comique.

John Miller, comedian, and McPherson, the favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

A Hurricane of Humor opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio and the comedy, A Live Subject, more olio features, then the farce, A Bureau Drawer, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

An entire change of programme this week.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coolest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are seven lady vocalists this week.

Capt. Martin and Prof. H. Melville, in a grand fencing contest for twenty points, will be the new attraction for this week.

Helena Richman, Alice Mansfield, Lulu Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Musical Fletcher, Bart Kennedy, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. Take a hint and drop into the Eureka, one of the coolest houses in town. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

Odds and Ends, a funny interlude, will be given by the entire company.

A SIX DAYS' WALKING MATCH.

We are to have a great six days' go-as-you-please at the Mechanics' Pavilion in February. Frank Hall, the Eastern pedestrian manager, arrived with his contingent of walkers yesterday.

They are Bobby Vint, the Brooklyn shoemaker, who defeated Littlewood at the Madison Square Garden in a six days' contest, recording 578¼ miles. He is a great stayer and a rapid walker, and has a 550 and a 532-mile record credited to him in other walking matches, although he is 41 years of age. P. C. Moore has a six days' record in his Madison Square walks of 536 and 554 miles. He is a native of Oil City, Penn., and comes by his limber joints naturally. Thos. Howorth, an Englishman, is a racer ready to be matched against any man in the world from 10 to 50 miles. His racing record is a mile in 4:32; 25 miles in 2 hours, 41 minutes, breaking the American record; 50 miles in 6 hours, 21 minutes; and 134 miles in the 24-hour race he won in New York.

Although such walkers as Jas. Albert, Frank Hart, Noremac and quite a number of the best Eastern walkers have signified their intentions of competing for the big purses offered and the prize gate money, Manager Hall thinks that his men can win. He has contributed $1,000 to the purse, and with the advantages of our steady temperature and bracing climate he predicts that though we may have the best walkers in the world here his competitors will have to smash the six days' record to win that $1,000.

Manager Hall's men will do their preliminary training in Central Park and on the roads. When the track is laid in the Pavilion all of the walkers will begin floor walking to harden up their legs and accustom themselves to the track.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

McIntyre & Heath, the clever minstrels and comedians, have been engaged by Manager Leavitt, and have taken a place in his specialty company recently at the Bush.

At the sacred concert given in New York on Jan. 6th by the Johnson & Slavin Minstrels, Hugney Dougherty was comical in a sacred way, with a clean face, Bob Slavin advanced the code of morality without the disguise of cork, and Carroll Johnson was resplendent in a dress suit and an uncorked voice. Besides, there was singing by the corps of minstrel vocalists, instrumental effects by the minstrel orchestra, and a full brass band. Their theatre was crowded and the people were well pleased.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

First Young Lady (at Broad-street Station) — These young men are so rude. I've a great mind to complain of them. Second Young Lady — We might go into that big waiting-room and sit down. "Oh, it's so stupid in there. It's reserved exclusively for ladies."

Mother (to daughter) — Well, Celia, did you have a pleasant ride with young Mr. Slattery? Celia—Oh, yes, mamma; and do you know that as soon as we got out of town he let me drive.

Mrs. Chippering—So these are your children, are they?" Mrs. Marrow—Yes, and everybody says they're just the image of me. Mrs. Chippering — Why, so they are, poor little things.

St. Peter—Enter; do you hesitate New Spirit—I don't see any usher. "We have no ushers here. Sit where you please." "Dear me! How dif" rom church."

First Lady — What an imperious, dictatorial, arrogant man that Mr. Pompus is! Second Lady—Yes; you know he has never been married.

"So old Brown is dead, eh? Well, well! Did he leave anything?" "Yes. It broke his heart to do it, but he left everything."

"What did you get Johnny, when you

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Very handsome settings are given to Jeffreys-Lewis' pieces at the Standard Theatre. Rich modern furniture adorns the parlor scenes and everything is in character. In "The Adventures of a Love Letter," this week, the stage in the last act is filled with palms and flowers and to the eye is converted into a genuine conservatory.

The Boston Quartet or Quintet Club—a small company of musicians that have been giving concerts in the interior towns—gave a concert at Metropolitan Temple last night before a light audience. They give another concert Friday night.

Mrs. Langtry is writing her life. It should be a spicy book.

Shenandoah, Bronson Howard's new play, will be the first of the important productions in New York next season.

The production of Antony and Cleopatra, January 8th, was not the society event that Mrs. Potter created a week ago, but instead of McAllister's 400, in full evening costumes, she was honored by appearing before the brainest audience ever seen under Lester Wallack's theatrical rooftrees, and before it making her first real triumph. Mrs. Potter played the coquette with Antony. She was sinuous, purring, feline. She clung about Antony and he about her, and there were no strait-laced corsets to forbid the warm clasp. Mrs. Potter looks beautiful as the gypsy. She wore robes of some soft stuff that clung to her figure and her limbs, which plainly allowed to be seen every contortion of her shapely body. She was never for one moment uninteresting. Mr. Bellow bore himself so well that he did not seem at a disadvantage before the more robust people in the cast. He does not make Antony the "roystering old ruffian" that Cæsar said he was. He is the paramour of the daughter of the Ptolemies, tender in speech, soft in action—ever in love. All that money and elaborate research could do for the scenery and costumes had been done, and both are archæologically beautiful and correct. The triumphal entry of Antony in the fourth act being the most beautiful and thoroughly Egytian, a living embodiment of those bas-reliefs engravers have made familiar. In fact Mrs. Potter has made a very great success, and she will have no trouble in continuing her love-making for the six weeks she is to remain in the city.—[Dunlop's Stage News.

Sardon's LaTosca has been forbidden in Berlin, so that neither Sarah Bernhardt nor Fanny Davenport are likely to visit the German capital.

The new professional association called "The Bustle Scorners" is said to include among its members Mrs Langtry, who is godmother of a special brand; Georgia Cayvan, Mrs. Potter, Annie Russell, Maud Harrison, Ada Reban, Louise Dillon, Adele Belgarde, Lillian Russell, Clara Louise Kellogg, Viola Allen and a number of lesser stage lights of the gentler sex.

William Morris, Loie Fuller and their band of West Indian theatrical invaders have not sailed from New York as has been announced in the dailies.

The wires tell us that Emma Abbott, though feeling deeply the bereavement which has befallen her, will not, for the present, desert her opera company; the members of which are in the main so dependent upon the organization being maintained. Miss Abbott leaves New York to-day to join her company in Memphis, which opens there on the 21st.

The Golden Giant proved a wonderfully strong piece when played at the Alcazar in December, 1887. Then the cast included Frank Mordaunt in the title role, Harry Davenport as Le Moyne, Hobart Bosworth as Max Wayne, Geo. Trader, Helen Mason Osbourne and Miss Villiers.

Mr. Carleton's two principal songs, "My Head I Bow and My Back I Bend" and the mid-night serenade, "At Thy Chamber-door I Linger," are splendidly rendered.

The fair debutante at the Standard last night made a very favorable impression.

"The Adventures of a Love Letter," playing at the Standard, is a bright, witty comedy, well acted by Jeffreys-Lewis and company, and a very enjoyable performance.

The tour of A Noble Son, Leonard Grover's new comedy-drama, began at Herrmann's Broad Street Theatre, Philadelphia, Jan. 14th. E J. Buckley played the principal part, supported by the same strong company that has been previously announced. Sol Berliner is the manager and Julian Magnus the business manager. The fact can no longer be disguised that the defection of John A. Mackay, who was to have played the principal role, is due to strong drink.

Louis Harrison has a new song, "Bing-Binger, the Baritone Singer," which he has introduced into the Pearl of Pekin.

A committee has been formed in Milan for the celebration of Verdi's jubilee in 1889. It is hoped that a "cycle" of his operas will be performed, if possible, with the co-operation of Patti and the tenor Masini.

Managers Frank Sanger and Daniel Frohman are convalescing from serious illness.

Recently, during a performance with wild animals at Hohemuth, Bohemia, Fraulein Baumgartner, a pretty young lion tamer, was seized upon entering a cage by a ferocious lion, who fastened his teeth in her neck and shoulders and shook her as a terrier does a rat. The poor girl was dead before the brute was made to release his hold.

Sims Reeves, the English tenor, is about to begin his farewell concert tour, and if he lives until next December, the fiftieth anniversary of his debut in "Guy Mannering," he proposes to close his professional career with a revival of that opera.

Miss Belle Thorne made her first appearance in New York Jan. 7th, at the Bijou Opera House, as the Pearl of Pekin with Rice and Dixey's Co.

The telegraph tells how a lion escaped from his cage on the night of the 14th, at the winter quarters in Frankford, killed a camel and raised ruction generally. Keeper Rebichan, unable to obtain control of him, turned the intelligent trained elephant, Empress, that was here with Forepaugh's show last Summer, loose on him. As she approached the growling lion she struck him a blow with her trunk that knocked him away from her. The lion made a roar and leaped on her hindquarters. The elephant trumpeted with pain and the trainer forced him from his hold with the prongs of a pitchfork. The lion sprang at the elephant again, was caught in her trunk and hurled against the side of the building with great force, where the king of beasts lay subdued until the keeper and his men lassoed him and caged him.

EVENING EDITION

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt has temporarily closed the Bush Street Theatre, torn out the old auditorium, and is converting the Bush into a new theatre. New boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third-tier gallery, and new decorations and appointments will be the order of improvement in the New Bush Street Theatre at the cost of $50,000.

The stage and parquet floor will be lowered. The front of the stage will be rimmed out in a semi-circle form more into the auditorium and its proscenium arch will be raised, giving it greater depth and elevation. There will be eight proscenium boxes, handsomely appointed. Linenstawalton will form the staff of the decorations.

The plans of the New Bush Street Theatre show that it will be an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated, and absolutely safe.

The electric light supplies the place of daylight and gangs of artisans will be kept at work day and night until the theatre is finished.

The New Bush will open on Saturday, January 26th, with Lydia Thompson's English Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, in Columbus, a new burlesque by George Dance and Archibald Gordon. "Columbus" is pronounced a happy success. It is "one of the best burlesques ever seen in this country." "Its music is charming, the libretto fairly witty, and the principal members of the company are very happy in their roles." "Columbus" comes to us with plenty of good endorsements.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company produce for their third week three popular operas.

The week's repertoire is: Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, Cellier's quaint and pleasing opera of Dorothy, a last season's success.

The opera is one of the most tuneful in the Carleton repertoire and is admirably given by his company. The action and singing of the opera is sustained throughout by Mr. Carleton and company with spirit and effect, which is fully enjoyed by large and fashionable audiences.

The cast can be found in the Baldwin's programme space in our columns.

Thursday and Saturday evenings, Mikado, the Carleton Mikado, an admirable performance.

Friday evening and Saturday matinee, Nanon. Another opera in which Carleton excels.

Seats now on sale.

Alcazar Theatre.

The Golden Giant, an interesting and eventful drama, will form this week's bill. The play is one of standard popularity, and will have a good production and a strong cast. George Osbourne plays Jack Mason, a manly honorable fellow, although a gambler by profession, and made a great hit in it when the play was first produced here, and repeats the same success again. James Carden plays Fairfax in a masterly manner and gives a fine portrayal of the rough, generous miner; Miss Brandon plays the suffering Ethel Wayne to great advantage; Miss Hattie Moore is excellent as Bessie, and Miss Fanny Young in her double role is also very good.

Grand Opera House.

Imre Kiralfy's Black Crook, the Black Crook of stage fame, produced with all its rich appointments, a strong cast, gorgeous scenery, grand ballets and spectacular effects, will be this week's attraction at the Grand.

The prominent scenes of the play are the Devil's Glen, the Golden Terrace, Zamiel's Illuminated Palace and the rich Transformation Scene. All the scenes are beautiful works of stage art. The Illuminated Palace, with its glow of chandeliers, is strikingly so.

The grand ballet appear in Imre Kiralfy's Operatic Ballet, introducing ten character ballets, dancing to the airs of as many different popular operas, its first production on any stage, and in other changes of ballets. Of the Operatic Ballets, the Policeman's Dance from the Pirates of Penzance and the Mikado Dance, are the most artistic. The way the little children do the Ko, Ai Dragoons' dance to the music of Patience sets the house in a roar. They are irresistibly funny.

Besides these are the Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes, in their new daring leap from the highest trapeze bar, turning a somersault, to the net below, a distance of fifty feet; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Brothers, eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is giving us a round of intellectual, standard plays here that rank high in merit, and are interpreted by herself and company that she has selected to support her in a very satisfactory manner. In her lines of characters she has no equal, and her company is doing the best dramatic work in the city, playing fine lines of characters, high comedy and society parts, very acceptably. If you want to see a meritorious performance drop in at the Standard.

"The Adventures of a Love-Letter," a charming comedy, full of wit and repartee, and very amusing in plot, is this week's bill.

Jeffreys-Lewis gives a peculiar subtlety under the guise of open frankness to the part of Mlle Suzanne that individualizes it as a creation of her own. She makes the character magnetic by the force of her own mentality. Miss Dot Rosmore ably sustains the society part of Baroness La Glacier, and a well known society lady makes a promising debut as Mme Dupont. Mainhall is excellent as the worldly Prosper Couramont, as is Wallace as the zealous naturalist, Brisemouche. Frank Peters as the Baron De La Glacier, W. L. Roberts as his bashful ward, and Walter Von Rosen as a servant do good work. The whole performance is one that can be commended for its smoothness and efficiency.

The attendance is good and the week's business promises to be a success, artistically and financially.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Orpheum continues its specialty entertainment this week, with Moore's European and American stars, from the East, as the week's attraction.

Miss Tillie Morrissey, a very fine soprano vocalist, a strong addition to the company; George H. Wood, the favorite comedian, and Quigley's Troupe of Famous Leapers, are the new faces this week.

The three Romalos Brothers, gymnastic marvels, do things that are impossible to describe, but that are very pleasing to the eye. Among the best of the people is Clivette, who does a neat act on swinging wire. Ashley & Hess come on in a funny skating act. Miss Adele Purvis revolves on the revolving globe, gracefully juggling with knives and firebrands at the same time with the utmost composure, and the Mirand Sisters do a remarkable aerial act.

The whole performance is novel and varied, and several of the acts have dash and daring in them, and the whole goes with a snap and vim that is very enjoyable.

Matinee Sunday.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

"Cast Upon the World," a strong five-act play of adventure and dramatic experiences, will hold the stage of this popular East-side theatre this week, with Darrell Vinton as the exponent of heroism.

Miss Essie Tittel, Margaret Marshall, Lottie Beaumont and Jessie Norton, all have important parts, which add largely to the interest of the piece.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold, and his troupe of French Blondes, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their burlesque of "Prince Dandini," produced with all the burlesque accessories of music, mirth and fun, with a grand Amazon march by a stage full of beauties. They have scored a seven weeks' success.

Miss Minnie Pierce, the great flying trapeze artists, is the only new face this week.

Doyle & Leclair, Irish sketch team; the Lawrences, song and dance artists; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Burnell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Buckingham Theatre.

This new theatre, 1342-1344 Market street, opposite Seventh street, was opened last Saturday night, under the management of Sam Lewis, an experienced manager and a popular man. Mr Lewis was stricken down with pneumonia before completing his arrangements for opening January 5th. He has got about again all right and opened with a well selected and good working company

The company consists of Billy White, Frank Monroe, John Mortell, Eddie Dwyer, Eddie Buckley, Blanch Leslie, Nellie Lewis, Maggie Gordon, Marie Morina, Miss Wellington (the contortionist) and others.

John Mortell opens the bill with his comedy of Out of Work, and Billy White wakes up fun in his version of Pompey's Troubles, with a portion of the company in the cast, for the afterpiece.

For olio features, in which the ladies of the company contribute as fine vocalisms as can be heard anywhere, see programme.

The house is in perfect order, everything fine and bright as a new pin.

Fletcher & Esner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Esner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The features in the museum combine a great amount of curiosities, including a museum of wax figures, the Circassian Beauty, and Little Dot, the smallest woman in the world, 22 inches in statue.

The theatre presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

The French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wiley Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, will be this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

Miss Effie Hull, descriptive vocalist, and Miss Carrie Delmar, the talented singer, have been added to the bill.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Blanch Leslie, and others, form the female staff of the company.

Original Theatre Comique

John Miller, comedian, and McPherson, the favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

A Hurricane of Humor opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio and the comedy, A Live Subject, more olio features, then the farce, A Bureau Drawer, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

An entire change of programme this week.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact m or theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall

This is one of the neatest and c theatres in the city, and good man made it one of the most popular o theatres for years past. Manager runs a very strong company. The lady vocalists this week.

Capt. Martin and Prof. H. M grand fencing contest for twenty be the new attraction for this wee Helena Richman, Alice Mansfiel ard, Stella Walton, Mamie San Eldridge, Musical Fletcher, Ba Geo. C. Dunham and others appea of specialties, acts and afterpiec hint and drop into the Eureka, coziest houses in town. The spe are all good, and do their best evening enjoyable.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

At the sacred concert given in New York on Jan. 6th by the Johnson & Slavin Minstrels, Hughey was comical in a sacred way, accompanied by a clean face, Bob Slavin advanced the code of morality without the disguise of cork, and Carroll Johnson was resplendent in a dress suit and an unctuous voice. Besides, there was singing by the corps of minstrel vocalists, instrumental effects by the minstrel orchestra, and a full brass band. Their show was crowded and the people were well pleased.

"Undine" and "Lurline," our old-time acquaintances, are the grandmothers of Kiralfy Kiralfy's new spectacular piece, "The Water Queen," now playing in Chicago. Like Imre's Mazulm it is an old favorite revived and put on the stage in a new Kiralfy dress and modern appointments.

Theatre Comique, Butte, Jan. 7th: Jessie Forrester, May Mauri, Lola Selton, Frank Binney and Kittie Chapman, the Curry Sisters, May Runnels, Maggie Fosser, Millie Thomas, Ned Thatcher, Geo. Drew and Nelty Andes. Jan. 14th: Rathbaw & Alton, Nellie Daniels and Annie Gerard.

The Gottlobs, German team; Lavender & Thompson, sketch team; Walter Le Roy, comedian; Munis Leo and Conchita are in town from Cort's Oregon and Washington circuit.

Several museum managers of New York and Boston have offered Mme. Dis De Barr six hundred dollars a week to show herself in their museums. The offer was refused.

The reason why so many cane-handle-sucking dudes hunt the front rows of the parquet at Kiralfy's is explained on the principle of mutual attraction—there are always plenty of calves in Kiralfy's ballet.

Wm. Emerson, a son of the well-known minstrel, played the comedy part in a dramatization of Cardinal Wiseman's Fabiola, at St. Xavier's College, Cincinnati, on Christmas night, and made a decided hit.

McIntyre & Heath, the clever minstrels and comedians, have been engaged by Manager Leavitt, and leave for the East this week to take a place in one of his companies.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

Grace Hawthorne has been very ill in London, but is recovering.

First Young Lady (at Broad-street Station) — These young men are so rude. I've a great mind to complain of them. Second Young Lady — We might go into that big waiting-room and sit down. "Oh, it's so stupid in there. It's reserved exclusively for ladies."

"Why, Mrs. de Lancy, what is the matter with your daughter, Florence? She looks completely used up and done for." "Oh, she's all right, Mrs. Van Tyke. She has just graduated from a finishing school."

Mother (to daughter) — Well, Celia, did you have a pleasant ride with young Mr. Slattery? Celia—Oh, yes, mamma; and do you know that as soon as we got out of town he let me drive.

Mrs. Chippering—So these are your children, are they?" Mrs. Marrow—Yes, and everybody says they're just the image of me. Mrs. Chippering — Why, so they are, poor little things.

Miss de Pert (unfeelingly) — This is, perhaps, the first refusal you have received, Mr. de Tom? Mr. de Tom (sarcastically)—And perhaps the first you have ever given, Miss Mauve.

Some critic in speaking of a lecturer says, "It is quite right for a lecturer to be full of his subject." Not always. Suppose he should lecture on whisky.

First Lady — What an imperious, dictatorial, air-gait man that Mr. Pompus is! Second Lady — Yes; you know he has never been married.

"So old Brown is dead, eh? Well, well! Did he leave anything?" "Yes. It broke his heart to do it, but he left everything."

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The wires tell us that Emma Abbott, though feeling deeply the bereavement which has befallen her, will not, for the present, desert her opera company; the members of which are in the main so dependent upon the organization being maintained. Miss Abbott leaves New York on the 16th to join her company in Memphis, which opens there on the 21st.

The Golden Giant proved a wonderfully strong piece when played at the Alcazar in December, 1887. Then the cast included Frank Mordaunt in the title role, Harry Davenport as Le Moyne, Hobart Bosworth as Max Wayne, Geo. Trader, Helen Mason Osbourne and Miss Villiers.

Mr. Carleton's two principal songs, "My Head I Bow and My Back I Bend" and the mid-night serenade, "At Thy Chamber-door I Linger," are splendidly rendered.

The fair debutante at the Standard last night made a very favorable impression.

"The Adventures of a Love Letter," playing at the Standard, is a bright, witty comedy, well acted by Jeffreys-Lewis and company, and a very enjoyable performance.

Miss Belle Thorne made her first appearance in New York Jan. 7th, at the Bijou Opera House, as the Pearl of Pekin with Rice and Dixey's Co.

The tour of A Noble Son, Leonard Grover's new comedy-drama, began at Herrmann's Broad Street Theatre, Philadelphia, Jan. 14th. E. J. Buckley played the principal part, supported by the same strong company that has been previously announced. Sol Berliner is the manager and Julian Magnus the business manager. The fact can no longer be disguised that the deflection of John A. Mackay, who was to have played the principal role, is due to strong drink.

Louis Harrison has a new song, "Bing-Binger, the Baritone Singer," which he has introduced into the Pearl of Pekin.

Women first appeared in ballets in 1681. Prior to that date young and plump youths were selected for dancers. The first premiere danseuses were Mlles. La Fontaine, Roland, Lepeintre and Fernon.

A committee has been formed in Milan for the celebration of Verdi's jubilee in 1889. It is hoped that a "cycle" of his operas will be performed, if possible, with the co-operation of Patti and the tenor Masini.

Managers Frank Sanger and Daniel Frohman are convalescing from serious illness.

Recently, during a performance with wild animals at Hohemuth, Bohemia, Fraulein Baumgartner, a pretty young lion tamer, was seized upon entering a cage by a ferocious lion, who fastened his teeth in her neck and shoulders and shook her as a terrier does a rat. The poor girl was dead before the brute was made to release his hold.

The wife of a Wilkesbarre, Pa., business man became so infatuated some months ago with Roland Reed that she joined his combination. It is, however, reported that the lady recently returned to her husband and home.

A weak curtain rope ruined the beautifully painted "drop" at the Matteawan, N. Y., Opera House, by letting it down with a run on Christmas Day and tearing the canvas diagonally from top to bottom.

Sims Reeves, the English tenor, is about to begin his farewell concert tour, and if he lives until next December, the fiftieth anniversary of his debut in "Guy Mannering," he proposes to close his professional career with a revival of that opera.

F. G. Berger has begun a suit at Minneapolis against Fred Warde for $600, which he claims as damages resulting from violation of contract in Mr. Warde's failure to appear at the plaintiff's Grand Rapids, Mich., Theatre on Christmas Day.

Henry Irving's recent spectacular revival of Macbeth at the London Lyceum has not set the Thames on fire.

Billy Emerson and a minstrel company re-open the Bijou Theatre on Saturday night for a week. The partnership question between Mr. Emerson and the owners of the Bijou Theatre has been amicably arranged outside of the courts. Messrs. Trumbo & Co. have paid all claims, in litigation or otherwise, against the theatre, and have undisputed possession of the property. J. T. Wagman, manager and treasurer. N. D. Roberts, Emerson's former manager, business manager.

Lydia Thompson had an attack of pneumonia at Los Angeles on Saturday that laid her off for a performance, and the local dispatcher seized the opportunity to make his sensation in Sunday's Chronicle. He did not exactly say that she was dead, but, "if she recovers at all it is doubtful," cried the little agitator. In to-day's Chronicle he meekly wires that the afflicted one is "out of danger," "improved," but "weak"—a very weak sensation.

The Conreid Opera Co., in The King's Fool and other operas, commence a season of fourteen weeks under M. B. Leavitt's management this week in Kansas City. Mr. Geo. E. Lask, of this city, has left to take personal supervision of the company, under Manager Leavitt's directions. The company is dated for the New Bush St. Theatre in March.

Robert Daly, the well known young actor, a member of Daly's Vacation Co., died in Boston, Jan. 10th, of consumption, at the home of his brother William. He made his first appearance in Philadelphia in 1876 with his brother Daniel. He was 25 years old.

Georgie Woodthorpe plays this week in Watsonville, Santa Cruz and San

A witty San Franciscan writes: "Now that the theatre programmes include all hands—scenery by Dobs, mechanical effects by Nobs, thunder and lightning by Fobs and furniture by Hobs—why not announce the cuspidors by Gobs!"

Managers have more than the regular cold winter's weather to contend with now in the East. It is Mary Anderson. When she strikes a theatre double fires are kept up to counteract her frigidity. When she appears in A Winter's Tale all the water pipes within a mile of the theatre are frozen solid, and the people have just found out the cause of it. A New York manager has offered her all the receipts and a clear benefit if she will put in a week at his theatre in July just to give his house a reputation for a cool temperature as a summer theatre.

Dramatic people wanted to join a company now in Oregon.

Morris Peyser is back in the Baldwin Theatre box-office again as assistant treas-

EVENING EDITION

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt has temporarily closed the Bush Street Theatre, torn out the old auditorium, and is converting the Bush into a new theatre. New boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third-tier gallery, and new decorations and appointments will be the order of improvement in the New Bush Street Theatre at the cost of $20,000.

The stage and parquet floor will be lowered. The front of the stage will be rimmed out in a semi-circle form, more into the auditorium and its proscenium arch will be raised, giving it greater depth and elevation. There will be eight proscenium boxes, handsomely appointed. Linerustawalton will form the staff of the decorations.

The plans of the New Bush Street Theatre show that it will be an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated, and absolutely safe.

The electric light supplies the place of daylight and gangs of artisans will be kept at work day and night until the theatre is finished.

The New Bush will open on Saturday, January 26th, with Lydia Thompson's English Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, in Columbus, a new burlesque by George Dance and Archibald Gordon. "Columbus" is pronounced a happy success. It is "one of the best burlesques ever seen in this country." "Its music is charming, the libretto fairly witty, and the principal members of the company are very happy in their roles." "Columbus" comes to us with plenty of good endorsements.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company produce for their third week three popular operas.

The week's repertoire is: Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, Cellier's quaint and pleasing opera of Dorothy, a last season's success.

The opera is one of the most tuneful in the Carleton repertoire and is admirably given by his company. The action and singing of the opera is sustained throughout by Mr. Carleton and company with spirit and effect, which is fully enjoyed by large and fashionable audiences.

The cast can be found in the Baldwin's programme space in our columns.

Thursday and Saturday evenings, Mikado, the Carleton Mikado, an admirable performance.

Friday evening and Saturday matinee, Nanon. Another opera in which Carleton excels.

Seats now on sale.

Alcazar Theatre.

The Golden Giant, an interesting and eventful drama, will form this week's bill. The play is one of standard popularity, and will have a good production and a strong cast. George Osbourne plays Jack Mason, a manly honorable fellow, although a gambler by profession, and made a great hit in it when the play was first produced here, and repeats the same success again. James Carden plays Fairfax in a masterly manner and gives a fine portrayal of the rough, generous miner; Miss Brandon plays the suffering Ethel Wayne to great advantage; Miss Hattie Moore is excellent as Bessie, and Miss Fanny Young in her double role is also very good.

Grand Opera House.

Imre Kiralfy's Black Crook, the Black Crook of stage fame, produced with all its rich appointments, a strong cast, gorgeous scenery, grand ballets and spectacular effects, will be this week's attraction at the Grand.

The prominent scenes of the play are the Devil's Glen, the Golden Terrace, Zamiel's Illuminated Palace and the rich Transformation Scene. All the scenes are beautiful works of stage part. The Illuminated Palace, with its glow of chandeliers, is strikingly so.

The grand ballet appear in Imre Kiralfy's Operatic Ballet, introducing ten character ballets, dancing to the airs of as many different popular operas, its first production on any stage, and in other changes of ballets. Of the Operatic Ballets, the Policeman's Dance from the Pirates of Penzance and the Mikado Dance, are the most artistic. The way the little children do the Royal Dragoons' dance to the music of Patience sets the house in a roar. They are irresistibly funny.

Besides, there are the Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes, in their new daring leap from the highest trapeze bar, turning a somersault, to the net below, a distance of fifty feet; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Brothers, eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is giving us a round of intellectual, standard plays here that rank high in merit, and are interpreted by herself and the company that she has selected to support her in a very satisfactory manner. In her lines of characters she has no equal, and her company is doing the best dramatic work in the city, playing fine lines of characters, high comedy and society parts, very acceptably. If you want to see a meritorious performance drop in at the Standard.

"The Adventures of a Love-Letter," a charming comedy, full of wit and repartee, and very amusing in plot, is this week's bill.

Jeffreys-Lewis gives a peculiar subtlety under the guise of open frankness to the part of M'lle Suzanne that individualizes it as a creation of her own. She makes the character magnetic by the force of her own mentality. Miss Dot Rosemore ably sustains the society part of Baroness La Glacier, and a well known society lady makes a promising debut as Mme. Dupont. Mainhall is excellent as the worldly Prosper Couramont, as is Wallace as the zealous naturalist, Brisemouche. Frank Peters as the Baron De La Glacier, W. L. Roberts as his bashful ward, and Walter Von Rosen as a servant do good work. The whole performance is one that can be commended for its smoothness and efficiency.

The attendance is good and the week's business promises to be a success, artistically and financially.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO. Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Orpheum continues its specialty entertainment this week, with Moore's European and American stars, from the East, as the week's attraction.

Miss Tillie Morrissey, a very fine soprano vocalist; Geo. H. Wood, the favorite comedian; Miss Ethel Lynton, vocal soubrette and general favorite, and Quigley's Troupe of Famous Leapers are the new faces this week.

Oura's Japanese troupe of jugglers, equilibrists, acrobats, etc., five in number, add the Oriental contingent stars, and are novel and clever. The Romalos Brothers, gymnastic marvels, do things that are impossible to describe, but that are very pleasing to the eye. Among the best of the people is Clivette, who does a neat act on swinging wire. Ashley & Hess come on in a funny skating act. Miss Adele Purvis revolves on the revolving globe, gracefully juggling with knives and firebrands at the same time with the utmost composure.

The whole performance is novel and varied, and several of the acts have dash and daring in them, and the whole goes with a snap and vim that is very enjoyable.

Matinee Sunday.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

"Cast Upon the World," a strong five-act play of adventure and dramatic experiences, will hold the stage of this popular East-side theatre this week, with Darrell Vinton as the exponent of heroism.

Miss Essie Tittel, Margaret Marshall, Lottie Beaumont and Jessie Norton, all have important parts, which add largely to the interest of the piece.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold, and his troupe of French Blondes, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their burlesque of "Prince Dandini," produced with all the burlesque accessories of music, mirth and fun, with a grand Amazon march by a stage full of beauties. They have scored a seven weeks' success.

Miss Minnie Pierce, the great flying trapeze artists, is the only new face this week.

Doyle & Leclair, Irish sketch team; the Lawrences, song and dance artists; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Buckingham Theatre.

This new theatre, 1342-1344 Market street, opposite Seventh street, was opened last Saturday night, under the management of Sam Lewis, an experienced manager and a popular man. Mr Lewis was stricken down with pneumonia before completing his arrangements for opening January 5th. He has got about again all right and opened with a well selected and good working company.

The company consists of Billy White, Frank Monroe, John Mortell, Eddie Dwyer, Eddie Buckley, Blanch Leslie, Nellie Lewis, Maggie Gordon, Marie Morina, Miss Wellington (the contortionist) and others.

John Mortell opens the bill with his comedy of Out of Work, and Billy White wakes up fun in his version of Pompey's Troubles, with a portion of the company in the cast, for the afterpiece.

For olio features, in which the ladies of the company contribute as fine vocalisms as can be heard anywhere, see programme.

The house is in perfect order, everything fine and bright as a new pin.

Heikes & McClelland's Wonderland.

A Museum and Theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The new features in the Museum this week are the largest horse in the world, 20 hands high, weighing 3400 pounds; Barnum's original tattooed man, Captain Constantine; the Circassian Beauty, and Little Dot, the smallest woman in the world, 22 inches in statue.

Prof. Pepper's Ghost, just from the East, a series of wonderful and mysterious tableaux and startling apparitions, will be continued as the great attraction for the theatre department.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

The French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabille, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wiley Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, will be this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

Miss Effie Hull, descriptive vocalist, and Miss Carrie Delmar, the talented singer, have been added to the bill.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Blanch Leslie, and others, form the female staff of the company.

Original Theatre Comique

John Miller, comedian, and McPherson, the favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

A Hurricane of Humor opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio and the comedy, A Live Subject, more olio features, then the farce, A Bureau Drawer, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

An entire change of programme this week.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact m or theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Ha

This is one of the neatest and theatres in the city, and good m made it one of the most popular theatres for years past. Manag runs a very strong company. T lady vocalists this week.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

New Gem Theatre, El Paso, Jan. 14th: Frank Lavarnie, Jessie Le Seur, J. J. Billadeau, Rose Lysle, Lillie Morris and the Gem Theatre stock. Frank Lavarnie's version of the Octoroon is the big attraction of the bill.

Standard, Portland: Ross & Fenton, Lang & Sharpe, Martin & Rushton, Abe Hecter, Louise Leslie, Winchell Twin Sisters, La Rose Bros., Cardello & Videlia, the Suanettes, Mollie Le Roy, Geyer & Lora, Wheeler, Mulligan & Linton, Derville Family, Whitney & Johnson, Beattie & Bently and May Forrest this week.

Standard, Seattle, Jan. 14th: Dashington Bros. (3), Florence Sylva, Lassard & Lucifer, Heiler, Jr., Maude Clayton, Ada Mortimer, Durell Bros., Annie Rymar, Dot Melville, Ida Howell, Thomas Leo, Jessie Chapman, Clara Stanley, Herne & Howard, Conlon & Dougherty, Ida Chester, the Zanfretta Family and the old reliable stock.

Though Jos. F. Donohue, the American skater, was beaten in the mile heat at the World's Champion Skating Race in Amsterdam, Holland, by a quarter of a second by the Russian champion skater, Von Pauschin, he appears to sweep the field easily at longer distances. He won the two-mile medal, beating Von Pauschin 70 yards, on the 10th; and the wires tell us he defeated all competitors "cleverly" in the five-mile yesterday, taking the champion medal from the Russian. He smashed the records at both distances. Donohue's five-mile time was 16 minutes and 45 seconds. The American champion is a native of Newburg, and perfected himself in Skating on the Hudson.

At the sacred concert given in New York on Jan. 6th by the Johnson & Slavin Minstrels, Hughey Dougherty was comical in a sacred way, with a clean face, Bob Slavin advanced the code of morality without the disguise of cork, and Carroll Johnson was resplendent in a dress suit and an uncorked voice. Besides, there was singing by the corps of minstrel vocalists, instrumental effects by the minstrel orchestra, and a full brass band. Their theatre was crowded and the people were well pleased.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

A SIX DAYS' WALKING MATCH.

We are to have a great six days' go-as-you-please at the Mechanics' Pavilion in February. Frank Hall, the Eastern pedestrian manager, arrived with his contingent of walkers on Tuesday.

They are Bobby Vint, the Brooklyn shoemaker, who defeated Littlewood at the Madison Square Garden in a six days' contest, recording 578¼ miles, He is a great stayer and a rapid walker, and has a 550 and a 532-mile record credited to him in other walking matches, although he is 41 years of age. P. C. Moore has a six days' record in his Madison Square walks of 536 and 554 miles. He is a native of Oil City, Penn., and comes by his limber joints naturally. Thos. Howorth, an Englishman, is a racer ready to be matched against any man in the world to run 10 to 50 miles. His racing record is a mile in 4:32; 25 miles in 2 hours, 41 minutes, breaking the American record; 50 miles in 6 hours, 21 minutes; and 134 miles in the 24-hour race he won in New York.

Although such walkers as Jas. Albert, Frank Hart, Norcmac and quite a number of the best Eastern walkers have expressed their intention of competing for the big purses offered and the prize gate money, Manager Hall thinks that his men can win. He has contributed $1,000 to the purse, and with the advantages of our steady temperature and bracing climate he predicts that though we may have the best walkers in the world here his competitors will have to smash the six days' record to win that $1,000.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Joe Mount has got back from his Southern California advance trip, and is happy.

Dan McCullough, treasurer of the Baldwin, has been tendered a deserved complimentary benefit by Managers Al Hayman and Wm. T. Carleton, to take place on Sunday evening, the 27th. The Carleton Opera Co. will make their last appearance on this occasion, and other attractions will supplement their performance. The beneficiary is universally popular, and we can bespeak him a rousing benefit.

The Select Knights of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, consisting of five legions in this city, have engaged the Grand Opera House for a week, in the near future, and have arranged with Mr. Neil Warner to produce two strong melodramas to form the bill for the week's performances to be given for their mutual benefit. After which this excellent actor will play a season of melodrama and the legitimate at the Grand.

It is settled that Mary Anderson will close her American tour in this city. She will play her engagement here in April under the management of Al Hayman at the Grand Opera House.

Miss Rosalie A. Booth, sister of Edwin Booth, the tragedian, died in New York last night at the age of 65. She has been an invalid for several years, a sufferer from paralysis.

George Osbourne is a moustachless hero this week as Jack Mason at the Alcazar.

Monday night, Jan. 7th, Louis James and Miss Marie Wainwright began an engagement at the Star Theatre, N. Y., appearing in As You Like It, in which Miss Wainwright made her debut before a New York audience as Rosalind, assisted by Mr. James as Orlando. Miss Wainwright's impersonation of Rosalind was a success in every way.

Sweet Lavender is another in the series of successes at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, where that superb play will run all of the season. It will reach its 100th performance Feb. 4th. Next season Belasco & DeMille's new comedy, The Charity Ball, will be produced at the Lyceum.

Miss Annie Pixley reappears in New York Feb. 4th, at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, when she will produce for the first time here her new comedy, by Geo. Jessop, called Room 22. Miss Pixley will be followed by Maggie Mitchell in her new comedy entitled Ray.

Wilson Barrett opens his American tour Oct. 7th, at the Boston Theatre, appearing in Ben My Chree. On Oct. 14th Mr. Barrett begins an engagement in New York, at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, during which he will be seen in Good Old Times, Ben My Chree, Claudian, Chatterton, The Color Sergeant and Hamlet.

Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett begin their next tour together early in the Autumn opening the new Amphitheatre Auditorium in Louisville, where they give seven performances, and for which Captain Norton, the manager, will play the tragedian $20,000, the largest sum of money ever guaranteed any combination of theatrical stars.

The new professional association called "The Bustle Scorners" is said to include among its members Mrs Langtry, who is godmother of a special brand; Georgia Cayvan, Mrs. Potter, Annie Russell, Maud Harrison, Ada Rehan, Louise Dillon, Adele Belgarde, Lillian Russell, Clara Louise Kellogg, Viola Allen and a number of lesser stage lights of the gentler sex.

William Morris, Loie Fuller and their band of West Indian theatrical invaders have not sailed from New York as has been announced in the dailies.

The Golden Giant proved a wonderfully strong piece when played at the Alcazar in December, 1887. Then the cast included Frank Mordaunt in the title role, Harry Davenport as Le Moyne, Hobart Bosworth as Max Wayne, Geo. Trader, Helen Mason Osbourne and Miss Villiers.

"The Adventures of a Love Letter," playing at the Standard, is a bright, witty comedy, well acted by Jeffreys-Lewis and company, and a very enjoyable performance.

Sardou's LaTosca has been forbidden in Berlin, so that neither Sarah Bernhardt nor Fanny Davenport are likely to visit the German capital.

Very handsome settings are given to Jeffreys-Lewis' pieces at the Standard Theatre. Rich modern furniture adorns the parlor scenes and everything is in character. In "The Adventures of a Love Letter," this week, the stage in the last act is filled with palms and flowers and to the eye is converted into a genuine conservatory.

The Boston Quartet or Quintet Club—a small company of musicians that have been giving concerts in the interior towns—gave a concert at Metropolitan Temple Tuesday before a light audience. They give another concert Friday night.

Mrs. Langtry is writing her life. It should be a spicy book.

Shenandoah, Bronson Howard's new play, will be the first of the important productions in New York next season.

CHARLIE MITCHELL PERMANENTLY DISABLED.

The wires inform us that Charlie Mitchell, the pugilist, sailed for England yesterday. Before sailing he signed a statement for the public in which he says: "In the fight with Sullivan I broke my left hand in the third round, and since that time I dare not trust my hand to make a match to fight to a finish with any man. I have been endeavoring to take such care of my hand as would enable it to get strong, so that I could risk it in a fight to a finish, but I regret that after consulting with one of the foremost surgeons in the United States (Prof. E.

The telegraph tells how a lion escaped from his cage on the night of the 14th, at the winter quarters in Frankford, killed a camel and raised Cain generally. Keeper Robichan, unable to obtain control of him, carried the intelligent trained elephant, Empress, that was here with Forepaugh's show last Summer, loose on him. As she approached the growling lion she struck him a blow with her trunk that knocked him away from her. The lion made a roar and leaped on her hindquarters. The elephant trumpeted with pain and the trainer forced him from his hold with the prongs of a pitchfork. The lion sprang at the elephant again, was caught in her trunk and hurled against the side of the building with great force, where the king of beasts lay subdued until the keeper and his men lassoed him and caged him.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt has temporarily closed the Bush Street Theatre, torn out the old auditorium, and is converting the Bush into a new theatre. New boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third-tier gallery, and new decorations and appointments will be the order of improvement in the New Bush Street Theatre at the cost of $20,000.

The stage and parquet floor will be lowered. The front of the stage will be rimmed out in a semi-circle form more into the auditorium and its proscenium arch will be raised, giving it greater depth and elevation. There will be eight proscenium boxes, handsomely appointed. Lincrustawalton will form the staff of the decorations.

The plans of the New Bush Street Theatre show that it will be an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated, and absolutely safe.

The electric light supplies the place of daylight and gangs of artisans will be kept at work day and night until the theatre is finished.

The New Bush will open on Saturday, January 26th, with Lydia Thompson's English Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, in Columbus, a new burlesque by George Dance and Archibald Gordon. "Columbus" is pronounced a happy success. It is "one of the best burlesques ever seen in this country." "Its music is charming, the libretto fairly witty, and the principal members of the company are very happy in their roles." "Columbus" comes to us with plenty of good endorsements.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company are in their third week here.

To-night and Saturday night Mikado, the Carleton Mikado, humorous, quaint and thoroughly enjoyable; an admirable performance.

The cast can be found in the Baldwin's programme space in our columns.

Friday evening and Saturday matinee, Nanon. Another opera in which Carleton excels.

Next week, for the fourth and last week of the Carleton Opera Company, the fine opera of Erminie will be given for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and for Saturday matinee.

Mynheer Jan will be reproduced on Thursday evening, by request.

Seats now on sale.

Alcazar Theatre.

The Golden Giant, an interesting and eventful drama, forms this week's bill. The play is one of standard popularity, and has a good production and a strong cast. George Osbourne played Jack Mason, a manly honorable fellow, although a gambler by profession, and made a great hit in it when the play was first produced here, and repeats the same success again. James Carden plays Fairfax in a masterly manner and gives a fine portrayal of the rough, generous miner; Miss Brandon sustains the suffering Ethel Wayne to great advantage; Miss Hattie Moore is excellent as Bessie, and Miss Fanny Young in her double role is also very good.

Miss Kate Mayhew, a talented actress, not unknown to Californians, appears here next week as Fanchon, the Cricket.

Grand Opera House.

Imre Kiralfy's Black Crook, the Black Crook of stage fame, produced with all its rich appointments, a strong cast, gorgeous scenery, grand ballets and spectacular effects, will be this week's attraction at the Grand.

The prominent scenes of the play are the Devil's Glen, the Golden Terrace, Zamiel's Illuminated Palace and the rich Transformation Scene. All the scenes are beautiful works of stage part. The Illuminated Palace, with its glow of chandeliers, is strikingly so.

The grand ballet appear in Imre Kiralfy's Operatic Ballet, introducing ten character ballets, dancing to the airs of as many different popular operas, its first production on any stage, and in other changes of ballets. Of the Operatic Ballets, the Policeman's Dance from the Pirates of Penzance, and the Mikado Dance, are the most artistic. The way the little children do the Royal Dragoons' dance to the music of Patience sets the house in a roar. They are irresistibly funny.

Besides, there are the Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes, in their new daring leap from the highest trapeze bar, turning a somersault, to the net below, a distance of fifty feet; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Brothers, eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is giving us a round of intellectual, standard plays here that rank high in merit, and are interpreted by herself and the company that she has selected to support her in a very satisfactory manner. In her lines of characters she has no equal, and her company is doing the best dramatic work in the city, playing fine lines of characters, high comedy and society parts, very acceptably. If you want to see a meritorious performance drop in at the Standard.

"The Adventures of a Love-Letter," a charming comedy, full of wit and repartee, and very amusing in plot, is this week's bill.

Jeffreys-Lewis gives a peculiar subtlety under the guise of open frankness to the part of M'lle Suzanne that individualizes it as a creation of her own. She makes the character magnetic by the force of her own mentality. Miss Dot Rossmore ably sustains the society part of Baroness La Glacier, and a well known society lady makes a promising debut as Mme. Dupont. Mainhall is excellent as the worldly Prosper Couramont, as is Wallace as the zealous naturalist, Brisemouche. Frank Peters as the Baron De La Glacier, W. L. Roberts as his bashful ward, and Walter Von Rosen as a servant do good work. The whole performance is one that can be commended for its smoothness and efficiency.

The attendance is good and the week's business promises to be a success, artistically and financially.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO. Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Orpheum continues its specialty entertainment this week, with Moore's European and American stars, from the East, as the week's attraction.

Miss Tillie Morrissey, a very fine soprano vocalist, a strong addition to the company; George H. Wood, the favorite comedian, and Quigley's Troupe of Famous Leapers, are the new faces this week.

The three Romalos Brothers, gymnastic marvels, do things that are impossible to describe, but that are very pleasing to the eye. Among the best of the people is Clivette, who does a neat act on swinging wire. Ashley & Hess come on in a funny skating act. Miss Adele Purvis revolves on the revolving globe, gracefully juggling with knives and firebrands at the same time with the utmost composure, and the Mirand Sisters do a remarkable aerial act.

The whole performance is novel and varied, and several of the acts have dash and daring in them, and the whole goes with a snap and vim that is very enjoyable.

Matinee Sunday.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

"Cast Upon the World," a strong five-act play of adventure and dramatic experiences, will hold the stage of this popular East-side theatre this week, with Darrell Vinton as the exponent of heroism in the part of Nat Garvin, an adventurer of the manly sort. Mr. Vinton brings out the good nature and improvident elements of the character with artistic skill, and carries the house with him as the hero of many adventures. Mr. Dale gives us a good eccentric characterization as Scanty Murray, and the drama generally is well sustained.

Miss Essie Tittel, Margaret Marshall, Lottie Beaumont and Jessie Norton, all have important parts, which add largely to the interest of the piece.

Next week, the California play of '49.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold, and his troupe of French Blondes, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their burlesque of "Prince Dandini," produced with all the burlesque accessories of music, mirth and fun, with a grand Amazon march by a stage full of beauties. They have scored a seven weeks' success.

Miss Minnie Pierce, the great flying trapeze artiste, is the only new face this week.

Doyle & Leclair, Irish sketch team; the Lawrences, song and dance artists; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Buckingham Theatre.

This new theatre, 1342-1344 Market street, opposite Seventh street, was opened last Saturday night, under the management of Sam Lewis, an experienced manager and a popular man. Mr. Lewis was stricken down with pneumonia before completing his arrangements for opening January 5th. He has got about again all right and opened with a well selected and good working company.

The company consists of Billy White, Frank Monroe, John Mortell, Eddie Dwyer, Eddie Buckley, Blanch Leslie, Nellie Lewis, Maggie Gordon, Marie Morina, Miss Wellington (the contortionist) and others.

John Mortell opens the bill with his comedy of Out of Work, and Billy White wakes up fun in his version of Pompey's Troubles, with a portion of the company in the cast, for the afterpiece.

For olio features, in which the ladies of the company contribute as fine vocalisms as can be heard anywhere, see programme.

The house is in perfect order, everything fine and bright as a new pin.

Fletcher & Esner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Esner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The features in the museum combine a great amount of curiosities, including a museum of wax figures, the Circassian Beauty, and Little Dot, the smallest woman in the world, 22 inches in statue.

The theatre presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

The French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wiley Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, will be this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

Miss Effie Hull, descriptive vocalist, and Miss Carrie Delmar, the talented singer, have been added to the bill.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Blanch Leslie, and others, form the female staff of the company.

Original Theatre Comique

John Miller, comedian, and McPherson, the favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

A Hurricane of Humor opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio and the comedy, A Live Subject, more olio features, then the farce, A Bureau Drawer, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

An entire change of programme this week.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact m or theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall

This is one of the neatest and theatres in the city, and good ma made it one of the most popular theatres for years past. Manage runs a very strong company. Th lady vocalists this week.

Capt. Martin and Prof. H. grand fencing contest for twent be the new attraction for this we

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Miss Julia Bennett is in receipt of a letter notifying her of the death of a grandmother in Philadelphia, who has left her considerable property. Miss Bennett was the warmest congratulations of her many friends.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs. Friedlander & Esner have purchased it, and will make some radical changes in the management. It is contemplated turning it into a dramatic house next month.

Prof. Somerville and his company of performing dogs, trained ponies and goats have had an extended trip, throughout the Northwest, and is now showing in the Shasta, Weaverville and Northern California circuit, coming Southward.

Now from Theatre, El Paso, Jan. 14th: Frank Lavarnie, Jessie Le Seur, J. J. Sheridan, Rose Lysle, Lillie Morris and the Dunn Theatre stock. Frank Lavarnie's version of the Octoroon is the big attraction of the bill.

Standard, Portland: Ross & Fenton, Lang & Sharpe, Martin & Rushton, Abe Reader, Louise Leslie, Winchell Twin sisters, La Rose Bros., Carbello & Videlia, the Scarlettas, Mollie Le Roy, Geyer & Lord, Wheeler, Mulligan & Linton, Derille Family, Whitney & Johnson, Beattie & Bentley and May Forrest this week.

Standard, Seattle, Jan. 14th: Dashington Bros (3), Florence Sylva, Lassard & Lorster, Heeler, Jr., Maude Clayton, Ada Mortimer, Durell Bros., Annie Ryan, Pat Melville, Ida Howell, Thomas Lee, Jessie Chapman, Clara Stanley, Irene & Howard Conlon & Dougherty, Lizzie Lester, the Zanfretta Family and the old reliable stock.

Joseph Jos. F. Donohue, the American skater, was beaten in the mile heat at the World's Champion Skating Race in Amsterdam, Holland, by a quarter of a second by the Russian champion skater, Von Paushin, he appears to sweep the field easily at longer distances. He won the two-mile medal, beating Von Paushin 70 yards on the 10th; and the wires say he defeated all competitors "cleverly" in the five-mile race, 16th, taking the [illegible] medal from the Russian.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

Di Muraka Dies in Poverty.

The telegraph tells the sad story. Mme. Emma Di Muraka, the well known singer, died after a lingering illness in Munich yesterday in extreme poverty. The dispatch adds: "Her daughter, who was broken hearted at the loss of her mother, committed suicide by taking poison." Mme. Di Muraka was unrivalled in her method of singing. Possessed of a bird-like voice, she could execute trills and roulades with the most charming effect. She was brought to this coast by De Vivo, and created a great sensation. Di Muraka accumulated quite a fortune, but it was all dissipated by a worthless husband, and she end came in the midst of poverty and distress.

Little Lord Fauntleroy and Mary Anderson Booked for San Francisco.

The Little Lord Fauntleroy Co., which has been organized for California, will give but one engagement before opening in San Francisco at the Baldwin, and that will be at Fresno Opera House, Chicago, during the week beginning March 4th.

Marcus Mayer has just concluded arrangements for the transportation of Mary Anderson and her company from Boston to San Francisco direct, leaving Boston on April 8th and making a lightning trip to the Pacific Coast. The special train will consist of two Pullman and seven freight cars for the scenery. Miss Anderson will close her American tour in San Francisco and will produce The Cupbere during her

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Lydia Thompson made her appearance with her burlesque company at San Bernardino last night.

Louis James, the actor, will not accompany his wife, Marie Wainwright, on her European tour in the spring on account of his fear of seasickness.

Wilson Barrett has received an offer for four weeks in Paris during the coming Grand Exposition, on condition that the plays presented by him—supported by his regular London company—shall be Clito, The Silver King, and My Programme. It is rumored that Miss Sophie Eyre will be the Clito in the Paris production.

M. Audran, of Olivette fame, has completed the music of an opera bouffe called Les Nuitees de Claudia, said to be as nice as it is naughty, and as naughty as it is nice.

The Select Knights of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, consisting of five legions in this city, have engaged the Grand Opera House for a week, in the near future, and have arranged with Mr. Neil Warner to produce two strong melodramas to form the bill for the week's performances to be given for their mutual benefit, under the management of Manager Nanney. After which this excellent actor will play a season of melodrama and the legitimate at the Grand under Nannery's management.

The Golden Giant proved a wonderfully strong piece when played at the Alcazar in December, 1887. Then the cast included Frank Mordaunt in the title role, Harry Davenport as Le Moyne, Hobart Bosworth as Max Wayne, Geo. Trader, Helen Mason Osbourne and Miss Villiers. It has done big business at the Alcazar this week.

The Boston Quartet or Quintet Club—a small company of musicians that have been giving concerts in the interior towns—gave a concert at Metropolitan Temple Tuesday before a light audience. They give another concert to-night.

Joe Mount has got back from his Southern California advance trip, and is happy.

Dan McCullough, treasurer of the Baldwin, has been tendered a deserved complimentary benefit by Managers Al Hayman and Wm. T Carleton, to take place on Sunday evening, the 27th. The Carleton Opera Co. will make their last appearance on this occasion, and other attractions will supplement their performance. The beneficiary is universally popular, and we can bespeak him a rousing benefit.

It is settled that Mary Anderson will close her American tour in this city. She will play her engagement here in April under the management of Al Hayman at the Grand Opera House.

Miss Rosalie A. Booth, sister of Edwin Booth, the tragedian, died in New York last night at the age of 65. She has been an invalid for several years, a sufferer from paralysis.

George Osbourne is a moustachless hero this week as Jack Mason at the Alcazar.

Monday night, Jan. 7th, Louis James and Miss Marie Wainwright began an engagement at the Star Theatre, N. Y., appearing in As You Like It, in which Miss Wainwright made her debut before a New York audience as Rosalind, assisted by Mr. James as Orlando. Miss Wainwright's impersonation of Rosalind was a success in every way.

Sweet Lavender is another in the series of successes at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, where that superb play will run all of the season. It will reach its 100th performance Feb. 4th. Next season Belasco & De Mille's new comedy, The Charity Ball, will be produced at the Lyceum.

Miss Annie Pixley reappears in New York Feb. 4th, at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, when she will produce for the first time here her new comedy, by Geo. Jessop, called Room 22. Miss Pixley will be followed by Maggie Mitchell in her new comedy entitled Ray.

Wilson Barrett opens his American tour Oct. 7th, at the Boston Theatre, appearing in Ben My Chree. On Oct. 14th Mr. Barrett begins an engagement in New York, at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, during which he will be seen in Good Old Times, Ben My Chree, Claudian, Chatterton, The Color Sergeant and Hamlet.

Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett begin their next tour together early in the Autumn opening the new Amphitheatre Auditorium in Louisville, where they give seven performances, and for which Captain Norton, the manager, will play the tragedian $20,000, the largest sum of money ever guaranteed any combination of theatrical stars.

The new professional association called "The Bustle Scorners" is said to include among its members Mrs Langtry, who is godmother of a special brand; Georgia Cayvan, Mrs. Potter, Annie Russell, Maud Harrison Ada Rehan, Louise Dillon, Adele Belgarde, Lillian Russell, Clara Louise Kellogg, Viola Allen and a number of lesser stage lights of the gentler sex.

"The Adventures of a Love Letter," playing at the Standard, is a bright, witty comedy, well acted by Jeffreys Lewis and company, and a very enjoyable performance.

Very handsome settings are given to Jeffreys-Lewis' pieces at the Standard Theatre. Rich modern furniture adorns the parlor scenes and everything is in character. In "The Adventures of a Love Letter," this week the stage in the last act is filled with plants and flowers and to the eye is converted into a genuine conservatory.

Mrs. Langtry is writing her life. It should be a spicy book.

Shenandoah, Bronson Howard's new play, will be the first of the important productions in New York next season.

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt has temporarily closed the Bush Street Theatre, torn out the old auditorium, and is converting the Bush into a new theatre. New boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third-tier gallery, and new decorations and appointments will be the order of improvement in the New Bush Street Theatre at the cost of $20,000.

The stage and parquet floor will be lowered. The front of the stage will be rimmed out in a semi-circle form more into the auditorium and its proscenium arch will be raised, giving it greater depth and elevation. There will be eight proscenium boxes, handsomely appointed. Lincrustawalton will form the staff of the decorations.

The plans of the New Bush Street Theatre show that it will be an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated, and absolutely safe.

The electric light supplies the place of daylight and gangs of artisans will be kept at work day and night until the theatre is finished.

The New Bush will open on Saturday, January 26th, with Lydia Thompson's English Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, in Columbus, a new burlesque by George Dance and Archibald Gordon. "Columbus" is pronounced a happy success. It is "one of the best burlesques ever seen in this country." "Its music is charming, the libretto fairly witty, and the principal members of the company are very happy in their roles." "Columbus" comes to us with plenty of good endorsements.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company are in their third week here in their light and entertaining operas, so acceptably sung and so handsomely staged and costumed.

This evening and Saturday matinee, Nanon; a most tuneful and pleasing opera, in which Carleton has made himself famous by his perfect renderings of its principal song: St Ann's Day, and his unrivaled impersonation of Marquis D'Aubique, his original creation in this country.

The cast can be found in the Baldwin's programme space in our columns.

Mikado, the Carleton Mikado, humorous, quaint and thoroughly enjoyable; an admirable performance as given last evening, and acknowledged the best on the boards, will be the bill for Saturday night.

Next week, for the fourth and last week of the Carleton Opera Company, the fine opera of Erminie will be given for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and for Saturday matinee.

Mynheer Jan will be reproduced on Thursday evening, by request.

Seats now on sale.

Alcazar Theatre

The Golden Giant, an interesting and eventful drama, forms this week's bill. The play is one of standard popularity, and has a good production and a strong cast. George Osbourne played Jack Mason, a manly honorable fellow, although a gambler by profession, and made a great hit in it when the play was first produced here, and repeats the same success again. James Carden plays Fairfax in a masterly manner and gives a fine portrayal of the rough, generous miner; Miss Brandon sustains the suffering Ethel Wayne to great advantage; Miss Hattie Moore is excellent as Bessie, and Miss Fanny Young in her double role is also very good.

Miss Kate Mayhew, a talented actress, not unknown to Californians, appears here next week as Fanchon, the Cricket.

Grand Opera House.

Imre Kiralfy's Black Crook, the Black Crook of stage fame, produced with all its rich appointments, a strong cast, gorgeous scenery, grand ballets and spectacular effects, is the attraction at the Grand.

The prominent scenes of the play are the Devil's Glen, the Golden Terrace, Zamiel's Illuminated Palace and the rich Transformation Scene. All the scenes are beautiful works of stage part. The Illuminated Palace, with its glow of chandeliers, is strikingly so.

The grand ballet appear in Imre Kiralfy's Operatic Ballet, introducing ten character ballets, dancing to the airs of as many different popular operas, its first production on any stage, and in other changes of ballets. Of the Operatic Ballets, the Policeman's Dance from the pirates of Penzance, and the Mikado Dance, are the most artistic. The way the little children do the Royal Dragoons' dance to the music of Patience sets the house in a roar. They are irresistibly funny.

Besides, there are the Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes, in their new daring leap from the highest trapeze bar, turning a somersault, to the net below, a distance of fifty feet; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Brothers, eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is playing a successful season at the Standard.

"The Adventures of a Love-Letter," a charming comedy, full of wit and repartee, and very amusing in plot, is this week's bill.

Jeffreys-Lewis gives a peculiar subtlety under the guise of open frankness to the part of M'lle Suzanne that individualizes it as a creation of her own. She makes the character magnetic by the force of her own mentality. Harry Mainhall is excellent as the worldly Prosper Couramont, as is Wallace as the zealous naturalist, Brisemouche. Frank Peters as the Baron De La Glacier, W. L. Roberts as his bashful ward, and Walter Von Rosen as a servant do good work. The whole performance is one that can be commended for its smoothness and efficiency.

The attendance is good and the week's business promises to be a success, artistically and financially.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

The strong play of Claire, the Forgemaster, produced next week, will give our theatre-goers an opportunity to mentally compare Jeffreys-Lewis' impersonation of the heroine with that recently presented to us by Jane Hading at the Baldwin.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Orpheum continues its specialty entertainment this week, with Moore's European and American stars.

Miss Tillie Morrissey, a very fine soprano vocalist, a strong addition to the company; George H. Wood, the favorite comedian, and Quigley's Troupe of Famous Leapers, are the new faces this week.

The three Romalos Brothers, gymnasts, do a fine combination act, and Olivette does a neat act on the swinging wire. Ashley & Hess come on in a funny skating act. Miss Adele Purvis revolves on the revolving globe, gracefully juggling with knives and firebrands, and the Mirand Sisters do a remarkable aerial act.

A constellation of specialty talent, known as Pavenelli's All-Star Specialty Company, will scintillate on the Orpheum's board next week in a diversified round of new specialties.

The whole performance is novel and varied, and several of the acts have dash and daring in them, and the whole goes with a snap and vim that is very enjoyable.

Matinee Sunday.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

"Cast Upon the World," a strong five-act play of adventure and dramatic experiences, will hold the stage of this popular East-side theatre this week, with Darrell Vinton as the exponent of heroism in the part of Nat Garvin, an adventurer of the manly sort. Mr. Vinton brings out the good nature and improvident elements of the character with artistic skill, and carries the house with him as the hero of many adventures. Mr. Dale gives us a good eccentric characterization as Scanty Murray, and the drama generally is well sustained.

Miss Essie Tittel, Margaret Marshall, Lottie Beaumont and Jessie Norton, all have important parts, which add largely to the interest of the piece.

Next week, the California play of '49.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold, and his troupe of French Blondes, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their burlesque of "Prince Dandini," produced with all the burlesque accessories of music, mirth and fun, with a grand Amazon march by a stage full of beauties. They have scored a seven weeks' success.

Miss Minnie Pierce, the great flying trapeze artiste, is the only new face this week.

Doyle & Leclair, Irish sketch team; the Lawrences, song and dance artists; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Burnell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Buckingham Theatre.

This new theatre, 1342-1344 Market street, opposite Seventh street, is under the management of Sam Lewis, an experienced manager and a popular man. He has a well selected and good working company, and stage manager Frank Monroe gets up a good bill of attractions.

The company consists of Billy White, Frank Monroe, John Mortell, Eddie Dwyer, Eddie Buckley, Blanch Leslie, Nellie Lewis, Maggie Gordon, Marie Morina, Miss Wellington (the contortionist) and others.

John Mortell opens the bill with his comedy of Out of Work, and Billy White wakes up fun in his version of Pompey's Troubles, with a portion of the company in the cast, for the afterpiece.

For olio features, in which the ladies of the company contribute as fine vocalisms as can be heard anywhere, see programme.

The house is in perfect order, everything fine and bright as a new pin.

Fletcher & Esner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Esner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The features in the museum combine a great amount of curiosities, including a museum of wax figures, the Circassian Beauty, and Little Dot, the smallest woman in the world, 22 inches in statue.

The theatre presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

The French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wiley Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, will be this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

Miss Effie Hall, descriptive vocalist, and Miss Carrie Delmar, the talented singer, have been added to the bill.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Blanch Leslie, and others, form the female staff of the company.

Original Theatre Comique

John Miller, comedian, and McPherson, the favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

A Hurricane of Humor opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio and the comedy, A Live Subject, more olio features, then the farce, A Bureau Drawer, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

An entire change of programme this week.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact m or theatre, and for many

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Maggie Bursell, Doyle & Le Clair and the Lawrences put in new appearances to-night at the booming Buckingham, the new theatre on Market street.

Clinton's Theatre Royal, Portland, Jan. 14th: Starrin & Rickling, Shannon & Mack, Miss Ida Carew, Crimmins & Gore, Frankie Overton, Williams & Brannan, Jessie Cogill, Fairfield & King, Billy Gilbert, Hastings Sisters, Bertie Robinson and the old soldier, Ned Nestell. The Old Toll Gate is the comedy for the week.

Miss Julia Bennett is in receipt of a letter notifying her of the death of a grandmother in Philadelphia, who has left her considerable property. Miss Bennett has the warmest congratulations of her many friends.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs. Fletcher & Eisner have purchased it, and will make some radical changes in its management. It is contemplated turning it into a dramatic house next month.

Prof. Samwells and his company of performing dogs, trained ponies and goats has had an extended trip throughout the Northwest, and is now showing in the Shasta, Weaverville and Northern California circuit, coming Southward.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

Little Lord Fauntleroy and Mary Anderson Booked for San Francisco.

The Little Lord Fauntleroy Co., which has been organized for California, will play but one engagement before opening in San Francisco at the Baldwin, and that will be at Ford's Opera House, Chicago, during the week beginning March 4th.

Marcus Mayer has just concluded arrangements for the transportation of Mary Anderson and her company from Boston to San Francisco direct, leaving Boston on April 8th and making a lightning trip to the Pacific Coast. The special train will consist of two Pullmans and seven freight cars for the scenery. Miss Anderson will close her American tour in San Francisco and will produce The Cupboard during her season.

Editor (severely)—Why, young man, this poem is the worst kind of plagiarism. There's no thing new or original in it. Young man (musing)—Well, why not let it go in with quotation marks around it, and take it half price?

Wife (at hotel)—Where have you been going in that room, John? Husband (confusedly)—Oh—er—over there gentlemen called to see me on business and they were shown in there. That's the answer, my dear.

"I can not look back over the path I have trodden without a measure of pain," said the man with cheeks to resemble Modjeska, after walking out of the Mechanics' Pavilion.

The young woman who cannot sing the latest songs would look for a young man who cannot tell the old jokes and marry him. It might be tough on them, but it would do the general public good.

Albert Niemann, the German tenor, has had an autograph request refused upon a life photograph from the Berlin Imperial Opera. He will sail for this city at an early day to assist Mr. Stanton's operatic forces.

"My husband ran behind his ticket," said the wife of one of the victorious candidates recently, "or it would n't have been elected. She was the only man strong enough to push it alone, I guess."

Tommy—I wouldn't want to be the president's boy. Aunt—Why? Tommy—Oh he gets hundreds and hundreds of slippers. They are scattered all over the house.

Patti Rosa and her American comedy company had a big "boxing" night house at Children's Theatre, London.

In Reading, Pa., the municipal authorities have removed all billboards from the telegraph poles and trees.

Edwin F. Thorne's Right Man combination was recently disbanded at Worcester, Mass., on account of poor business.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The Musin Concert Co. will open in San Francisco March 31st. They will remain with us three weeks.

Sara Bernhardt will shortly produce a new play, entitled Officer Bleu.

A Brass Monkey is wandering around the country, and Hoyt & Thomas are disconsolate because they could not keep him in the Bijou, N. Y., for the balance of the season.

Manager Tompkins is not particularly in favor of Mrs. Langtry playing Macbeth for five weeks at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, N. Y., but she says she will, and that's the end on't

A dispatch from Munich states that the bodies of Mme. Di Murska (the Hungarian prima donna) and her daughter will be sent to Gotha to be cremated.

Imre Kiralfy has arranged to produce his spectacular pantomimes of Mazulm and Excelsior in the City of Mexico late in the present season. A guarantee fund has been subscribed in that city sufficiently large to insure him a handsome profit. Signor Copini, Mr. Kiralfy's ballet master, is now on his way to this country with 32 coryphees and 16 male dancers, who are to appear in Mazulm and Excelsior.

As a rule, girls who fill their tights better than their parts, have better parts than those who fill their parts better than their tights.

Lydia Thompson made her appearance with her burlesque company at San Bernardino Thursday night.

Louis James, the actor, will not accompany his wife, Marie Wainwright, on her European tour in the spring on account of his fear of seasickness.

Wilson Barrett has received an offer for four weeks in Paris during the coming Grand Exposition, on condition that the plays presented by him—supported by his regular London company—shall be Clito, The Silver King, and My Programme. It is rumored that Miss Sophie Eyre will be the Clito in the Paris production.

M. Audran, of Olivette fame, has completed the music of an opera bouffe called Les Nuitees de Claudia, said to be as nice as it is naughty, and as naughty as it is nice.

The Select Knights of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, consisting of five legions in this city, have engaged the Grand Opera House for a week, in the near future, and have arranged with Mr. Neil Warner to produce two strong melodramas to form the bill for the week's performances to be given for their mutual benefit, under the management of Manager Nanney. After which this excellent actor will play a season of melodrama and the legitimate at the Grand under Nannery's management.

Dan McCullough, treasurer of the Baldwin, has been tendered a deserved complimentary benefit by Managers Al Hayman and Wm. T Carleton, to take place on Sunday evening, the 27th. The Carleton Opera Co. will make their last appearance on this occasion, and other attractions will supplement their performance. The beneficiary is universally popular, and we can bespeak him a rousing benefit.

George Osbourne is a moustachless hero this week as Jack Mason at the Alcazar.

Sweet Lavender is another in the series of successes at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, where that superb play will run all of the season. It will reach its 100th performance Feb. 4th. Next season Belasco & De Mille's new comedy, The Charity Ball, will be produced at the Lyceum.

Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett begin their next tour together early in the Autumn opening the new Amphitheatre Auditorium in Louisville, where they give seven performances, and for which Captain Norton, the manager, will play the tragedian $20,000, the largest sum of money ever guaranteed any combination of theatrical stars.

The new professional association called "The Bustle Scorners" is said to include among its members Mrs Langtry, who is grandmother of a special brand; Georgia Cayvan, Mrs. Potter, Annie Russell, Maud Harrison Ada Rehan, Louise Dillon, Adele Belgarde, Lillian Russell, Clara Louise Kellogg, Viola Allen and a number of lesser stage lights of the gentler sex.

"The Adventures of a Love Letter," playing at the Standard, is a bright, witty comedy, well acted by Jeffreys-Lewis and company, and a very enjoyable performance.

Very handsome settings are given to Jeffreys-Lewis' pieces at the Standard Theatre. Rich modern furniture adorns the parlor scenes and everything is in character. In "The Adventures of a Love Letter," this week, the stage in the last act is filled with palms and flowers and to the eye is converted into a genuine conservatory.

Mrs. Langtry is writing her life. It should be a spicy book.

Shenandoah, Bronson Howard's new play, will be the first of the important productions in New York next season.

Miss Clara—So Mr. Featherly acted as your escort at the Vancouver affair last week I hear, Ethel Miss Ethel—Yes, Clara Did he say that he had a pleasant time? Miss Clara—Oh, yes. I heard him say that he had a much pleasanter time than he anticipated.

A Kansas City recently sold for $1000 a setter dog which he bought for $64 two yrs. ago. Luck just tumbles upon some men. Now if we had purchased that setter dog two years ago for $1000, we don't believe we could have sold him to-day for $94.

"Why did you call the photograph 'she'? asked the horse editor of the snake editor, "John, you've been smoking again. Your clothes are reeking with the odor." "Maria, you are mistaken, I rode home in a smoking car. Had to do that or stand up." (Next day) "John, you've been drinking again." "M'ria, 'pon my word I haven't I rode home in a—with a—(no, that won't do this time.) M'ria, you're (hic) thinking 'bout that other time I came home kind o' tired out, 'fore I swore off.'

Wealthy Physician—I supposed you wished me to look at your hand. I see it is all bound up. Unknown Caller—No-o, sir; I—I wished to see you about your daughter's hand. "Eh?" "We love each other, sir, and I hope" — "Great Galen! I don't know you. How did you hurt your hand, eh? Get hit with a beer bottle, or"—"I cut my hand yesterday while clipping coupons." "Oh! Bless you, my children."

Young man—Do you make any reduction for goods purchased in quantities? Jeweler (smiling)—Certainly. Young Man—

EVENING EDITION

SATURDAY.....JANUARY 19, 1889

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt has temporarily closed the Bush Street Theatre, torn out the old auditorium, and is converting the Bush into a new theatre. New boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third-tier gallery, and new decorations and appointments will be the order of improvement in the New Bush Street Theatre at the cost of $20,000.

The stage and parquet floor will be lowered. The front of the stage will be rimmed out in a semi-circle form more into the auditorium and its proscenium arch will be raised, giving it greater depth and elevation. There will be eight proscenium boxes, handsomely appointed. Lincrustawalton will form the staff of the decorations.

The plans of the New Bush Street Theatre show that it will be an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated, and absolutely safe.

The electric light supplies the place of daylight and gangs of artisans will be kept at work day and night until the theatre is finished.

The New Bush will open on Saturday, January 26th, with Lydia Thompson's English Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, in Columbus, a new burlesque by George Dance and Archibald Gordon. "Columbus" is pronounced a happy success. It is "one of the best burlesques ever seen in this country." "Its music is charming, the libretto fairly witty, and the principal members of the company are very happy in their roles." "Columbus" comes to us with plenty of good endorsements.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company are in their third week here in their light and entertaining operas, so acceptably sung and so handsomely staged and costumed.

Nanon was given in fine form last night.

Mikado, the Carleton Mikado, humorous, quaint and thoroughly enjoyable; an admirable performance as given on Thursday, and acknowledged the best on the boards, will be the bill for Saturday night.

The cast can be found in the Baldwin's programme space in our columns.

Next week, for the fourth and last week of the Carleton Opera Company, the fine opera of Erminie will be given for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and for Saturday matinee.

Mynheer Jan will be reproduced on Thursday evening, by request.

Seats now on sale.

Alcazar Theatre.

The Golden Giant, an interesting and eventful drama, formed this week's bill. The play is one of standard popularity, and has a good production and a strong cast. George Osbourne played Jack Mason, a manly honorable fellow, although a gambler by profession, and made a great hit in it when the play was first produced here, and repeats the same success again. James Carden plays Fairfax in a masterly manner and gives a fine portrayal of the rough, generous miner; Miss Brandon sustains the suffering Ethel Wayne to great advantage; Miss Hattie Moore is excellent as Bessie, and Miss Fanny Young in her double role is also very good.

Miss Kate Mayhew, a talented actress, not unknown to Californians, appears here next week as Fanchon, the Cricket.

Grand Opera House.

Imre Kiralfy's Black Crook, the Black Crook of stage fame, produced with all its rich appointments, a strong cast, gorgeous scenery, grand ballets and spectacular effects, is the attraction at the Grand.

The prominent scenes of the play are the Devil's Glen, the Golden Terrace, Zamiel's Illuminated Palace and the rich Transformation Scene. All the scenes are beautiful works of stage art. The Illuminated Palace, with its glow of chandeliers, is strikingly so.

The grand ballet appear in Imre Kiralfy's Operatic Ballet, introducing ten character ballets, dancing to the airs of as many different popular operas, its first production on any stage, and in other changes of ballets. Of the Operatic Ballets, the Policeman's Dance from the Pirates of Penzance and the Mikado Dance, are the most artistic. The way the little children do the Royal Dragoons' dance to the music of Patience sets the house in a roar. They are irresistibly funny.

Besides these are the Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes, in their new daring leap from the highest trapeze bar, turning a somersault, to the net below, a distance of fifty feet; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Brothers, eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is playing a successful season at the Standard.

"The Adventures of a Love-Letter," a charming comedy, full of wit and repartee, and very [illegible] last week's bill.

Jeffreys-Lewis gives a peculiar subtlety under the guise of open frankness to the part of M'lle Suzanne that individualizes it as a creation of her own. She makes the character magnetic by the force of her own mentality. The company render very efficient support, and the whole performance is one that can be commended for its smoothness and efficiency.

The attendance is good and the week's business will foot up a success, artistically and financially.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

The strong play, Claire and the Forgemaster, produced next week, will give our theatre-goers an opportunity to mentally compare Jeffreys-Lewis' impersonation of the heroine with that recently presented to us by Jane Hading at the Baldwin.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Orpheum continued its specialty entertainment this week, with Moore's European and American stars.

Miss Tillie Morrissey, a very fine soprano vocalist, a strong addition to the company; George H. Wood, the favorite comedian, and Quigley's Troupe of Famous Leapers, are the new faces this week.

Saturday and Sunday, last nights of the Romaloe Bros., Clivette, Ashley & Hess, Miss Adele Purvis and the Miranda Sisters.

A constellation of specialty talent, known as Pavenelli's All-Star Specialty Company, will scintillate on the Orpheum's board next week in a diversified round of new specialties.

The company is composed of Pavenelli's Musical Pavers, a very novel musical act; Walter Le Roy, a jaunty Irish comedian; the Bros. Leondor, acrobats; the Seaberts, tumblers; the Morton Quartette, vocalists and dancers, and Miss Flo Clayton, vocal soubrette. John Morrissey, comedian, also puts in his first appearance.

Matinee Sunday.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

"Cast Upon the World," a strong five-act play of adventure and dramatic experiences, has held the stage of this popular East-side theatre this week, with Darrell Vinton as the exponent of heroism in the part of Nat Garvin, an adventurer of the manly sort. Mr. Vinton brings out the good nature and improvident elements of the character with artistic skill, and carries the house with him as the hero of many adventures. Mr. Dale gives us a good eccentric characterization as Scanty Murray, and the drama generally is well sustained.

Miss Essie Tittel, Margaret Marshall, Lottie Beaumont and Jessie Norton, all have important parts, which add largely to the interest of the piece.

Next week, first time here of the picturesque American drama of "The Forty-Niners," with Darrell Vinton in four different characters.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold, and his troupe of French Blondes, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their burlesque of "Prince Dandini," produced with all the burlesque accessories of music, mirth and fun, with a grand Amazon march by a stage full of beauties. They have scored a seven weeks' success.

Miss Minnie Pierce, the great flying trapeze artiste, is the only new face this week.

Doyle & Leclair, Irish sketch team; the Lawrences, song and dance artists; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Buckingham Theatre.

Maggie Bursell, one of the most popular of our female specialists; Doyle & Le Clair, the Irish comedians; the Lawrences, refined sketch artists, and Gardner & Bernard, German comedians, put in appearances at this new theatre, 1342-1344 Market street, opposite Seventh.

The Buckingham will be boomed into success. It has a well selected and good working company, and stage manager Frank Monroe gets up a good bill of attractions.

In the regular company are Messrs. Billy White, Frank Monroe, Eddie Dwyer, Eddie Buckley, Blanch Leslie, Nellie Lewis, Maggie Gordon, Marie Morina, Miss Wellington (the contortionist) and others.

A laughable comedy sketch opens the programme, and Billy White wakes up fun in his version of Pompey's Troubles, with a portion of the company in the cast, for the afterpiece.

For olio features, in which the ladies of the company contribute as fine vocalisms as can be heard anywhere, see programme.

The house is in perfect order, everything fine and bright as a new pin.

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The features in the museum combine a great amount of curiosities in its two large museum halls, which are partially specified in the programme space adjacent. Look at it.

The theatre presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

"Sailor Brown," the Eastern boxer, in a glove contest with Paddy Gorman every night and the French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

Miss Effie Hull, descriptive vocalist, and Miss Carrie Delmar, the talented singer, have been added to the bill.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Blanch Leslie, and others, form the female staff of the company.

Original Theatre Comique

John Miller, comedian, and McPherson, the favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

A Hurricane of Humor opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio and the comedy, A Live Subject, more olio features, then the farce, A Bureau Drawer, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

An entire change of programme this week.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact m or theatre, and for many

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

The Buckingham collapsed to-day. Business has not been good; and though the people engaged were assured by the manager that their salaries would be forthcoming when due, the ghost did not walk, and the company dispersed in various moods. One thespian inclined specialist cried, "Off with his head!" Another replied, "So much for Buckingham." Manager Lewis has been unfortunate in his venture. He rose from a severe attack of pneumonia to open the house, and was taken with a relapse on Friday night. He lies unable to speak, and very dangerously ill. There was no one there to represent him, and everything went by default.

Clinton's Theatre Royal, Portland, Jan. 14th: Starrin & Rickling, Shannon & Main, Miss Ida Carew, Crimmins & Gore, Frankie Overton, Williams & Brannan, Jessie Cogill, Fairfield & King, Billy Gilbert, Hastens Sisters, Birdie Robinson and the old soldier, Ned Nestell. The Old Toll Gate is the comedy for the week.

Miss Julia Bennett is in receipt of a letter notifying her of the death of a grandmother in Philadelphia, who has left her considerable property. Miss Bennett has the warmest congratulations of her many friends.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs. Fletcher & Essner have purchased it, and will make some radical changes in its management. It is contemplated turning it into a dramatic house next month.

Prof. Samwells and his company of performing dogs, trained ponies and goats has had an extended trip throughout the Northwest, and is now showing in the Shasta, Weaverville and Northern California circuit, coming Southward.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

Little Lord Fauntleroy and Mary Anderson Booked for San Francisco.

The Little Lord Fauntleroy Co., which has been organized for California, will play but one engagement before opening in San Francisco at the Baldwin, and that will be at Ford's Opera House, Chicago, during the week beginning March 4th.

Marcus Mayer has just concluded arrangements for the transportation of Mary Anderson and her company from Boston to San Francisco direct, leaving Boston on April 8th and making a lightning trip to the Pacific Coast. The special train will consist of two Pullman and seven freight cars for the scenery. Miss Anderson will close her American tour in San Francisco and will produce The Cup here during her season.

Editor (severely)—Why, young man, this poem is the worst kind of plagiarism. There's nothing new or original in it. Young man (timidly)—Well, why not let it go in with quotation marks around it, and take it half price?

Wife (at hotel)—What have you been doing in that room, John? Husband (confusedly)—Oh—er—two or three gentlemen called to see me on business and they were shown in there. That's the ante-room, my dear.

"I can not look back over the path I have trodden without a record of pain," said the man with corns, to revivalist Moody, after walking out of the Mechanics' Pavilion.

The young woman who cannot sing the old songs should look for a young man who cannot tell the old jokes and marry him. It might be tough on them, but it would do the general public good.

Albert Neimann, the German tenor, has at his own request been retired upon a life pension from the Berlin Imperial Opera. He will sail for this city at an early day to join Mr. Stanton's operatic forces.

Tommy—I wouldn't want to be the preacher's little boy. Aunt—Why? Tommy—Oh he's got hundreds and hundreds of slippers. They are scattered all over the house.

Patti Rosa and her American comedy company had a big "boxing" night house at Joddrell's Theatre, London.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The Musin Concert Co. will open in San Francisco March 31st. They will remain with us three weeks.

Sara Bernhardt will shortly produce a new play, entitled Officer Bleu.

A Brass Monkey is wandering around the country, and Hoyt & Thomas are disconsolate because they could not keep him in the Bijou, N. Y., for the balance of the season.

Manager Tompkins is not particularly in favor of Mrs. Langtry playing Macbeth for five weeks at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, N. Y., but she says she will, and that's the end on't.

A dispatch from Munich states that the bodies of Mme. Di Murska (the Hungarian prima donna) and her daughter will be sent to Gotha to be cremated.

Imre Kiralfy has arranged to produce his spectacular pantomimes of Mazulm and Excelsior in the City of Mexico late in the present season. A guarantee fund has been subscribed in that city sufficiently large to insure him a handsome profit. Signor Copini, Mr. Kiralfy's ballet master, is now on his way to this country with 32 coryphees and 16 male dancers, who are to appear in Mazulm and Excelsior.

As a rule, girls who fill their tights better than their parts, have better parts than those who fill their parts better than their tights.

Lydia Thompson made her appearance with her burlesque company at San Bernardino Thursday night.

Louis James, the actor, will not accompany his wife, Marie Wainwright, on her European tour in the spring on account of his fear of seasickness.

Wilson Barrett has received an offer for four weeks in Paris during the coming Grand Exposition, on condition that the plays presented by him—supported by his regular London company—shall be Clito, The Silver King, and My Programme. It is rumored that Miss Sophie Eyre will be the Clito in the Paris production.

M. Audran, of Olivette fame, has completed the music of an opera bouffe called Les Nuitees de Claudia, said to be as nice as it is naughty, and as naughty as it is nice.

The Select Knights of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, consisting of five legions in this city, have engaged the Grand Opera House for a week, in the near future, and have arranged with Mr. Neil Warner to produce two strong melodramas to form the bill for the week's performances to be given for their mutual benefit, under the management of Manager Nanney. After which this excellent actor will play a season of melodrama and the legitimate at the Grand under Nannery's management.

Dan McCullough, treasurer of the Baldwin, has been tendered a deserved complimentary benefit by Managers Al Hayman and Carleton, to take place Sunday evening at the Baldwin Theatre. The Carleton Opera Co. will make their last appearance on this occasion, and other attractions will supplement their performance. The beneficiary is universally popular, and we can bespeak him a rousing benefit.

Sweet Lavender is another in the series of successes at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, where that superb play will run all of the season. It will reach its 100th performance Feb. 4th. Next season Belasco & DeMille's new comedy, The Charity Ball, will be produced at the Lyceum.

Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett begin their next tour together early in the Autumn opening the new Amphitheatre Auditorium in Louisville, where they give seven performances, and for which Captain Norton, the manager, will play the tragedian $20,000, the largest sum of money ever guaranteed any combination of theatrical stars.

The new professional association called "The Bustle Scorners" is said to include among its members Mrs Langtry, who is godmother of a special braud; Georgia Cayvan, Mrs. Potter, Annie Russell, Maud Harrison, Ada Rehan, Louise Dillon, Adele Belgarde, Lillian Russell, Clara Louise Kellogg, Viola Allen and a number of lesser stage lights of the gentler sex.

Sardou's LaTosca has been forbidden in Berlin, so that neither Sarah Bernhardt nor Fanny Davenport are likely to visit the German capital.

Very handsome settings are given to Jeffreys-Lewis' pieces at the Standard Theatre. Rich modern furniture adorns the parlor scenes and everything is in character.

Shenandoah, Bronson Howard's new play, will be the first of the important productions in New York next season.

"John, you've been smoking again. Your clothes are reeking with the odor." "Maria, you are mistaken, I rode home in a smoking car. Had to do that or stand up." (Next day) "John, you've been drinking again." "M'ria, 'pon my word I haven't I rode home in a—with a—(no, that won't do this time.) M'ria, you're (hic) thinking 'bout that other time I came home kind o' tired out, 'fore I swore off.'

Miss Clara—So Mr. Featherly acted as your escort at the Vancouver affair last week I hear, Ethel. Miss Ethel—Yes, Clara. Did he say that he had a pleasant time? Miss Clara—Oh, yes. I heard him say that he had a much pleasanter time than he anticipated.

A Kansas City recently sold for $1000 a setter dog which he bought for $64 two yrs. ago. Luck just tumbles upon some men. Now if we had purchased that setter dog two years ago for $1000, we don't believe we could have sold him to-day for $94.

"Why did you call the phonograph 'she'? asked the horse editor of the snake editor, who had used the feminine pronoun in speak-

J. R. C. Queries—In case Mr. Harrison should die before the 4th of March, who would become President? Suppose Mr. Morton shou'd die? Suppose they should both die?

We decline to suppose any one of three suppositions. Suppose you go home and die?

Young man—Do you make any reduction for goods purchased in quantities? Jeweler (smiling)—Certainly. Young Man—Then give me a dozen of your cheapest engagement rings. I am going to live in Salt Lake City, and feel that it is necessary to economize.

These are the mornings when the small boy; who shrieks if his face is washed in cold water, feels only a thrill of delight as his blue fingers scrape up the scarcely seen frost to swallow it down with delight. Truly the will is the real creator of conditions.

Patrolman Gilligan—Shure Mc Gurk has th' best post in the precinct. Patrolman Mackintosh (lately appointed)—An' phat's that? Gilligan—Phy, th' wan wud de ateen apple-stands an' two blocks full av purty servant girls.

Mine eyes have seen the gobbler lose his cranium in the dark, a prehistoric turkey that came over in the ark, the boarders break their molars as they chew the patriarch, but their bills go marching on.

EVENING EDITION

MONDAY.....JANUARY 21, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt announces that the New Bush Street Theatre will be opened Saturday night.

Box sheet opened at the theatre on Thursday at 9 A. M.

The new scale of prices are: Orchestra and dress circle seats, reserved, $1; balcony, reserved, 75 cents (admission, 50 cents); new gallery, 25 cents.

The opening attraction is Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, in Columbus, a new burlesque by Geo. Dance.

"Columbus" is a pronounced and happy success. It is "one of the best burlesques ever seen in this country." "Its music is charming, the libretto fairly witty, and the principal members of the company are very happy in their roles." "Columbus" comes to us with plenty of such endorsements.

The New Bush Street Theatre has new boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third tier gallery, new drop-curtain, new scenery, new proscenium and new decorations and appointments everywhere, provided at the cost of $30,000.

The stage and parquet floor have been lowered. The front of the stage is rimmed out in a semi-circle form more into the auditorium, and its proscenium arch is raised, giving it greater depth and elevation. There are eight proscenium boxes, handsomely appointed. Linerusta-Walton forms the staff of the decorations.

The New Bush Street Theatre will not only be an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated, and absolutely safe, but will also be a notably commodious and comfortable theatre.

The electric light supplies the place of daylight at night, and gangs of artisans are still at work day and night finishing up their labors.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company are in their last week here in their light and entertaining operas, so acceptably sung and so handsomely staged and costumed.

This week, for the fourth and last week of the Carleton Opera Company, the fine opera of Erminie will be given for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and for Saturday matinee.

The cast can be found in the Baldwin's programme space in our columns.

Mynheer Jan will be reproduced for Thursday and Friday evenings, by request.

Nanon will be given for Saturday night.

Treasurer McCullough's complimentary benefit, tendered jointly by Managers Hayman and Carleton, comes off on Sunday night. Get your seats early.

Modjeska commences her season next week in a strong production of Cymbeline.

Box sheet open on Thursday.

Alcazar Theatre.

Miss Kate Mayhew, a talented actress, not unknown to Californians, appears here this week as Fanchon, the Cricket. Some years ago Miss Mayhew proved her artistic right to personate the capricious but good-hearted Cricket, but she was obliged to retire from the stage on account of ill-health. The support is strong.

Grand Opera House.

Imre Kiralfy's Black Crook, the Black Crook of stage fame, produced with all its rich appointments, a strong cast, gorgeous scenery, grand ballets and spectacular effects, is in its last week at the Grand.

Saturday night the last performance of Black Crook will be given.

The prominent scenes of the play are the Devil's Glen, the Golden Terrace, Zamiel's Illuminated Palace and the rich Transformation Scene. All the scenes are beautiful works of stage art. The Illuminated Palace, with its glow of chandeliers, is strikingly so.

The grand ballet appear in Imre Kiralfy's operatic Ballet, introducing ten character ballets, dancing to the airs of as many different popular operas, its first production on any stage, and in other changes of ballets. Of the operatic Ballets, the Policeman's Dance from the Pirates of Penzance, and the Mikado Dance, are the most artistic. The way the little children do the Royal Dragoons' dance to the music to the net below, a distance of fifty feet; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Brothers, eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

Besides, there are the Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes, in their new daring leap from the highest trapeze bar, turning a somersault,

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is playing a successful season at the Standard.

The strong play, Claire and the Forgemaster, produced this week, will give our theatre-goers an opportunity to mentally compare Jeffreys-Lewis' impersonation of the heroine with that recently presented to us by Jane Hading at the Baldwin.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Orpheum Opera House.

A constellation of specialty talent, known as Pavenelli's All-Star Specialty Company, will scintillate on the Orpheum's board this week in a diversified round of new specialties.

The company is composed of Pavenelli's Musical Pavers, a very novel musical act; Walter Le Roy, a jaunty Irish comedian; the Bros. Leondor, acrobats; the Seaberts, tumblers; the Morton Quartette, vocalists and dancers, and Miss Flo Clayton, vocal soubrette. John Morrissey, comedian, also puts in his first appearance.

Miss Tillie Morrissey, a very fine soprano vocalist, a strong addition to the company; George H. Wood, the favorite comedian, and Quigley's Troupe of Famous Leapers, continue this week.

Matinee Sunday.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week, first time here of the picturesque American drama of "The Forty-Niners," with Darrell Vinton in four different characters. The scenes of the play are in the Sierras and in the mining camps, and the play is full of stirring incidents and startling tableaux.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of Female Mastodons, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their original and first production of the French Masquerade Ball at Woodward's Gardens, with a new version of the Can-Can.

Miss Susie Wild, vocalist; Ned Barry and the Whalens are the new faces this week.

Minnie Pierce, trapeze artist; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The theatre presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

"Sailor Brown," the Eastern boxer, in a give contest with Paddy Gorman every night and the French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabille, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

Leo & Mason, acrobats, and Miss Rita Gardner, vocalists, are the new faces this week.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Effie Hull, and others, form the female staff of the company.

Original Theatre Comique.

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Belle Manning, Blanche Leslie, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Marie Morina and Miss Blanche Leslie are the new faces this week.

John Miller, comedian, and McPherson, the favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

A Fusilade of Fun opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio and the comedy, Rival Tradesmen, more olio features,

An entire change of programme this week.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact m or theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are seven lady vocalists this week.

Capt. Martin and Prof. H. Melville, in a grand fencing contest for twenty points, continue the new attraction for this week.

Lillie Mason, Alice Mansfield, Lulu Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Musical Fletcher, Bart Kennedy, Geo. O. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties and sensational acts.

A Fusilade of Fun opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio and the comedy, Rival Tradesmen, more olio features, closing with the laughable farce, Two Lunatics. Change of programme every Monday. Matinee Sunday. Admission 10 cents. Reserved seats 5 cents extra. Performances commence at 2 and 8 P. M. Open from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M. Secure your seats in advance. SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

The Clifford Sisters are playing an engagement at Perry Bros.' Club Theatre, Los Angeles. Booked by FIGARO Agency.

Ned Barry, the motto and descriptive vocalist and an old favorite, puts in an appearance at the Bella Union this week.

Alice Mansfield, one of our best vocalists and balladists, is playing a long engagement at the Eureka.

The telegram tells us that some dampbools in Live Oak City, Florida, thought they would have some fun by whipping the attaches of a small traveling circus that wended that way on the 18th. Result: Town Marshal Overstreet was shot and killed, a baby was trampled to death and several woman and children seriously injured in the stampede, one woman dying from the injuries she received. The Live Oakians are naturally incensed and threaten to lynch the circus men, who promise to make a bitter fight if they attempt it.

Standard Theatre, Seattle, Jan. 21st: Dervillo Family, Eugene Ward, Cardello & Vidella, Fitz & Devine, Lassard & Lucifer, Maud Clayton, Durell Twin Bros., Thos. Leo, Jessie Chapman, Annie Ryner, Ida Howell, Clara Stanley, Ida Chester, Dot Melville, Herne & Howard and the fine stock company.

Thos. Ryan and J. Lareen have purchased the Vienna Garden Theatre and will open it Saturday, Feb. 2nd, as a first-class family resort. The boxes lately put in will be removed and the house and garden put in complete order. The stage management will be under the direction of George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, who proved so efficient a manager at the Wigwam. We wish the new proprietors no end of good luck.

The Orpheum has a wonderful strong bill this week. The musical pavers are odd and taking, and create a lot of fun.

The Buckingham collapsed Monday. Business has not been good; and though the people engaged were assured by the manager that their salaries would be forthcoming when due, the ghost did not walk, and the company dispersed in various moods. One thespian inclined specialist cried, "Off with his head!" Another replied, "So much for Buckingham!" Manager Lewis has been unfortunate in his venture. He rose from a severe attack of pneumonia to open the house, and was taken with a relapse on Friday night. He lies unable to speak, and very dangerously ill. There was no one there to represent him, and everything went by default.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs. Fletcher & Essner have purchased it, and will make some radical changes in its management. It is contemplated turning it into a dramatic house next month.

Prof. Samwells and his company of performing dogs, trained ponies and goats has had an extended trip throughout the Northwest, and is now showing in the Shasta, Weaverville and Northern California circuit, coming Southward.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

Editor (severely)—Why, young man, this poem is the worst kind of plagiarism. There's nothing new or original in it. Young man (timidly)—Well, why not let it go in with quotation marks around it, and take it half price?

Wife (at hotel)—What have you been doing in that room, John? Husband (confusedly)—Oh—er—two or three gentlemen called to see me on business and they were shown in there. That's the ante room, my dear.

"I can not look back over the path I have trodden without a record of pain," said the man with corns, to revivalist Moody, after walking out of the Mechanics' Pavilion.

The young woman who cannot sing the old songs should look for a young man who can't tell the old jokes and marry him. It might be tough on them, but it would do the general public good.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Manager Leavitt announces that his New Bush Street Theatre will open with Lydia Thompson and her great burlesque company Saturday night. The opening piece is Columbus, a clever, witty and picturesque burlesque. See cast and synopsis in the programme advertisement. Seats on sale at the theatre on Thursday. For particulars regarding the new theatre see notice in amusement department on another page.

Harriet E. Coffin, the infatuated woman who has been following Kyrle Bellew, the actor, around the country, asserting that he has placed a spell on her and claiming his hand in marriage, was pronounced by the examining physicians in New York to be insane to a degree requiring that she be restrained of her liberty. She has recently become violent in her demand and has been restricted from the theatres. She got behind the scenes at Palmer's, where Bellew is playing, on the 18th, pistol in hand, and demanded Bellew as her lover. Her arrest and examination followed. The woman is a monomaniac.

The Kiralfy season at the Grand closes with Saturday night. The company leave for Los Angeles Sunday morning, opening there Monday for four nights. Thence jump to Denver for the week of Feb. 4th.

The new scale of prices at the New Bush Street Theatre will be: Dress circle and orchestra seats, $1, nothing extra to reserve; balcony 50 cents, reserved seats 75 cents; gallery (a new addition to the Bush) 25 cents.

Darrell Vinton tests his versatility this week, at Morosco's, by assuming four different characters very cleverly in his star role in the play of The Forty-Niners.

Matt. Barry, whisk-red like a Russian, comes to us again as advance representative of that bright actress, Katie Putnam, and her company, that open in Erma, the Elf, at the Alcazar on Monday. See cast in extra programme ad. elsewhere in FIGARO.

Another fine opera house has been destroyed by fire. This time it was the Grand Opera House at St. Paul. The fire was discovered at about 8 A. M. on Jan. 21st, and in about two hours it was a total wreck. The loss is estimated at about $200,000.

W. W. Falk, a former resident and business manager of Lydia Thompson's Burlesque Co., is in town, looking as well as ever.

The Musin Concert Co. will open in San Francisco March 31st. They will remain with us three weeks.

Sara Bernhardt will shortly produce a new play, entitled Officer Bleu.

A Brass Monkey is wandering around the country, and Hoyt & Thomas are disconsolate because they could not keep him in the Bijou, N. Y., for the balance of the season.

Manager Tompkins is not particularly in favor of Mrs. Langtry playing Macbeth for five weeks at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, N. Y., but she says she will, and that's the end on't.

As a rule, girls who fill their tights better than their parts, have better parts than those who fill their parts better than their tights.

Wilson Barrett has received an offer for four weeks in Paris during the coming Grand Exposition, on condition that the plays presented by him—supported by his regular London company—shall be Clito, The Silver King, and My Programme. It is rumored that Miss Sophie Eyre will be the Clito in the Paris production.

The Select Knights of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, consisting of five legions in this city, have engaged the Grand Opera House for a week, in the near future, and have arranged with Mr. Neil Warner to produce two strong melodramas to form the bill for the week's performances to be given for their mutual benefit, under the management of Manager Nanney. After which this excellent actor will play a season of melodrama and the legitimate at the Grand under Nannery's management.

Dan McCullough, treasurer of the Baldwin, has been tendered a deserved complimentary benefit by Managers Al Hayman and Carleton, to take place Sunday evening at the Baldwin Theatre. The Carleton Opera Co. will make their last appearance on this occasion, and other attractions will supplement their performance. The beneficiary is universally popular, and we can bespeak him a rousing benefit.

Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett begin their next tour together early in the Autumn opening the new Amphitheatre Auditorium in Louisville, where they give seven performances, and for which Captain Norton, the manager, will play the tragedies an $20,000, the largest sum of money ever guaranteed any combination of theatrical stars.

Very handsome settings are given to Jeffreys-Lewis' pieces at the Standard Theatre. Rich modern furniture adorns the parlor scenes and everything is in character.

Miss Clara—So Mr. Featherly acted as your escort at the Vancouver affair last week I hear, Ethel. Miss Ethel—Yes, Clara. Did he say that he had a pleasant time? Miss Clara—Oh, yes. I heard him say that he had a much pleasanter time than he anticipared.

"Why did you call the phonograph 'she'?" asked the horse editor of the snake editor, who had used the feminine pronoun in speaking of that invention. "For two reasons: First, it talks back; second, it always has the last word."

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are seven lady vocalists this week.

Capt. Martin and Prof. H. Melville, in a grand fencing contest for twenty points, continue the new attraction for this week.

Lillie Mason, Alice Mansfield, Lulu Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Musical Fletcher, Bart Kennedy, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. Take a hint and drop into the Eureka, one of the coziest houses in town. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

The funny act, Three of a Kind, forms the dramatic part of the entertainment, in the hands of McDonald, Fletcher, Dunham, Kennedy and Mamie Sanford.

EVENING EDITION

TUESDAY.....JANUARY 22, 1889

Notice to Stage Managers.

We cannot make changes in Programmes after 12:00 (2) P. M. All changes handed in after that hour will have to lay over until next day.

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt announces that the New Bush Street Theatre will be opened Saturday night.

Box sheet opened at the theatre on Thursday at 9 A. M.

The new scale of prices are: Orchestra and dress circle seats, reserved, $1; balcony, reserved, 75 cents (admission, 50 cents); new gallery, 25 cents.

The opening attraction is Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, in Columbus, a new burlesque by Geo. Dance.

The cast, which can be found in the programme on first page, calls for twenty-five burlesquers, headed by Miss Thompson as Columbus; and winding up with a native American reporter, who discovers and interviews Columbus as soon as he discovers America.

"Columbus" is a pronounced and happy success. It is "one of the best burlesques ever seen in this country." "Its music is charming, the libretto fairly witty, and the principal members of the company are very happy in their roles." "Columbus" comes to us with plenty of such endorsements.

The New Bush Street Theatre has new boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third tier gallery, new drop-curtain, new scenery, new proscenium and new decorations and appointments everywhere, provided at the cost of $40,000.

The stage and parquet floor have been lowered. The front of the stage is rimmed out in a semi-circle form more into the auditorium, and its proscenium arch is raised, giving it greater depth and elevation. There are eight proscenium boxes, handsomely appointed. Lincrusta-Walton forms the staff of the decorations.

The New Bush Street Theatre will not only be an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated, and absolutely safe, but will also be a notably commodious and comfortable theatre.

The electric light supplies the place of daylight at night, and gangs of artisans are still at work day and night finishing up their labors.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company are in their last week here in their light and entertaining operas, so acceptably sung and so handsomely staged and costumed.

This week, for the fourth and last week of the Carleton Opera Company, the fine opera of Erminie will be given for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and for Saturday matinee.

Mr. Carleton has one of his best opportunities as Ravennes, and together with Charles H. Drew as Cadeaux, creates no end of fun. Miss Clara Lane is charming as Javotte, and the Erminie of Miss Vincent leaves nothing to be desired. Mr. Jay C. Taylor sings in fine style, and the rest of the characters are in good hands.

Mynheer Jan will be reproduced for Thursday and Friday evenings, by request.

Nanon will be given for Saturday night.

Treasurer McCullough's complimentary benefit, tendered jointly by Managers Hayman and Carleton, comes off on Sunday night. Get your seats early.

Modjeska commences her season next week in a strong production of Cymbeline.

Box sheet open on Thursday.

Alcazar Theatre.

Miss Kate Mayhew, a talented actress, not unknown to Californians, appears here this week as Fanchon, the Cricket. Some years ago Miss Mayhew proved her artistic right to personate the capricious but good-hearted Cricket, but she was obliged to retire from the stage on account of ill-health.

Miss Mayhew is a charming Cricket, full of pathos, perverseity, willfulness and affection, and she has lost none of her sympathetic magnetism, keenness and finish of execution. She resumes her success of past years. Branscombe and Stockwell are good as the twin brothers. James Carden is excellent as old Barbeau. Miss Brandon is the saucy village belle, beauty, Madelon, to perfection. Fanny Young does a fine bit of acting as Old Fadet, and Sara Stevens is also quite clever. The rest of the support are well up in their part, and the play is handsomely staged by the Alcazar management.

—o—

Katie Putnam, a universal favorite as an actress, talented, comical and magnetic, makes her appearance here next week, supported by her own company in her popular comedy of "Erma, the Elf." The piece has been a great success in Eastern fields. For cast see extra programme announcement in adjoining column.

Grand Opera House.

Imre Kiralfy's Black Crook, the Black Crook of stage fame, produced with all its rich appointments, a strong cast, gorgeous scenery, grand ballets and spectacular effects, is in its last week at the Grand.

Saturday night the last performance of Black Crook will be given.

The prominent scenes of the play are the Devil's Glen, the Golden Terrace, Zamiel's Illuminated Palace and the rich Transformation Scene. All the scenes are beautiful works of stage part. The Illuminated Palace, with its glow of chandaliers, is strikingly so.

The grand ballet appear in Imre Kiralfy's Operatic Ballet, introducing ten character ballets, dancing to the airs of as many different popular operas, its first production on any stage, and in other changes of ballets. Of the Operatic Ballets, the Policeman's Dance from the Pirates of Penzance, and the Mikado Dance, are the most artistic. The way the little children do the Royal Dragoons' dance to the music of Patience sets the house in a roar. They are irresistibly funny.

Besides, there are the Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes, in their new daring leap from the highest trapeze bar, turning a somersault, to the net below, a distance of fifty feet; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Brothers, eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is playing a successful season at the Standard.

The strong play, Claire and the Forgemaster, produced this week, will give our theatre-goers an opportunity to mentally compare Jeffreys-Lewis' impersonation of the heroine with that recently presented to us by Jane Hading at the Baldwin.

Miss Lewis was greeted by a large audience last night and she gave a splendid portrayal of Claire, losing nothing by comparison with Mme. Hading. All the company gave her good support. It now looks as if the Standard was in a fair way to once more become a paying house.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Bijou Theatre.

Billy Emerson and his California Minstrels form a talented, well selected and good working company. This organization, brought about through the influence of Emerson's staunch friend and manager, N. D. Roberts, give an entertaining feast of good minstrel pabium at the Bijou; with Emerson, who is in excellent voice and in good working trim as ever, on the end and in his inimitable Moriarity. The versatile Leon in a laughable minstrel opera, Hayden Tilla, the opera tenor, Drummond & Rowe, Morton & Goldie, Post & Gross, Harry Armstrong, Raymond Moore, Ellwood and other talent crowd a great many good things in the bill. Houses are big.

Orpheum Opera House.

A constellation of specialty talent, known as Pavenelli's All-Star Specialty Company, will scintillate on the Orpheum's board this week in a diversified round of new specialties.

The company is composed of Pavenelli's Musical Pavers, a very novel musical act; Walter Le Roy, a jaunty Irish comedian; the Bros. Leondor, acrobats; the Seaberts, tumblers; the Morton Quartette, vocalists and dancers, and Miss Flo Clayton, vocal soubrette. John Morrissey, comedian, also puts in his first appearance.

Miss Tillie Morrissey, a very fine soprano vocalist, a strong addition to the company; George H. Wood, the favorite comedian, and Quigley's Troupe of Famous Leapers, continue this week.

Matinee Sunday.

Next week, Cantelis & Pastor's Madrid Opera Company will be the attraction.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week, first time here of the picturesque American drama of "The Forty-Niners," with Darrell Vinton in four different characters. The scenes of the play are in the Sierras and in the mining camps, and the play is full of stirring incidents and startling tableaux.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of Female Mastodons, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their original and first production of the French Masquerade Ball at Woodward's Gardens, with a new version of the Can-Can.

Miss Susie Wild, vocalist; Ned Barry and the Whalens are the new faces this week.

Minnie Pierce, trapeze artist; John P. Bracey, F. J. Tierney, Burnell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

"Sailor Brown," the Eastern boxer, in a glove contest with Paddy Gorman every night and the French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

Leo & Mason, acrobats, and Miss Rita Gardner, vocalists, are the new faces this week.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the necessity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Effie Hull, and others, form the female staff of the company.

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The theatre presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first class Eastern museums have been established.

Original Theatre Comique.

Managers Burns & Travers' popular ville house is a success. Everything and new. The company consists Morina, Belle Manning, Blanche L Colburn, Josie Mayfield, and the po edians, Burns & Travers, in a varie tertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Marie Morina and Miss Blan are the new faces this week.

John Miller, comedian, and McPh favorite comedian, vocalist and dan in acts and specialties.

A Fusilade of Fun opens the lowed by a full and diversified ol comedy, Rival Tradesmen, more oli then the farce, Troubles in Sonoma bill. The attendance is uniformly

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

The Newcomb Family, Wills & Barron, Carrie Manning and Fanny May opened at Morgan's, Tacoma, Jan. 21st.

Club Theatre, Los Angeles, Jan. 21st: Clifford Sisters, Irvin T. Bush, Gilfort Bros., the Denbys, Herbert Sisters, Erba Robeson and the Martini Bros.

Frank Binney and Kittie Chapman opened at the Coliseum, Helena, Jan. 14th, and made a fine impression. Business is good.

Billy Mack closed his engagement at the Coliseum, Helena, Jan. 20th, and goes to Butte. Geo. Clayton succeeds him as manager.

Coliseum, Helena, Jan. 21st: Holmes Grover, Jr., May De Lorme, Hughes & Oxford, Thos. J. Ripley, Virgie Earle, Eva Wood, the Pierces, Lillian Carroll, Hattie Wade, Lulu Reze, Ollie Sutter, Kitty Gilmore, Goldie Angelo, Dollie Weston, Pauline Brace, Bessie La Mar, Chrissie Morrell, Ella La Rue, Frank Binney and Kittie Chapman.

Post & Ashley, Gilmore & Reynolds, Laura Manning, Miss Rainville, Tillie Bouton, Harry Conley, Ella Gardner and Chas. A. Keene are at the Elite, Tombstone.

Theatre Comique, Butte, Jan. 21st: Millie Thomas, the three Oatley Sisters, Nelty Andes, Annie Girard, Josie Gerry, Nellie Daniels, Lola Sefton, Jennie Forrester, May Mauri, Retlaw & Alton, Geo. Drew, Ada Clifton and Ned Thatcher.

The Quigley Troupe beat the record as leapers, and their feats are performed with such seeming perfect ease that it is a pleasure to watch them.

Morgan's Theatre, Tacoma, Jan. 14th: Ward & Lee, Carroll & Nealey, Louise Crawford, Mollie Thompson, Emma Harrison, Carrie Brown, Nellie Vaughn, Annie Devere, Frankie Howard, Mamie Millage, Heeley Bros., Lillie Murphy, Lillie Hastings, Kent & Wood, Della Wall, Kay Filburn and the Cleaves (Lizzie and Frank).

The Clifford Sisters are playing an engagement at Perry Bros.' Club Theatre, Los Angeles. Booked by FIGARO Agency.

Ned Barry, the motto and descriptive vocalist and an old favorite, puts in an appearance at the Bella Union this week.

Alice Mansfield, one of our best vocalists and balladists, is playing a long engagement at the Eureka.

The telegram tells us that some dampboots in Live Oak City, Florida, thought they would have some fun by whipping the attaches of a small traveling circus that wended that way on the 18th. Result: Town Marshal Overstreet was shot and killed, a baby was trampled to death and several woman and children seriously injured in the stampede, one woman dying from the injuries she received. The Live Oakians were greatly incensed and threaten to lynch the circus men, who promised to make a bitter fight if they attempt it.

Standard Theatre, Seattle, Jan. 21st: Derville Family, Eugene Ward, Cardello & Vidella, Fitz & Devine, Lassard & Lucifer, Maud Clayton, Durell Twin Bros., Thos. Leo, Jessie Chapman, Annie Ryner, Ida Howell, Clara Stanley, Ida Chester, Dot Melville, Herne & Howard and the fine stock company.

Thos. Ryan and J. Larsen have purchased the Vienna Garden Theatre and will open it Saturday, Feb. 2nd, as a first-class family resort. The boxes lately put in will be removed and the house and garden put in complete order. The stage management will be under the direction of George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, who proved so efficient a manager at the Wigwam. We wish the new proprietors no end of good luck.

The Orpheum has a wonderful strong bill this week. The musical pavers are odd and taking, and create a lot of fun.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs. Fletcher & Essner have purchased it, and will make some radical changes in its management. It is contemplated turning it into a dramatic house next month.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

At the Eureka the unusually large company have been giving entire satis-

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Manager McFadden and his Uncle Tom Co. returned from San Dieno by steamer on Monday. He reports that he did better than most of the combinations visiting that section, as there is a relapse from the boom existing in Southern California that makes times "dull" there.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, supported by a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, "The Fall of the Bastile" and the "Corsican Brothers," for one week commencing Monday, Feb. 11th. The performances of the week will be for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights Ancient Order of United Workmen, after which Mr. Warner will continue at the Grand.

Things are looking dull in the South. Georgie Woodthorpe has canceled her Southern trip with Poor Jo and will start on a Northern one instead, opening in Woodland 28th.

Emma Abbott reappeared Jan. 21st at Memphis in Norma. She was greeted with a perfect ovation.

The New York critics are not altogether friendly in their criticism of Mrs. Langtry as Lady Macbeth.

Manager Leavitt announces that his New Bush Street Theatre will open with Lydia Thompson and her great burlesque company Saturday night. The opening piece is Columbus, a clever, witty and picturesque burlesque. See cast and synopsis in the programme advertisement. Seats on sale at the theatre on Thursday. For particulars regarding the new theatre see notice in amusement department on another page.

The Kiralfy season at the Grand closes with Saturday night. The company leave for Los Angeles Sunday morning, opening there Monday for four nights. Thence jump to Denver for the week of Feb. 4th.

The new scale of prices at the New Bush Street Theatre will be: Dress circle and orchestra seats, $1, nothing extra to reserve; balcony 50 cents, reserved seats 75 cents; gallery (a new addition to the Bush) 25 cents.

Darrell Vinton tests his versatility this week, at Morosco's, by assuming four different characters very cleverly in his star role in the play of The Forty-Niners.

Matt. Barry, whiskered like a Russian, comes to us again as advance representative of that bright actress, Katie Putnam, and her company, that open in Erma, the Elf, at the Alcazar on Monday. See cast in extra programme ad. elsewhere in FIGARO.

W. W. Falk, a former resident and business manager of Lydia Thompson's Burlesque Co., is in town, looking as well as ever.

A Brass Monkey is wandering around the country, and Hoyt & Thomas are disconsolate because they could not keep him in the Bijou, N. Y., for the balance of the season.

Dan McCullough, treasurer of the Baldwin, has been tendered a deserved complimentary benefit by Managers Al Hayman and Carleton, to take place Sunday evening at the Baldwin Theatre. The Carleton Opera Co. will make their last appearance on this occasion, and other attractions will supplement their performance. The beneficiary is universally popular, and we can bespeak him a rousing benefit.

David Batchis, known here some years ago as Signor Blitz, magician, is at the Kings County Hospital, hopelessly insane. Marie Van Zandt, the prima donna, is his granddaughter.

The receipts from theatrical licenses in New York for the past year foot up $21,500, of which, by municipal apportionment, the Actors' Fund will receive $10 750.

A wretched Bostonian lately wrote that Lotta is a stage back number and the little comedienne is not yet fifty.

Perugini, Miss Montague and several other artists have left the Kellogg Opera Company, yet Manager Carl Strakosch insists that all is serene in that organization.

Helen Dauvray will support Jefferson next season.

Salvini will play three weeks at Palmer's and will be followed by Charles Wyndham and Company early next fall.

THE SUCCESSFUL THEATRICAL VENTURES.

A local New York paper has been worming out of the managers of the big hits of the theatrical ventures in that village the receipts so far this season. They aggregate big figures:

In a run of twenty weeks The Old Homestead has been witnessed by 446 000 persons, in exchange for $280,000. The Coquelin Heding people in three weeks gathered $46 000. Mary Anderson's engagement footed up $79,000, an average of over $13 000 per week. Mrs. Potter's first six performances of Cleopatra yielded $9,000. Joseph Jefferson in two weeks took $11 500. Booth and Barrett in eight weeks played to $104,000. Nadjy in 150 nights earned over $175,000, and at the same house Gilbert & Sullivan's Yeoman of the Guard drew $1100 nightly for fifty nights. Thus far, at 10 per cent of the gross receipts, Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett has realized $6,000 from Little Lord Fauntleroy.

First Journalist—Had a fire in our office this morning. Second Journalist—Glad to hear you had something bright in the office. O, yes, bright prospects, insurance money, big advertisment for the paper, and a boom.

This is one of the neatest and coolest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are seven lady vocalists this week.

Capt. Martin and Prof. H. Melville, in a grand fencing contest for twenty points, continue the new attraction for this week.

Lillie Mason, Alice Mansfield, Lulu Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Musical Fletcher, Bart Kennedy, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. Take a hint and drop into the Eureka, one of the coolest houses in town. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

The funny act, Three of a Kind, forms the dramatic part of the entertainment, in the hands of McDonald, Fletcher, Dunham, Kennedy and Mamie Sanford.

EVENING EDITION

WEDNESDAY..... JANUARY 23, 1889

Notice to Stage Managers.

We cannot make changes in Programmes after two (2) P. M. All changes handed in after that hour will have to lay over until next day.

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt announces that the New Bush Street Theatre will be opened Saturday night.

Box sheet now open at the theatre.

The new scale of prices are: Orchestra and dress circle seats, reserved, $1; balcony, reserved, 75 cents (admission, 50 cents); new gallery, 25 cents.

The opening attraction is Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, in Columbus, a new burlesque by Geo. Dance.

The cast, which can be found in the programme on first page, calls for twenty-five burlesquers, headed by Miss Thompson as Columbus; and closing with a genuine native American reporter, who discovers and interviews Columbus as soon as he discovers America.

"Columbus" is a pronounced and happy success. It is "one of the best burlesques ever seen in this country." "Its music is charming, the libretto fairly witty, and the principal members of the company are very happy in their roles." "Columbus" comes to us with plenty of such endorsements.

The New Bush Street Theatre has new boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third tier gallery, new drop-curtain, new scenery, new proscenium and new decorations and appointments everywhere, provided at the cost of $ 0,000

The stage and parquet floor have been lowered. The new proscenium gives the stage four feet more depth and greater elevation. There are eight proscenium boxes, handsomely appointed, and very cosy.

The prevailing tint of the walls is similar to that of the Baldwin, though lighter and more delicate in hue.

The New Bush Street Theatre will not only be an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated, and absolutely safe, but will also be a notably commodious and comfortable theatre.

The electric light supplies the place of daylight at night, and gangs of artisans are still at work day and night finishing up their labors.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company are in their last week here in their light and entertaining operas, so acceptably sung and so handsomely staged and costumed.

The fine opera of Erminie will be given tonight

Mr. Carleton has one of his best opportunities as Ravennes, and together with Charles H. Drew as Cadeaux, creates no end of fun. Miss Clara Lane is charming as Javotte, and the Erminie of Miss Vincent leaves nothing to be desired. Mr. Jay C. Taylor sings in fine style, and the rest of the characters are in good hands.

Mynheer Jan will be reproduced for Thursday and Friday evenings, by request.

Erminie will be the bill for Saturday's matinee. Nanon will be given for Saturday night.

Treasurer McCullough's complimentary benefit, tendered jointly by Managers Hayman and Carleton, comes off on Sunday night. The Carleton Opera Company make their last appearance for the occasion in "Mikado." Get your seats early

Modjeska commences her season next week in a strong production of Cymbeline.

Box sheet now open.

Alcazar Theatre.

Miss Kate Mayhew, a talented actress, not unknown to Californians, appears here this week as Marchon, the Cricket. Some years ago Miss Mayhew proved her artistic right to personate the capricious but good-hearted Cricket, but she was obliged to retire from the stage on account of ill-health.

Miss Mayhew is a charming Cricket, full of vivacity, perverseness, willfulness and affection, and she has lost none of her sympathetic magnetism, neatness and finish of execution. She outshines her success of past years. Brans[illegible] and Stockwell are good as the twin brothers. James Carden is excellent as old Barbeau. Miss Brandon is the saucy village belle, Beauty, Madelon, to perfection. Fanny rest of the support are well up in their part, and the play is handsomely staged by the Alcazar management.

—o—

Katie Putnam, a universal favorite as an actress, is cute, comical and magnetic, makes her appearance here next week, supported by her own company in her popular comedy of "Erma, the Elf." The piece has been a great success in Eastern fields. For cast see extra programme announcement in adjoining column.

Grand Opera House.

Saturday night the last performance of Black Crook will be given, with all its rich appointments, a strong cast, gorgeous scenery, grand ballets and spectacular effects.

The grand ballet appear in Imre Kiralfy's Operatic Ballet, introducing ten character ballets, dancing to the airs of as many different popular operas, and in the grand march in last act.

Besides, there are the Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes, in their new daring dive from the highest trapeze bar, turning a somersault, to the net below, a distance of fifty feet; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Brothers, eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

Last matinee Saturday.

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is playing a successful season at the Standard.

The strong play, Claire and the Forgemaster, produced this week, will give our theatre-goers an opportunity to mentally compare Jeffreys-Lewis' impersonation of the heroine with that recently presented to us by Jane Hading at the Baldwin.

Miss Lewis is greeted by a large audience and she is giving a splendid portrayal o Claire, losing nothing by comparison with Madame Hading. All the company render good support. It now looks as if the Standard was in a fair way to once more become a paying house.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

The emotional drama of "Moths," a strong society play, will be next week's bill.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Bijou Theatre.

Billy Emerson and his California Minstrels form a talented, well selected and good working company. This organization, brought about through the influence of Emerson's staunch friend and manager, N. D. Roberts, give an entertaining feast of good minstrel pabium at the Bijou. Emerson, who is in excellent voice and in good working trim as ever, is on the end and in his inimitable Moriarity. The versatile Leon in a laughable minstrel opera, Hayden Tilla, the opera tenor, Drummond & Rowe, Morton & Goldie, Post & Gross, Harry Armstrong, Raymond Moore, Ellwood and other talent crowd a great many good things in the bill. Houses are big.

Orpheum Opera House.

A constellation of specialty talent, known as Pavenelli's All-Star Specialty Company, will scintillate on the Orpheum's board this week in a diversified round of new specialties.

The company is composed of Pavenelli's Musical Pavers, a very novel musical act; Walter Le Roy, a jaunty Irish comedian; the Bros. Leondor, acrobats; the Seaberts, tumblers, and Rolyat, the equilibrium Prince. Jas. T. Kelly, the eccentric comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford, soubrette and vocalist, in specialties and afterpiece, are added to the company.

Miss Tillie Morrissey, a very fine soprano vocalist, a strong addition to the company; George H. Wood, the favorite comedian, and Quigley's Troupe of Famous Leapers, continue this week.

Matinee Sunday.

Next week, Cantelis & Pastor's Madrid Opera Company will be the attraction.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week, first time here of the picturesque American drama of "The Forty-Niners," with Darrell Vinton in four different characters. The scenes of the play are in the Sierras and in the mining camps, and the play is full of stirring incidents and startling tableaux.

It is hard to say which one of the four characters Mr. Vinton portrays the best, where all are so good, and it is evident his audiences are of the same opinion; Jas. M. Brophy is good as Gaspard Leroy, reading his text with fine effect; Elleford as Wun Lung is very funny, especially in the third act where he attempts love-making; Essie Tittel is really the sunlight of the piece, playing with charming pathos; Jessie Norton is always acceptable, no matter what she may attempt.

Next week's attraction will be Mr. Charles Thornton, in the frontier drama, entitled Simon Kenton.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of Female Mastodons, headed by the burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their original and first production of the French Masquerade Ball at Woodward's Gardens, with a new version of the Can-Can.

Miss Susie Wild, vocalist; Ned Barry and the Whalens are the new faces this week.

Minnie Pierce, trapeze artist; John P. Brace F. J. Tierney, Burnell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha War-

EVENING EDITION

THURSDAY.....JANUARY 24, 1889

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Show Topics, published by James P. Cundy, of Kansas City, reflects well deserved credit upon its publisher. It is full of bright readable gossip in the eight pages of reading matter. There is not a dull line. The Western circuit is to be congratulated in having such a live paper issued in its interest.

The Newcomb Family, Wills & Barron, Carrie Manning and Fanny May opened at Morgan's, Tacoma, Jan. 21st.

Club Theatre, Los Angeles, Jan. 21st: Clifford Sisters, Irvin T. Bush, Gilfort Bros., the Denbye, Herbert Sisters, Erba Robeson and the Martini Bros.

Billy Mack closed his engagement at the Coliseum, Helena, Jan. 20th, and goes to Butte. Geo. Clayton succeeds him as manager.

Theatre Comique, Butte, Jan 21st: Millie Thomas, the three Oatley Sisters, Nelty Andes, Annie Girard, Josie Gerry, Nellie Daniels, Lola Sefton, Jennie Forrester, May Mauri, Retlaw & Alton, Geo. Drew, Ada Clifton and Ned Thatcher.

The Quigley Troupe best the record as leapers, and their feats are performed with such seeming perfect ease that it is a pleasure to watch them.

The Clifford Sisters are playing an engagement at Perry Bros.' Club Theatre, Los Angeles. Booked by FIGARO Agency.

Ned Barry, the motto and descriptive vocalist and an old favorite, puts in an appearance at the Bella Union this week.

Alice Mansfield, one of our best vocalists and balladists, is playing a long engagement at the Eureka.

Standard Theatre, Seattle, Jan. 21st: Derville Family, Eugene Ward, Cardello & Vidella, Fitz & Devine, Lassard & Lucifer, Maud Clayton, Durell Twin Bros., Thos. Leo, Jessie Chapman, Annie Ryner, Ida Howell, Clara Stanley, Ida Chester, Dot Melville, Herne & Howard and the fine stock company.

Thos. Ryan and J. Larsen have purchased the Vienna Garden Theatre and will open it Saturday, Feb. 2nd, as a first-class family resort. The boxes lately put in will be removed and the house and garden put in complete order. The stage management will be under the direction of George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, who proved so efficient a manager at the Wigwam. We wish the new proprietors no end of good luck.

The Orpheum has a wonderful strong bill this week. The musical pavers are odd and taking, and create a lot of fun.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

There are some men who cannot comprehend that very frequently in life the game is not worth the candle. Ben Jackson was one of them. "That makes the tenth match you have struck. What are you looking for?" asked his room-mate one evening, as Ben was striking a match and looking under the table. "I dropped a match, and I am trying to find it," replied Ben.

A gentleman was entering the Senate gallery at Washington when he chanced to meet a friend coming out. "Hello!" he said "what's going on? "Nothing just now. Mr. Evarts has been addressing the Senate." "Has he? I'm sorry I missed that." "Yes, it was a great treat. He spoke for more than four hours." "What about?" "He didn't say."

A Reform Movement in Kentucky — Don't say hand me those molasses, but hand me that or the molasses, just as you would say hand me that whisky.

Nothing takes the conceit out of an adoring young man like a pretty girl, and nothing inspires conceit in a pretty girl so much as an adoring young man.

Boston Girl—Uncle Gawge, do you think my photographs do me justice? Uncle Gawge (critically) — Yes, Emeline; justice without mercy.

They Call Him Bob — The young ladies of Boston have become so familiar with Robert Elsmore" that they now call him "Bob."

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Marie Van Zandt, the prima donna, has made a hit in Lisbon.

Mme. Ottillie may be a member of the N. Y. Casino forces next season.

It is rumored that Chas. H. Hoyt is writing a tragedy to be called "A Hole in His Shirt."

Mr. Bellew is said to consider his version of Antony and Cleopatra better than Shakespeare's.

Helen Bancroft, who is playing in Antony and Cleopatra at Palmer's Theatre N. Y., is a handsomer woman than Mrs. Potter, and a very much better actress than the "ex-society queen."

"Corinne Kimball celebrated her 15th birthday and Christmas simultaneously at the Sherman House, Chicago, Ill." In 1871 Corinne was a little girl of 6 years living with her mother, Mrs. Jennie Flaherty, on Washington street, Boston, charming all by her precocity and her pretty face. How can the above statement be made to agree with facts? Why not advertise her as she is—a talented soubrette of 23? Then she will still have the advantage of May Tenbroeck, who is a favorite actress on the shady side of forty, and who also hails from Boston.

Selina Delaro, the singer, who has been popular in opera bouffe for twenty years in England and America, died suddedly at her home in New York last night at the age of 37. She was the original Carmen in English, and was born in London.

Leander Richardson and Wm. Yardley have completed and sold to Nat Goodwin what promises to be one of the funniest farcical comedies ever seen upon the American stage. It has been read to Mr. Goodwin and a few friends, and evoked unstinted laughter. No title has yet been selected, but Mr. Goodwin is delighted with his purchase.

T. Henry French has bought the American rights to "The Balloon." "Up in a balloon."

Emma Juch and Lillian Russell will be in the Casino Company next May.

Wire curtains are the ingenious appliances now used when James Owen O'Conor appears on the stage at out-of-town theatres. These protect him from recurring blizzards of decayed vegetables which the gallery gods contribute for his special benefit. Patent applied for.

It is reported that Isabella Irving, the young "English" actress at Daly's, is a native of Bridgeport, Conn.

Buffalo Bill's managers have begun suit in Philadelphia for $100 000 damages against Adam Forepaugh, whom they claim used their title of "Wild West" without permission.

Mrs. Padelford, daughter of General Ordway, and a society queen, debuted successfully Monday night as the heroine of the new comic opera "The King's Fool" at the Columbia Theatre, Chicago. Mrs. Padelford will be known professionally as Bettina Gerard. That is a prettier name than Padelford.

Little Ida Mulle has sued Manager Henderson, of Chicago, for $3,000 damages for alleged breach of contract. Miss Mulle, or rather Mrs. Benjamin Tuthill, was engaged for Cinderella in "The Crystal Slipper."

Lester Wallack bequeathed the income arising from the lease of his theatre, now Palmer's, to his wife, with the exception of $20 a week, to be paid to his daughter, Florence Sewell.

Manager McFadden and his Uncle Tom Co. returned from San Dieno by steamer on Monday. He reports that he did better than most of the combinations visiting that section, as there is a relapse from the boom existing in Southern California that makes times "dull" there.

Dan McCullough, treasurer of the Baldwin Theatre, has his benefit on Sunday evening at the Baldwin Theatre. The Carleton Opera Co. will make their last appearance on this occasion, in their Mikado. The beneficiary is universally popular, and we can bespeak him a rousing benefit.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, supported by a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, "The Fall of the Bastile" and the "Corsican Brothers," for one week commencing Monday, Feb. 11th. The performances of the week will be for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights Ancient Order of United Workmen, after which Mr. Warner will continue at the Grand.

Things are looking dull in the South. Georgie Woodthorpe has canceled her Southern trip with Poor Jo and will start on a Northern one instead, opening in Woodland 28th.

Emma Abbott reappeared Jan. 21st at Memphis in Norma. She was greeted with a perfect ovation.

The New York critics are not altogether friendly in their criticism of Mrs. Langtry as Lady Macbeth.

Manager Leavitt announces that his New Bush Street Theatre will open with Lydia Thompson and her great burlesque company Saturday night. The opening piece is Columbus, a clever, witty and picturesque burlesque. See cast and synopsis in the programme advertisement. Seats on sale at the theatre box office. For particulars regarding the new theatre see notice in amusement department on another page.

The Kiralfy season at the Grand closes with Saturday night. The company leave for Los Angeles Sunday morning, opening there Monday for four nights. Thence jump to Denver for the week of Feb. 4th.

DI MURSKA'S BODY CREMATED.

A Vienna dispatch tells us that the body of Mme. Di Murska, the Hungarian prima donna, whose clear bird-like notes placed her among the famous singers of the world, was cremated in company with that of her daughter, who committed suicide in consequence of her mother's death, yesterday at Gotha. Mme. Di Murska's Austrian husband and a dozen members of the Gotha Opera Co. were the only mourners. The urn containing the ashes of the mother was inscribed: "These ashes are all that remains of a nightingale." The urn containing the daughter's ashes is inscribed: "The woman whose remains lie here has battled and suffered much in vain."

EVENING EDITION

THURSDAY.....JANUARY 24, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt announces that the New Bush Street Theatre will be opened Saturday night.

Box sheet now open at the theatre.

The new scale of prices are: Orchestra and dress circle seats, reserved, $1; balcony, reserved, 75 cents (admission, 50 cents); new gallery, 25 cents.

The opening attraction is Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, in Columbus, a new burlesque by Geo. Dance.

The cast, which can be found in the programme on first page, calls for twenty-five burlesquers, headed by Miss Thompson as Columbus; and closing with a genuine native American reporter, who discovers and interviews Columbus as soon as he discovers America.

"Columbus" is a pronounced and happy success. It is "one of the best burlesques ever seen in this country." "Its music is charming, the libretto fairly witty, and the principal members of the company are very happy in their roles." "Columbus" comes to us with plenty of such endorsements.

The New Bush Street Theatre has new boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third tier gallery, new drop-curtain, new scenery, new proscenium and new decorations and appointments everywhere, provided at the cost of $30,000.

The stage and parquet floor have been lowered. The new proscenium gives the stage four feet more depth and greater elevation. There are eight proscenium boxes, handsomely appointed, and very cosy.

The prevailing tint of the walls is similar to that of the Baldwin, though lighter and more delicate in hue.

The New Bush Street Theatre will not only be an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated, and absolutely safe, but will also be a notably commodious and comfortable theatre.

The electric light supplies the place of daylight at night, and gangs of artisans are still at work day and night finishing up their labors.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company are in their last week here in their light and entertaining operas, so acceptably sung and so handsomely staged and costumed.

Mynheer Jan will be reproduced for Thursday and Friday evenings, by request.

Erminie will be the bill for Saturday's matinee. Nanon will be given for Saturday night.

Treasurer McCullough's complimentary benefit, tendered jointly by Managers Hayman and Carleton, comes off on Sunday night. The Carleton Opera Company make their last appearance for the occasion in "Mikado." Get your seats early.

Modjeska commences her season next week in a strong production of Cymbeline.

Box sheet now open.

Alcazar Theatre.

Miss Kate Mayhew, a talented actress, not unknown to Californians, appears here this week as Fanchon, the Cricket. Some years ago Miss Mayhew proved her artistic right to personate the capricious but good-hearted Cricket, but she was obliged to retire from the stage on account of ill-health.

Miss Mayhew is a charming Cricket, full of pathos, perverelty, willfulness and affection, and she has lost none of her sympathetic magnetism, neatness and finish of execution. She resumes her success of past years. Branscombe and Stockwell are good as the twin brothers. James Carden is excellent as old Barbeau. Miss Brandon is the saucy village village beauty, Madelon, to perfection. Fanny Young does a fine bit of acting as Old Fadet, and Sara Stevens is also quite clever. The rest of the support are well up in their part, and the play is handsomely staged by the Alcazar management.

—o—

Katie Putnam, a universal favorite as an actress, talented, comical and magnetic, makes her appearance here next week, supported by her own company in her popular comedy of "Erma, the Elf." The piece has been a great success in Eastern fields. For cast see extra programme announcement in adjoining column.

Grand Opera House.

Saturday night the last performance of Black The grand ballet appear in Imre Kiralfy's Operatic Ballet, introducing ten character ballets, dancing to the airs of as many different popular operas, and in the grand march in last act.

Besides, there are the Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes, in their new daring dive from the highest trapeze bar, turning a somersault, to the net below, a distance of fifty feet; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Brothers, eccentric gymnasts, and other introduced novelties.

Last matinee Saturday.

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is playing a successful season at the Standard.

The strong play, Claire and the Forgemaster, produced this week, will give our theatre-goers an opportunity to mentally compare Jeffreys-Lewis' impersonation of the heroine with that recently presented to us by Jane Hading at the Baldwin.

Miss Lewis is greeted by a large audience and she is giving a splendid portrayal of Claire, losing nothing by comparison with Madame Hading. All the company render good support. It now looks as if the Standard was in a fair way to once more become a paying house.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

The emotional drama of "Moths," a strong society play, will be next week's bill.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Bijou Theatre.

Billy Emerson and his California Minstrels form a talented, well selected and good working company. This organization, brought about through the influence of Emerson's staunch friend and manager, N. D. Roberts, give an entertaining feast of good minstrel pablum at the Bijou. Emerson, who is in excellent voice and in good working trim as ever, is on the end and in his inimitable Moriarity. The versatile Leon in a laughable minstrel opera, Hayden Tilla, the opera tenor, Drummond & Rowe, Morton & Goldie, Post & Gross, Harry Armstrong, Raymond Moore, Ellwood and other talent crowd a great many good things in the bill. Houses are big.

Orpheum Opera House.

A constellation of specialty talent, known as Pavenelli's All-Star Specialty Company, will scintillate on the Orpheum's board this week in a diversified round of new specialties.

The company is composed of Pavenelli's Musical Pavers, a very novel musical act; Walter Le Roy, a jaunty Irish comedian; the Bros. Leondor, acrobats; the Seaberts, tumblers, and Rolyat, the equilibrium Prince. Jas. T. Kelly, the eccentric comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford, soubrette and vocalist, in specialties and afterpiece, are added to the company.

Miss Tillie Morrissey, a very fine soprano vocalist, a strong addition to the company; George H. Wood, the favorite comedian, and Quigley's Troupe of Famous Leapers, continue this week.

Matinee Sunday.

Next week, Cantelis & Pastor's Madrid Opera Company will be the attraction.

Morosco's Ampaitheatre.

This week, first time here of the picturesque American drama of "The Forty-Niners," with Darrell Vinton in four different characters. The scenes of the play are in the Sierras and in the mining camps, and the play is full of stirring incidents and startling tableaux.

It is hard, to say which one of the four characters Mr. Vinton portrays the best, where all are so good, and it is evident his audiences are of the same opinion; Jas. M. Brophy is good as Gaspard Leroy, reading his text with fine effect; Elleford as Wun Lung is very funny, especially in the third act where he attempts love-making; Essie Tittel is really the sunlight of the piece, playing with charming pathos; Jessie Norton is always acceptable, no matter what she may attempt.

Next week's attraction will be Mr. Charles Thornton, in the frontier drama, entitled Simon Kenton.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of Female Mastodons, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their original and first production of the French Masquerade Ball at Woodward's Gardens, with a new version of the Can-Can.

Miss Susie Wild, vocalist; Ned Barry and the Whalens are the new faces this week.

Minnie Pierce, trapeze artist; John P. Brace F. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

"Sailor Brown," the Eastern boxer, in a glove contest with Paddy Gorman every night and the French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Effie Hull, and others, form the female staff of the company.

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The features in the museum combine a great amount of curiosities in its two large museum halls, which are partially specified in the programme space adjacent. Look at it.

The theatre presents a goodly array of talage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Belle Manning, Blanche Leslie, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Marie Morina and Miss Blanche Leslie are the new faces this week.

John Miller, comedian, and McPherson, the favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

A Fusilade of Fun opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio and the comedy, Rival Tradesmen, more olio features, then the farce, Troubles in Sonoma, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique has undergone an extensive

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The new box office at the Bush is a double-header, built between the partition that divides the dress circle and balcony entrances, with sales windows opening on each entrance, after the latest Eastern style.

Jay Rial, formerly manager of the Bush and California Theatres, and the bevy of beauties under his charge forming the Lydia Thompson Burlesque Co. arrived to-day.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, supported by a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, "The Fall of the Bastile" and the "Corsican Brothers," for one week commencing Monday, Feb. 11th. The performances of the week will be for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Unchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights Ancient Order of United Workmen, after which Mr. Warner will continue at the Grand.

The new drop curtain at the Bush is a prospective view of the Rialto, Venice, painted by J. R. Wilkins. It is a fine work of art, correct in prospective, bright in color and elaborately finished.

Dan McCullough, treasurer of the Baldwin Theatre, has his benefit on Sunday evening at the Baldwin Theatre. The Carleton Opera Co. will make their last appearance on this occasion, in their Mikado. The beneficiary is universally popular, and we can bespeak him a rousing benefit.

Frank David, the comic opera comedian, got into a dispute with his manager, Heinrich Conried, at Chicago, last week, and was discharged.

The New Bush St. Theatre opens with Lydia Thompson and her great burlesque company Saturday night. The opening piece is Columbus, a clever, witty and picturesque burlesque. See cast and synopsis in the programme advertisement. Seats on sale at the theatre box office. For particulars regarding the new theatre see notice in amusement department on another page.

Thos. H. Baker, for many years leader of Wallack's orchestra, died recently at his home in Brooklyn, leaving $25 000 in trust for his twelve-year-old daughter. The will is likely to be contested by her aunt.

The Kiralfy season at the Grand closes with Saturday night. The company leave for Los Angeles Sunday morning, opening there Monday for four nights. Thence jump to Denver for the week of Feb. 4th.

Eugene Tompkins gave Booth and Barrett 80 per cent of the receipts during their New York engagement at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, and it is said lost over $1,000 a week doing it.

Gossip has it that Mrs. Yeamans and Marcus Moriarty will soon retire from Harrigan's Park Theatre Co.

The new scale of prices at the New Bush Street Theatre will be: Dress circle and orchestra seats, $1, nothing extra to reserve; balcony 50 cents, reserved seats 75 cents; gallery (a new addition to the Bush) 25 cents.

The New York critics are not altogether friendly in their criticism of Mrs. Langtry as Lady Macbeth.

Marie Van Zandt, the prima donna, was made a hit in Lisbon.

Mme. Ottillie may be a member of the N. Y. Casino forces next season.

It is rumored that Chas. H. Hoyt is writing a tragedy to be called "A Hole in the Snow."

Mr. Bellew is said to consider his version of Antony and Cleopatra better than Shakespeare's.

Helen Bancroft, who is playing in Antony and Cleopatra at Palmer's Theatre, N. Y., is a handsomer woman than Mrs. Potter, and a very much better actress than the "ex-society queen."

LEAVITT'S NEW BUSH ST. THEATRE.

Mr. Leavitt has now a theatre in San Francisco second to none in beauty, safety and general comfort, and he is deserving of great credit for his efforts to give the amusement-loving public of this city so elegant a theatre, and for the liberal outlay of so much money to achieve that purpose.

The old Bush has entirely disappeared. No traces of it are to be perceived in the New Bush Street Theatre. The theatre has been entirely refitted from the entrances to the back wall of the stage, and it may be truly said that only the bare walls of the inside of the old place have been left standing.

A new, wide, handsomely decorated entrance is the first thing that strikes the visitor. Inside the theatre all is changed. A rich and soft color surrounds you, an artistic blending of harmonious hues in the latest style of theatre decorations. New opera seats throughout the house attract the gaze by their neatness, and new formations of aisles divide them. The eight new boxes, now called balconies, give graceful relief to the new proscenium, and all the appointments are new, cheerful and artistic. The floor is carpeted with a bright moquette of the richest texture, giving a warm feeling to the rest of the elegant surroundings.

The business office and the manager's and treasurer's private offices are off to the right of the dress-circle entrance. The ladies' reception and toilet appartments are on the same side, with entrance from dress circle foyer, and are very handsomely appointed.

The first three rows of the balcony contain opera seats, reserved at 75 cents each, that are as good as any seats in the house for seeing and hearing.

The new gallery, or third tier, will seat 200 persons, and is a 25 cent department that has long been needed in the Bush. These upper tiers partake of the general improvement of accommodations that pervades the New Bush Street Theatre.

Electric lights from Kearny street to the New Bush, and in front of the theatre, will make the way to it as light as day.

Mr. Leavitt has spared no expense in making his theatre elegant, commodious and safe, and all that modern improvements can do for it has been done.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Theatre Comique, Butte City, Jan. 21: Chas. Reese and his midgets, Hattie Philipps, May Mauri, Gerry Sisters, Oatley Sisters, Millie Thomas, May Runnels, Minnie Mearle, Maggie Foster, Ada Clifton, Lulu Powers, Jessie Forrester and Thatcher & Drew. Jan. 25: Prof. Klein. Jan. 28: Hanson & Colton, Billy Mack, Hattie Wade, Lulu Roze and Lydia York.

Show Topics, published by James P. Cuddy, of Kansas City, reflects well deserved credit upon its publisher. It is full of bright readable gossip in the eight pages of reading matter. There is not a dull line. The Western circuit is to be congratulated in having such a live paper issued in its interest.

The Clifford Sisters are playing an engagement at Perry Bros.' Club Theatre, Los Angeles. Booked by FIGARO Agency.

Ned Barry, the motto and descriptive vocalist and an old favorite, puts in an appearance at the Bella Union this week.

Alice Mansfield, one of our best vocalists and balladists, has played a long engagement at the Eureka.

Thos. Ryan and J. Larsen have purchased the Vienna Garden Theatre and will open it Saturday, Feb. 2nd, as a first-class family resort. The boxes lately put in will be removed and the house and garden put in complete order. The stage management will be under the direction of George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, who proved so efficient a manager at the Wigwam. We wish the new proprietors no end of good luck.

The Orpheum has a wonderful strong bill this week. The musical pavers are odd and taking, and create a lot of fun.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

SELINA DELARO.

Selina Delaro, the singer, who has been popular in opera bouffe for several years in England and America, died suddenly at her home in New York on Wednesday night at the age of 37. She was the original Carmen in English, and was born in London. She was an English Jewess, a beautiful, gifted and accomplished woman. She received her early training and her education in France. Originally she sang in grand opera; but about eight years ago M. B. Leavitt secured her for his Grand English Burlesque Company and brought her to America. Selina Delaro achieved success in many lines; as a prima donna in both grand opera and opera bouffe, as an actress, a manager of theatres, as a feuilletonist, a writer of plays, and latterly as a novelist—the last emination of her genius. A few years ago she caught a cold that finally resulted in consumption, and for three years she has been bravely

EVENING EDITION

FRIDAY.....JANUARY 25, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre opens to-morrow night.

The opening attraction is Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, in Columbus, her latest success, a new burlesque by Geo. Dance.

The cast, which can be found in the programme on first page, calls for twenty-five burlesquers, headed by Miss Thompson as Columbus; and closing with a genuine native American reporter, who discovers and interviews Columbus as soon as he discovers America.

"Columbus" is a pronounced and happy success. It is "one of the best burlesques ever seen in this country." "Its music is charming, the libretto fairly witty, and the principal members of the company are very happy in their roles." "Columbus" comes to us with plenty of such endorsements.

The New Bush Street Theatre has new boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third tier gallery, new drop-curtain, new scenery, new proscenium and new decorations and appointments everywhere, provided at the cost of $40,000.

The stage and parquet floor have been lowered The new proscenium gives the stage four feet more depth and greater elevation. There are eight proscenium boxes, handsomely appointed, and very cosy.

The prevailing tint of the walls is similar to that of the Baldwin, though lighter and more delicate in hue.

The New Bush Street Theatre will not only be an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated, and absolutely safe, but will also be a notably commodious and comfortable theatre.

The new scale of prices are: Orchestra and dress circle seats, reserved, $1; balcony, reserved, 75 cents (admission, 50 cents); new gallery, 25 cents.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company are in their last week here in their light and entertaining operas, so acceptably sung and so handsomely staged and costumed.

Mynheer Jan has its last performance tonight.

Erminie will be the bill for Saturday's matinee. Nanon will be given for Saturday night.

Treasurer McCullough's complimentary benefit, tendered jointly by Managers Hayman and Carleton, comes off on Sunday night. The Carleton Opera Company make their last appearance for the occasion in "Mikado." Get your seats early.

Modjeska commences her season next week in a strong production of Cymbeline.

Box sheet now open.

Alcazar Theatre.

Miss Kate Mayhew, a talented actress, not unknown to Californians, appeared here this week as Fanchon, the Cricket.

Miss Mayhew is a charming Cricket, full of pathos, perversity, willfulness and affection, and she has lost none of her sympathetic magnetism, neatness and finish of execution. She resumes her success of past years. Branscombe, Stockwell, Carden, Miss Brandon and the rest of the support are well up in their parts and the play is handsomely staged by the Alcazar management.

—o—

Katie Putnam, a universal favorite as an actress, talented, comical and magnetic, makes her appearance here next week, supported by her own company in her popular comedy of "Erma, the Elf." The piece has been a great success in Eastern fields. For cast see extra programme announcement in adjoining column.

Grand Opera House.

Saturday night the last performance of Black Crook will be given, with all its rich appointments, a strong cast, gorgeous scenery, grand ballets and spectacular effects.

The grand ballet appear in Imre Kiralfy's Operatic Ballet, introducing ten character ballets, dancing to the airs of as many different popular operas, and in the grand march in act.

Besides, there are the Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes, in their new daring dive from the [illegible]

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is playing a successful season at the Standard.

The strong play, Claire and the Forgemaster, produced this week, gave our theatre-goers an opportunity to mentally compare Jeffreys-Lewis' impersonation of the heroine with that recently presented to us by Jane Hading at the Baldwin.

Miss Lewis is greeted by a large audience and she is giving a splendid portrayal of Claire, losing nothing by comparison with Madame Hading. All the company render good support. It now looks as if the Standard was in a fair way to once more become a paying house.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

The emotional drama of "Moths," a strong society play, will be the next production.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Orpheum Opera House.

A constellation of specialty talent, known as Pavenelli's All-Star Specialty Company, will scintillate on the Orpheum's board this week in a diversified round of new specialties.

The company is composed of Pavenelli's Musical Pavers, a very novel musical act; Walter Le Roy, a jaunty Irish comedian; the Bros. Leondor, acrobats; the Seaberts, tumblers, and Rolyat, the equilibrium Prince. Jas. T. Kelly, the eccentric comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford, soubrette and vocalist, in specialties and afterpiece, are added to the company.

Miss Tillie Morrissey, a very fine soprano vocalist, a strong addition to the company; George H. Wood, the favorite comedian, and Quigley's Troupe of Famous Leapers, continue this week.

Matinee Sunday.

Next week, Cantelis & Pastor's Madrid Opera Company will be the attraction.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week, first time here of the picturesque American drama of "The Forty-Niners," with Darrell Vinton in four different characters. The scenes of the play are in the Sierras and in the mining camps, and the play is full of stirring incidents and startling tableaux.

It is hard to say which one of the four characters Mr. Vinton portrays the best, where all are so good, and it is evident his audiences are of the same opinion; Jas. M. Brophy is good as Gaspard Leroy, reading his text with fine effect; Elleford as Wun Lung is very funny, especially in the third act where he attempts love-making; Essie Tittel is really the sunlight of the piece, playing with charming pathos; Jessie Norton is always acceptable, no matter what she may attempt.

Next week's attraction will be Mr. Charles Thornton, in the frontier drama, entitled Simon Kenton.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of Female Mastodons, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their original and first production of the French Masquerade Ball at Woodward's Gardens, with a new version of the Can-Can.

Miss Susie Wild, vocalist; Ned Barry and the Whalens are the new faces this week.

Minnie Pierce, trapeze artist; John P. Brace W. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

"Sailor Brown," the Eastern boxer, in a glove contest with Paddy Gorman every night and the French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

Leo & Mason, acrobats, and Miss Rita Gardner, vocalists, are the new faces this week.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Effie Hull, and others, form the female staff of the company.

Next week, June Dennis and Wiley Evans, the well-known boxers, will be the new attraction. On Friday evening one of them will contest with any local boxer an eight-around match for a valuable trophy.

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The features in the museum combine a great amount of curiosities in its two large museum halls, which are partially specified in the page on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Belle Manning, Blanche Leslie, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Marie Morina and Miss Blanche Leslie are the new faces this week.

John Miller, comedian, and McPherson, the favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

A Fusilade of Fun opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio and the comedy, Rival Tradesmen, more olio features, [illegible]

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are seven lady vocalists this week.

Capt. Martin and Prof. H. Melville, in a grand fencing contest for twenty points, continue the new attraction for this week.

Lillie Mason, Alice Mansfield, Lulu Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Musical Fletcher, Bart Kennedy, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. Take a hint and drop into the Eureka, one of the coziest houses in town. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

FULL PROGRAMMES of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco can be found in FIGARO—the only paper that has them.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Prof. Kennedy, the subduer of human wills, appears for a return engagement, for one week only, at the Orpheum this week.

The musical pavers are odd and taking, and create a lot of fun at the Bella Union this week.

Theatre Comique, Butte City, Jan. 21: Chas. Reese and his midgets, Hattie Philippe, May Mauri, Gerry Sisters, Oatley Sisters, Millie Thomas, May Runnele, Minnie Mearle, Maggie Foster, Ada Clifton, Lulu Powers, Jessie Forrester and Thatcher & Drew. Jan. 25: Prof. Klein. Jan. 28: Hanson & Colton, Billy Mack, Hattie Wade, Lulu Roze and Lydia York.

The Clifford Sisters are playing an engagement at Perry Bros.' Club Theatre, Los Angeles. Booked by FIGARO Agency.

Mr. J. Larsen has purchased the Vienna Garden Theatre and appointments and will open it Saturday next as a first-class family resort. The boxes lately put in will be removed and the house and garden put in complete order. The stage management will be under the direction of George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, who proved so efficient a manager at the Wigwam. We wish the new proprietor no end of good luck.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

LEAVITT'S NEW BUSH ST. THEATRE.

Mr. Leavitt's reconstructed Bush Street Theatre is second to none in beauty, safety and general comfort, and he is deserving of great credit for his efforts to give the amusement-loving public of this city so elegant a theatre, and for the liberal outlay of so much money to achieve that purpose.

The old Bush has entirely disappeared. No traces of it are to be perceived in the New Bush Street Theatre. The theatre has been entirely refitted from the entrances to the back wall of the stage, and it may be truly said that only the bare walls of the inside of the old place have been left standing.

A new, wide, handsomely decorated entrance is the first thing that strikes the visitor. Inside the theatre all is changed. A rich and soft color surrounds you, an artistic blending of harmonious hues in the latest style of theatre decorations. New opera seats throughout the house attract the gaze by their neatness, and new formations of aisles divide them. The eight new boxes, now called balconies, give graceful relief to the new proscenium, and all the appointments are new, cheerful and artistic. The floor is carpeted with a bright moquette of the richest texture, giving a warm feeling to the rest of the elegant surroundings.

The business office and the manager's and treasurer's private offices are off to the right of the dress-circle entrance. The ladies' reception and toilet appartments are on the same side, with entrance from dress circle and foyer, and are very handsomely appointed.

The first three rows of the balcony contain opera seats, reserved at 75 cents each, that are as good as any seats in the house for seeing and hearing.

The new gallery, or third tier, will seat 500 persons, and is a 25 cent department that has long been needed in the Bush. These upper tiers partake of the general improvement of accommodations that pervades the New Bush Street Theatre.

Electric lights from Kearny street to the New Bush, and in front of the theatre, make the way to it as light as day.

Mr. Leavitt has spared no expense in making his theatre elegant, commodious and safe, and all that modern improvements can do for it has been done.

As a popular investment for anyone with a small capital the Petaluma Incubator is recommended. With that no one need be afraid to count his chickens before they are hatched.

The butcher who had his whole stock at-

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The New Bush St. Theatre opened with Lydia Thompson and her great burlesque Co. on Saturday night. The opening piece is Columbus, a clever, witty and picturesque burlesque. See cast in the programme advertisement. Of course, the theatre was crowded from orchestra to third circle. Everybody had a word of praise for the new house and company.

Dan McCullough, treasurer of the Baldwin Theatre, had a benefit as was a benefit on Sunday evening at that theatre. The Carleton Opera Co. made their last appearance on the occasion, in their Mikado.

The People's Theatre (formerly the Buckingham) opens on Saturday night, devoted to dramatic business. The boxes are being taken out and a gallery put in. Geo. H. Heath's combination, in Ewing's "Widow Bedot," will be the opening attraction. Popular price, 10 cents, will rule.

The new drop curtain at the Bush is a prospective view from the Rialto, Venice, of the Grand Canal, painted by J. R. Wilkins. It is a fine work of art, correct in prospective, bright in color and elaborately finished. When the red curtain was rolled up on the opening night revealing the new drop it received a merited round of applause.

Jane Hading has been much pleased with Mexico, but M. Ccquelin cannot stand the rarified air of that country.

Mary Dickens, a daughter of the novelist, is playing a part in Little Lord Fauntleroy on the English provincial stage.

The New Beautiful Bush Street Theatre is what they call it now.

Patti sails from France for Buenos Ayres to commence her South American tour on Feb. 5th.

Miss Dot Rossmore has a strong character in Claire and the Forgemaster, at the Standard, and does it justice besides presenting a notable stage presence.

Frank Peters retired from Jeffreys-Lewis' company to go East with Imre Kiralfy. Scott Cooper will take his place in the Standard company.

George Atkins, for a number of years past stage manager of the Vienna Garden, has been engaged as comedian for Kiralfy's company. He will resume his old part of Grippo in Black Crook at Los Angeles.

L. R. Stockwell, the popular comedian, leaves for New York this week.

The Grismer-Davies Co. will follow Katie Putnam at the Alcazar.

It is said that $2,000,000 has already been pledged for the erection of a mammoth amusement temple on the site of the Madison Square Garden, N. Y.

A new theatre, especially devoted to French operetta, with Miss Horwitz, an American, as prima donna, has just been opened in St Petersburg.

The new box office at the Bush is a double-header, built between the partition that divides the dress circle and balcony entrances, with sales windows opening on each entrance, after the latest Eastern style.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, supported by a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, "The Fall of the Bastile" and the "Corsican Brothers," for one week commencing Monday, Feb. 11th. The performances of the week will be for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights Ancient Order of United Workmen, after which Mr. Warner will continue at the Grand.

Gossip has it that Mrs. Yeamans and Marcus Moriarty will soon retire from Harrigan's Park Theatre Co.

The new scale of prices at the New Bush Street Theatre are: Dress circle and orchestra seats, $1, without extra to reserve; balcony 50 cents, reserved seats 75 cents; gallery (a new addition to the Bush) 25 cents.

The New York critics are not altogether friendly in their criticism of Mrs. Langtry as Lady Macbeth.

It is rumored that Chas. H. Hoyt is writing a tragedy to be called "A Hole in His Shirt."

SELINA DELARO.

Selina Delaro, the singer, who has been popular in opera bouffe for several years in England and America, died suddenly at her home in New York on Wednesday night at the age of 37. She was the original Carmen in English, and was born in London. She was an English Jewess, a beautiful, gifted and accomplished woman. She received her early training and her education in France. Originally she sang in grand opera; but about eight years ago M. B. Leavitt secured her for his Grand English Burlesque Company and brought her to America. Selina Delaro achieved success in many lines; as a prima donna in both grand opera and opera bouffe, as an actress, a manager of theatres, as a feuilletonist, a writer of plays, and latterly as a novelist—the last emination of her genius. A few years ago she caught a cold that finally resulted in consumption, and for three years she has been bravely facing death. Not fearing to die; but longing to live to exercise the gifts so bountifully bestowed upon her. She maintained a cheerful demeanor and worked with unabated zeal until the last.

Young Poet—You read my little poem, Mr. Sheerce? Editor—Yes. It was quite pathetic. It excited considerable comment in the office. The boy who attends to such matters informs me that it was the first

EVENING EDITION

MONDAY.....JANUARY 28, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it. It is not only an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated, and absolutely safe, but also a notably commodious and comfortable theatre.

The opening attraction is Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, in Columbus, her latest success, a new burlesque by Geo. Dance.

Columbus will draw. There are abundant incidents, plenty to attract the eye and ear as the piece moves on, and a fine large company of entire new people in an entertaining performance. It is lively, musical, grotesque and bustling. There are fine solos, entertaining specialties, charming groupings, concerted pieces, and fun and frolic in every act.

Lydia Thompson, of course, shines as the star of the scintillating burlesquers, and is the magnet of the constellation. Everything she does is done with spirit and intelligence, and she is still the leading burlesque actress.

The company have talent and culture to recommend them. The principals in support are Marie Williams, whom the Chronicle claims is "another whose acting is that of the thoroughly trained burlesque actress, who carries every point in the business at her finger ends and her toe ends." Miss Jenoure is a clever woman, who has a great deal of soubrette talent and sings remarkably well. Miss Alliston has most humor of all and dances very gracefully. Miss Walters plays the heroine charmingly. Rose Newham's kick—to quote from the Chronicle again—"is the principal feature of the performance. It is the high kick and the most agile that has yet been seen. The list of girls is very long, and they are all agreeable."

J. B. Radcliffe is a fine burlesque actor. He makes all his points as the "bad man" neatly and in character. His specialties are notedly good. Louis Kellerher and Chas. H. Kennedy are also good comedians that do clever work. Harry Starr, as the primitive American newspaper reporter, gives the part a professional flavor of the interviewer. Master Fitz-James' remarkable voice is sure of an encore.

The cast, which can be found in the programme on first page, calls for twenty-five burlesquers, headed by Miss Thompson as Columbus; and closing with a genuine native American reporter, who discovers and interviews Columbus as soon as he discovers America.

The new scale of prices are: Orchestra and dress circle seats, reserved, $1; balcony, reserved, 75 cents (admission, 50 cents); new gallery, 25 cents.

Baldwin Theatre.

Modjeska commences her season this week in a strong production of Cymbeline.

Cymbeline is one of the most picturesque of Shakespeare's plays. The time is 30 years B. C. The company engaged to support the star is an unusually strong one, and includes four new people from the East.

We have had Cymbeline before. It was first produced in San Francisco in 1856 at the Metropolitan Theatre. A Miss Goddard from Australia was the Imogen, and Junius B. Booth the Iachimo; and again in 1872 at the California with Neilson as Imogen. There can be no doubt as to the success of the revival of Cymbeline at the Baldwin.

Alcazar Theatre.

Katie Putnam, a universal favorite as an actress, talented, comical and magnetic, makes her appearance here this week, supported by her own company in her popular comedy of "Erma, the Elf." The piece has been a great success in Eastern fields. The play is of the spectacular order, and contains some very startling effects, as well as songs and dances.

For cast see programme.

Monday, Feb. 4th, Grismer-Davies Co. open in Bartley Campbell's Fairfax.

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is playing a successful season at the Standard.

Clito and the Forgemaster will be continued this week.

Miss Lewis is greeted by a large audience [illegible] a splendid portrayal of Madame Heding. All the company render good support. It now looks as if the Standard was in a fair way to once more become a paying house.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

The emotional drama of "Moths," a strong society play, will be the next production.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees, 25 and 50 cents.

Grand Opera House.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, supported by a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, The Fall of the Bastile and The Corsican Brothers, for one week commencing Monday, Feb. 11th. The performances of the week will be for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights, Ancient Order of United Workmen, after which Mr. Warner will continue at the Grand.

Orpheum Opera House.

Prof. T. A. Kennedy returns with his wonderful exhibitions of his mysterious mesmeric powers to the Orpheum this week. The Stirk Family also reappear in a diversified round of new specialties; Miss Helen Conklin, soubrette and vocalist, and Mr. John Morrissey, with other talent added.

The performance opens with the comedietta of The Old Gent's Birthday.

For list of company and their specialties see Orpheum programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Cantelis & Pastor's Madrid Opera Co. commence their season of grand opera, in Spanish, at the Orpheum on Feb. 4th. Their season has been postponed in consequence of their being unable to reach here in time to open this week.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week's attraction will be Mr. Charles Thornton, in the frontier drama, entitled Simon Kenton; or, The Hunters of Old Kentuck. A beautiful panorama, 260 feet long, is one of the great features in the production of the piece.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342-1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, opens as a dramatic theatre, at popular prices, Saturday night, with Geo. H. Heath's combination in Ewing's dramatic version of "Widow Bedott," its first appearance in this city. The piece is of the Peck's Bad Boy order, lively and funny, and the cast is an efficient one. Mr. Frank Huffman will hold the managerial reins. The theatre (formerly the Buckingham) will have its boxes removed and the whole space of the building, 50 by 120 feet, will be devoted to the auditorium with a gallery surrounding it. Prices 10 cents; reserved, 25 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of Female Mastodons, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their original and new production of the French Masquerade Ball at Woodward's Gardens, with a new version of the Can-Can.

Pavenelli's Troupe of Musical Pavers, Barth & Lorraine and Annie Lennetta are the new faces this week.

Ned Barry, motto vocalist; the Whalens; Minnie Pierce, trapeze artist; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

This week is the first of Robinson & Cole's Great International Circus of 50 performers; a 42-foot ring on the stage, in which six lady aerial artistes, ten double somersault throwers, ten high vaulters and four funny clowns present their various specialties. The famous Avery Bros., in their flying trapeze act, have been specially engaged. The performing monkey circus is the laughable feature of the show.

The theatre presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

This week, June Dennis and Wiley Evans, the well-known boxers, will be the new attraction. On Friday evening one of them will contest with any local boxer an eight-round match for a valuable trophy.

Miss Maggie Gordan, vocalist, is the new face this week. Munis Leo's version of Joshua Whitcomb commences the evening's entertainment. The French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Effie Hull, and others, form the female staff of the company.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Belle Manning, Blanche Leslie, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Ravenna makes her first appearance this week.

John Miller, comedian, and McPherson, the favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

A Fusilade of Fun opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio and the comedy, Rival Tradesmen, more olio features then the farce, Just from Troy, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are seven lady vocalists this week.

Lillie Mason, Laura White, Lulu Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Musical Fletcher, Bart Kennedy, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. Take a hint and drop into the Eureka, one of the coziest houses in town. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

The funny Farmer Squinton's Trouble forms the dramatic part of the entertainment, in the hands of McDonald, Fletcher, Dunham, Kennedy and Mamie Sanford.

An entire change of programme this week.

The Eureka gives a matinee every Sunday at 2 P. M.

Mrs. Greatman — Why, my dear, where are you going? Mr. Greatman — There is a report out to the effect that I am to be appointed Secetary of the Navy, and I am going around to the natatorium to learn how to swim.

Wild Western journalism is always ready to put the can upon any exploit of mild Eastern journalism. A New York paper, having published a story that the Queen of Portugal had a mustache, a Western paper reprints it with the heading, "God Shave the Queen.

Woman (looking at a house to rent) — "I don't fancy these windows on this side. The people in the next house can look in here and see everything that's going on." Landlord—"If you want the house, madam, I will have the windows boarded up." "How on earth could I get into their [illegible]

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Patti sails from France for Buenos Ayres to commence her South American tour on Feb. 5th.

Miss Dot Rossmore has a strong character in Claire and the Forgemaster, at the Standard, and does it justice besides presenting a notable stage presence.

Frank Peters retires from Jeffreys-Lewis' company to go East with Imre Kiralfy. Scott Cooper will take his place in the Standard company.

George Atkins, for a number of years past stage manager of the Vienna Garden, has been engaged as comedian for Kiralfy's company. He will resume his old part of Grippo in Black Crook at Los Angeles.

L. R. Stockwell, the popular comedian, leaves for New York next week.

The Grismer-Davies Co. will follow Katie Putnam at the Alcazar.

It is said that $2 000 000 has already been pledged for the erection of a mammoth amusement temple on the site of the Madison Square Garden, N. Y.

A new theatre, especially devoted to French operetta, with Miss Horwitz, an American, as prima donna, has just been opened in St Petersburg.

The new box office at the Bush is a double-header, built between the partition that divides the dress circle and balcony entrances, with sales windows opening on each entrance, after the latest Eastern style.

Jay Rial, formerly manager of the Bush and California Theatres, and the bevy of beauties under his charge forming the Lydia Thompson Burlesque Co. arrived Friday.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, supported by a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, "The Fall of the Bastile" and the "Corsican Brothers," for one week commencing Monday, Feb 11th. The performances of the week will be for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights Ancient Order of United Workmen, after which Mr. Warner will continue at the Grand.

The new drop curtain at the Bush is a prospective view from the Rialto, Venice, of the Grand Canal, painted by J. R. Wilkins. It is a fine work of art, correct in prospective, bright in color and elaborately finished.

Dan McCullough, treasurer of the Baldwin Theatre, has his benefit on Sunday evening at the Baldwin Theatre. The Carleton Opera Co. will make their last appearance on this occasion, in their Mikado. The beneficiary is universally popular, and we can bespeak him a rousing benefit.

The New Bush St. Theatre opens with Lydia Thompson and her great burlesque Co. this, Saturday night. The opening piece is Columbus, a clever, witty and picturesque burlesque. See cast and synopsis in the programme advertisement. For particulars regarding the new theatre see notice in amusement department on another page.

Eugene Tompkins gave Booth and Barrett 80 per cent of the receipts during their New York engagement at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, and it is said lost over $1,000 a week doing it.

Gossip has it that Mrs. Yeamans and Marcus Mayarty will soon retire from Harrigan's Park Theatre Co.

The new scale of prices at the New Bush Street Theatre will be: Dress circle and orchestra seats, $1, nothing extra to reserve; balcony 50 cents, reserved seats 75 cents; gallery (a new addition to the Bush) 25 cents.

The New York critics are not altogether friendly in their criticism of Mrs. Langtry as Lady Macbeth.

It is rumored that Chas. H. Hoyt is writing a tragedy to be called "A Hole in His Shirt."

As a popular investment for anyone with a small capital the Petaluma Incubator is recommended. With that no man need be afraid to count his chickens before they are hatched.

The Buffalo man who won his girl by writing love letters to her on $2 bills was a smart fellow. She saved every one of them.

LEAVITT'S NEW BUSH ST. THEATRE.

Mr. Leavitt has now a theatre in San Francisco second to none in beauty, safety and general comfort, and he is deserving of great credit for his efforts to give the amusement-loving public of this city so elegant a theatre, and for the liberal outlay of so much money to achieve that purpose.

The old Bush has entirely disappeared. No traces of it are to be perceived in the New Bush Street Theatre. The theatre has been entirely refitted from the entrances to the back wall of the stage, and it may be truly said that only the bare walls of the inside of the old place have been left standing.

A new, wide, handsomely decorated entrance is the first thing that strikes the visitor. Inside the theatre all is changed. A rich and soft color surrounds you, an artistic blending of harmonious hues in the latest style of theatre decorations. New opera seats throughout the house attract the gaze by their neatness, and new formations of aisles divide them. The eight new boxes, now called balconies, give graceful relief to the new proscenium, and all the appointments are new, cheerful and artistic. The floor is carpeted with a bright moquette of the richest texture, giving a warm feeling to the rest of the elegant surroundings.

The business office and the manager's and treasurer's private offices are off to the right of the dress-circle entrance. The ladies' reception and toilet appartments are on the same side, with entrance from dress circle foyer, and are very handsomely appointed.

The first three rows of the balcony contain opera seats, reserved at 75 cents each, that are as good as any seats in the house for seeing and hearing.

The new gallery, or third tier, will seat 200 persons, and is a 25 cent department that has long been needed in the Bush. These upper tiers partake of the general improvement of accommodations that pervades the New Bush Street Theatre.

Electric lights from Kearny street to the New Bush, and in front of the theatre, will make the way to it as light as day.

Mr. Leavitt has spared no expense in making his theatre elegant, commodious and safe, and all that modern improvements can do for it has been done.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Prof. Kennedy, the subduer of human wills, appears for a return engagement, for one week only, at the Orpheum next week.

Theatre Comique, Butte City, Jan. 21: Chas. Reese and his midgets, Hattie Philipps, May Mauri, Gerry Sisters, Ottley Sisters, Millie Thomas, May Runnels, Minnie Mearle, Maggie Foster, Ada Clifton, Lulu Powers, Jessie Forrester and Thatcher & Drew. Jan. 25: Prof. Kleir. Jan. 28: Hanson & Colton, Billy Mack, Hattie Wade, Lulu Rose and Lydia York.

The Clifford Sisters are playing an engagement at Perry Bros.' Club Theatre, Los Angeles. Booked by FIGARO Agency.

Ned Barry, the motto and descriptive vocalist and an old favorite, puts in an appearance at the Bella Union this week.

Mr. J. Larsen has purchased the Vienna Garden Theatre and appointments and will open it Saturday next as a first-class family resort. The boxes lately put in will be removed and the house and garden put in complete order. The stage management will be under the direction of George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, who proved so efficient a manager at the Wigwam. We wish the new proprietor no end of good luck.

The Orpheum has a wonderful strong bill this week. The musical pavers are odd and taking, and create a lot of fun.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

SELINA DELARO.

Selina Delaro, the singer, who has been popular in opera bouffe for several years in England and America, died suddenly at her home in New York on Wednesday night at the age of 37. She was the original Carmen in English, and was born in London. She was an English Jewess, a beautiful, gifted and accomplished woman. She received her early training and her education in France. Originally she sang in grand opera; but about eight years ago M. B. Leavitt secured her for his Grand English Burlesque Company and brought her to America. Selina Delaro achieved success in many lines; as a prima donna in both grand opera and opera bouffe, as an actress, a manager of theatres, as a feuilletonist, a writer of plays, and latterly as a novelist—the last emination of her genius. A few years ago she caught a cold that finally resulted in consumption, and for three years she has been bravely facing death. Not fearing to die; but longing to live to exercise the gifts so bountifully bestowed upon her. She maintained a cheerful demeanor and worked with unabated zeal until the last.

Young Poet—You read my little poem, Mr. Shearce? Editor—Yes. It was quite pathetic. It excited considerable comment in the office. The boy who attends to such matters informs me that it was the first thing that made the waste-basket weep.

EVENING EDITION

SATURDAY.....JANUARY 26, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre opens to-night.

The opening attraction is Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, in Columbus, her latest success, a new burlesque by Geo. Dance.

The cast, which can be found in the programme on first page, calls for twenty-five burlesquers, headed by Miss Thompson as Columbus; and closing with a genuine native American reporter, who discovers and interviews Columbus as soon as he discovers America.

"Columbus" is a pronounced and happy success. It is "one of the best burlesques ever seen in this country." "Its music is charming, the libretto fairly witty, and the principal members of the company are very happy in their roles." "Columbus" comes to us with plenty of such endorsements.

The New Bush Street Theatre has new boxes, new seats, new stage, new entrances—for dress circle and balcony—the addition of a new third floor gallery, new drop-curtain, new scenery, new proscenium and new decorations and appointments everywhere, provided at the cost of $50,000.

The stage and parquet floor have been lowered The new proscenium gives the stage four feet more depth and greater elevation. There are eight proscenium boxes, handsomely appointed, and very cosy.

The prevailing tint of the walls is similar to that of the Baldwin, though lighter and more delicate in hue.

The New Bush Street Theatre will not only be an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated, and absolutely safe, but will also be a notably commodious and comfortable theatre.

The new scale of prices are: Orchestra and dress circle seats, reserved, $1; balcony, reserved, 75 cents (admission, 50 cents); new gallery, 25 cents.

Baldwin Theatre.

The Carleton Opera Company are in their last week here in their light and entertaining operas, so acceptably sung and so handsomely staged and costumed.

Nanon will be given for Saturday night.

Treasurer McCullough's complimentary benefit, tendered jointly by Managers Hayman and Carleton, comes off on Sunday night. The Carleton Opera Company make their last appearance for the occasion in "Mikado." Get your seats early.

Modjeska commences her season next week in a strong production of Cymbeline.

Cymbeline is one of the most picturesque of Shakespeare's plays. The time is 20 years B. C. The company engaged to support the star is an unusually strong one, and includes four new people from the East.

Alcazar Theatre.

Miss Kate Mayhew, a talented actress, not unknown to Californians, appeared here this week as Fanchon, the Cricket.

Miss Mayhew is a charming Cricket, full of pathos, perverrity, willfulness and affection, and she has lost none of her sympathetic magnetism, neatness and finish of execution. She sustains her success of past years. Brandscombe, Stockwell, Carden, Miss Brandon and the rest of the support are well up in their parts and the play is handsomely staged by the Alcazar management.

—o—

Zelda Putnam, a universal favorite as an actress talented, comical and magnetic, makes her appearance here next week, supported by her own company in her popular comedy of "Erma, the Elf." The piece has been a great success in Eastern fields. For cast see extra programme announcement in adjoining column.

Grand Opera House.

Saturday night the last performance of Black Crook will be given, with all its rich appointments, strong cast, gorgeous scenery, grand tableaux and spectacular effects.

The grand ballet appear in Imre Kiralfy's Spectacle Ballet, introducing ten character dances, dancing to the airs of as many different popular operas, and in the grand march in last act.

Besides, there are the Onger Sisters, the great aerial artistes, in their new daring dive from the highest trapeze bar, turning a somersault, to the net below, a distance of fifty feet; Bibb & Bobb, musical clowns; the Dare Brothers, [illegible]

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is playing a successful season at the Standard.

The strong play, Claire and the Forgemaster, produced this week, gave our theatre-goers an opportunity to mentally compare Jeffreys-Lewis' impersonation of the heroine with that recently presented to us by Jane Hading at the Baldwin.

Miss Lewis is greeted by a large audience and she is giving a splendid portrayal of Claire, losing nothing by comparison with Madame Hading. All the company render good support. It now looks as if the Standard was in a fair way to once more become a paying house.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

The emotional drama of "Moths," a strong society play, will be the next production.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees, 25 and 50 cents.

Claire and the Forgemaster will be continued next week.

Orpheum Opera House.

Pavenelli's All-Star Specialty Co., strong in talent, scintillate on the Orpheum's boards for the last time on Sunday night.

For list of company and their specialties see Orpheum programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Prof. T. A. Kennedy returns with his wonderful exhibitions of his mysterious mesmeric powers to the Orpheum next week. The Stirk Family also reappear in a diversified round of new specialties, with other talent added.

Cantelis & Pastor's Madrid Opera Co. commence their season of grand opera, in Spanish, at the Orpheum on Feb. 4th. Their season has been postponed in consequence of their being unable to reach here in time to open next week

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week, first time here of the picturesque American drama of "The Forty-Niners," with Darrell Vinton in four different characters. The scenes of the play are in the Sierras and in the mining camps, and the play is full of stirring incidents and startling tableaux.

It is hard to say which one of the four characters Mr. Vinton portrays the best, where all are so good, and it is evident his audiences are of the same opinion; Jas. M. Brophy is good as Gaspard Leroy, reading his text with fine effect; Zilleford as Wun Lung is very funny, especially in the third act where he attempts love-making; Essie Tittel is really the sunlight of the piece, playing with charming pathos; Jessie Norton is always acceptable, no matter what she may attempt.

Next week's attraction will be Mr. Charles Thornton, in the frontier drama, entitled Simon Kenton.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Bella Union Theatre.

Miss Susie Wild, vocalist; Ned Barry and the Whalens are the new faces this week.

Minnie Pierce, trapeze artist; John P. Brace F. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

"Sailor Brown," the Eastern boxer, in a glove contest with Paddy Gorman every night and the French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

Leo & Mason, acrobats, and Miss Rita Gardner, vocalists, are the new faces this week.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Effie Hull, and others, form the female staff of the company.

Next week, June Dennis and Wiley Evans, the well-known boxers, will be the new attraction. On Friday evening one of them will contest with any local boxer an eight-around match for a valuable trophy.

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

The theatre presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern

Original Theatre Comique.

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Belle Manning, Blanche Leslie, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Marie Morina and Miss Blanche Leslie are the new faces this week.

John Miller, comedian, and McPherson, the favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

A Fusilade of Fun opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio and the comedy, Rival Tradesmen, more olio features, then the farce, Troubles in Sonoma, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage depart-

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coolest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are seven lady vocalists this week.

Capt. Martin and Prof. H. Melville, in a grand fencing contest for twenty points, continue the new attraction for this week.

Lillie Mason, Alice Mansfield, Lulu Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Musical Fletcher, Bart Kennedy, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. Take a hint and drop into the Eureka, one of the coolest houses in town. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

The funny act, Three of a Kind, forms the dramatic part of the entertainment, in the hands of McDonald, Fletcher, Dunham, Ken-

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Mr. J. Larsen has purchased the Vienna Garden Theatre and appointments and will open it Saturday next as a first-class family resort. The boxes have been torn out and the theatre renovated, painted and redecorated. The stage management will be under the direction of George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, who proved so efficient a manager at the Wigwam. For list of company see programme announcement of opening in FIGARO. The only paper that has it.

Cort's Standard, Seattle, Jan. 28th: Romalo Bros., Adele Purvis, Bessie Bell, Leotzo, Derville Family, Eugene Ward, Lillie Murphy, Cardello & Vidella, Maud Clayton, Durell Bros., Fitz & Devine, Annie Ryner, Ida Howell, Dot Melville, Ida Chester and the stock company.

Elite Theatre, Tombstone, Jan. 21st: Post & Ashley, Gilmore & Reynolds, Miss Rainville, Tillie Bouton, Harry Conley, Ella Gardner and Charles A. Keene. Jan. 28th: Atkinson Sisters.

Coliseum, Helena, Jan. 28th: The Pierces, Gorman & Thompson, Hughes & Orford, Thos. J. Ripley, Holmes Grover and May De Lorme, Kittie Chapman, Ella Sommerton and the old favorites retained.

Prof. Kennedy, the subduer of human wills, appears for a return engagement, for one week only, at the Orpheum this week.

The Clifford Sisters are playing an engagement at Perry Bros.' Club Theatre, Los Angeles. Booked by FIGARO Agency.

The Comique has a good company this week and they present a very attractive bill. The first part selections are new and pleasing, and the afterpieces and interludes are full of fun and humor.

At the Eureka the unusually large company have been giving entire satisfaction. The ladies are good singers, and contribute greatly to the evening's enjoyment.

Woman (looking at a house to rent) — "I don't fancy these windows on this side. The people in the next house can look in here and see everything that's going on." Landlord—"If you want the house, madam, I will have the windows boarded up." "How on earth could I see into their windows then?"

First Kentuckian—Say, Colonel, there's a Mormon elder down the road preachin' to a crowd o' young women an' singing "Would I Were a Bird!" Second Kentuckian—Well, I kin furnish the feathers. You git some tar to stick 'em on.

Twenty years hence—"Bub, what time is this elevator due?" "T'ree o'clock; but dare's sumpin' broke on de forty-fire' floor. She stopped goin up, seze it'll be 'bout a half hour late. Better go in de waitin'-room an' set down."

"Waiter, bring me some Eastport herrings in cotton seed oil."

"Not on the bill, sah."

"Never mind the bill—bring me a box of sardines."

Book Agent—I would like to show you the very latest English cyclopedia. Old Timer—No sir; I could never learn to ride one at my time of life."

Husband (getting ready for the theatre)—My dear, what in the world are you taking that newspaper along for? Wife (coldly)—To read between the acts.

The taxidermist who is cutting up Adam Forepaugh's Chief begins to realise that he has got an elephant on his hands. He is sick of the contract.

Before marriage it is trimming a matching and afterward it is matching a trimming; and that's what dislocates a man's immortal soul.

The question of the day—Would the banishment of the bustle signify a lowering of the position of the newspaper in the social world?

Hogarth could sketch any nose that pleased him on his thumb nail. Some people could practice the sculptor's art under theirs.

A glance at the stage as it is now conducted seems to indicate that Worth makes the star, the want of him the ballet girl.

What is it that gives yet satisfies expectation? "Next" — in barber shop.

The modern pilgrim takes a painful interest in his bunion's progress.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The demand for tickets for the Pastor & Cantile's Madrid Spanish opera season at the Orpheum is very encouraging. Many season tickets have been disposed of at $10—good for the two weeks, eighteen performances, including Saturday and Sunday matinees.

Charles Townley, a broken-down actor who had quit the profession several years ago because of his habits of inebrity, committed suicide at Livingston, Montana, on the 25th, with morphine. Townley was a man who had known better days. He was at one time an actor in the Chicago, St. Louis and Pacific Coast theatres.

Mrs. Langtry proposes to vigorously contest Nadage Doree's suit for damages for alleged breach of contract.

Billy Birch is organising a fine minstrel company for the road, to begin the season at Tony Pastor's theatre.

The grotesque dwarf comedian Little Tich, of the Crystal Slipper company, is shortly to be married at Chicago to Laura Brooks, of the chorus.

Helen Dauvray, now in Paris, denies the report that she is to act with Joseph Jefferson next season.

A late Cincinnati paper charges New York box office ticket sellers with chronic impoliteness. This is at variance with the facts. Probably the writer of that fiction had been to a Harlem tent show.

Jerome Hopkins will give his American oratorio at St. James' Hall, London, a week hence.

The New Bush St. Theatre opened with Lydia Thompson and her great burlesque Co. on Saturday night. The opening piece is Columbus, a clever, witty and picturesque burlesque. See cast in the programme advertisement. Of course, the theatre was crowded from orchestra to third circle. Everybody had a word of praise for the new house and company.

The People's Theatre (formerly the Buckingham) opens on Saturday night, devoted to dramatic business. The boxes are being taken out and a gallery put in. Geo. H. Heath's combination, in Ewing's "Widow Bedot," will be the opening attraction. Popular price, 10 cents, will rule.

Jane Hading has been much pleased with Mexico, but M. Coquelin cannot stand the rarified air of that country.

Mary Dickens, a daughter of the novelist, is playing a part in Little Lord Fauntleroy on the English provincial stage.

The New Beautiful Bush Street Theatre is what they call it now.

Patti sails from France for Buenos Ayres to commence her South American tour on Feb. 5th.

Miss Dot Rossmore has a strong character in Claire and the Forgemaster, at the Standard, and does it justice besides presenting a notable stage presence.

Frank Peters retired from Jeffreys-Lewis' company to go East with Imre Kiralfy. Scott Cooper will take his place in the Standard company.

George Atkins, for a number of years past stage manager of the Vienna Garden, has been engaged as comedian for Kiralfy's company. He will resume his old part of Grippo in Black Crook at Los Angeles.

L. R. Stockwell, the popular comedian, leaves for New York this week.

The Grismer-Davies Co. will follow Katie Putnam at the Alcazar.

It is said that $2,000,000 has already been pledged for the erection of a mammoth amusement temple on the site of the Madison Square Garden, N. Y.

A new theatre, especially devoted to French operetta, with Miss Horwitz, an American, as prima donna, has just been opened in St Petersburg.

The new box office at the Bush is a double-header, built between the partition that divides the dress circle and balcony entrances, with sales windows opening on each entrance, after the latest Eastern style.

Repentant son—Mother, you warned me when I married Miss de Pink that I'd made my bed and must lie on it. Mother—Indeed I did. "Well, Mother I can stand the bed, but I do wish you'd come and superintend the cooking."

Blotterwick—I see that the bustle is no longer worn. His Wife—Where did you see that, my dear? Blotterwick (meekly)—In the newspaper. His Wife—(sharply)—Look at me Blotterwick?

Freddy—I certainly wouldn't have done it, I assure you, if you hadn't encouraged me by by puckering up your lips. Neil—I was just g-going t-to whistle. Freddy—For help? Neil—No—for luck.

"What will be the end of the human race?" inquired the orator, and one fellow in the audience remarked that if cremation continued to grow in popularity the race would end in a dead heat.

Teacher—Samuel, which animal, outside of man, has the most brains? Samuel—The hog. Teacher (surprised)—The hog? Samuel—Yes sir: he has a hogshead full.

Anarchistic Orator—Vhere, Vhere, shentlemans, do you see rags and tatters and complaints aboud poverty? Vhere I say ——Voice—In the saloons.

"The more hurry the less speed," as the newspaper man said when he jammed his paste brush into the inkstand.

If you ever split your sides with laughter run till you get a stitch in them.

There are some men who cannot comprehend that very frequently in life the game is not worth the candle. Ben Jackson was one of them. "That makes the tenth match you have struck. What are you looking for?" asked his room-mate one evening, as Ben was striking a match and looking under the table. "I dropped a match, and I am trying to find it," replied Ben.

A gentleman was entering the Senate gallery at Washington when he chanced to meet a friend coming out. "Hello!" he said "what's going on? "Nothing just now, Mr. Evarts has been addressing the Senate." "Has he? I'm sorry I missed that." "Yes, it was a great treat. He spoke for more than four hours." "What about?" "He didn't say."

Notice to Stage Managers.

We cannot make changes in Programmes after ten P. M. All changes handed in after that hour will have to lay over until next day.

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it. It is not only an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated, and absolutely safe, but also a notably commodious and comfortable theatre.

The opening attraction is Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, in Columbus, her latest success, a new burlesque by Geo. Dance.

Columbus is good There are abundant incidents, plenty to attract the eye and ear as the piece moves on, and a fine large company of entire new people in an entertaining performance. It is lively, musical, grotesque and bustling. There are fine solos, entertaining specialties, charming groupings, concerted pieces, and fun and frolic in every act.

Lydia Thompson, of course, shines as the star of the scintillating burlesquers, and is the magnet of the constellation. Everything she does is done with spirit and intelligence, and she is still the leading burlesque actress.

The company have talent and culture to recommend them. The principals in support are Marie Williams, whom the Chronicle claims is "another whose acting is that of the thoroughly trained burlesque actress, who carries every point in the business at her finger ends and her toe ends." Miss Jenoure is a clever woman, who has a great deal of soubrette talent and sings remarkably well. Miss Allison has most humor of all and dances very gracefully. Miss Walters plays the heroine charmingly. Rose Newham's kick—to quote from the Chronicle again—"is the principal feature of the performance. It is the high kick and the most agile that has yet been seen. The list of girls is very long, and they are all agreeable."

J. B. Radcliffe is a fine burlesque actor. He makes all his points as the "bad man" neatly and in character. His specialties are notedly good. Louis Kellerher and Chas. H. Kennedy are also good comedians that do clever work. Harry Starr, as the primitive American newspaper reporter, gives the part a professional flavor of the interviewer. Master Fitz-James' remarkable voice is sure of an encore.

The cast, which can be found in the programme on first page, calls for twenty-five burlesquers, headed by Miss Thompson as Columbus; and closing with a genuine native American reporter, who discovers and interviews Columbus as soon as he discovers America.

Good as Columbus is, it must make way for another bright particular of the repertoire on Monday night, when Stephens and Solomon's satirical burlesque of Penelope will have its first performance here.

The new scale of prices are: Orchestra and dress circle seats, reserved, $1; balcony, reserved, 75 cents (admission, 50 cents); new gallery, 25 cents.

Baldwin Theatre.

Modjeska commences her season this week in a strong production of Cymbeline.

Cymbeline is one of the most picturesque of Shakespeare's plays, but one more for the student than the stage. It becomes somewhat wearisome before the end is reached. Mme. Modjeska gives a fine personation of the true wife, whose perfect trust is her strong shield that guards her from the foul aspersions of Iachimo, and brings her out triumphant. The new people are all satisfactory, E. J. Henley most especially.

George Osbourne plays Cloten in a masterly manner.

The mounting and scenery reflect great credit upon the painter and machinist.

Alcazar Theatre.

Katie Putnam, a universal favorite as an actress, talented, comical and magnetic, makes her appearance here this week, supported by her own company in her popular comedy of "Norma, the Elf." The piece has been a great success in Eastern fields. The play is of the Both star and company are somewhat of a surprise to their audiences. They can all sing and act well, and have become favorites at once. The play is full of variety and interest, well worked out.

Katie Putnam is vivacious and pretty, somewhat of the Lotta type, and her songs and dances are the best that have been given us for many a day. The piece is bound to draw full houses for the rest of the week.

For cast see programme.

Monday, Feb. 4th, Grismer-Davies Co. open in Bartley Campbell's Fairfax,

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is playing a successful season at the Standard.

Claire and the Forgemaster for the last time to-night.

Miss Lewis is greeted by a large audience and she is giving a splendid portrayal of Claire, losing nothing by comparison with Madame Hading. All the company render good support. It now looks as if the Standard was in a fair way to once more become a paying house.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Beginning with Wednesday matinee, Forget-Me-Not will be given the rest of the week.

The emotional drama of "Moths," a strong society play, will be the next week's attraction.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Grand Opera House.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, supported by a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, The Fall of the Bastile and The Corsican Brothers, for one week commencing Monday, Feb 11th. The performances of the week will be for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights, Ancient Order of United Workmen, after which Mr. Warner will continue at the Grand.

Orpheum Opera House.

Prof. T. A. Kennedy returns with his wonderful exhibitions of his mysterious mesmeric powers to the Orpheum this week. The Stirk Family also reappear in a diversified round of new specialties; Miss Helen Conklin, soubrette and vocalist, and Mr. John Morrissey, with other talent added.

The performance opens with the comedietta of The Old Gent's Birthday, in which Morrissey and Wood have fun galore, and Helen Conklin is not one bit behind in the frolic.

The King Sisters present a novel act in juggling. Tillie Morrissey repeats her success of former weeks. The Stirk Family give a great act on their bicycles.

Mr. Kennedy closes the entertainment with his mesmeric soiree, to the mystification and pleasure of everyone.

For list of company and their specialties see Orpheum programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Cantelli & Pastor's Madrid Opera Co. commence their season of grand opera, in Spanish, at the Orpheum on Feb. 4th. Their season has been postponed in consequence of their being unable to reach here in time to open this week.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week's attraction will be Mr. Charles Thornton, in the frontier drama, entitled Simon Kenton; or, The Hunters of Old Kentuck. A beautiful panorama, 260 feet long, is one of the great features in the production of the piece.

Mr. Thornton has caught the people on the South side by the very clever manner in which he presented Simon Kenton to them. It is a piece that is full of interest and some of the climaxes are startling. The panorama plays its silent part with effect. The people in support play with just the sufficient spirit and dash to keep up the excitement till the curtain falls.

Next week, Mr. Thornton in the sensational drama of The Headless Horseman.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

Vienna Garden Theatre—Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and it has changed hands for the better. The boxes lately put in have been removed, and the theatre is being repainted, renovated, redecorated and greatly improved every way, at an outlay of some $2,000, prior to reopening on Saturday night to resume its old position as a family resort.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

The opening company will be the Pavanelli Troupe, famed for their grotesque musical acts; the great Ellwood, late of Emerson's Minstrels; Jas. T. Kelly, comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford (late of the Tivoli) in musical sketches; Miss Alice Hamilton, ballad vocalist; Miss Annie Suits, soubrette and songstress; Harry Orndorff, Quigley & Seelig and others, not forgetting the somewhat different comedian in his popular specialties.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

See programme announcement on this page.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, opens as a dramatic theatre, at popular prices, Saturday night with Geo. version of "Widow Bedott," its first appearance in this city. The piece is of the Peck's Bad Boy order, lively and funny, and the cast is an efficient one. Mr. Frank Huffman will hold the managerial reins. The theatre (formerly the Buckingham) has had its boxes removed and the whole space of the building, 50 by 120 feet, will be devoted to the auditorium with a gallery surrounding it. Prices, 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of Female Mastodons, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their original and new production of the French Masquerade Ball at Woodward's Gardens, with a new version of the Can-Can.

Pavenelli's Troupe of Musical Pavers, Barth & Lorraine and Annie Lennetta are the new faces this week.

Ned Barry, motto vocalist; the Whalens; Minnie Pierce, trapeze artist; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

This week is the first of Robinson & Cole's Great International Circus of 50 performers; a 42-foot ring on the stage, in which six lady aerial artistes, ten double somersault throwers, ten high vaulters and four funny clowns present their various specialties. The famous Avery Bros., in their flying trapeze act, have been specially engaged. The performing monkey circus is the laughable feature of the show.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

This week, June Dennis and Wiley Evans, the well-known boxers, will be the new attraction. On Friday evening one of them will contest with any local boxer an eight-round match for a valuable trophy.

Miss Maggie Gordan, vocalist, is the new face this week. Munie Leo's version of Joshua Whitcomb commences the evening's entertainment.

The French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Effie Hull, and others, form the female staff of the com-

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Belle Manning, Blanche Leslie, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Ravenna makes her first appearance this week.

John Miller, comedian, and McPherson, the favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

A Fusilade of Fun opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio and the comedy, Rival Tradesmen, more olio features then the farce, Just from Troy, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr., has signed a three years' contract with Dan'l Frohman. She is to make her debut early in the Fall.

The fire fiend seems to be on the rampage in the Northwest, and to select the lumber mills as his quarry. The Grand Opera House at Duluth, Minn., was totally destroyed on the 28th, together with the post-office. The total loss will reach $250 000.

It is said that Helen Dauvray, better known as Little Nell, the California Diamond, will return to the stage in the Fall.

Time does not deal gently with Lily Langtry. She looks haggard and worn, and her figure, over which two continents have raved for several years, seems wasting away. The cause is said to be overwork and fatigue from traveling.

It is rumored that the asp which is nightly required to feed upon Mrs. Potter's bosom in Antony and Cleopatra, is dying. It cannot obtain sufficient nourishment.

Mrs. Langtry's Lady Macbeth is a surprise for its intelligence of reading and method.

Neil Burgess is actively rehearsing the 200 chorus and auxiliaries for "A County Fair."

Mrs. Potter's undraped Cleopatra is drawing large and swell audiences at Palmer's Theatre, N. Y.

Pauline Hall was a pupil of Mme. Ilma di Murska, the famous opera singer who recently died and much of her success in comic opera is to be credited to that artist.

Louise Rial will be a member of The Private Secretary Co. which A. M. Palmer will soon send on the road.

The latest chanson du jour in Paris is "I've been there myself, and regret it."

The weather in Paris has been as mild as it is in New York this winter, and managers are complaining that business never was quite as bad during the holidays.

The demand for tickets for the Pastor & Cantile's Madrid Spanish opera season at the Orpheum is very encouraging. Many season tickets have been disposed of at $10—good for the two weeks, eighteen performances, including Saturday and Sunday matinees.

Charles Townley, a broken-down actor who had quit the profession several years ago because of his habits of inebriety, committed suicide at Livingston, Montana, on the 25th, with morphine. Townley was a man who had known better days. He was at one time an actor in the Chicago, St. Louis and Pacific Coast theatres.

Jerome Hopkins will give his American oratorio at St. James' Hall, London, a week hence.

The New Bush St. Theatre opened with Lydia Thompson and her great burlesque co. on Saturday night. The opening piece is Columbus, a clever, witty and picturesque burlesque. See cast in the programme advertisement. Of course, the theatre was crowded from orchestra to third circle. Everybody had a word of praise for the new house and company.

The People's Theatre (formerly the Buckingham) opens on Saturday night, devoted to dramatic business. The boxes are being taken out and a gallery put in. Geo. H. Heath's combination, in Ewing's "Widow Bedot," will be the opening attraction. Popular price, 10 cents, will rule. See cast elsewhere in FIGARO.

Jane Hading has been much pleased with Mexico, but M. Coquelin cannot stand the rarified air of that country.

Mary Dickens, a daughter of the novelist, is playing a part in Lit le Lord Fauntleroy on the English provincial stage.

The New Beautiful Bush Street Theatre is what they call it now.

L. R. Stockwell, the popular comedian, left for New York this week.

The Grismer-Davies Co. will follow Dan Putnam at the Alcazar.

It is said that $2 000 000 has already been pledged for the erection of a mammoth amusement temple on the site of the Madison Square Garden, N. Y.

Impertinent Son—Mother, you warned me when I married Miss de Pink that I'd made my bed and must lie on it. Mother—I do.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

T. A. Kennedy was the recipient of a handsome gold medal and badge on Monday from the California Athletic Club as a token of their esteem. Pres. Fulda made the presentation speech and Prof. Kennedy thanked his friends in a very happy manner. He has been elected an honorary member of the Club, as they know how easy he can put his opponent to sleep, usually.

The Eureka has a fine bill this week, presented by a strong company. Seven lady vocalists are a most attractive feature. Fletcher, the musical artist, always pleases the people. Bart Kennedy and Robt. McDonald are always to be relied upon as enjoyable entertainers. Farmer Squinton's Troubles is full of fun. Geo. C. Dunham is a good stage manager as well as a versatile performer.

The managers at the Comique see no reason why they should make many changes in their programme so long as last week's has proved so good. Miss Ravenna has been added to the list of singers, and the laugh farce, Just from Troy, concludes the bill.

Fashion Theatre, San Antonio, Jan. 23d: Louise Adney, Dick Mack, Georgie Palmer, Dan Creelin, Wiley Hamilton, Elsie Moore, James Woodville, Emma Coulter and the reliable stock.

New Gem Theatre, El Paso, Jan. 28th: Mauri Sisters, Billy Parant, Ed Howard, Frank Lavarnie, Biladeau & Lysle, Lillie Morris, Ruby Knight, Ella Davis, Atkinson Sisters, Ida Grayson, Ollie Singleton, Kittie Roslyn, Jessie Le Seur and the Dutch Mendels.

Club Theatre, Los Angeles, week ending Feb. 1st: James Tenbrooke, Irwin T. Bush, Bob Harrison, the Denbys, the Clifford Sisters, Le Martini Bros, Roltair and the Herbert Sisters.

Mr. J. Larsen has purchased the Vienna Garden Theatre and appointments and will open it Saturday next as a first-class family resort. The boxes have been torn out and the theatre renovated, painted and redecorated. The stage management will be under the direction of George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, who proved so efficient a manager at the Wigwam. For list of company see programme announcement of opening in FIGARO. The only paper that has it.

Cort's Standard, Seattle, Jan. 28th: Romalo Bros., Adele Purvis, Bessie Bell, Leonzo, Derville Family, Eugene Ward, Lillie Murphy, Cardello & Vidella, Maud Clayton, Durell Bros., Fitz & Devine, Annie Ryner, Ida Howell, Dot Melville, Ida Chester and the stock company.

Elite Theatre, Tombstone, Jan. 21st: Post & Ashley, Gilmore & Reynolds, Miss Rainville, Tillie Bouton, Harry Conley, Ella Gardner and Charles A. Keene. Jan. 28th: Atkinson Sisters.

Coliseum, Helena, Jan. 28th: The Pierces, Gorman & Thompson, Hughes & Oxford, Thos. J. Ripley, Holmes Grover and May De Lorme, Kittie Chapman, Ella Sommerton and the old favorites retained.

Prof. Kennedy, the subduer of human wills, appears for a return engagement, for one week only, at the Orpheum this week.

Billy Birch is organising a fine minstrel company for the road, to begin the season at Tony Pastor's theatre.

The grotesque dwarf comedian Little Tich, of the Crystal Slipper company, is shortly to be married at Chicago to Laura Brooks, of the chorus.

Chas. L. Davis, who accumulated a fortune and three or four quarts of yellow, green and moss agate diamonds by playing Alvin Joslin, has just been convicted in a New York court of having in his possession a lot of peculiarly filthy photographs taken from life. Davis was fined $100 and severely reprimanded.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

This week, June Dennis and Wiley Evans, the well-known boxers, will be the new attraction. On Friday evening one of them will contest with any local boxer an eight-round match for a valuable trophy.

Miss Maggie Gordan, vocalist, is the new face this week. Munis Leo's version of Joshua Whitcomb commences the evening's entertainment.

The French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Effie Hull, and others, form the female staff of the company.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Travers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Belle Manning, Blanche Leslie, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Ravenna makes her first appearance this week.

John Miller, comedian, and McPherson, the favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

A Fusilade of Fun opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio and the farce, Just from Troy, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage depart-

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are seven lady vocalists this week.

Lillie Mason, Laura White, Lulu Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Musical Fletcher, Bart Kennedy, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. Take a hint and drop into the Eureka, one of the coziest houses in town. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

The funny Farmer Squinton's Trouble forms the dramatic part of the entertainment, in the hands of McDonald, Fletcher, Dunham, Kennedy and Mamie Sanford.

An entire change of programme this week.

The Eureka gives a matinee every Sunday at 2 P. M.

Notice to Stage Managers.

We cannot make changes in Programmes after two (2) P. M. All changes handed in after that hour will have to lay over until next day.

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it. It is not only an artistic and elegant structure throughout, richly decorated, and absolutely safe, but also a notably commodious and comfortable heatre.

The opening attraction is Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, in Columbus, her latest success, a new burlesque by Geo. Dance.

Columbus is good There are abundant incidents, plenty to attract the eye and ear as the piece moves on, and a fine large company of entire new people in an entertaining performance. It is lively, musical, grotesque and bustling. There are fine solos, entertaining specialties, charming groupings, concerted pieces, and fun and frolic in every act.

Lydia Thompson, of course, shines as the star of the scintillating burlesquers, and is the magnet of the constellation. Everything she does is done with spirit and intelligence, and she is still the leading burlesque actress.

The company have talent and culture to recommend them. The principals in support are Marie Williams, whom the Chronicle claims a "another whose acting is that of the thoroughly trained burlesque actress, who carries every point in the business at her finger ends and her toe ends." Miss Jenoure is a clever woman, who has a great deal of soubrette talent and sings remarkably well. Miss Allieton has most humor of all and dances very gracefully. Miss Walters plays the heroine charmingly. Rose Newham's kick—to quote from the Chronicle again—"is the principal feature of the performance. It is the high kick and the most agile that has yet been seen. The list of girls is very long, and they are all agreeable."

J. B. Radcliffe is a fine burlesque actor. He makes all his points as the "bad man" neatly and in character. His specialties are notedly good. Louis Kellerher and Chas. H. Kennedy are also good comedians that do clever work. Harry Starr, as the primitive American newspaper reporter, gives the part a professional flavor of the interviewer. Master Fitz-James' remarkable voice is sure of an encore.

The cast, which can be found in the programme on first page, calls for twenty-five burlesquers, headed by Miss Thompson as Columbus; and closing with a genuine native American reporter, who discovers and interviews Columbus as soon as he discovers America.

Good as Columbus is, it must make way for another bright particular of the repertoire on Monday night, when Stephens and Solomon's satirical burlesque of Penelope will have its first performance here.

The new scale of prices are: Orchestra and dress circle seats, reserved, $1; balcony, reserved, 75 cents (admission, 50 cents); new gallery, 25 cents.

Baldwin Theatre.

Modjeska commences her season this week in a strong production of Cymbeline.

Cymbeline is one of the most picturesque of Shakespeare's plays, but one more for the student than the stage. It becomes somewhat wearisome before the end is reached. Mme. Modjeska gives a fine personation of the true wife, whose perfect trust is her strong shield, that guards her from the foul aspersions of Iachimo, and brings her out triumphant. The new people are all satisfactory, E. J. Henley most especially.

George Osbourne plays Cloten in a masterly manner.

The mounting and scenery reflect great credit upon the painter and machinist.

Alcazar Theatre

Katie Putnam, a universal favorite as an actress, talented, comical and magnetic, makes her appearance here this week, supported by her own company in her popular comedy of "[illegible], the Elf." The piece has been a great success in Eastern fields. The play is of the sensational order, and contains some very

Both star and company are somewhat of a surprise to their audiences. They can all sing and act well, and have become favorites at once. The play is full of variety and interest, well worked out.

Katie Putnam is vivacious and pretty, somewhat of the Lotta type, and her songs and dances are the best that have been given us for many a day. The piece is bound to draw full houses for the rest of the week.

For cast see programme.

Monday, Feb. 4th, Grismer-Davies Co. open in Bartley Campbell's Fairfax,

The Grismer-Davies Co., after a successful tour of the country, will open in Bartley Campbell's Fairfax Monday, Feb. 4th,

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is playing a successful season at the Standard.

Claire and the Forgemaster for the last time to-night.

Miss Lewis is greeted by a large audience and she is giving a splendid portrayal of Claire, losing nothing by comparison with Madame Hading. All the company render good support. It now looks as if the Standard was in a fair way to once more become a paying house.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Beginning with Wednesday matinee, Forget-Me-Not will be given the rest of the week.

The emotional drama of "Moths," a strong society play, will be the next week's attraction.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Grand Opera House.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, supported by a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, The Fall of the Bastile and The Corsican Brothers, for one week commencing Monday, Feb 11th. The performances of the week will be for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights, Ancient Order of United Workmen, after which Mr. Warner will continue at the Grand.

Orpheum Opera House.

Prof. T. A. Kennedy returns with his wonderful exhibitions of his mysterious mesmeric powers to the Orpheum this week. The Stirk Family also reappear in a diversified round of new specialties; Miss Helen Conklin, soubrette and vocalist, and Mr. John Morrissey, with other talent added.

The performance opens with the comedietta of The Old Gent's Birthday, in which Morrissey and Wood have fun galore, and Helen Conklin is not one bit behind in the frolic.

The King Sisters present a novel act in juggling. Tillie Morrissey repeats her success of former weeks. The Stirk Family give a great act on their bicycles.

Mr. Kennedy closes the entertainment with his mesmeric soiree, to the mystification and pleasure of everyone.

For list of company and their specialties see Orpheum programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Cantelin & Pastor's Madrid Opera Co. commence their season of grand opera, in Spanish, at the Orpheum on Feb. 4th. Their season has been postponed in consequence of their being unable to reach here in time to open this week.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Ampalitheatre.

This week's attraction will be Mr. Charles Thornton, in the frontier drama, entitled Simon Kenton; or, The Hunters of Old Kentuck. A beautiful panorama, 200 feet long, is one of the great features in the production of the piece.

Mr. Thornton has caught the people on the South side by the very clever manner in which he presented Simon Kenton to them. It is a piece that is full of interest and some of the climaxes are startling. The panorama plays its silent part with effect. The people in support play with just the sufficient spirit and dash to keep up the excitement till the curtain falls.

Next week, Mr. Thornton in the sensational drama of The Headless Horseman.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

Vienna Garden Theatre—Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and it has changed hands for the better. The boxes lately put in have been removed, and the theatre is being repainted, renovated, redecorated and greatly improved every way, at an outlay of some $2,000, prior to reopening on Saturday night to resume its old position as a family resort.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

The opening company will be the Pavanelli Troupe, famed for their grotesque musical acts; the great Ellwood, late of Emerson's Minstrels; Jas. T. Kelly, comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford (late of the Tivoli) in musical sketches; Miss Alice Hamilton, ballad vocalist; Miss Annie Suits, soubrette and songstress; Harry Orndorff, Quigley & Seelig and others, not forgetting the somewhat different comedian in his popular specialties.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

See programme announcement on this page. Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

J. Davis, who has been Joe Murphy's business agent for fifteen years, died recently in Toronto, Canada. This proves the fallacy of the opinion generally existing in the newspaper mind that theatrical agents never die. There are exceptions, but they are rare. It takes a Toronto blizzard or something of the kind to bring them around.

Ben Cotton and his talented daughter, Idalene, are on their way from Southern California. They will play Sacramento and continue on their way in the Northern circuit.

John Murphy is Joe Murphy's brother, and skirmishes around in the one-night circuits playing Joe's pieces. His company recently came to this coast over the Northern road and a Mr. Thompson, one of its members, was stricken with the smallpox at Vancouver. This placed the company in quarantine and they were only recently released. Their season was broken up and they returned Eastward to fill their Canada dates.

The next part that Mrs. Potter will play will be that of Rosalind.

A Noble Son, with E. J. Buckley in the title role, is a success.

Lansing, Mich., municipal officials will permit no performances to be given in that city unless they are first presented with deadhead tickets. Lansing will be a good town for traveling shows to skip.

The recent benefit for the late Thomas Hengler's family at Tony Pastor's netted his widow about $700.

It is gossiped that Harry Duffield will shortly wed Phosa McAllister.

Henry C. Chanfrau has closed his Kit season.

Marguerite Fish and her husband, N. Behrens, are seeking a divorce in the Chicago courts.

It is reported that Annie Summerville is shortly to wed a merchant named Rich.

Agnes Robertson (Mrs. Dion Boucicault) was granted a divorce from her husband in the London courts.

Joseph Wheelock is accorded with doing the best work in Mrs. Langtry's production of Macbeth, and favorable mention is made of John Malone, Louis Calvert, Frederick Everett and Mrs. Louisa Strudge.

The Conrad Opera Co. will open at the Bush in February. The King's Fool will be the opening piece.

Joseph Jefferson recently made a speech at a meeting of the Actors' Order of Friendship, in which he said that several years ago he went to London to act, and after playing there four months somebody heard that he was there, and then he was taxed more in one week than he had made in the balance of the time.

Joseph Grismer and Phœbe Davies follow Katie Putnam at the Alcazar Monday in Fairfax, a drama of the South. See cast in announce programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

The demand for tickets for the Pastor & Cantile's Madrid Spanish opera season at the Orpheum is very encouraging. Many season tickets have been disposed of at $10—good for the two weeks, eighteen performances, including Saturday and Sunday matinees.

The People's Theatre (formerly the Buckingham) opens on Saturday night, devoted to dramatic business. The boxes are being taken out and a gallery put in. Geo. H. Heath's combination, in Ewing's "Widow Bedot," will be the opening attraction. Popular price, 10 cents, will rule. See cast elsewhere in FIGARO.

It is said that $2,000,000 has already been pledged for the erection of a mammoth amusement temple on the site of the Madison Square Garden, N. Y.

Louise Rial will be a member of The Private Secretary Co. which A. M. Palmer will soon send on the road.

It is said that Helen Dauvray, better known as Little Nell, the California Diamond, will return to the stage in the Fall.

Time does not deal gently with Lily Langtry. She looks haggard and worn, and her figure, over which two continents have raved for several years, seems wasting away. The cause is said to be overwork and fatigue from traveling.

It is rumored that the asp which is nightly required to feed upon Mrs. Potter as [illegible] Antony and Cleopatra, is

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

The FIGARO Amusement Agency has entered into a contract with John Moore, the Denver agent, to book people jointly to and from his circuit. This will enable managers to reach Denver in a personal manner through our agency in quest of talent, and will give performers on the Pacific Coast the valuable aid of Mr. Moore in looking out for their interests in his circuits. Mr. Moore, who has been in this city for some time, returned to Denver to-day.

The Modesto Evening News records that C. H. Rossbach, advance of Fun on the Bristol Co., had his valise robbed at the Tuolumne Hotel, Merced, on the 28th inst. of clothes and contents. Hard luck.

Grant & Martin, the California knockabout team, have returned from a six months' trip, in which they only played in five houses, viz.: Perry Bros., Los Angeles; Elite, Tombstone; Wade's Gem Theatre, El Paso, and the theatres in San Antonio and Houston, Texas.

Kelly & Murphy open in Perry's Club Theatre, Los Angeles, next week.

They have a wood sawing contest by six Yankee girls at the Grand Museum, Boston, and it has made a big hit.

Flora Moore is at Miner's Bowery, N. Y., this week. Jutau, the Queen of the Air, has made a hit at Koster & Bial's New York theatre, and will remain this week. The Julians (Rose and Martin), California children, are at Miner's Eighth Avenue Theatre. Sherman & Morrissey, Homer & Lingard and Ferguson & Marr are at the London Theatre, N. Y., this week.

T. A. Kennedy was the recipient of a handsome gold medal and badge on Monday from the California Athletic Club as a token of their esteem. Pres. Fulda made the presentation speech and Prof. Kennedy thanked his friends in a very happy manner. He has been elected an honorary member of the Club, as they know how easy he can put his opponent to sleep, usually.

The Eureka has a fine bill this week, presented by a strong company. Seven lady vocalists are a most attractive feature. Fletcher, the musical artist, always pleases the people. Bart Kennedy and Robt. McDonald are always to be relied upon as enjoyable entertainers. Farmer Squinton's Troubles is full of fun. Geo. C. Dunham is a good stage manager as well as a versatile performer.

The managers at the Comique see no reason why they should make many changes in their programme so long as last week's has proved so good. Miss Ravenna has been added to the list of singers, and the laugh farce, Just from Troy, concludes the bill.

Mr. J. Larsen has purchased the Vienna Garden Theatre and appointments and will open it Saturday next as a first-class family resort. The boxes have been torn out and the theatre renovated, painted and redecorated. The stage management will be under the direction of George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, who proved so efficient a manager at the Wigwam. For list of company see programme announcement of opening in FIGARO. The only paper that has it.

Prof. Kennedy, the subduer of human wills, appears for a return engagement, for one week only, at the Orpheum this week.

In Los Angeles a party is organizing an ostrich show to take the road.

Manager Fiske of Fresno, who like everybody from Fresno, has "ranch" on the brain, and is very ranchy in his figures of speech, said to Manager Leavitt the other night as he stood talking in the row of electric lights extending from the New Bush to Kearny Street—Say, Leavitt, what kind of fruit do you expect the electric light crop you have planted on Bush Street will yield you? O, electric currents and raisin bills, was the tart reply. Fiske took the next train and went home.

Customer—This chicken is rather tough, waiter.

Waiter (enthusiastically) — Yes, sah, dat was one of de gamest birds in dis state. He killed fohty-seven roosters in de last eight years, an' he'd a won his last fight on'y he went blind.

Visitor—What's become of the man who used to write all those funny mother-in-law stories for you? Editor—He's working for us yet. Visitor — What's the matter with his jokes; did the people get tired of them? Editor—No, he got married.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

This week, June Dennis and Wiley Evans, the well-known boxers, will be the new attraction. On Friday evening one of them will contest with any local boxer an eight-round match for a valuable trophy.

Miss Maggie Gordan, vocalist, is the new face this week. Munis Leo's version of Joshua Whitcomb commences the evening's entertainment.

The French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Effie Hull, and others, form the female staff of the company.

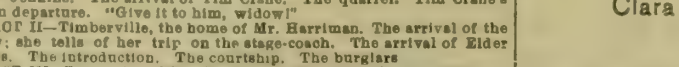
Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are seven lady vocalists this week.



Lillie Mason, Laura White, Lulu Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Musical Fletcher, Bart Kennedy, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. Take a hint and drop into the Eureka, one of the coziest houses in town. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

The funny Farmer Squinton's Trouble forms the dramatic part of the entertainment, in the hands of McDonald, Fletcher, Dunham, Kennedy and Mamie Sanford.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it.

The opening attraction is Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States. In Columbus, her latest success, a new burlesque by Geo. Dance.

Columbus is good There are abundant incidents, plenty to attract the eye and ear as the piece moves on, and a fine large company of entire new people in an entertaining performance. It is lively, musical, grotesque and bustling. There are fine solos, entertaining specialties, charming groupings, concerted pieces, and fun and frolic in every act.

Lydia Thompson, of course, shines as the star of the scintillating burlesquers, and is the magnet of the constellation. Everything she does is done with spirit and intelligence, and she is still the leading burlesque actress.

The company have talent and culture to recommend them The support are: Marie Williams, Aida Jenoure, Lillie Alliston, Lillian Walters and Rose Newham. Besides, there are a host of other fair burlesquers to add to the ensemble. J. B. Radcliffe, Louis Kelleher, Chas. H. Kennedy and Harry Starr are all good comedians and do a deal of clever work.

The cast, which can be found in the programme on first page, calls for twenty-five burlesquers, headed by Miss Thompson.

Columbus must make way for a bright particular of the repertoire after Sunday night.

Stephens and Solomon's satirical burlesque of Penelope has its first performance here next week, in which the classical story of the fair Icarius' daughter for the disguised Ulysses, and his adventures on the enchanted island of Calypso is wittily, musically and most pleasingly told. Lydia Thompson will be the Ulysses, Aida Jenoure the Penelope, Lillian Walters the enchantress, Calypso, and Rose Newham her attendant. Kelleher comes to the front as the prehistoric policeman, Tektos, and Radcliffe as Ulysses' devoted servant, Cymon.

Seats now on sale.

The new scale of prices are: Orchestra and dress circle seats, reserved, $1; balcony, reserved, 75 cents (admission, 50 cents); new gallery, 25 cents.

Baldwin Theatre.

Modjeska commenced her season this week in a strong production of Cymbeline.

Cymbeline is one of the most picturesque of Shakespeare's plays, but one more for the student than the stage. It becomes somewhat wearisome before the end is reached. Mme. Modjeska gives a fine personation of the true wife, whose perfect trust is her strong shield, that guards her from the foul aspersions of Iachimo, and brings her out triumphant. The new people are all satisfactory, E. J. Henley most especially.

George Osbourne plays Cloten in a masterly manner.

The mounting and scenery reflect great credit upon the painter and machinist.

Mary Stuart, Monday, Tuesday and Saturday evenings, February 4th.

Alcazar Theatre.

Katie Putnam, a universal favorite as an actress, talented, comical and magnetic, has drawn well here this week, supported by her own company in her popular comedy of "Erma, the Elf."

Both star and company are somewhat of a surprise to their audiences. They can all sing and act well, and have become favorites at once. The play is full of variety and interest, well worked out.

Katie Putnam is vivacious and pretty, somewhat of the Lotta type, and her songs and dances are the best that have been given us for many a day. The piece is bound to draw full houses for the rest of the week.

For cast see programme.

The Grismer-Davies Company, after an extended and successful tour, will open in Bartley Campbell's fairest, Monday, Feb. 4th, Fairfax press have been unanimous in their praise of Mr. Grismer and his talented wife, and they will be warmly greeted by their friends here on Monday night.

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is playing a successful season at the Standard.

Claire and the Forgemaster for the last time to-night.

Miss Lewis is greeted by a large audience and she is giving a splendid portrayal of Claire, losing nothing by comparison with Madame Hading. All the company render good support. It now looks as if the Standard was in a fair way to once more become a paying house.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Beginning with Wednesday matinee, Forget-Me-Not will be given the rest of the week.

The emotional drama of "Moths," a strong society play, will be the next week's attraction.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees 25 and 50 cents.

Grand Opera House.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, supported by a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, The Fall of the Bastile and The Corsican Brothers, for one week commencing Monday, Feb. 11th. The performances of the week will be for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights, Ancient Order of United Workmen, after which Mr. Warner will continue at the Grand.

Orpheum Opera House.

Prof. T. A. Kennedy returns with his wonderful exhibitions of his mysterious mesmeric powers to the Orpheum this week. The Stirk Family also reappear in a diversified round of new specialties; Miss Helen Conklin, soubrette and vocalist, and Mr. John Morrissey, with other talent added.

The performance opens with the comedietta of The Old Gent's Birthday, in which Morrissey and Wood have fun galore, and Helen Conklin is not one bit behind in the frolic.

The King Sisters present a novel act in juggling. Tillie Morrissey repeats her success of former weeks. The Stirk Family give a great act on their bicycles.

Mr. Kennedy closes the entertainment with his mesmeric soiree, to the mystification and pleasure of everyone.

For list of company and their specialties see Orpheum programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Cantelis & Pastor's Madrid Opera Co. commence their season of grand opera, in Spanish, at the Orpheum on Feb. 4th. Their season has been postponed in consequence of their being unable to reach here in time to open this week.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week's attraction will be Mr. Charles Thornton, in the frontier drama, entitled Simon Kenton; or, The Hunters of Old Kentuck. A beautiful panorama, 200 feet long, is one of the great features in the production of the piece.

Mr. Thornton has caught the people on the South side by the very clever manner in which he presented Simon Kenton to them. It is a piece that is full of interest and some of the climaxes are startling. The panorama plays its silent part with effect. The people in support play with just the sufficient spirit and dash to keep up the excitement till the curtain falls.

Next week, Mr. Thornton in the sensational drama of The Headless Horseman.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

Vienna Garden Theatre—Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and it has changed hands for the better. The boxes lately put in have been removed, and the theatre is being repainted, renovated, redecorated and greatly improved every way, at an outlay of some $2,000, prior to reopening on Saturday night to resume its old position as a family resort.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

The opening company will be the Pavanelli Troupe, famed for their grotesque musical acts; the great Ellwood, late of Emerson's Minstrels; Jas. T. Kelly, comedian, and Miss Annie Sauford (late of the Tivoli) in musical sketches; Miss Alice Hamilton, ballad vocalist; Miss Annie Suits, soubrette and songstress; Harry Orndorff, Quigley & Seelig and others, not forgetting the somewhat different comedian in his popular specialties.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

See programme announcement on this page. Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342-1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, opens as a dramatic theatre, at popular prices, Saturday night, with Geo. H. Heath's combination in Ewing's dramatic version of "Widow Bedott," its first appearance in this city. The piece is of the Pack's Bad Boy order, lively and funny, and the cast is an efficient one. Mr. Frank Huffman will hold the managerial reins. The theatre (formerly the Buckingham) has had its boxes re-

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of Female Mastodons, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their original and new production of the French Masquerade Ball at Woodward's Gardens, with a new version of the Can-Can.

Pavenelli's Troupe of Musical Pavers, Barth & Lorraine and Annie Lennetta are the new faces this week.

Ned Barry, motto vocalist; the Whalens; Minnie Pierce, trapeze artist; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

This week is the first of Robinson & Cole's Great International Circus of 50 performers; a 42-foot ring on the stage, in which six lady aerial artistes, ten double somersault throwers ten high vaulters and four funny clowns present their various specialties. The famous Avery Bros., in their flying trapeze act, have been specially engaged. The performing monkey circus is the laughable feature of the show.

The features in the museum combine a great amount of curiosities in its two large museum halls, which are partially specified in the pro-

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Manager Al Hayman and Mme. Modjeska have tendered Mr. Robt. M. Eberle a complimentary benefit on Friday evening, Feb. 8th, on which occasion Camille will be presented by Mme. Modjeska and company.

Manager Morosco will publish at the head of next week's bills this card to the public:

On account of the numerous reports that I am obliged to move from this building, I take this method to inform my patrons that I have renewed my lease and will positively remain where I am. Morosco.

J. K. Emmett follows Modjeska at the Baldwin. After Emmett comes Fred Warde and Sol Smith Russell.

Emma Merchen, of Iowa, is creating a vocal sensation at Nice, Italy.

Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr., has not signed a two years' contract with Daniel Frohman to star under his management at a stated salary and a percentage of the profits, as has been reported.—[N. Y. Mercury.

Lottie Elliott (Mrs. Abe Leavitt) is busily nursing her new twins.

George O. Starr, agent for Barnum and Bailey's Circus, has returned from Europe bringing a fine lot of animals for the show. He will sail for Morocco in a short time.

San Francisco was Modjeska's dramatic sponsor. She made her first appearance on the English stage in this city on Monday, Aug. 20, 1877, at the California Theatre. Adrienne Lecouvreur was the play, and she was supported by Kate Denin, Carrie Wyatt, Belle Chapman, Thos. N. Keene, Bill Mestayer, Harry Edwards, Charley Long, E. N. Thayer and Murray Woods.

J. Davis, who has been Joe Murphy's business agent for fifteen years, died recently in Toronto, Canada. This proves the fallacy of the opinion generally existing in the newspaper mind that theatrical agents never die. There are exceptions, but they are rare. It takes a Toronto blizzard or something of the kind to bring them around.

Ben Cotton and his talented daughter, Idalene, are on their way from Southern California. They will play Sacramento and continue on their way in the Northern circuit.

John Murphy is Joe Murphy's brother, and skirmishes around in the one-night circuits playing Joe's pieces. His company recently came to this coast over the Northern road and a Mr. Thompson, one of its members, was stricken with the smallpox at Vancouver. This placed the company in quarantine and they were only recently released. Their season was broken up and they returned Eastward to fill their Canada dates.

The next part that Mrs. Potter will play will be that of Rosalind.

Joseph Grismer and Phœbe Davies follow Kittie Putnam at the Alcazar Monday in Fairfax, a drama of the South. See cast in announce programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

The demand for tickets for the Pastor & Cantile's Madrid Spanish opera season at the Opera-house is very encouraging. Many season tickets have been disposed of at $10—good for the two weeks, eighteen performances, including Saturday and Sunday matinees.

The People's Theatre (formerly the Buckingham) opens on Saturday night, devoted to dramatic business. The boxes are being taken out and a gallery put in. Geo. H. Wood's combination, in Ewing's "Widow Bedott," will be the opening attraction. Popular price, 10 cents, will rule. See cast elsewhere in FIGARO.

It is rumored that the asp which is monthly required to feed upon Mrs. Potter's bosom in Antony and Cleopatra, is dying. It cannot obtain sufficient nourishment.

Noting a particularly healthy-looking child the other day, a lady asked the nurse who had it in charge:

"Is that a nursing baby or a bottle baby?"

"Sure it's nayther, Ma'am; it's a condensed milk baby."

"Of course, no young lady should go out at night without a chaperone" said a Harlem belle to her Chicago visitor. "That's so," replied the Wabash avenue damsel, "but every girl hasn't got a chap of her own, you know."

Jones—So, you eloped with the Colonel's daughter, did you?

Bacon—Yes. Did he raise any objection?

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Theatre Comique, Spokane Falls, Jan. 30th: Hattie Burgess, Josie Chester, Madge Darrell, Freddie Arlington, Antonio, Kittie Goodwin, Allen & Forrest, Bertha Sanger, the great Camille, Ray Filburn, Wheeler the Wonder, La Rose Bros. and the Heeley Bros.

Coliseum Theatre, Helena, Jan. 30th: The Pierces (John and Kitty), Frank Binney, Kittie Chapman, Gorman & Thompson, Hughes & Oxford, Holmes Grover, Jr., and May De Lorme, Thos. J. Ripley, Minnie Flynn, Bessie Le Mar, Dollie Weston, Lottie West, Virgie Earle, Lillian Carroll, Kittie Gilmore and Ollie Sutter. Campbell & Dempsey are underlined.

Prof. Fernando Fleury, the musical character change artist, has made a great hit at the Olympic Theatre, St, Paul, the daily press making especial mention of his performance.

The FIGARO Amusement Agency has entered into a contract with John Moore, the Denver agent, to book people jointly to and from his circuit. This will enable managers to reach Denver in a personal manner through our agency in quest of talent, and will give performers on the Pacific Coast the valuable aid of Mr. Moore in looking out for their interests in his circuits. Mr. Moore, who has been in this city for some time, returned to Denver to-day.

The Modesto Evening News records that C. H. Rosebach, advance of Fun on the Bristol Co., had his valise robbed at the Tuolumne Hotel, Merced, on the 28th inst. of clothes and contents. Hard luck.

Grant & Martin, the California knockabout team, have returned from a six months' trip, in which they only played in five houses, viz.: Perry Bros., Los Angeles; Elite, Tombstone; Wade's Gem Theatre, El Paso, and the theatres in San Antonio and Houston, Texas.

Kelly & Murphy open in Perry's Club Theatre, Los Angeles, next week.

Flora Moore is at Miner's Bowery, N. Y., this week. Jutau, the Queen of the Air, has made a hit at Koster & Bial's New York theatre, and will remain this week. The Julians (Rose and Martin), California children, are at Miner's Eighth Avenue Theatre. Sherman & Morrissey, Homer & Lingard and Ferguson & Marr are at the London Theatre, N. Y., this week.

The Eureka has a fine bill this week, presented by a strong company. Seven lady vocalists are a most attractive feature. Fletcher, the musical artist, always pleases the people. Bart Kennedy and Robt. McDonald are always to be relied upon as enjoyable entertainers. Farmer Squinton's Troubles is full of fun. Geo. C. Dunham is a good stage manager as well as a versatile performer.

The managers at the Comique see no reason why they should make many changes in their programme so long as last week's has proved so good. Miss Ravenna has been added to the list of singers, and the laugh farce, Just from Troy, concludes the bill.

Mr. J. Larsen has purchased the Vienna Garden Theatre and appointments and will open it Saturday next as a first-class family resort. The boxes have been torn out and the theatre renovated, painted and redecorated. The stage management will be under the direction of George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, who proved so efficient a manager at the Wigwam. For list of company see programme announcement of opening in FIGARO. The only paper that has it.

Manager Fiske of Fresno, who like everybody from Fresno, has "ranch" on the brain, and is very ranchy in his figures of speech, said to Manager Leavitt the other night as he stood talking in the row of electric lights extending from the New Bush to Kearny Street—Say, Leavitt, what kind of fruit do you expect the electric light crop you have planted on Bush Street will yield you? O, electric currents and raisin bills, was the tart reply. Fiske took the next train and went home.

Inspector of schools—"Can any one tell me who Solomon was?" Small Boy—"Solomon was a very wise and good man, who kept three hundred porcupines.

"Well how does it grow without your wife, Baxter?" "Very lonely." Lonely?" "Yes, lonely as a Sahara desert without the Sahra."

As Jimmy McGinn used to say, you can never judge a man's sorrow by the sighs of his shaft hair.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

This week June Dennis and Wiley Evans, the well-known boxers, will be the new attraction. On Friday evening one of them will contest with any local boxer an eight-round match for a valuable trophy.

Miss Maggie Gordan, vocalist, is the new face this week. Munis Leo's version of Joshua Whitcomb commences the evening's entertainment

The French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Effie Hull, and others, form the female staff of the company.

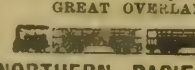
Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coolest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are seven lady vocalists this week.

Lillie Mason, Laura White, Lulu Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Musical Fletcher, Bart Kennedy, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. Take a hint and drop into the Eureka, one of the coolest houses in town. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.



The funny Farmer Squinton's Trouble forms the dramatic part of the entertainment, in the hands of McDonald, Fletcher, Dunham, Kennedy and Mamie Sanford.

An entire change of programme this week.

The Eureka gives a matinee every Sunday at 2 P. M.

FRIDAY.....FEBRUARY 1, 1889

Notice to Stage Managers.

We cannot make changes in Programmes after one (1) P. M. All changes handed in after that hour will have to lay over until next day.

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it.

The opening attraction is Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, in Columbus, her latest success, a new burlesque by Geo. Dance.

Columbus is good There are abundant incidents, plenty to attract the eye and ear as the piece moves on, and a fine large company of entire new people in an entertaining performance. It is lively, musical, grotesque and dazzling. There are fine solos, entertaining specialties, charming groupings, concerted pieces, and fun and frolic in every act.

Lydia Thompson, of course, shines as the star of the scintillating burlesquers, and is the cynosure of the constellation. Everything she does is done with spirit and intelligence, and she is still the leading burlesque actress.

The company have talent and culture to recommend them. The support are: Marie Williams, Aida Jenoure, Lillie Alliston, Lillian Walters and Rose Newham. Besides, there are a host of other fair burlesquers to add to the ensemble. J. B. Radcliffe, Louis Kelleher, Chas. H. Kennedy and Harry Starr are all good comedians and do a deal of clever work.

The cast, which can be found in the programme on first page, calls for twenty-five burlesquers, headed by Miss Thompson.

Columbus must make way for a bright particular of the repertoire after Sunday night.

Stephens and Solomon's satirical burlesque of Penelope has its first performance here next week, in which the classical story of the fair Penelope, daughter for the disguised Ulysses, and his adventures on the enchanted island of Calypso is wittily, musically and most pleasingly told. Lydia Thompson will be the Ulysses, Aida Jenoure the Penelope, Lillian Walters the enchantress, Calypso, and Rose Newham her attendant. Kelleher comes to the front as the prehistoric policeman, Tektos, and Radcliffe as Ulysses' devoted servant, Oymon.

Seats now on sale.

The new scale of prices are: Orchestra and dress circle seats, reserved, $1; balcony, reserved, 75 cents (admission, 50 cents); new gallery, 25 cents.

Baldwin Theatre.

Modjeska commenced her season this week in a strong production of Cymbeline.

Cymbeline is one of the most picturesque of Shakespeare's plays, but one more for the student than the stage. It becomes somewhat tiresome before the end is reached. Mme. Modjeska gives a fine personation of the true wife, whose perfect trust is her strong shield, who guards her from the foul aspersions of villainy, and brings her out triumphant. The other people are all satisfactory, E. J. Henley more especially.

George Osbourne plays Cloten in a masterly manner.

The mounting and scenery reflect great credit upon the painter and machinist.

Mary Stuart, Monday, Tuesday and Saturday evenings, February 4th.

Alcazar Theatre.

Annie Putnam, a universal favorite as an actress, talented, comical and magnetic, has drawn well here this week, supported by her own company in her popular comedy of "Erma, the Sis."

Both star and company are somewhat of a surprise to their audiences. They can all sing and act well, and have become favorites at once. The play is full of variety and interest, well worked out.

Annie Putnam is vivacious and pretty, somewhat of the Lotta type, and her songs and dances are the best that have been given us for many a day. The piece is bound to draw full houses for the rest of the week.

For cast see programme.

The Grismer-Davies Company, after an extended and successful tour, will open in Bartley Campbell's Fairfax, Monday, Feb. 4th. Fairfax and Mr. Jas. Carden will render their valuable service. During the tour of the company the press have been unanimous in their praise of Mr. Grismer and his talented wife, and they will be warmly greeted by their friends here on Monday night.

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is playing an extended season at the Standard.

Miss Lewis is giving a splendid portrayal of Stephanie, one of her greatest characters, in Forget-Me-Not, this week. The part and play belong to her by right of superiority. She has no rivals in the character. The support by Mainhall and company is excellent.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

The emotional drama of "Moths," a strong society play, will be the next week's attraction.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees, 25 and 50 cents.

Grand Opera House.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, supported by a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, The Fall of the Bastile and The Corsican Brothers, for one week commencing Monday, Feb 11th. The performances of the week will be for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights, Ancient Order of United Workmen, after which Mr. Warner will continue at the Grand.

Orpheum Opera House.

Prof. T. A. Kennedy returns with his wonderful exhibitions of his mysterious mesmeric powers to the Orpheum this week. The Stirk Family also reappear in a diversified round of new specialties; Miss Helen Conklin, soubrette and vocalist, and Mr. John Morrissey, with other talent added.

The performance opens with the comedietta of The Old Gent's Birthday, in which Morrissey and Wood have fun galore, and Helen Conklin is not one bit behind in the frolic.

The King Sisters present a novel act in juggling. Tillie Morrissey repeats her success of former weeks. The Stirk Family give a great act on their bicycles.

Mr. Kennedy closes the entertainment with his mesmeric soiree, to the mystification and pleasure of everyone.

For list of company and their specialties see Orpheum programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Cantelis & Pastor's Madrid Opera Co. commence their season of grand opera, in Spanish, at the Orpheum on Feb. 4th. Their season has been postponed in consequence of their being unable to reach here in time to open this week.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week's attraction will be Mr. Charles Thornton, in the frontier drama, entitled Simon Kenton; or, The Hunters of Old Kentuck. A beautiful panorama, 260 feet long, is one of the great features in the production of the piece.

Mr. Thornton has caught the people on the South side by the very clever manner in which he presented Simon Kenton to them. It is a piece that is full of interest and some of the climaxes are startling. The panorama plays its silent part with effect. The people in support play with just the sufficient spirit and dash to keep up the excitement till the curtain falls.

Next week, Mr. Thornton in the sensational drama of The Headless Horseman.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

Vienna Garden Theatre—Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and it has changed hands for the better. The boxes lately put in have been removed, and the theatre is being repainted, renovated, redecorated and greatly improved every way, at an outlay of some $2,000, prior to reopening on Saturday night to resume its old position as a family resort.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

The opening company will be the Pavanelli Troupe, famed for their grotesque musical acts; the great Ellwood, late of Emerson's Minstrels; Jas. T. Kelly, comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford (late of the Tivoli) in musical sketches; Miss Alice Hamilton, ballad vocalist; Miss Annie Suits, soubrette and songstress; Harry Orndorff, Quigley & Seelig and others, not forgetting the somewhat different comedian in his popular specialties.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

See programme announcement on this page. Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342-1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, opens as a dramatic theatre, at popular prices, Saturday night, with Geo H. Heath's combination in Ewing's dramatic version of "Widow Bedott," its first appearance in this city. The piece is of the Peck's Bad Boy order, lively and funny, and the cast is an efficient one. Mr. Frank Huffman will hold the managerial reins. The theatre (formerly the Buckingham) has had its boxes removed and the whole space of the building, 50 by 100 feet, will be devoted to the audito-

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of Female Mastodons, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their original and new production of the French Masquerade Ball at Woodward's Gardens, with a new version of the Can-Can.

Pavenelli's Troupe of Musical Pavers, Barth & Lorraine and Annie Lennetta are the new faces this week.

Ned Barry, motto vocalist; the Whalens; Minnie Pierce, trapeze artist; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Burnell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

This week is the first of Robinson & Cole's Great International Circus of 50 performers; a 42-foot ring on the stage, in which six lady aerial artistes, ten double somersault throwers ten high vaulters and four funny clowns present their various specialties. The famous Avery Bros., in their flying trapeze act, have been specially engaged. The performing monkey circus is the laughable feature of the show.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Mr. Harry Starr, comedian of Lydia Thompson's company, is daily happy by being cabled from London Friday: "Son. Born week." It tells the story, and is the first Starr added to the coming (we hope) family constellation.

James M. Ward and wife have been playing R. H. White's version of She at Eureka, Humboldt Co. Carrie Clark Ward made a very handsome She.

Manager Al Hayman and Mme. Modjeska have tendered Mr. Robt. M. Eberle a complimentary benefit on Friday evening, on which occasion Camille will be presented by Mme. Modjeska and company.

Manager Morosco will publish at the head of next week's bills this card to the public:

On account of the numerous reports that I am obliged to move from this building, I take this method to inform my patrons that I have renewed my lease and will positively remain where I am. MOROSCO.

J. K. Emmett follows Modjeska at the Baldwin. After Emmett comes Fred Warde and Sol Smith Russell.

Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr., has not signed a two years' contract with Daniel Frohman to star under his management at a stated salary and a percentage of the profits, as has been reported.—[N. Y. Mercury.

Lottie Elliott (Mrs. Abe Leavitt) is busily nursing her new twins.

George O. Starr, agent for Barnum and Bailey's Circus, has returned from Europe bringing a fine lot of animals for the show. He will sail for Morocco in a short time.

San Francisco was Modjeska's dramatic sponsor. She made her first appearance on the English stage in this city on Monday, Aug. 20 1877, at the California Theatre. Adrienne Lecouvreur was the play, and she was supported by Kate Denin, Carrie Wyatt, Belle Chapman, Thos. N. Keene, Bill Mestayer, Harry Edwards, Charley Long, E. N. Thayer and Murray Woods.

The next part that Mrs. Potter will play will be that of Rosalind.

Joseph Grismer and Phœbe Davies commence their season next week at the Alcazar in Fairfax, a drama of the South. See cast in announce programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

The People's Theatre (formerly the Buckingham) opens this, Saturday night, devoted to dramatic business. The boxes have been taken out and a gallery put in. Geo. H. Heath's combination, in Ewing's "Widow Bedot," will be the opening attraction. Popular price, 10 cents, will rule. See cast elsewhere in FIGARO.

Manager Fiske of Fresno, who like everybody from Fresno, has 'ranch' on the brain, and is very ranchy in his figures of speech, said to Manager Leavitt the other night as he stood talking in the row of electric lights extending from the New Bush to Kearny Street—Say, Leavitt, what kind of fruit do you expect the electric light crop you have planted on Bush Street will yield you? O, electric currents and raisin bills, was the tart reply. Fiske took the next train and went home.

First Little Boy—"I hid under the sofa last night when Mr. Doan called on my sister." Second Little Boy—"Well?" First Little Boy—"Well, when Mr. Doan came and sat down by Teresa, it came down and nearly killed me."

Mr. Oldbean (slightly deaf)—"Darling, how your heart beats t night! Is it the Pulsation of the tender emotion?" Softly—"What you hear, Mr. Oldbean is the servant pumping water to the third floor."

The dudes' debates club are in the scientific course, puzzling their brains over the question "Why a dog's tail always curls to the right." They will refer the matter to Jake Lindo, the Pound Master.

Although a woman can't throw a stone, or sharpen a pencil, or climb a tree, she can sit on her feet in cold weather, and that's something a man can't do to save his blessed supercilious soul.

"Don't you think it extravagant, Colonel, to pay $20 for a diamond ring for your wife?" "Not at all; you seem to forget how much I shall save on her glove bill."

Inspector of schools—"Can any one tell who Solomon was?" Small Boy—"Solomon was a very wise and good man, who kept three hundred porcupines."

A lawyer McFarlane used to say that can always be found in the dictionary between Mac and Mad.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Billy Emerson, the minstrel, washes the black off his face for the last time on Sunday night for some moons to come, but Mr. William Emerson, the white-face specialist, will take his place. He opens with Katie Putnam, on sharing terms, on Monday night in Oakland, for an eight weeks' engagement. In the middle of April Emerson goes East to join the Webster-Brady, After Dark Co., at a salary of $500 a week, to introduce his white-face specialties in the concert scene of that play. His contract is for six weeks, with a privilege, to appear in Philadelphia, New York and Brooklyn.

We had a call early this morning from Mr. John Cort, the enterprising young manager of the Northern circuit. Mr. Cort now has six theatres under his control. In fact he has gathered them all in up there, and it might be that he is hungry for some down here. Mr. Cort is a pleasant, affable gentleman, with an honest, manly face, and impresses one with his methodical business-like manners. He has now the largest variety enterprises under his control of any manager in the country. His stay here will be brief.

Little Nettie Stirk, who does that remarkable clever bicycle act with the family of that name, is a proud and happy little girl. Last night she was presented by Stage Manager Brown with a diamond ring that just fits one of her little fingers.

Miss Vernie Vernell opens at the Elite Theatre, Tombstone, to-night, booked by FIGARO Amusement Agency.

Geyer, of Geyer & Lord, lost his little daughter, 3 years old, in Portland last Thursday by pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. Geyer have the warm sympathy of their many friends in their bereavement.

Chas. Nelson, formerly stage manager of Morgan's Theatre, Tacoma, has been engaged by Manager Cort to take the stage management of the Standard Theatre, Portland, for one year.

The Clifford Sisters are filling a very successful engagement at the Club Theatre, Los Angeles. They were booked by FIGARO Amusement Agency.

Elite Theatre, Tombstone, Feb. 4th: Vernie Vernell, Post & Ashley, Gilmore & Reynolds, Laura Manning, Tillie Bouton, Harry Conley, Ella Gardner; never forgetting the eccentric comedian, Chas. A. Keene.

Club Theatre, Victoria, B. C., Jan. 28th: Phil Herne, Ella Howard, Ward & Lee, Kitty La Reine, Mlle. Bertha, Minnie Branscombe and John Chester.

Manager Cort has secured the theatre at Eugene City, Oregon.

Kiralfy had a good week at Los Angeles. Houses crowded at every performance.

Mme. and Prof. Girard Gyer open at the Wigwam, Feb. 4th, for two weeks. They have just returned from a six weeks' engagement with Cort.

The famous Kennedy and his All-Star Specialty Co. open at the Bijou Monday for a short season. In this small house it will not be safe for Mr. Kennedy to exert all the force of his mesmeric power or he will have two-thirds of his audience on the stage. His exhibitions have been marvelous this week at the Orpheum.

Burns & Trayers have a nice little company this week, and they furnish an entertainment second to none in the variety line. They are anxious to please, and try to make their patrons feel that they are welcome.

At the Cremorne this week the evenings have been made very lively by June Dennis and Wiley Evans, who have been the great attraction. The Can-Can calls for all the stock company. The Levinos are very clever and their act is a remarkably good one. Hayes & Marion are among the high kickers every night, but they say there is no occasion for it on salary day.

Prof. Fernando Fleury, the musical character change artist, has made a great hit at the Olympic Theatre, St. Paul, the daily press making especial mention of his performance.

The FIGARO Amusement Agency has entered into a contract with John Moore, the Denver agent, to book people jointly to and from his circuit. This will enable managers to reach Denver in a personal manner through our agency in quest of talent, and will give performers on the Pacific Coast the valuable aid of Mr. Moore in looking out for their interests in his circuits. Mr. Moore, who has been in this city for some time, has returned to Denver.

The Eureka has a fine bill this week, presented by a strong company. Seven lady vocalists are a most attractive feature. Fletcher, the musical artist, always pleases the people. Bart Kennedy and Robt. McDonald are always to be relied upon as enjoyable entertainers. Farmer Squinton's Troubles is full of fun. Geo. C. Dunham is a good stage manager as well as a versatile performer.

The managers at the Comique see no reason why they should make many changes in their programme so long as last week's bas proved so good. Miss Ravenna has been added to the list of singers, and the laugh farce, Just from Troy, concludes the bill.

Mr. J. Larsen has purchased the Vienna Garden Theatre and appointments and will open it this, Saturday as a first-class family resort. The boxes have been torn out and the theatre renovated, painted and redecorated. The stage management will be under the direction of George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, who proved so efficient a manager at the Wigwam. For list of company see programme announcement

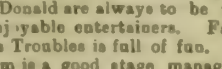
Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coolest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are seven lady vocalists this week.

Lillie Mason, Laura White, Lulu Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Musical Fletcher, Bart Kennedy, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. Take a hint and drop into the Eureka, one of the coolest houses in town. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.



The funny Farmer Squinton's Trouble forms the dramatic part of the entertainment, in the hands of McDonald, Fletcher, Dunham, Kennedy and Mamie Sanford.

An entire change of programme this week.

EVENING EDITION

SATURDAY.....FEBRUARY 2, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it.

The opening attraction is Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Company, the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, in Columbus, her latest success, a new burlesque by Geo. Dance. To be followed on Monday by the burlesque of Penelope.

Lydia Thompson, of course, shines as the star of the scintillating burlesquers, and is the magnet of the constellation. Everything she does is done with spirit and intelligence, and she is still the leading burlesque actress.

The company have talent and culture to recommend them. The support are: Marie Williams, Aida Jenoure, Lillie Alliston, Lillian Walters and Rose Newham. Besides, there are a host of other fair burlesquers to add to the ensemble. J. B. Radcliffe, Louis Kelcher, Chas. H. Kennedy and Harry Starr are all good comedians and do a deal of clever work.

The cast, which can be found in the programme on first page, calls for twenty-five burlesquers, headed by Miss Thompson.

Columbus must make way for a bright particular of the repertoire after Sunday night.

Stephens and Solomon's satirical burlesque of Penelope has its first performance here next week, in which the classical story of the love of Icarius' daughter for the disguised Ulysses, and his adventures on the enchanted island of Calypso is wittily, musically and most pleasingly told. Lydia Thompson will be the Ulysses, Aida Jenoure the Penelope, Lillian Walters the enchantress, Calypso, and Rose Newham her attendant. Kelcher comes to the front as the prehistoric policeman, Tektos, and Radcliffe as Ulysses' devoted servant, Cymon.

The new scale of prices are: Orchestra and dress circle seats, reserved, $1; balcony, reserved, 75 cents (admission, 50 cents); new gallery, 25 cents.

Baldwin Theatre.

Modjeska commenced her season this week in a strong production of Cymbeline.

Cymbeline is one of the most picturesque of Shakespeare's plays, but one more for the student than the stage. It becomes somewhat wearisome before the end is reached. Mme. Modjeska gave a fine personation of the true wife, whose perfect trust is her strong shield, that guards her from the foul aspersions of Iachimo, and brings her out triumphant. The new people are all satisfactory, E. J. Henley most especially.

No performance Sunday night.

Modjeska's repertoire for next week will be a varied one.

Mary Stuart, Monday, Tuesday and Saturday evenings, February 9th.

Adrienne Lecouvreur, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Camille will be the bill for Friday night, set apart by Manager Hayman and Mme. Modjeska for the benefit of that worthy veteran and best of stage managers, Robert Eberle.

Saturday matinee, Camille.

Alcazar Theatre.

Katie Putnam, a universal favorite as an actress, talented, comical and magnetic, has drawn well here this week, supported by her own company in her popular comedy of "Erma, the Elf."

Both star and company are somewhat of a surprise to their audiences. They can all sing and act well, and have become favorites at once. The play is full of variety and interest, well worked out.

For cast see programme.

The Grismer-Davies Company, after an extended and successful tour, will open in Bartley Campbell's Fairfax, Monday, Feb. 4th. Fairfax is a beautiful comedy-drama of Southern life. In addition to the stars, Miss Ethel Brandon and Mr. Jas. Carden will render their valuable service. During the tour of the company the press have been unanimous in their praise of Mr. Grismer and his talented wife, and they will be warmly greeted by their friends here on Monday night.

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is playing an extended season at the Standard.

Miss Lewis is giving a splendid portrayal of Stephanie, one of her greatest characters, in Forget-Me-Not, this week. The part and play belong to her by right of superiority. She has no rivals in the character. The support by Mr. Hall and company is excellent.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

The emotional drama of "Moths," a strong society play, will be the next week's attraction.

Grand Opera House.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, supported by a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, The Fall of the Bastile and The Corsican Brothers, for one week commencing Monday, Feb. 11th. The performances of the week will be for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights, Ancient Order of United Workmen, after which Mr. Warner will continue at the Grand.

Orpheum Opera House.

Prof. T. A. Kennedy returned with his wonderful exhibitions of his mysterious mesmeric powers to the Orpheum this week. The Stirk Family also reappeared in a diversified round of new specialties; Miss Helen Conklin, soubrette and vocalist, and Mr. John Morrissey, with other talent added.

The performance opens with the comedietta of the Old Gent's Birthday, in which Morrissey and Wood have fun galore. Morrissey has not been on the stage for three years before, but he has done good work all the same.

Mr. Kennedy closes the entertainment with his mesmeric soiree, to the mystification and pleasure of everyone.

For list of company and their specialties see Orpheum programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

A grand concert, a la Strauss, will be given next week by the Hungarian Orchestra, augmented to 25 musicians, with a vocal quartette of choicest voices; something very desirable in the musical line.

Cantelis & Pastor's Madrid Opera Co. commence their season of grand opera, in Spanish, at the Orpheum on Feb. 11th. Their season has been postponed in consequence of their being unable to reach here in time to open next week.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Morosco's Ampalitheatre.

This week's attraction will be Mr. Charles Thornton, in the frontier drama, entitled Simon Kenton; or, The Hunters of Old Kentuck. A beautiful panorama, 200 feet long, is one of the great features in the production of the piece.

Mr. Thornton has caught the people on the South side by the very clever manner in which he presented Simon Kenton to them. It is a piece that is full of interest and some of the climaxes are startling. The panorama plays its silent part with effect. The people in support play with just the sufficient spirit and dash to keep up the excitement till the curtain falls.

Next week, Mr. Thornton in the sensational drama of The Headless Horseman.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

Vienna Garden Theatre—Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and it has changed hands for the better. The boxes lately put in have been removed, and the theatre is being repainted, renovated, redecorated and greatly improved every way, at an outlay of some $2,000, prior to reopening on Saturday night to resume its old position as a family resort.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

The opening company will be the Pavanelli Troupe, famed for their grotesque musical acts; the great Ellwood, late of Emerson's Minstrels; Jas. T. Kelly, comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford (late of the Tivoli) in musical sketches; Miss Alice Hamilton, ballad vocalist; Miss Annie Suits, soubrette and songstress; Harry Orndoff, Quigley & Seelig and others, not forgetting the somewhat different comedian in his popular specialties.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

See programme announcement on this page. Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, opens as a dramatic theatre, at popular prices, Saturday night, with Geo H. Heath's combination in Ewing's dramatic version of "Widow Bedott," its first appearance in this city. The piece is of the Peck's Bad Boy order, lively and funny, and the cast is an efficient one. Mr. Frank Huffman will hold the managerial reins. The theatre (formerly the Buckingham) has had its boxes removed and the whole space of the building, 50 by 120 feet, will be devoted to the auditorium with a gallery surrounding it. Prices 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of Female Mastodons, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their original and new production of the French Masquerade Ball at Woodward's Gardens, with a new version of the Can-Can.

Pavanelli's Troupe of Musical Pavers, Barth & Lorraine and Annie Lennetta are the new faces this week.

Ned Barry, motto vocalist; the Whalens; Minnie Pierce, trapeze artist; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

This week is the first of Robinson & Cole's Great International Circus of 50 performers; a 42-foot ring on the stage, in which six lady aerial artistes, ten double somersault throwers, ten high vaulters and four funny clowns present their various specialties. The famous Avery Bros., in their flying trapeze act, have been specially engaged. The performing monkey circus is the laughable feature of the show.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

This week, Jane Dennis and Wiley Evans, the well-known boxers, have given fine exhibitions here.

Miss Maggie Gordan, vocalist, is the new face this week. Munis Leo's version of Joshua Whitcomb commences the evening's entertainment.

The French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Effie Hull, and others, form the female staff of the company.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The charge of bigamy against Manager C. P. Hall was tried in court at Sacramento on the 2nd inst. and the case was dismissed.

Mr. Harry Starr, comedian of Lydia Thompson's company, is doubly happy by being wired from London Friday: "Son. Both well." It tells the story, and is the first Starr added to the coming (we hope) family constellation.

James M. Ward and wife have been playing R. H. White's version of She at Eureka, Humboldt Co. Carrie Clark Ward made a very handsome She.

Manager Al Hayman and Mme. Modjeska have tendered Mr. Robt. M. Eberle a complimentary benefit on Friday evening, on which occasion Camille will be presented by Mme. Modjeska and company at the Baldwin.

Manager Morosco publishes at the head of this week's bills this card to the public:

"On account of the numerous reports that I am obliged to move from this building, I take this method to inform my patrons that I have renewed my lease and will positively remain where I am, MOROSCO."

Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr., has not signed a two years' contract with Daniel Frohman to star under his management at a stated salary and a percentage of the profits, as has been reported.—[N. Y. Mercury.

Lottie Elliott (Mrs. Abe Leavitt) is busily nursing her new twins.

George O. Starr, agent for Barnum and Bailey's Circus, has returned from Europe bringing a fine lot of animals for the show. He will sail for Morocco in a short time.

San Francisco was Modjeska's dramatic sponsor. She made her first appearance on the English stage in this city on Monday, Aug. 20, 1877, at the California Theatre. Adrienne Lecouvreur was the play, and she was supported by Kate Denin, Carrie Wyatt, Belle Chapman, Thos. N. Keene, Bill Mestayer, Harry Edwards, Charley Long, E. N. Thayer and Murray Woods.

The next part that Mrs. Potter will play will be that of Rosalind.

Joseph Grismer and Phœbe Davies commence their season this week at the Alcazar in Fairfax, a drama of the South Sea cast in announce programme elsewhere in FIGARO

The People's Theatre (formerly the Buckingham) opened on Saturday night, devoted to dramatic business. The boxes have been taken out and a gallery put in. Geo. H. Heath's combination, in Ewing's "Widow Bedot," was the opening attraction. Popular price, 10 cents, will rule. See cast elsewhere in FIGARO.

Manager Fiske of Fresno, who like everybody from Fresno, has "ranch" on the brain, and is very ranchy in his figures of speech, said to Manager Leavitt the other night as he stood talking in the row of electric lights extending from the New Bush to Kearny Street—Say, Leavitt what kind of fruit do you expect the electric light crop you have planted on Bush Street will yield you? O, electric currents and raisin bills, was the tart reply. Fiske took the next train and went home.

First Little Boy—"I hid under the sofa last night when Mr. Doan called on my sister." Second Little Boy—"Well?" First Little Boy—"Well, when Mr. Doan came and sat down by Teresa, it came down and nearly killed me."

Mr. Oldbeau (slightly deaf)—"Darling, now your heart beats to night! Is it the Pulsation of the tender emotion?" Sophy—"What you hear, Mr. Oldbeau, is the servant pumping water to the third floor."

The dudes' debates club are in the scientific course, puzzling their brains over the question "Why a dog's tail always curls to the right." They will refer the matter to Jake Lindo, the Pound Master.

Although a woman can't throw a stone, or sharpen a pencil, or climb a tree, she can sit on her feet in cold weather, and that's something a man can't do to save his blessed supercilious soul.

"There is nothing so aggravating as a jealous husband," said a married woman. "But there's nothing so humiliating as a husband who is not so," replied the other one.

Bootblack—"Cully, I know why dat car won't smoke." Newsboy—"Why is it, Duffy?" Bootblack—"Case sumpin's de matter wid de sucker."

IN VINO VERITAS

Let a man be well mellowed with wine,
And his nature will quickly appear.
If it be genial and kind,
The liquor will make it more clear.
But if he's a villain ingrain,
The tipple will act like a spell,
And expose from his innocent brain
The thoughts and conceptions of hell!

Then pass round the bottle and drink,
That the truths of our souls we may glean;
And he who refuses, we'll think,
Has a heart that he fears to be seen.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

George H. Wood is a good speechmaker. He gave the audience at the Vienna on Saturday, the opening night, a confidential talk from the stage, and gave everything, present and future, concerning the Vienna a rose-colored hue. The somewhat different comedian is a pleasant and interesting talker on business subjects, as well as on comical ones.

Billy Emerson, the minstrel, washed the black off his face for the last time on Sunday night for some moons to come, but Mr. William Emerson, the white-face specialist, will take his place. He opens with Katie Putnam, on sharing terms, the current week in Oakland, for an eight weeks' engagement. In the middle of April Emerson goes East to join the Webster-Brady After Dark Co., at a salary of $500 a week, to introduce his white-face specialties in the concert scene of that play. His contract is for six weeks, with a privilege, to appear in Philadelphia, New York and Brooklyn.

We had a call early on Saturday from Mr. John Cort, the enterprising young manager of the Northern circuit. Mr. Cort now has six theatres under his control. In fact he has gathered them all in up there, and it might be that he is hungry for some down here. Mr. Cort is a pleasant, affable gentleman, with an honest, manly face, and impresses one with his methodical business-like manners. He has now the largest variety enterprises under his control of any manager in the country. His stay here will be brief.

Little Nettie Stirk, who does that remarkable clever bicycle act with the family of that name, is a proud and happy little girl. Last night she was presented by Stage Manager Brown with a diamond ring that just fits one of her little fingers.

Miss Vernie Vernell opened at Elite Theatre, Tombstone, 2nd inst, booked by FIGARO Amusement Agency.

Geyer, of Geyer & Lord, lost his little daughter, 3 years old, in Portland last Thursday by pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. Geyer have the warm sympathy of their many friends in their bereavement.

Chas. Nelson, formerly stage manager of Morgan's Theatre, Tacoma, has been engaged by Manager Cort to take the stage management of the Standard Theatre, Portland, for one year.

The Clifford Sisters are filling a very successful engagement at the Club Theatre, Los Angeles. They were booked by FIGARO Amusement Agency.

Elite Theatre, Tombstone, Feb. 4th: Vernie Vernell, Post & Ashley, Gilmore & Reynolds, Laura Manning, Tillie Bouton, Harry Conley, Ella Gardner; never forgetting the eccentric comedian, Chas. A. Keene.

Club Theatre, Victoria, B. C., Jan. 28th: Phil Herne, Ella Howard, Ward & Lee, Kitty La Reine, Mlle. Bertha, Minnie Branscombe and John Chester.

Manager Cort has secured the theatre at Eugene City, Oregon, and the one at Victoria, B. C.

Kiralfy had a good week at Los Angeles. Houses crowded at every performance.

Mme. and Prof. Girard Gyer open at the Wigwam this week for two weeks. They have just returned from a six weeks' engagement with Cort.

The famous Kennedy and his All-Star Specialty Co. open at the Bijou Monday for a short season. In this small house it will not be safe for Mr. Kennedy to exert all the force of his mesmeric power or he will have two-thirds of his audience on the stage. His exhibitions have been marvelous this week at the Orpheum.

Burns & Trayers have a nice little company this week, and they furnish an entertainment second to none in the variety line. They are anxious to please, and try to make their patrons feel that they are welcome.

At the Cremorne this week the evenings have been made very lively by June Dennis and Wiley Evans, who have been the great attraction. The Can-Can calls for all the stock company. The Levines are very clever and their act is a remarkably good one. Hayes & Marion are among the high kickers every night, but they say there is no occasion for it on salary day.

Prof. Fernando Fleury, the musical character change artist, has made a great hit at the Olympic Theatre, St, Paul, the daily press making especial mention of his performance.

The FIGARO Amusement Agency has entered into a contract with John Moore, the Denver agent, to book people jointly to and from his circuit. This will enable managers to reach Denver in a personal manner through our agency in quest of talent, and will give performers on the Pacific Coast the valuable aid of Mr. Moore in looking out for their interests in his circuits. Mr. Moore, who has been in this city for some time, has returned to Denver.

The managers at the Comique see no reason why they should make many changes in their programme so long as last week's has proved so good. Miss [illegible] has been added to the list of

The Eureka has a fine bill this week, presented by a strong company Seven lady vocalists are a most attractive feature. Fletcher, the musical artist, always pleases the people. Bart Kennedy and Robt. McDonald are always to be relied upon as enjoyable entertainers. Farmer Squinton's Troubles is full of fun. Geo. C. Dunham is a good stage manager as well as a versatile performer.

Mr. J. Larsen has purchased the Vienna Garden Theatre and appointments and opened it Saturday to a jam as a first-class family resort. The boxes have been torn out and the theatre renovated, painted and redecorated. The stage management will be under the direction of George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, who proved so efficient a manager at the Wigwam. For list of company see programme announcement of opening in FIGARO. The only paper that has it.

EVENING EDITION

MONDAY.....FEBRUARY 4, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Co., the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, appear in a new burlesque this week.

Stephens and Solomon's satirical burlesque of Penelope has its first performance here this week, in which the classical story of the love of Icarius' daughter for the disguised Ulysses, and his adventures on the enchanted island of Calypso is wittily, musically and most pleasingly told. Lydia Thompson is the mythical Ulysses, Aida Jenoure the Penelope, Lillian Walters the enchantress, Calypso, and Rose Newham her attendant. Kelleher comes to the front as the prehistoric policeman, Tektos, and Radcliffe as Ulysses' devoted servant, Cymon.

Lydia Thompson, of course, shines as the star of the scintillating burlesquers, and is the magnet of the constellation. Everything she does is done with spirit and intelligence, and she is still the leading burlesque actress.

The company have talent and culture to recommend them. The ladies are handsome. The comedians do a deal of clever work, and the costumes and appointments are rich and elegant.

The cast can be found in the programme on first page.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it.

Baldwin Theatre.

Modjeska's repertoire for her second week will be a varied one.

Mary Stuart, that moving and strong historic play, Monday, Tuesday and Saturday evenings.

Adrienne Lecouvreur, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Camille will be the bill for Friday night, set apart by Manager Hayman and Mme. Modjeska for the benefit of that worthy veteran and best of stage managers, Robert M. Eberle.

Saturday matinee, Camille.

No performance Sunday night.

Alcazar Theatre.

The Grismer-Davies Company, after an extended and successful tour, will open in Bartley Campbell's play, Fairfax, this week. Fairfax is a beautiful comedy-drama of Southern life. In addition to the stars, Miss Ethel Brandon and Mr. Jas. Carden will render their valuable service. During the tour of the company the press have been unanimous in their praise of Mr. Grismer and his talented wife, and they will be warmly greeted by their friends here on Monday night.

For cast see programme.

Augustin Daly's New York success, Under the Gaslight, is underlined for next week.

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is playing an extended season at the Standard.

Miss Lewis is giving a splendid portrayal of Stephanie, one of her greatest characters, in Forget-Me-Not, this week. The part and play belong to her by right of superiority. She has no rivals in the character. The support by Mainhall and company is excellent.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

The emotional drama of "Moths," a strong society play, will be produced later in the week, a few more rehearsals being required.

Prices of admission, 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees, 25 and 50 cents.

Grand Opera House.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, supported by a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, The Fall of the Bastile and The Corsican Brothers, for one week commencing Monday, Feb. 11th. The performances of the week will be for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights, Ancient Order of United Workmen, after which Mr. Warner will continue at the Grand.

Orpheum Opera House.

A grand concert, a la Strauss, will be given this week by the Hungarian Orchestra, augmented to 25 musicians, with a vocal quintette of choicest voices; something very desirable in the musical line.

The Emerson Quintette, Mr. Haydon Tilla, Miss Lizzie Richardson (lyric artiste) and Mr. Paul Howard (basso, late of the National Opera Co.) are among the foremost of the artists engaged.

For list of company and their specialties see

Cantelle & Pastor's Madrid Opera Co. commence their season of grand opera, in Spanish, at the Orpheum on Feb. 8th.

The Spanish Opera Co. will arrive Feb. 5th and will positively appear Friday, Feb. 8th, in the spectacular opera, El Gran Mogul, with grand ballet.

The season is limited and the sale of seats is already very large.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week, Mr. Thornton in the sensational drama of The Headless Horseman, introducing the sensational scenes of the midnight assassination, the great concert hall, the hanging, the wonderful mirage, the exciting fire scene and the trial by Judge Lynch.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

Vienna Garden Theatre—Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and it has changed hands for the better. The boxes lately put in have been removed, and the theatre has been repainted, renovated, redecorated and greatly improved every way, at an outlay of some $2,000, prior to reopening on Saturday night to resume its old position as a family resort.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

The opening company is the Pavanelli Troupe, famed for their grotesque musical acts; the great Ellwood, late of Emerson's Minstrels; Jas. T. Kelly, comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford (late of the Tivoli) in musical sketches; Miss Laura Ashby, equilibristic wonder; Miss Annie Suits, soubrette and songstress; Harry Orndorff, Miss Kitty O'Neill and others, not forgetting the somewhat different comedian in his popular specialties.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The new Vienna turned people away Saturday and Sunday nights.

See programme announcement on this page. Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, opened as a dramatic theatre, at popular prices, Saturday night, with Geo. H. Heath's combination in Ewing's dramatic version of "Widow Bedott," its first appearance in this city. The piece is of the Peck's Bad Boy order, lively and funny, and the cast is an efficient one.

Horace Ewing is one of the best Widow Bedotts we have had here. His simulation of the character is very clever work.

Martin & Lonsdale appear in a musical sketch as the opening piece, entitled Crazy Patch—clever in act and business.

The house has been packed at every performance.

Frank Huffman holds the managerial reins. The theatre is 50 by 120 feet, devoted to the auditorium with a gallery surrounding it.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of Female Mastodons, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their original and new production of the French Masquerade Ball at Woodward's Gardens, with a new version of the Can-Can.

Prof. John L. Sullivano and Hattie Talboto will contribute a four round contest every evening.

Barth & Lorraine and Annie Lennetta continue this week.

Ned Barry, motto vocalist; the Whalens; Minnie Pierce, trapeze artist; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

This week is the first of Robinson & Cole's Great International Circus of 50 performers; a 42-foot ring on the stage, in which six lady aerial artistes, ten double somersault throwers, ten high vaulters and four funny clowns present their various specialties.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Grant & Martin and Miss Mabel Harrison are the new faces this week.

The French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Effie Hull, Maggie Gordon and others form the female staff of the company.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Belle Manning, Blanche Leslie, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Mr. Tommy Morris, comedian and vocalist, makes his first appearance this week.

The fun commences with a few remarks from the Comique's Komedy Katerers.

Tommy Morris, comedian, and McPherson, favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

The Komedy Katerers opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio, then the laughable comedy, Justice, and the funny farce, Sims' Troubles, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coolest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are seven lady vocalists this week.

The great sketch artists, Chas. Berkeley and May Howard, make their first appearance this week.

Flora Parker, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, Bart Kennedy, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. Take a hint and drop into the Eureka, one of the coolest houses in town. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

The funny Farmer Squinton's Trouble forms the dramatic part of the entertainment, in the hands of McDonald, Fletcher, Dunham, Kennedy and Mamie Sanford.

An entire change of programme this week.

The Eureka gives a matinee every Sunday at 2 P. M.

The Alpen-Keller.

Messrs. Albrecht & Pohlman, proprietors of this Tyrolean concert hall, 311 Grant avenue, just below the Ahlborn House, promise lovers of good music a fine musical entertainment every night. It is well conducted and popular. Admission free.

There are some men who cannot comprehend that very frequently in life the game is not worth the candle. Ben Jackson was one of them. "That makes the tenth match you have struck. What are you looking for?" asked his room-mate one evening, as Ben was striking a match and looking under the table. "I dropped a match, and I am trying to find it," replied Ben.

"Don't you think it extravagant, Colonel, to pay $20 for a diamond ring for your wife?" "Not at all: you seem to forget how much I shall save on her glove bill."

Wild Western journalism is always ready to put the cap upon any exploit of mild Eastern journalism. A New York paper, having published a story that the Queen of Portugal had a mustache, a Western paper reprints it with the heading, "God Shave the Queen."

"Of course, no young lady should go out at night without a chaperone" said a Harlem belle to her Chicago visitor. "That's so," replied the Wabash avenue damsel, "but every girl hasn't got a chap of her own, you know."

Jones—So, you eloped with the Colonel's daughter, did you?

Bacon—Yes. Did he raise any objection?

"Well, you know the Colonel lost a leg in the war; it is impossible for him to kick."

As Jimmy McGinn used to say, you can never judge a man's sorrow by the sighs of

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

The Emerson Quintette, consisting of Raymon Moore, tenor soloist; Fred Reynolds, alto; Horace Rushby, tenor; J. L. Somers, baritone, and Oscar Kellogg, basso profundo, singing at the Orpheum this week, secured their engagement through the FIGARO Amusement Agency, as did also Mr. Hayden Tilla, the favorite tenor robusto. Moral: Artists of acknowledged ability, place your bookings in our hands.

A Santa Cruzan tells us that Fred Reynold's sweet voice and sympathetic singing of Thos. Getz' "Baby's Picture on the Wall," at his recent concert in that place, captured the town. They sing nothing else there now. He hummed it over for us.

At the Eureka this week The Riverside Picnic introduces the entire company. After the olio Berkeley & Howard make their reappearance in the national sketch, Enlisted. Charles Berkeley's act, Dressmaker's Capers, is the substantial part of the bill.

The Central Park Association, D. R. McNeil, manager, has hung up a purse of $1,000 for the San Francisco and Knickerbockers to play for, on the park baseball grounds, Market and Eighth streets. Two games, one next Sunday and the other the following Sunday, will be played, the winning club to take $600 and the losing team $400.

Manager Walterstein announces two skating races to be held at the Seaside Gardens on Feb. 10th, a money prize to be contested for by two ladies and two gentlemen.

George H. Wood is a good speechmaker. He gave the audience at the Vienna on Saturday, the opening night, a confidential talk from the stage, and gave everything, present and future, concerning the Vienna a rose-colored hue. The somewhat different comedian is a pleasant and interesting talker on business subjects, as well as on comical ones.

Chas. Nelson, formerly stage manager of Morgan's Theatre, Tacoma, has been engaged by Manager Cort to take the stage management of the Standard Theatre, Portland, for one year.

Mme. and Prof. Girard Gyer open at the Wigwam this week for two weeks. They have just returned from a six weeks' engagement with Cort.

Billy Emerson, the minstrel, washed the black off his face for the last time on Sunday night for some moons to come, but Mr. William Emerson, the white-face specialist, will take his place. He opens with Katie Putnam, on sharing terms, the current week in Oakland, for an eight weeks' engagement. In the middle of April Emerson goes East to join the Webster-Brady After Dark Co., at a salary of $500 a week, to introduce his white-face specialties in the concert scene of that play. His contract is for six weeks, with a privilege, to appear in Philadelphia, New York and Brooklyn.

The Clifford Sisters are filling a very successful engagement at the Club Theatre, Los Angeles. They were booked by FIGARO Amusement Agency.

Manager Cort has secured the theatre at Eugene City, Oregon, and the one at Victoria, B. C.

Mr. J. Larsen has purchased the Vienna Garden Theatre and appointments and opened it Saturday to a jam as a first-class family resort. The boxes have been torn out and the theatre renovated, painted and redecorated. The stage management will be under the direction of George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, who proved so efficient a manager at the Wigwam. For list of company see programme announcement of opening in FIGARO. The only paper that has it.

The FIGARO Amusement Agency has entered into a contract with John Moore, the Denver agent, to book people jointly to and from his circuit. This will enable managers to reach Denver in a personal manner through our agency in quest of talent, and will give performers on the Pacific Coast the valuable aid of Mr. Moore in looking out for their interests in his circuits. Mr. Moore, who has been in this city for some time, has returned to Denver.

The managers at the Comique see no reason why they should make many changes in their programme so long as last week's has proved so good. Miss

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The Spanish Opera Co. arrive to-day. They will positively appear at the Orpheum on Friday, Feb. 8th, in El Gran Mogol, a spectacular opera in four acts, with a grand ballet.

The costumes in "Penelope" come from Europe. They are rich and elegant, and the Spartan maidens and the nymphs of Calypso show them off to fine advantage. Those for the Amazon march are in exquisite taste.

Little Mabel Bowman looks as if she were one of Sir Joshua Reynold's paintings come to life in the play of Fairfax, and her silvery little voice and quaint, demure action when she bids Gladys good-night, wins the audience. She is the peer of child actresses to-day. What an enchanting Little Lord Fauntleroy she would make.

Stuttz' New York Theatre Co. route: The Dalles (Or.), Feb. 11-12-13; Arlington, 14-15-16; Pendleton, 18-19-20; Walla Walla (W. T.), 21-22-23. Business fine. Boston Comedy Co. and Lillian Drew have both left remembrances in the way of baggage, etc., on the same route. So writes our correspondent from that section of the country.

Louis Kelleher, as Policeman Tektos, makes a deal of fun in his burlesque typewriting scene in the first act of Penelope.

If indomitable courage counts for anything in this age, Miss Jeffreys-Lewis deserves success. Few men could stand up so courageously as has she against adverse fortune. Miss Lewis has everything to contend with that could possibly come to any manager or star, and she has to meet them all with a brave face, and to as far as possible hide the scenes behind the curtain from the public. In taking "up arms against the sea of troubles, and by opposing end them," Miss Lewis has the best wishes of her friends and admirers, of whom there are many in San Francisco. As an artiste she has no equal in her line of characters on this coast.

C. H. Kenney has the spirit of humor in action and reading, and is notably good in make-up as King of Sparta in Penelope. He has a good idea of burlesque.

Miss Imogene Eberle, as Belinda Jones in The Widow Bedott, compares more than favorably with other actresses who have essayed the same role with Eastern combinations.

The stage settings in Fairfax are more than usually good. Especially is this true of the setting of the second act, which is the best the Alcazar management have ever given us, and that is saying a great deal, for it has always been Mr. George Wallenrod's ambition to have the best that it was possible to obtain. No wonder that he values his cosy theatre as the miser does his gold.

Mr. Hayden Tilla at the Orpheum is singing in the best of voice, and he proves himself a glorious exception to the most of singers who attempt to sing in English. Every word can be distinctly heard, which adds largely to the pleasure of his hearers. When we listen to an Italian air, it does not matter much whether the singers pronounce the words or no, we listen only to the music. But an English air then we want the words, and Mr. Tilla is so gracious an artist that he gratifies us to the fullest extent. We have heard the airs that Mr. Tilla sings many, many times in concert before, but this is the first time we have heard the words.

Millie Marion, as Cupid, is the fairest figure in Penelope.

J. K. Emmett follows Modjeska at the Baldwin. After Emmett comes Fred Warde and Sol Smith Russell.

Manager Al Hayman and Mme. Modjeska have tendered Mr. Robt. M. Eberle a complimentary benefit on Friday evening, on which occasion Camille will be presented by Mme. Modjeska and company at the Baldwin.

The People's Theatre (formerly the Buckingham) opened on Saturday night, devoted to dramatic business. The boxes have been taken out and a gallery put in. Geo. H. Heath's combination, in Ewing's "Widow Bedot," was the opening attraction. Popular price, 10 cents, will rule. See cast elsewhere in FIGARO. The attendance has been large.

Manager Morosco publishes at the head of this week's bills this card to the public:

On account of the numerous reports that I am obliged to move from this building, I take this method to inform my patrons that I have renewed my lease and will positively remain where I am, MOROSCO.

Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr., has not signed a two years' contract with Daniel Frohman to star under his management at a stated salary and a percentage of the profits, as has been reported.—[N. Y. Mercury.

Lottie Elliott (Mrs. Abe Leavitt) is busily nursing her new twins.

The charge of bigamy against Manager C. P. Hall was tried in court at Sacramento on the 2nd inst. and the case was dismissed.

San Francisco was Modjeska's dramatic sponsor. She made her first appearance on the English stage in this city on Monday, Aug. 20, 1877, at the California Theatre. Adrienne Lecouvreur was the play, and she was supported by Kate Denin, Carrie Wyatt, Belle Chapman, Thos. N. Keene, Bill Mestayer, Harry Edwards, Charley Long, E. N. Thayer and Murray Woods. Modjeska plays her initial role Wednesday night.

The next part that Mrs. Potter will play will be that of Rosalind.

Joseph Grismer and Phœbe Davies commence their season this week at the Alcazar in Fairfax, a drama of the South.

TUESDAY..... .....FEBRUARY 5, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Co., the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, appear in a new burlesque at the Bush.

Stephens and Solomon's satirical burlesque of Penelope has its first performance here this week, in which the classical story of the love of Icarius' daughter for the disguised Ulysses, and his adventures on the enchanted island of Calypso is wittily, musically and most pleasingly told.

The Chronicle claims that "the performance of Penelope was as bright and sparkling as that of Columbus was dull and uninteresting. The music is for the most part better than the average of ordinary burlesque music, and the interpolated songs are well chosen and well rendered. Theatre-going people who saw the Lydia Thompson troupe the first week and were disappointed should see Penelope, as this play gives a much better idea of what English burlesque really is; and, besides, is very much better suited to the company, which is more than half the battle in a performance of this sort."

Lydia Thompson, of course, shines as the star of the scintillating burlesquers, and is the magnet of the constellation. Everything she does is done with spirit, grace and intelligence, as the mythical Ulysses. Able support is rendered by Aida Jenoure, the Penelope: Lillian Walters, the enchantress Calypso, and Rose Newham her attendant. Maria Williams as Philander, and the pretty Cupid, Millie Marion, also deserve words of praise.

The comedians distinguish themselves in the fun-making and burlesquing lines. Kenney shows to fine advantage as King Icarius. Harry Starr shines brighter as the Prime Minister than he did in Columbus. Kelleher comes to the front as the prehistoric policeman, Tektos, and Radcliffe as Ulysses' devoted servant, Cymon, adds a deal of fun to the performance.

The company have talent and culture to recommend them. The costumes and appointments are rich and elegant. The Amazon March in the last act is the handsomest dressed one ever seen here.

The cast can be found in the programme on first page.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it, and we are pleased to note the full and fashionable audiences that grace his handsome theatre.

Baldwin Theatre.

Modjeska's repertoire for her second week will be a varied one.

Mary Stuart, that moving and strong historic play, Monday, Tuesday and Saturday evenings.

Mme. Modjeska gives a fine impersonation of the role of Mary Stuart. She appeals strongly to the sympathy of her audiences in her quiet scenes, which are the best. In hurried speeches some of the effectiveness is lost. Mr. Vanderfelt is the best Leicester we have had here.

All the company are playing with greater care than last week and the performance is excellent throughout.

Adrienne Lecouvreur, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Camille will be the bill for Friday night, set apart by Manager Hayman and Mme. Modjeska for the benefit of that worthy veteran and best of stage managers, Robert M. Eberle.

Saturday matinee, Camille.

No performance Sunday night.

Alcazar Theatre.

The Grismer-Davies Company, after an extended and successful tour, opened in Bartley Campbell's play, Fairfax, this week. Fairfax is a beautiful comedy-drama of Southern life. In addition to the stars, Miss Ethel Brandon and Mr. Jas. Carden render their valuable service. During the tour of the company the press have been unanimous in their praise of Mr. Grismer and his talented wife, and they were warmly greeted by their friends here on Monday night.

Mr. Grismer plays the comedy role with great ease and smoothness, and he is ably seconded by his charming wife, who gives us a clever impersonation of the warm tempered Southern girl.

Miss Brandon is in every way equal to the demand made upon her as the suffering Gladys.

Mr. James Carden and Charley Bates come in for warm praise, as does also Fanny Bowman.

For cast see programme.

[illegible] Park's New York success, Under

Standard Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis is playing an extended season at the Standard.

The emotional drama of "Moths," a strong society play, is announced for this evening with Jeffreys-Lewisas Vera, supported by Harry Mainhall, Scott Cooper, Walter Von Rosen, Wm. Roberts, Misses Jennie Lamont, Mabel Prahl, Ida Aubrey and Cornele Fordyce.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees, 25 and 50 cents.

Grand Opera House.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, supported by a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, The Fall of the Bastile and The Corsican Brothers, for one week commencing Monday, Feb. 11th. The performances of the week will be for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights, Ancient Order of United Workmen, after which Mr. Warner will continue at the Grand.

Orpheum Opera House.

A grand concert, a la Strauss, will be given this week by the Hungarian Orchestra, augmented to 25 musicians, with a vocal quintette of choicest voices; something very desirable in the musical line.

The Emerson Quintette, Mr. Haydon Tilla, Miss Lizzie Richardson (lyric artiste) and Mr. Paul Howard (basso, late of the National Opera Co.) are among the foremost of the artists engaged.

For list of company and their specialities see Orpheum programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Cantelli & Pastor's Madrid Opera Co. commence their season of grand opera, in Spanish, at the Orpheum on Feb. 8th.

The Spanish Opera Co. will arrive Feb. 5th and will positively appear Friday, Feb. 8th, in the spectacular opera, El Gran Mogul, with grand ballet.

The season is limited and the sale of seats is already very large.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week, Mr. Thornton in the sensational drama of The Headless Horseman, introducing the sensational scenes of the midnight assassination, the great concert hall, the hanging, the wonderful mirage, the exciting fire scene and the trial by Judge Lynch. Mr. Thornton plays the part of Maurice Gerald, a young Irish refugee, very effectively. The support is well rendered, and the play is a great go at Morosco's.

Next week's attraction for Mr. Thornton's third week will be the sensational drama Tried for Treason.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

Vienna Garden Theatre—Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and it has changed hands for the better. The boxes lately put in have been removed, and the theatre has been repainted, renovated, redecorated and greatly improved every way, at an outlay of some $2,000, prior to reopening on Saturday night to resume its old position as a family resort.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

The opening company is the Pavanelli Troupe, famed for their grotesque musical acts; the great Ellwood, late of Emerson's Minstrels; Jas. T. Kelly, comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford (late of the Tivoli) in musical sketches; Miss Laura Ashby, equilibristic wonder; Miss Annie Suits, soubrette and songstress; Harry Orndorff, Miss Kitty O'Neill and others, not forgetting the somewhat different comedian in his popular specialties.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The new Vienna turned people away Saturday and Sunday nights.

See programme announcement on this page.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, opened as a dramatic theatre, at popular prices, Saturday night, with Geo. H. Heath's combination in Ewing's dramatic version of "Widow Bedott," its first appearance in this city. The piece is of the Peck's Bad Boy order, lively and funny, and the cast is an efficient one.

Horace Ewing is one of the best Widow Bedotts we have had here. His simulation of the character is very clever work.

Martin & Lonsdale appear in a musical sketch as the opening piece, entitled Crazy Patch—clever in act and business.

The house has been packed at every performance.

Frank Huffman holds the managerial reins. The theatre is 50 by 120 feet, devoted to the auditorium with a gallery surrounding it.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of Female Mastodons, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their original and new production of the French Masquerade Ball at Woodward's Gardens, with a new version of the Can-Can.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are seven lady vocalists this week.

The fine sketch artists, Chas. Berkeley and May Howard, make their first appearance this week.

Flora Parker, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, Bob McDonald Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

The funny Farmer Squinton's Trouble forms the dramatic part of the entertainment, in the hands of McDonald, Berkeley, Dunham, Mamie Sanford and Company.

An entire change of programme this week

The Alpen-Kell

will contribute a four round contest every evening.

Barth & Lorraine and Annie Lennetta continue this week.

Ned Barry, motto vocalist; the Whalens; Minnie Pierce, trapeze artist; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

This week is the first of Robinson & Cole's Great International Circus of 50 performers; a 42-foot ring on the stage, in which six lady aerial artistes, ten double somersault throwers, ten high vaulters and four funny clowns present their various specialties.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Grant & Martin and Miss Mabel Harrison are the new faces this week.

The French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

The Levinos in their great act, The Rival Arts; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Stella Clair, Lillian Starr, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Effie Hull, Maggie Gordon and others form the female staff of the company.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Belle Manning, Blanche Leslie, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Mr. Tommy Morris, comedian and vocalist, makes his first appearance this week.

The fun commences with a few remarks from the Comique's Komedy Katerers.

Tommy Morris, comedian, and McPherson, favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

The Komedy Katerers opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio, then the laughable comedy, Justice, and the funny farce, Sims' Troubles, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique has undergone an extensive renovation in auditorium and stage department, and the company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre and for

FULL PROGRAMMES of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco can be found in FIGARO—the only paper that has them.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Brown's Comique, Sacramento, Feb. 4th: Ralph Johnson, Chas. Smith, Garry Hopper, Carrie Hall, Bertha Waring, Saville & St. Clair, Jos. Lyon, William White, Amelia Gorenflo, Chas. Barrows, Jessie Reed, Jack McCullough, Pearl Iola, Jennie Kimball, Nellie Wilson and Lillie Wilson. The efficient stage manager, Billy Akarman, is underlined for a grand testimonial benefit St. Valentine's Day, Feb. 14th.

In St. Louis they have a new way of practicing to get your eye on the ball. Every day that the weather will permit the players get on the common. One of them pitches a big cork and the others take turns at batting it. Any kind of a pitcher can make a cork dart, jump and curve in a mystifying manner, and it takes a good batter to hit it with a barrell stave; a man who can smash it with a broomstick is a dandy. It is splendid practice for batting. They call the game "cork."

Manager Cort left for home yesterday. He made many friends during his short stay here and was the recipient of many courtesies. His multifarious business interests in the North would not admit of a longer stay, but we hope to see him soon again.

The Emerson Quintette, consisting of Raymon Moore, tenor soloist; Fred Reynolds, alto; Horace Rushby, tenor; J. L. Somers, baritone, and Oscar Kellogg, basso profundo, singing at the Orpheum this week, secured their engagement through the FIGARO Amusement Agency, as did also Mr. Hayden Tilla, the favorite tenor robusto. Moral: Artists of acknowledged ability, place your bookings in our hands.

A Santa Cruzan tells us that Fred Reynold's sweet voice and sympathetic singing of Thos. Getz' "Baby's Picture on the Wall," at his recent concert in that place, captured the town. They sing nothing else there now. He hummed it over for us.

At the Eureka this week The Riverside Picnic introduces the entire company. After the olio Berkeley & Howard make their reappearance in the national sketch, Enlisted. Charles Berkeley's act, Dressmaker's Capers, is the substantial part of the bill.

The Central Park Association, D. R. McNeil, manager, has hung up a purse of $1,000 for the San Francisco and Knickerbockers to play for, on the park baseball grounds, Market and Eighth streets, Two games, one next Sunday and the other the following Sunday, will be played, the winning club to take $600 and the losing team $400.

Manager Walterstein announces two skating races to be held at the Seaside Gardens on Feb. 10th, a money prize to be contested for by two ladies and two gentlemen.

Manager Cort has secured the theatre at Eugene City, Oregon, and the one at Victoria, B. C.

The managers at the Comique see no reason why they should make many changes in their programme so long as last week's has proved so good. Miss Ravenna has been added to the list of singers, and the laugh farce, Just from Troy, concludes the bill.

OUR HANDSOME THEATRES.

San Francisco now has three handsome theatres. The Bush Street is really a perfect gem in every respect. The decorations are perfect, reflecting a soft and mellow light, refreshing and restful to the eye and not trying to the beauty of either blonde or brunette. It harmonizes all colors in dress. Next comes the Alcazar temple, the favorite Alcazar—strength hidden by rules of beauty—subdued in color, perfect in tinting, and unexcelled in ventilation and acoustic properties. The quaint little theatre will always rank among the first. The Baldwin is the showiest of them all. It has more bizarre effects, but it falls behind in the way of harmony of colors. It resembles the showy beauty who attracts the eye, but does not charm the senses as does the gentler and more demure sister at her side. The race for superiority lies very evenly, with the odds just a little in favor of our first love. Another rival is coming rapidly to the front, and Manager Leavitt has again shown his sagacity in having his practically new theatre in the field before the new California enters

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The Spanish Opera Co. arrive to-morrow. They will positively appear at the Orpheum Friday, Feb. 8th, in El Gran Mogol, a spectacular opera in four acts, with a grand ballet. For list of company see extra programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

In the forthcoming production of The Fall of the Bastile, 200 people will be massed on the stage in the scene of the storming of the Bastile, and in the grand old song of the "Marseilles" all the voices will be heard.

The costumes in "Penelope" come from Europe. They are rich and elegant, and the Spartan maidens and the nymphs of Calypso show them off to fine advantage. Those for the Amazon march are in exquisite taste.

Little Mabel Bowman looks as if she were one of Sir Joshua Reynold's paintings come to life in the play of Fairfax, and her silvery little voice and quaint, demure action when she bids Gladys good-night, wins the audience. She is the peer of child actresses to-day. What an enchanting Little Lord Fauntleroy she would make.

Louis Kelleher, as Policeman Tektos, makes a deal of fun in his burlesque typewriting scene in the first act of Penelope.

If indomitable courage counts for anything in this age, Miss Jeffreys-Lewis deserves success. Few men could stand up so courageously as has she against adverse fortune. Miss Lewis has everything to contend with that could possibly come to any manager or star, and she has to meet them all with a brave face, and to as far as possible hide the scenes behind the curtain from the public. In taking "up arms against the sea of troubles, and by opposing end them," Miss Lewis has the best wishes of her friends and admirers, of whom there are many in San Francisco. As an artiste she has no equal in her line of characters on this coast.

C. H. Kenney has the spirit of humor in action and reading, and is notably good in make-up as King of Sparta in Penelope. He has a good idea of burlesque.

Miss Imogene Eberle, as Belinda Jones in The Widow Bedott, compares more than favorably with other actresses who have essayed the same role with Eastern combinations.

The stage settings in Fairfax are more than usually good. Especially is this true of the setting of the second act, which is the best the Alcazar management have ever given us, and that is saying a great deal, for it has always been Mr. George Wallenrod's ambition to have the best that it was possible to obtain. No wonder that he values his cosy theatre as the miser does his gold.

Mr. Haydon Tilla at the Orpheum is singing in the best of voice, and he proves himself a glorious exception to the most of singers who attempt to sing in English. Every word can be distinctly heard, which adds largely to the pleasure of his hearers. When we listen to an Italian air, it does not matter much whether the singers pronounce the words or no, we listen only to the music. But an English air then we want the words, and Mr. Tilla is so gracious an artist that he gratifies us to the fullest extent. We have heard the airs that Mr. Tilla sings many, many times in concert before, but this is the first time we have heard the words.

Mme. and Prof. Girard Gyer open at the Wigwam this week for two weeks. They have just returned from a six weeks' engagement with Cort.

Millie Marion, as Cupid, is the fairest figure in Penelope.

Manager Al Hayman and Mme. Modjeska have tendered Mr. Robt. M. Eberle a complimentary benefit on Friday evening, on which occasion Camille will be presented by Mme. Modjeska and company at the Baldwin.

The People's Theatre (formerly the Buckingham) opened on Saturday night, devoted to dramatic business. The boxes have been taken out and a gallery put in. Geo. H. Heath's combination, in Ewing's "Widow Bedot," was the opening attraction. Popular price, 10 cents, will rule. See cast elsewhere in FIGARO. The attendance has been large.

San Francisco was Modjeska's dramatic sponsor. She made her first appearance on the English stage in this city on Monday, Aug. 20, 1877, at the California Theatre. Adrienne Lecouvreur was the play, and she was supported by Kate Denin, Carrie Wyatt, Belle Chapman, Thos. N. Keene, Bill Mestayer, Harry Edwards, Charley Long, E. N. Thayer and Murray Woods. Modjeska plays her initial role this evening.

Joseph Grismer and Phœbe Davies commence their season this week at the Alcazar in Fairfax, a drama of the South. See cast in programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

This week is the first of Robinson & Cole's Great International Circus of 50 performers; a 42-foot ring on the stage, in which six lady aerial artistes, ten double somersault throwers, ten high vaulters and four funny clowns present their various specialties.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one [illegible]. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Grant & Martin and Miss Mabel Harrison are the new faces this week.

The French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

The bill opens with Hayes & Marion's laughable farce, The Spectre Bridegroom.

Dolph Levino gives a new act, Watkins, Party. Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Mabel Harrison, Reta Gardner, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Effie Hull, Maggie Gordon and others form the female staff of the company.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Co., the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, appear in a new burlesque at the Bush.

Stephens and Solomon's satirical burlesque of Penelope has its first performance here this week, in which the classical story of the love of Icarius' daughter for the disguised Ulysses, and his adventures on the enchanted island of Calypso is wittily, musically and most pleasingly told.

The Chronicle claims that "the performance of Penelope was as bright and sparkling as that of Columbus was dull and uninteresting. The music is for the most part better than the average of ordinary burlesque music, and the interpolated songs are well chosen and well rendered. Theatre-going people who saw the Lydia Thompson troupe the first week and were disappointed should see Penelope, as this play gives a much better idea of what English burlesque really is; and, besides, is very much better suited to the company, which is more than half the battle in a performance of this sort."

Lydia Thompson, of course, shines as the star of the scintillating burlesquers, and is the magnet of the constellation. Everything she does is done with spirit, grace and intelligence, as the mythical Ulysses. Able support is rendered by Alda Jencure, the Penelope, Lillian Walters, the enchantress Calypso, and Rose Newham her attendant. Maria Williams as Philander, and the pretty Cupid, Millie Marion, also deserve words of praise.

The comedians distinguish themselves in the fun-making and burlesquing lines. Kenney shows to fine advantage as King Icarius. Harry Starr shines brighter as the Prime Minister than he did in Columbus. Kelleher comes to the front as the prehistoric policeman, Tektos, and Radcliffe as Ulysses' devoted servant, Cymon, adds a deal of fun to the performance.

The company have talent and culture to recommend them. The costumes and appointments are rich and elegant. The Amazon March in the last act is the handsomest dressed one ever seen here.

The cast can be found in the programme on first page.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it, and we are pleased to note the full and fashionable audiences that grace his handsome theatre.

Baldwin Theatre.

Modjeska's repertoire for the rest of the week will be a varied one.

Adrienne Lecouvreur, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Camille will be the bill for Friday night, set apart by Manager Hayman and Mme. Modjeska for the benefit of that worthy veteran and best of stage managers, Robert M. Eberle.

Saturday matinee, Camille.

Mary Stuart, that moving and strong historic play, will have its last production Saturday evening.

Mme. Modjeska gives a fine impersonation of the role of Mary Stuart. She appeals strongly to the sympathy of her audiences in her quiet scenes, which are the best. In hurried speeches some of the effectiveness is lost. Mr. Vanderfelt is the best Leicester we have had here.

All the company are playing with greater care than last week and the performance is excellent throughout.

No performance Sunday night.

Modjeska appears in her great character of Rosalind in "As You Like It" for her farewell week, commencing on Monday.

Alcazar Theatre.

The Grismer-Davies Company, after an extended and successful tour, opened in Bartley Campbell's play, Fairfax, this week. Fairfax is a beautiful comedy-drama of Southern life. In addition to the stars, Miss Ethel Brandon and Mr. Jas. Carden render their valuable service. During the tour of the company the press have been unanimous in their praise of Mr. Grismer and his talented wife, and they were warmly greeted by their friends here on Monday night.

Mr. Grismer plays the comedy role with great ease and smoothness, and he is ably seconded by his charming wife, who gives us a clever impersonation of the warm tempered Southern girl.

Miss Brandon is in every way equal to the demand made upon her as the suffering Gladys.

Mr. James Carden and Charley Bates come in for warm praise, as does also Fanny Bowman.

Standard Theatre.

The emotional drama of "Moths," a strong society play, is announced for Friday night with Jeffreys-Lewis as Vera, supported by Harry Mainhall, Scott Cooper, Walter Von Rosen, Wm. Roberts, Misses Jennie Lamont, Mabel Frahl, Ida Aubrey and Cornelie Fordyce.

For cast, see programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees, 25 and 50 cents.

Grand Opera House.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, two popular stars, supported by Darrell Vinton and a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, The Fall of the Bastile and The Corsican Brothers, for one week commencing Monday, Feb. 11th. The performances of the week will be for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights, Ancient Order of United Workmen. The great scenes of this vivid melodrama are the Storming of the Bastile, the quarrel scene, the duel, the "Marseillies" by the people of Paris and the guillotine, in some of which the stage will be massed with the wild Revolutionists.

Mr. Warner will continue at the Grand later in the season in his great part of Sir Giles Overreach, in which character he has no equal on the stage.

Orpheum Opera House.

A grand concert, a la Strauss, to-night and Thursday by the Hungarian Orchestra, augmented to 25 musicians, with a vocal quintette of choicest voices; something very desirable in the musical line.

The Emerson Quintette, Mr. Haydon Tilla Miss Lizzie Richardson (lyric artiste) and Mr. Paul Howard (basso, late of the National Opera Co.) are among the foremost of the artists engaged. The Quintette's harmonious numbers and Raymon Moore's solos, given for recalls, receive a half-dozen encores. Haydon Tilla's English ballads are excellent in voice and rendition, and are great favorites.

For list of company and their specialties see Orpheum programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Cantelis & Pastor's Madrid Opera Co. commence their season of grand opera, in Spanish, at the Orpheum on Friday, February 8th, in the spectacular opera, El Gran Mogul, with grand ballet. Opera matinees Saturday and Sunday.

For classified list of the members of the company see extra programme advertised in adjoining column.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week, Mr. Thornton in the sensational drama of The Headless Horseman, introducing the sensational scenes of the midnight assassination, the great concert hall, the hanging, the wonderful mirage, the exciting fire scene and the trial by Judge Lynch. Mr. Thornton plays the part of Maurice Gerald, a young Irish refugee, very effectively. The support is well rendered, and the play is a great go at Morosco's.

Next week's attraction for Mr. Thornton's third week will be the sensational drama Tried for Treason.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

Vienna Garden Theatre—Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and has greatly improved it every way, at an outlay of some $2,000.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

The opening company is the Pavanelli Troupe, famed for their grotesque musical acts; the great Ellwood, late of Emerson's Minstrels; Jas. T. Kelly, comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford (late of the Tivoli) in musical sketches; Miss Laura Ashby, equilibristic wonder; Miss Annie Suits, soubrette and songstress; Harry Orndorff, Miss Kitty O'Neill and others not forgetting the somewhat different comedian in his popular specialties.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The new Vienna turned people away Saturday and Sunday nights, and business remains good.

See programme announcement on this page. Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342-1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, opened as a dramatic theatre, at popular prices, Saturday night, with Geo. H. Heath's combination in Ewing's dramatic version of "Widow Bedott," its first appearance in this city. The piece is of the Peck's Bad Boy order, lively and funny, and the cast is an efficient one.

Horace Ewing is one of the best Widow Bedotts we have had here. His simulation of the character is very clever work.

Martin & Lonsdale appear in a musical sketch as the opening piece, entitled Crazy Patch—clever in act and business.

Business pans out well at the People's.

Frank Huffman holds the managerial reins. The theatre is 50 by 120 feet, with a gallery.

That well constructed play of standard worth, The Ticket-of-Leave Man, will be next week's bill at the People's.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of Female Mastodons, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their original and new production of the French Masquerade Ball at Woodward's Gardens, with a new version of the Can-Can.

Prof. John L. Sullivano and Hattie Talboto will contribute a four round contest every evening.

Barth & Lorraine and Annie Lennetta continue this week.

Ned Barry, motto vocalist; the Whalens; Minnie Pierce, trapeze artist; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Belle Manning, Blanche Leslie, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Mr. Tommy Morris, comedian and vocalist, makes his first appearance this week.

The fun commences with a few remarks from the Comique's Komedy Katerers.

Tommy Morris, comedian, and McPherson, favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

The Komedy Katerers opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio, then the laughable comedy, Justice, and the funny farce, Sims' Troubles, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique has undergone an extensiv renovation in auditorium and stage depart

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

In St. Louis they have a new way of practicing to get your eye on the ball. Every day that the weather will permit the players get on the common. One of them pitches a big cork and the others take turns at batting it. Any kind of a pitcher can make a cork dart, jump and curve in a mystifying manner, and it takes a good batter to hit it with a barrell stave; a man who can smash it with a broomstick is a dandy. It is splendid practice for batting. They call the game "cork."

Manager Cort left for home Tuesday. He made many friends during his short stay here and was the recipient of many courtesies. His multifarious business interests in the North would not admit of a longer stay, but we hope to see him soon again.

The Emerson Quintette, consisting of Raymon Moore, tenor soloist; Fred Reynolds, alto; Horace Rushby, tenor; J. L. Somers, baritone, and Oscar Kellogg, basso profundo, singing at the Orpheum this week, secured their engagement through the FIGARO Amusement Agency, as did also Mr. Hayden Tilla, the favorite tenor robusto. Moral: Artists of acknowledged ability, place your bookings in our hands.

At the Eureka this week The Riverside Picnic introduces the entire company. After the olio Berkeley & Howard make their reappearance in the national sketch, Enlisted. Charles Berkeley's act, Dressmaker's Capers, is the substantial part of the bill.

The Central Park Association, D. R. McNeil, manager, has hung up a purse of $1,000 for the San Francisco and Knickerbockers to play for, on the park baseball grounds, Market and Eighth streets. Two games, one next Sunday and the other the following Sunday, will be played, the winning club to take $600 and the losing team $400.

Manager Waltenstein announces two skating races to be held at the Seaside Gardens on Feb. 10th, a money prize to be contested for by two ladies and two gentlemen.

Manager Cort has secured the theatre at Eugene City, Oregon, and the one at Victoria, B. C.

The managers at the Comique see no reason why they should make many changes in their programme so long as last week's has proved so good. Miss Ravenna has been added to the list of singers, and the laugh farce, Just from Troy, concludes the bill.

Pretty Girl—Yes, I like that young minister; but I really do think he might have a little more judgment. I know I'm not very wicked, but he imagines I'm going straight to perdition.

Friend—Oh, you must be mistaken.

"No, I'm not. There are lots worse sinners in the congregation than I am, and yet, no matter what wickedness he preaches against, he always looks right straight at me."

Sardou, has at last admitted that he is writing a play in collaboration with Blanche Roosevelt. His admission has created a great deal of comment in France. It is regarded there as a very remarkable thing that the greatest genius of the native dramatists should choose an American to collaborate with. The Sardou-Roosevelt play will be founded on Miss Roosevelt's novel, The Copper Queen.

Suburban (proud of his little garden)—"Well, sir, I made over $50 on hens this winter." Townley (who lives in a flat)—"How?" Suburban (joyously) "By not keeping any."

She (with emotion)—"There's Mr. Bangs, the poet; he seems to be all wrapped up in his thoughts." He (freezingly)—"Yes! I think he would look better wrapped up in an overcoat."

Great advances have been made in church architecture during the last two decades—the new churches are handsome—but little improvement is shown over the old plan of salvation.

"Yes," said Mrs. Porcine, "I'm mighty afraid of ghosts, but then I keep them away from me by wearing an omelet around my neck.

Patti says plenty of sleep is the secret of preserving one's beauty. That accounts for us having such handsome policemen.

Are critics who gush extravagantly over our star actresses and prime donne liable to die from an overdose of lauden'em?

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Eddie McArdle, who graduated from the box office of the California Theatre, has been Grismer's agent in his extended season Eastward and represents him here. Eddie says he never gave California a black eye.

The Levy Opera and Concert Co., under the management of Mr. Fred Pelham, have arranged for a tour through the West and Northwest this Spring. They open at Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 12th. The company includes Levy, the world's greatest cornet virtuoso; Mme. Stella Levy, soprano; Katherine MacNeill, contralto; Enrico Battestini, tenor; Sig. Bravura, baritone, and Mons. Baudet, pianist and accompanist.

The Spanish Opera Co. arrives tonight. They will positively appear at the Orpheum to-morrow night, in El Gran Mogol, a spectacular opera in four acts, with a grand ballet. For list of company see extra programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

In the production of The Fall of the Bastile, at the Grand, 200 people will be massed on the stage in the scene of the storming of the Bastile, and in the grand old song, the "Marseillaise," all the voices will be heard.

The first annual entertainment of the Press Club of San Francisco will be given at the Baldwin Theatre Thursday afternoon, Feb. 14th. An olio performance will be given, in which the leading members of the dramatic profession will participate. Manager Al Hayman has offered the Baldwin Theatre for the occasion, and the managers of the Alcazar, Bush and Orpheum Theatres and the Tivoli Opera House have promised to lend their aid. In addition to the talent from the various theatres, a large number of well known and clever artists have volunteered their services. Mr. Robert M. Eberle will act as stage manager. The box office will open for sale of seats at Baldwin Theatre Friday morning, Feb. 8th.

The costumes in "Penelope" come from Europe. They are rich and elegant, and the Spartan maidens and the nymphs of Calypso show them off to fine advantage. Those for the Amazon march are in exquisite taste.

Louis Kelleher, as Policeman Tektos, makes a deal of fun in his burlesque typewriting scene in the first act of Penelope.

C. H. Kenney has the spirit of humor in action and reading, and is notably good in make-up as King of Sparta in Penelope. He has a good idea of burlesque.

The stage settings in Fairfax are more than usually good. Especially is this true of the setting of the second act, which is the best the Alcazar management have ever given us, and that is saying a great deal, for it has always been Mr. George Wallenrod's ambition to have the best that it was possible to obtain. No wonder that he values his cosy theatre as the miser does his gold.

Mme. and Prof. Girard Gyer open at the Wigwam this week for two weeks. They have just returned from a six weeks' engagement with Cort.

Millie Marion, as Cupid, is the fairest figure in Penelope.

Manager Al Hayman and Mme. Modjeska have tendered Mr. Robt. M. Eberle a complimentary benefit on Friday evening, on which occasion Camille will be presented by Mme. Modjeska and company at the Baldwin.

Joseph Grismer and Phœbe Davies commence their season this week at the Alcazar in Fairfax, a drama of the South. See cast in programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

OUR HANDSOME THEATRES.

San Francisco now has three handsome theatres. The Bush Street is really a perfect gem in every respect. The decorations are perfect, reflecting a soft and mellow light, refreshing and restful to the eye and not trying to the beauty of either blonde or brunette. It harmonizes all colors in dress. Next comes the Moorish temple, the favorite Alcazar—strength hidden by lines of beauty—subdued in color, perfect in tinting, and unexcelled in ventilation and acoustic properties. The quaint little theatre will always rank among the first. The Baldwin is the showiest of them all. It has more bizarre effects, but it falls behind in the way of harmony of colors. It resembles the showy beauty who attracts the eye, but does not charm the senses as does the gentler and more demure sister at her side. The race for superiority lies very evenly, with the odds just a little in favor of our first love. Another rival is coming rapidly to the front, and Manager Leavitt has again shown his sagacity in having his practically new theatre in the field before the new California enters into the contest.

Boarder—"I don't know what's the matter with, me but I haven't been able to eat worth a cent since I came to this house." Landlady—"Were you a museum freak before you lost your appetite.

A man fell dead while cleaning the snow off his sidewalk. It is supposed he suddenly discovered that he had got over the line and removed the snow from nearly six inches on his neighbor's side.

It is always one of the really interesting things in this world to hear a young woman express her candid opinion of the other young woman whom her husband might have married.

Speaking of tramps, why is one of the birsute fraternity like a barrel of cider? Because he is sour after he has worked.

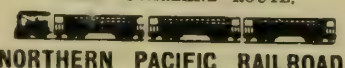
Grant & Martin and Miss Mabel Harrison are the new faces this week.



The French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

The bill opens with Hayes & Marion's laughable farce, The Spectre Bridegroom.

Dolph Levino gives a new act, Watkins' Party. Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Mabel Harrison, Beta Gardner, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Effie Hull, Maggie Gordon and others form the female staff of the company.

EVENING EDITION

THURSDAY..... ...FEBRUARY 7, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Co., the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, appear in a new burlesque at the Bush.

Stephens and Solomon's satirical burlesque of Penelope has its first performance here this week, in which the classical story of the love of Icarius' daughter for the disguised Ulysses, and his adventures on the enchanted island of Calypso is wittily, musically and most pleasingly told.

The Chronicle claims that "the performance of Penelope was as bright and sparkling as that of Columbus was dull and uninteresting. The music is for the most part better than the average of ordinary burlesque music, and the interpolated songs are well chosen and well rendered. Theatre-going people who saw the Lydia Thompson troupe the first week and were disappointed should see Penelope, as this play gives a much better idea of what English burlesque really is; and, besides, is very much better suited to the company, which is more than half the battle in a performance of this sort."

Lydia Thompson, of course, shines as the star of the scintillating burlesquers, and is the magnet of the constellation. The ladies act with charming grace and spirit and the comedians distinguish themselves in the fun making and burlesquing lines. Kenney shows to fine advantage as King Icarius.

The company have talent and culture to recommend them. The costumes and appointments are rich and elegant. The Amazon March in the last act is the handsomest dressed one ever seen here.

The cast can be found in the programme on first page.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it, and we are pleased to note the full and fashionable audiances that grace his handsome theatre.

Baldwin Theatre.

Modjeska's repertoire for the rest of the week will be a varied one.

Adrienne Lecouvreur for the last time tonight.

A satisfactory performance last night of Adrienne Lecouvreur, but the honors of the evening must be given to Mr. Osbourne, who played his part of Michonnet excellently well.

Camille will be the bill for Friday night, set apart by Manager Hayman and Mme. Modjeska for the benefit of that worthy veteran and best of stage managers, Robert M. Eberle.

Saturday matinee, Camille.

Mary Stuart, that moving and strong historic play, will have its last production Saturday evening.

No performance Sunday night.

Modjeska appears in her great character of Rosalind in "As You Like It" for her farewell week, commencing on Monday.

Alcazar Theatre.

The Grismer-Davies Company, after an extended and successful tour, opened in Bartley Campbell's play, Fairfax, this week. Fairfax is a beautiful comedy-drama of Southern life.

Mr. Grismer plays the comedy role with great ease and smoothness, and he is ably seconded by his charming wife, who gives us a clever impersonation of the warm tempered Southern girl.

Miss Brandon is in every way equal to the demand made upon her as the suffering Gladys.

Mr. James Carden and Charley Bates come in for warm praise, as does also Fanny Bowman.

For cast see programme.

Augustin Daly's New York success, Under the Gaslight, is underlined for next week.

Standard Theatre.

The emotional drama of "Moths," a strong society play, is announced for Monday night with Jeffreys-Lewis as Vera, supported by Harry Mainhall, Scott Cooper, Walter Von Rosen, Va[illegible] Misses Jennie Lamont, Mabel Prall, Ida Aubrey and Cornele Fordyce.

For cast see programme elsewhere in paper. Prices of admission 25, 50 & 75 cts. Matinees, 25 and 50 cents.

Grand Opera House.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, two popular stars, supported by Darrell Vinton and a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, The Fall of the Bastile and The Corsican Brothers, next week. The performances are for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights, [illegible] Workmen. The scenes ing of the Bastile, the quarrel scene, the duel, the "Marseillaise" by the people of Paris and the execution guillotine, in some of which the stage will be massed with the wild Revolutionists.

The Corsican Brothers will be the bill for Saturday and Sunday nights. A special feature of the performance will be the permission given by the management to participate in the grand masquerade scene, lasting from 30 to 45 minutes, for which there are already many applicants.

Mr. Warner will continue at the Grand later in the season in his great part of Sir Giles Overreach, in which character he has no equal on the stage.

Orpheum Opera House.

The last grand concert, a la Strauss, to-night by the Hungarian Orchestra, augmented to 25 musicians, with a vocal quintette of choicest voices; something very desirable in the musical line.

Cantelis & Pastor's Madrid Opera Co. commence their season of grand opera, in Spanish, at the Orpheum on Friday, February 8th, in the spectacular opera, El Gran Mogul, with grand ballet. Opera matinees Saturday and Sunday.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four prima tenors, four prima baritones, four basso profundos, four comedians, fifty second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Senor Vincent d'Allesio.

For classified list of the members of the company see extra programme adverlised in adjoining column.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week, Mr. Thornton in the sensational drama of The Headless Horseman, introducing the sensational scenes of the midnight assassination, the great concert hall, the hanging, the wonderful mirage, the exciting fire scene and the trial by Judge Lynch. Mr. Thornton plays the part of Maurice Gerald, a young Irish refugee, very effectively. The support is well rendered, and the play is a great go at Morosco's.

Next week's attraction for Mr. Thornton's third week will be the sensational drama Tried for Treason.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

Vienna Garden Theatre—Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and has greatly improved it every way, at an outlay of some $2,000.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

The opening company is the Pavanelli Troupe, famed for their grotesque musical acts; the great Ellwood, late of Emerson's Minstrels; Jas. T. Kelly, comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford (late of the Tivoli) in musical sketches; Miss Laura Ashby, equilibristic wonder; Miss Annie Suits, soubrette and songstress; Harry Orndorff, Miss Kitty O'Neill and others not forgetting the somewhat different comedian in his popular specialties.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The new Vienna turned people away Saturday and Sunday nights, and business remains good.

See programme announcement on this page.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, opened as a dramatic theatre, at popular prices, Saturday night, with Geo. H. Heath's combination in Ewing's dramatic version of "Widow Bedott," its first appearance in this city. The piece is of the Peck's Bad Boy order, lively and funny, and the cast is an efficient one.

Horace Ewing is one of the best Widow Bedotts we have had here. His simulation of the character is very clever work.

Martin & Lonsdale appear in a musical sketch as the opening piece, entitled Crazy Patch—clever in act and business.

Business pans out well at the People's.

Frank Huffman holds the managerial reins.

That well constructed play of standard worth, The Ticket-of-Leave Man, will be next week's bill at the People's.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

This week is the first of Robinson & Cole's Great International Circus of 50 performers; a 42-foot ring on the stage, in which six lady aerial artistes, ten double somersault throwers, ten high vaulters and four funny clowns present their various specialties.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of Female Mastodons, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their original and new production of the French Masquerade Ball at Woodward's Gardens, with a new version of the Can-Can.

Prof. John L. Sullivano and Hattie Talboto will contribute a four round contest every evening.

Ned Barry, motto vocalist; the Whalens; Minnie Pierce, trapeze artist; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Belle Manning, Blanche Leslie, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Mr. Tommy Morris, comedian and vocalist, makes his first appearance this week.

The fun commences with a few remarks from the Comique's Komedy Katerers.

Tommy Morris, comedian, and McPherson, favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialities.

The Komedy Katerers opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio, then the laughable comedy, Justice, and the funny farce, Sims' Troubles, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre and for many

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Tony Hart, the Irish comedian, has so far recovered as to warrant his removal from the insane asylum at Worcester, Mass., to the home of his parents at that place. It has been said that Hart had incipient paresis. It is to be hoped that the convalescence will continue, and that he will be able to resume his position on the stage.

Leo & Mason open at the Wonderland next week.

Cort's Standard, Seattle, Feb. 4th: Ward & Lee, Carroll & Nealey, Jennie La Tour, Miller Bros., Adele Purvis, Leonzo, Derville Family, Bessie Bell, Ida Howell, Lillie Murphy, Maud Clayton and the stock company.

Farmes' Grand Australian Circus united with the World's Circus opens for a short season at Central Park, Market and Eighth streets, on Feb. 21st Popular prices will rule. Announcement in FIGARO in due time.

W. B. Goodenough, formerly of the Texas League, has signed with Manager Gillis of the Sacramento Baseball Club. He has an established reputation as a pitcher, and will be played in every game during the coming season, in order that the club may receive the full benefit of his batting and base running. The Sacramento Club will be a very strong one.

Cort's Standard Theatre, Portland, Feb. 4th: Chas. B Nelson, Durell Twin Bros., Leo & De Varo, Jessie Chapman, Lassard & Lucifer, Eugene Ward, Annie Ryner, Emerson & West, Dot Melville, Ida Chester, Jennie Fowler, Hattie Meyers, Ashley & Hess, Allen & Conklin, Lang & Sharp, Clara Stanley, Ida Campbell, Zanfretta Family, Winchell Twin Sisters, Mollie Le Roy, Bijou Mignon, Effie Hueston, Minnie Hughes and Louise Lester.

The musical sketch artists, Martin & Lonsdale, are doing a remarkably strong act at the People's Theatre this week. Both have more than usually good voices, which harmonize finely in their duets, and the lady dresses with elegance and taste. They are a strong card in any house.

The Emerson Quintette have been the recipients of repeated encores this week at the Orpheum. They may feel confident of a hearty welcome when they sing again. The concerts this week have afforded a genuine feast to all lovers of fine music.

The Central Park Association, D. R. McNeil, manager, has hung up a purse of $1,000 for the San Francisco and Knickerbockers to play for, on the park baseball grounds, Market and Eighth streets, Two games, one next Sunday and the other the following Sunday, will be played, the winning club to take $600 and the losing team $400.

Manager Walterstein announces two skating races to be held at the Seaside Gardens on Feb. 10th, a money prize to be contested for by two ladies and two gentlemen.

The managers at the Comique see no reason why they should make many changes in their programme so long as last week's has proved so good. Miss Ravenna has been added to the list of singers, and the laugh farce, Just from Troy, concludes the bill.

OUR HANDSOME THEATRES.

San Francisco now has three handsome theatres. The Bush Street is really a perfect gem in every respect. The decorations are perfect, reflecting a soft and mellow light, refreshing and restful to the eye and not trying to the beauty of either blonde or brunette. It harmonizes all colors in dress. Next comes the Moorish temple, the favorite Alcazar—strength hidden by lines of beauty—subdued in color, perfect in tinting, and unexcelled in ventilation and acoustic properties. The quaint little theatre will always rank among the first. The Baldwin is the showiest of them all. It has more bizarre effects, but it falls behind in the way of harmony of colors. It resembles the showy beauty who attracts the eye, but does not charm the senses as does the gentler and more demure sister at her side. The race for superiority lies very evenly, with the odds just a little in favor of our first love. Another rival is coming rapidly to the front, and Manager Leavitt has again shown his sagacity

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Miss Rose Easton, the actress, owing to an attachment suit, was obliged to suspend the performance of The Octoroon at the Tivoli Theatre, Oakland, Feb. 5th, until after 9 o'clock. Miss Easton is unfortunately burdened with a worthless cub of a husband, and she has struggled alone to build up the Tivoli. Satisfactory financial arrangements have been made and the house will remain open. Her company is an excellent one and they have been playing to large, fashionable and well pleased audiences, and Miss Easton has the hearty sympathy of the Oakland community in her single handed fight.

The twenty-first anniversary of the organization of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks will be held at the Baldwin Theatre Sunday night, Feb. 17, and the Elks will celebrate their arriving at age in great style. Manager Al Hayman has kindly donated the use of the theatre for that night without charge. Once or twice a year the Elks give a ladies' social and always invite a lady to act for the night as president, Mme. Modjeska has been invited to act as president on this occasion, and has accepted the invitation to preside. As Robert M. Eberle is chairman of the entertainment committee, the invited guests are assured that the recitations and musical selections will be of the first order. The lower part of the house will be reserved for ladies and their escorts. The tickets are complimentary, and can only be obtained from members of the organization. The programme will be a souvenir for the ladies attending.

Albert Hosmer opens at the People's Theatre Feb. 18th in the sensational drama of A Life for a Lash.

The Jeffreys-Lewis season at the Standard has closed. Miss Lewis is organizing a company for an extended interior season. The Standard will probably soon be opened again, as there are several parties figuring for it.

Hilda Thomas has replaced Miss Martha Porteous in Hallen and Hart's Later On company.

The business at the Broadway theatres in New York has been seriously hurt by the car strike.

Helen Dauvray, who has returned from Europe, will play a spring season in One of our Girls and A Scrap of Paper, beginning at the end of February. She says that she has brought no new play with her.

By command of the son of heaven Shakespeare is to be translated into Chinese.

Revivals of Shakespeare are plentiful in London this season: Macbeth at the Lyceum, Hamlet at the Princess, Merry Wives at the Haymarket, Richard III, at the Globe, and As You Like It at the Croydon.

Eddie Kilday, who graduated from the box office of the California Theatre, has been Grismer's agent in his extended season Eastward and represents him here. Eddie says he never gave California a black eye.

The Spanish Opera Co. appear at the Orpheum to-night, in El Gran Mogol, a spectacular opera in four acts, with a grand ballet. For list of company see extra programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

In the "Fall of the Bastile," next week at the Grand, 200 people will be massed on the stage in the scene of the storming of the Bastile, and in the grand old song, the "Marseillaise," all the voices will be heard.

The first annual entertainment of the Press Club of San Francisco will be given at the Baldwin Theatre Thursday afternoon, Feb. 14th. An olio performance will be given, in which the leading members of the dramatic profession will participate. Manager Al Hayman has offered the Baldwin Theatre for the occasion, and the managers of the Alcazar, Bush and Orpheum Theatres and the Tivoli Opera House have promised to lend their aid. In addition to the talent from the various theatres, a large number of well known and clever artists have volunteered their services. Mr. Robert M. Eberle will act as stage manager. The box office now open for sale of seats at Baldwin Theatre.

The costumes in "Penelope" come from Europe. They are rich and elegant, and the Spartan maidens and the nymphs of Calypso show them off to fine advantage. Those for the Amazon march are in exquisite taste.

C. H. Kenney has the spirit of humor in action and reading, and is notably good in make-up as King of Sparta in Penelope. He has a good idea of burlesque.

The stage settings in Fairfax are more than usually good. Especially is this true of the setting of the second act, which is the best the Alcazar management have ever given us, and that is saying a great deal, for it has always been Mr. George Wallenrod's ambition to have the best that it was possible to obtain. No wonder that he values his cosy theatre as the miser does his gold.

Millie Marion, as Cupid, is the fairest figure in Penelope.

Joseph Grismer and Phœbe Davies are giving a good performance at the Alcazar in Fairfax, a drama of the South. See cast in programme elsewhere in FIGARO.

Mrs. Farmer (reading catalogue) — Two dogs, after Landseer. Farmer—But where is Landseer? I don't see him. Mrs. Farmer—Why, surely you don't suppose he would stay there with those two ferocious-looking brutes after him. I know I shouldn't if I were in his place.

"Will you have a piece of this nice mince pie, Tommy," said Tommy's aunt, with whom he was taking his dinner. "Please, ma'am," replied the little fellow, holding

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Co., the most complete organization of the kind in the United States, appear in a new burlesque at the Bush.

Stephens and Solomon's satirical burlesque of Penelope had its first performance here this week, in which the classical story of the love of Icarius' daughter for the disguised Ulysses, and his adventures on the enchanted island of Calypso is wittily, musically and most pleasingly told.

The Chronicle claims that "the performance of Penelope was as bright and sparkling as that of Columbus was dull and uninteresting. The music is for the most part better than the average of ordinary burlesque music, and the interpolated songs are well chosen and well rendered. Theatre-going people who saw the Lydia Thompson troupe the first week and were disappointed should see Penelope, as this play gives a much better idea of what English burlesque really is; and, besides, is very much better suited to the company, which is more than half the battle in a performance of this sort."

Lydia Thompson, of course, shines as the star of the scintillating burlesquers, and is the magnet of the constellation. The ladies act with charming grace and spirit and the comedians distinguish themselves in the fun-making and burlesquing lines. Kenney shows to fine advantage as King Icarius.

The company have talent and culture to recommend them. The costumes and appointments are rich and elegant. The Amazon March in the last act is the handsomest dressed one ever seen here.

The cast can be found in the programme on first page.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it, and we are pleased to note the full and fashionable audiences that grace his handsome theatre.

Baldwin Theatre.

Second week of Modjeska.

Camille will be the bill for this evening, set apart by Manager Hayman and Mme. Modjeska for the benefit of that worthy veteran and best of stage managers, Robert M. Eberle. A deservedly full house is assured.

Saturday matinee, Camille.

Mary Stuart, that moving and strong historic play, will have its last production Saturday evening.

No performance Sunday night.

Modjeska appears in her great character of Rosalind in "As You Like It" for her farewell week, commencing on Monday.

Alcazar Theatre.

The Grismer-Davies Company, after an extended and successful tour, opened in Bartley Campbell's play, Fairfax, this week. Fairfax is a beautiful comedy-drama of Southern life.

Mr. Grismer plays the comedy role with great ease and smoothness, and he is ably seconded by his charming wife, who gives us a clever impersonation of the warm tempered Southern girl.

Miss Brandon is in every way equal to the demand made upon her as the suffering Gladys.

Mr. James Carden and Charley Bates come in for warm praise, as does also Fanny Bowman.

For cast see programme.

Augustin Daly's New York success, Under the Gaslight, is underlined for next week.

Grand Opera House.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, two popular stars, supported by Darrell Vinton and a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, The Fall of the Bastile and The Corsican Brothers, next week. The performances are for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights, Ancient Order of United Workmen. The scenes of the Fall of the Bastile are the Storming of the Bastile, the quarrel scene, the duel, the "Marseillaise" by the people of Paris and the execution by guillotine; in some of which the stage will be massed with the wild Revolu-

The Corsican Brothers will be the bill for Saturday and Sunday nights. A special feature of the performance will be the permission given by the management to participate in the grand masquerade scene, lasting from 30 to 45 minutes, for which there are already many applicants.

Mr. Warner will continue at the Grand later in the season in his great part of Sir Giles Overreach, in which character he has no equal on the stage.

Orpheum Opera House.

Cantelis & Pastor's Madrid Opera Co. commence their season of grand opera, in Spanish and Italian, at the Orpheum to-night, in the spectacular opera, El Gran Mogul, with grand ballet. Opera matinees Saturday and Sunday.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four primo tenors, four primo baritones, four basso profundos, four comedians, fifteen second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices, and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Senor Vincent d'Allesio.

For classified list of the members of the company see programme advertisement of Orpheum.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week, Mr. Thornton in the sensational drama of The Headless Horseman, introducing the sensational scenes of the midnight assassination, the great concert hall, the hanging, the wonderful mirage, the exciting fire scene and the trial by Judge Lynch. Mr. Thornton plays the part of Maurice Gerald, a young Irish refugee, very effectively. The support is well rendered, and the play is a great go at Morosco's.

Next week's attraction for Mr. Thornton's third week will be the sensational drama Tried for Treason.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

Vienna Garden Theatr —Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and has greatly improved it every way, at an outlay of some $2,000.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

The opening company is the Pavanelli Troupe, famed for their grotesque musical acts; the great Ellwood, late of Emerson's Minstrels; Jas. T. Kelly, comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford (late of the Tivoli) in musical sketches; Miss Laura Ashby, equilibristic wonder; Miss Annie Suits, soubrette and songstress; Harry Orndorff, Miss Kitty O'Neill and others not forgetting the somewhat different comedian in his popular specialties.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The new Vienna turned people away Saturday and Sunday nights, and business remains good.

See programme announcement on this page. Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, opened as a dramatic theatre, at popular prices, Saturday last, with Geo. H. Heath's combination in Ewing's dramatic version of "Widow Bedott," its first appearance in this city. The piece is of the Peck's Bad Boy order, lively and funny, and the cast is an efficient one.

Matinee on Sunday.

Horace Ewing is one of the best Widow Bedotts we have had here. His simulation of the character is very clever work.

Martin & Lonsdale appear in a musical sketch as the opening piece, entitled Crazy Patch—clever in act and business.

Business pans out well at the People's.

Frank Huffman holds the managerial reins.

That well constructed play of standard worth, The Ticket-of-Leave Man, will be next week's bill at the People's.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of Female Mastodons, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their original and new production of the French Masquerade Ball at Woodward's Gardens, with a new version of the Can-Can.

Prof. John L. Sullivano and Hattie Talboto will contribute a four round contest every evening.

Ned Barry, motto vocalist; the Whalens; Minnie Pierce, trapeze artist; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Grant & Martin and Miss Mabel Harrison are the new faces this week.

The French Can-Can, in the Garden Mabile, introducing tableaux of Adam and Eve, the Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this

MONDAY, FEB. 11th—BEAUTIFUL PRODUCTION OF

"AS YOU LIKE IT."

Dolph Levino gives a new act, Watkins' Party. Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Mabel Harrison, Reta Gardner, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Effie Hull, Maggie Gordon and others form the female staff of the company.

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

This week is the first of Robinson & Cole's Great International Circus of 50 performers; a 42-foot ring on the stage, in which six lady aerial artistes, ten double somersault throwers, ten high vaulters and four funny clowns present their various specialties.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaude ville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Belle Manning, Blanche Leslie, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Mr. Tommy Morris, comedian and vocalist, makes his first appearance this week.

The fun commences with a few remarks from the Comique's Komedy Katerers.

Tommy Morris, comedian, and McPherson, favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

The Komedy Katerers opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio, then the laughable comedy, Justice, and the funny farce, Sims' Troubles, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Monday evening, Feb. 11th, first appearance of Miss Belle Almont, the charming serio-comic vocalists.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coolest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are seven lady vocalists this week.

The fine sketch artists, Chas. Berkeley and May Howard, make their first appearance this week.

Flora Parker, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, Bob McDonald Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

The funny Farmer Squinton's Trouble forms the dramatic part of the entertainment, in the hands of McDonald, Berkeley, Dunham, Mamie Sanford and Company.

Sardou, has at last admitted that he is writing a play in collaboration with Blanche Roosevelt. His admission has created a great deal of comment in France. It is regarded there as a very remarkable thing that the greatest genius of the native dramatists should choose an American to collaborate with. The Sardou-Roosevelt play will be founded on Miss Roosevelt's novel, The Copper Queen.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Tony Hart, the Irish comedian, has so far recovered as to warrant his removal from the insane asylum at Worcester, Mass., to the home of his parents at that place. It has been said that Hart had incipient paresis. It is to be hoped that the convalescence will continue, and that he will be able to resume his position on the stage.

Leo & Mason open at the Wonderland next week.

Farini's Grand Australian Circus united with the World's Circus opens for a short season at Central Park, Market and Eighth streets, on Feb. 21st Popular prices will rule. Announcement in FIGARO in due time.

Cort's Standard Theatre, Portland, Feb. 4th: Chas. B. Nelson, Durell Twin Bros., Leo & De Varo, Jessie Chapman, Lassard & Lucifer, Eugene Ward, Annie Ryner, Emerson & West, Dot Melville, Ida Chester, Jennie Fowler, Hattie Meyers, Ashley & Hess, Allen & Conklin, Lang & Sharp, Clara Stanley, Ida Campbell, Zanfretta Family, Winchell Twin Sisters, Mollie Le Roy, Bijou Mignon, Effie Hueston, Minnie Hughes and Louise Lester.

The musical sketch artists, Martin & Lonsdale, are doing a remarkably strong act at the People's Theatre this week. Both have more than usually good voices, which harmonize finely in their duets, and the lady dresses with elegance and taste. They are a strong card in any house.

The Central Park Association, D. R. McNeil, manager, has hung up a purse of $1,000 for the San Francisco and Knickerbockers to play for, on the park baseball grounds, Market and Eighth streets. Two games, one next Sunday and the other the following Sunday, will be played, the winning club to take $600 and the losing team $400.

Manager Walterstein announces two skating races to be held at the Seaside Gardens on Feb. 10th, a money prize to be contested for by two ladies and two gentlemen.

The managers at the Comique see no reason why they should make many changes in their programme so long as last week's has proved so good. Miss Ravenna has been added to the list of singers, and the laugh farce, Just from Troy, concludes the bill.

Miss A.—Don't you find New York society rather empty and unsatisfactory? Mr. S.—Not necessarily. You can take your choice in that respect. There is the Bohemian set, all brains and no style; society proper, with a fair ammount of each, and the Four Hundred, all style and no brains.

Miss Westend — Here are cards for my cousin's wedding reception; but as it is in Chicago, of course I can't go. In sending my card should I write "Congratulations" or anything? Chicago Aunt — Certainly, my dear; write on it, "Many happy returns."

A health writer says "the washtub an excellant gymnasium." But will our young ladies take kindly to it? As Mr. Bacon says in Shakspeare's works: "Ay, there's the rub." And it is the "rub" that makes a washtub unpopular as a gymnasium.

Fair matron—"Won't you let your wife take a chance in this lottery?" Husband—"O, no; she never draws anything worth having." "Well, you know, marriage is a lottery, sir." "Yes — er — that is — well, put her name down."

Merritt—Nice smoking jacket that. Kind of your wife to make it for you. Young Husband — Why, how do you know my wife made it for me? Merritt — I notice that the buttons are sewed down the wrong side.

"I never saw such a man as Quimby. You can't believe a word he says." "I heard him say a thing yesterday I fully believe." "What was that?" "He claimed to be the champion liar of the State."

"I — aw — wahn't a tie, donchernow, to match my eyes." "Let me see. Blue eyes and—er—sorry, sir, but our blue ties with red edges are all sold. Have some in next week."

Solomon, the composer, has a firm grip on immortality. Mendelssohn made himself famous by his "Wedding March." Solomon is going to compose the "Divorce March," a companion to it.

When you see a red headed girl there is

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Charlie Cook goes ahead of Modjeska. He has started out already.

The Legions of Select Knights of A. O. U. W. of San Francisco, who have the benefit entertainments at the Grand Opera House next week, will meet the Grand Legion Officers and Select Knights of Oakland at the Oakland ferry and escort them in parade to the Opera House Monday night.

Dan McCullough, late treasurer at the Baldwin, goes to Los Angeles.

Suppose that Radcliffe should swallow that cigar some night.

Mme. Modjeska will not play the Northern circuit, at least on the dates contemplated.

Ben and Idalene Cotten play Sacramento next week and put in a week at the Bijou on the 25th.

The Press Club will have an overflowing house at their benefit at the Baldwin on the afternoon of the 14th. Their valentine is assured.

Paul Juignet, the French actor, died Feb. 8th from a stroke of apoplexy. M. Juignot was 56 years of age. He entered the theatrical profession at 17. M. Juignet has made his appearance frequently in the past few years before the San Francisco public in French plays and always with great success.

Miss Rose Easton, the actress, owing to an attachment suit, was obliged to suspend the performance of The Octoroon at the Tivoli Theatre, Oakland, Feb. 5th, until after 9 o'clock. Miss Easton is unfortunately burdened with a worthless cub of a husband, and she has struggled alone to build up the Tivoli. Satisfactory financial arrangements have been made and the house will remain open. Her company is an excellent one and they have been playing to large, fashionable and well pleased audiences, and Miss Easton has the hearty sympathy of the Oakland community in her single handed fight.

The twenty-first anniversary of the organization of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks will be held at the Baldwin Theatre Sunday night, Feb. 17, and the Elks will celebrate their arriving at age in great style. Manager Al Hayman has kindly donated the use of the theatre for that night without charge. Once or twice a year the Elks give a ladies' social and always invite a lady to act for the night as president. Mme. Modjeska has been invited to act as president on this occasion, and has accepted the invitation to preside. As Robert M. Eberle is chairman of the entertainment committee, the invited guests are assured that the recitations and musical selections will be of the first order. The lower part of the house will be reserved for ladies and their escorts. The tickets are complimentary, and can only be obtained from members of the organization. The programme will be a souvenir for the ladies attending.

Albert Hosmer opens at the People's Theatre Feb. 18th in the sensational drama of A Life for a Lash.

By command of the son of heaven Shakespeare is to be translated into Chinese.

Revivals of Shakespeare are plentiful in London this season: Macbeth at the Lyceum, Hamlet at the Princess, Merry Wives at the Haymarket, Richard III, at the Globe, and As You Like It at the Croydon.

In the "Fall of the Bastile," next week at the Grand, 200 people will be massed on the stage in the scene of the storming of the Bastile, and in the grand old song, the "Marseillaise," all the voices will be heard.

The first annual entertainment of the Press Club of San Francisco will be given at the Baldwin Theatre Thursday afternoon, Feb. 14th. An olio performance will be given, in which the leading members of the dramatic profession will participate. Manager Al Hayman has offered the Baldwin Theatre for the occasion, and the managers of the Alcazar, Bush and Orpheum Theatres and the Tivoli Opera House have promised to lend their aid. In addition to the talent from the various theatres, a large number of well known and clever artists have volunteered their services. Mr. Robert M. Eberle will act as stage manager. The box office now open for sale of seats at Baldwin Theatre.

Mr., Farmer (reading catalogue) — Two dogs, after Landseer. Farmer—But where is Landseer? I don't see him. Mrs. Farmer—Why, surely you don't suppose he would stay there with those two ferocious-looking brutes after him. I know I shouldn't if I were in his place.

"Will you have a piece of this nice mince pie, Tommy," said Tommy's aunt, with whom he was taking his dinner. "Please, ma'am," replied the little fellow, holding his plate, "but you might put two pieces on now; mamma has taught me never to pass my plate back for the second piece."

Tourist (to stage-driver in the Yellowstone region) — Are there any wonderful curiosities to be seen in this region, driver? Stage-driver—Wonderful curiosities! Well I should say there were! Why, you drop a rock down that gorge, come back in three days and you can hear the echo.

Oculist—When did your eyes first become inflamed? Patient — Yesterday I went up to a lady to speak to her and the peak of her bonnet — Oculist — I see. We have many such cases. Use this lotion and be careful while the present fashion lasts to do your talking to ladies by telephone.

EVENING EDITION

SUNDAY.....FEBRUARY 9, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Co., appear in a new burlesque at the Bush this week, in which the classical story of the love of Penelope's daughter for the disguised Ulysses, and his adventures on the enchanted island of Circe, is wittily, musically and most pleasingly told.

The Chronicle claims that "the performance of Penelope was bright and sparkling and a great improvement on that of Columbus.

Lydia Thompson, of course, shines as the star of the scintillating burlesquers, and is the magnet of the constellation. The ladies act with charming grace and spirit and the comedians distinguish themselves in the fun-making and burlesquing lines. Kenney shows to fine advantage as King Icarius.

The company have talent and culture to recommend them. The costumes and appointments are rich and elegant. The Amazon March in the last act is the handsomest dressed one ever seen here.

The cast can be found in the programme on this page.

The famous burlesque of Robinson Crusoe will be the bright attraction for next week.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it, and we are pleased to note the full and fashionable audiences that grace his handsome theatre.

Baldwin Theatre.

Second week of Modjeska.

A fine performance of Camille last night and a large house for the benefit of Mr. Eberle.

Mary Stuart, that moving and strong historic play, will have its last production Saturday evening.

No performance Sunday night.

Modjeska appears in her great character of Rosalind in "As You Like It" for her farewell week, commencing on Monday.

Alcazar Theatre.

The Grismer-Davies Company, after an extended and successful tour, opened in Bartley Campbell's play, Fairfax, this week. Fairfax is a beautiful comedy-drama of Southern life.

Mr. Grismer plays the comedy role with great ease and smoothness, and he is ably seconded by his charming wife, who gives us a clever impersonation of the warm tempered Southern girl.

Miss Brandon is in every way equal to the demand made upon her as the suffering Gladys.

Mr. James Carden and Charley Bates come in for warm praise, as does also Fanny Bowman.

For cast see programme.

Augustin Daly's New York success, Under the Gaslight, is underlined for next week.

Grand Opera House.

Hall Warner and Rose Wood, two popular stars, supported by Darrell Vinton and a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, The Fall of the Bastile and The Corsican Brothers, next week. The performances are for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights, Ancient Order of United Workmen. The scenes in the Fall of the Bastile are the Storming of the Bastile, the quarrel scene, the duel, the "Marseillaise" by the people of Paris and the execution by guillotine; in some of which [illegible] will be massed with the wild Revolutionists.

[illegible] announce programme.

Box sheet now open.

The San Francisco Legions will escort the delegation of Oakland from the ferry to the Grand Opera House Monday night, and the curtain will not rise on that night until 8:30.

Figaro furnishes the programme for the week.

The Corsican Brothers will be the bill for Saturday and Sunday nights. A special feature of the performance will be the permission given by the management to participate in the grand masquerade scene, lasting from 20 to 45 minutes, for which there are already many applicants.

Warner will continue at the Grand later in the season in his great part of Sir Giles Overreach, in which character he has no equal on the stage.

Orpheum Opera House.

[illegible]is & Pastor's Madrid Opera Co. commence their season of grand opera, in Spanish and Italian, at the Orpheum on Friday, in [illegible] Gran Mogul with

The Orpheum has an opera boom. Senora Alemany made a decided hit, musically, dramatically and personally. She has a fine voice and is so vivacious and pleasing in manner as to suggest a comparison with Aimee in both the Call and Chronicle. She will become a great favorite, if not a Mascot. Senors Rodrigues, Labrada, Vargas and Gutierrez proved themselves reliable artists. The chorus is well trained and good.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four primo tenors, four primo baritones, four basso profundos, four comedians, fifteen second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices, and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Senor Vincent d'Allesio. Those who have appeared have impressed their audience very favorably.

For classified list of the members of the company see programme advertisement of Orpheum.

Ricci's opera of Campanone, with ballet, will be given Saturday and Sunday nights, and El Gran Mogul for Sunday matinee.

A change of opera most every night. Opera matinees Saturday and Sunday.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week, Mr. Thornton in the sensational drama of The Headless Horseman, introducing the sensational scenes of the midnight assassination, the great concert hall, the hanging, the wonderful mirage, the exciting fire scene and the trial by Judge Lynch. Mr. Thornton plays the part of Maurice Gerald, a young Irish refugee, very effectively. The support is well rendered, and the play is a great go at Morosco's.

Next week's attraction for Mr. Thornton's third week will be the sensational drama Tried for Treason.

Matinees Sundays, at 2 P. M. Admission, 10 cents. Front reserved seats 10 cents extra.

Vienna Garden Theatre—Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and has greatly improved it every way, at an outlay of some $2,000.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

The opening company is the Pavanelli Troupe, famed for their grotesque musical acts; the great Ellwood, late of Emerson's Minstrels; Jas. T. Kelly, comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford (late of the Tivoli) in musical sketches; Miss Laura Ashby, equilibristic wonder; Miss Annie Suits, soubrette and songstress; Harry Orndorff, Miss Kitty O'Neill and others not forgetting the somewhat different comedian in his popular specialties.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The new Vienna turned people away Saturday and Sunday nights, and business remains good.

See programme announcement on this page.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

Next week the Stanley Sisters are the new faces and the old favorites remain.

A startling novelty and monster attraction is promised for the week of Feb. 18th.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342-1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, opened as a dramatic theatre, at popular prices, Saturday last, with Geo. H. Heath's combination in Ewing's dramatic version of "Widow Bedott," its first appearance in this city. The piece is of the Peck's Bad Boy order, lively and funny, and the cast is an efficient one.

Matinee on Sunday.

Horace Ewing is one of the best Widow Bedotts we have had here. His simulation of the character is very clever work.

Martin & Lonsdale appear in a musical sketch as the opening piece, entitled Crazy Patch—clever in act and business.

Business pans out well at the People's.

Frank Huffman holds the managerial reins.

That well constructed play of standard worth, The Ticket-of-Leave Man, will be next week's bill at the People's.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

Billy Arnold and his troupe of Female Mastodons, headed by the Burlesque Queen, Lida Gardner, appear this week in their original and new production of the French Masquerade Ball at Woodward's Gardens, with a new version of the Can-Can.

Prof. John L. Sullivano and Hattie Talboto will contribute a four round contest every evening.

Ned Barry, motto vocalist; the Whalens; Minnie Pierce, trapeze artist; John P. Brace, F. J. Tierney, Bursell, the Stanley Sisters, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Bertha Waring, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Next week the new people are the Miranda Sisters, George R. Brooks, comedian, and Miss Della Turner, vocalist. Ned Barry's new spectacular naval first part, introducing the full company in full naval uniform, on board the good ship Nancy Lee, will commence the performance.

MONDAY, FEB. 11th—BEAUTIFUL PRODUCTION OF

"AS YOU LIKE IT."

Downfall of Man, the Beautiful Gates Ajar, the Wily Serpent, etc., produced with new scenery and surprising mechanical effects, is this week's attraction at the Cremorne.

The bill opens with Hayes & Marion's laughable farce, The Spectre Bridegroom.

Dolph Levino gives a new act, Watkins' Party. Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Mabel Harrison, Beta Gardner, Susie Levino, Ada King, Millie Davenport, Effie Hull, Maggie Gordon and others form the female staff of the company.

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

This week is the first of Robinson & Cole's Great International Circus of 50 performers; a 42-foot ring on the stage, in which six lady aerial artistes, ten double somersault throwers, ten high vaulters and four funny clowns present their various specialties.

The Wonderland caters for a family patronage on the principal that the first-class Eastern museums have been established.

Admission to museum and performance one dime. Reserved seats 5 cents extra.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Belle Manning, Blanche Leslie, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Mr. Tommy Morris, comedian and vocalist, makes his first appearance this week.

The fun commences with a few remarks from the Comique's Komedy Katerers.

Tommy Morris, comedian, and McPherson, favorite comedian, vocalist and dancer, appear in acts and specialties.

The Komedy Katerers opens the bill, followed by a full and diversified olio, then the laughable comedy, Justice, and the funny farce, Sims' Troubles, closes the bill. The attendance is uniformly good.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Monday evening, Feb. 11th, first appearance of Miss Belle Almont, the charming serio-comic vocalistе.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are seven lady vocalists this week.

The fine sketch artists, Chas. Berkeley and May Howard, make their first appearance this week.

Flora Parker, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, Bob McDonald Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpieces. The [illegible]

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Tony Hart, the Irish comedian, has so far recovered as to warrant his removal from the insane asylum at Worcester, Mass., to the home of his parents at that place. It has been said that Hart had incipient paresis. It is to be hoped that the convalescence will continue, and that he will be able to resume his position on the stage.

Leo & Mason open at the Wonderland this week.

Farini's Grand Australian Circus united with the World's Circus opens for a short season at Central Park, Market and Eighth streets, on Feb. 21st. Popular prices will rule. Announcement in FIGARO in due time.

The musical sketch artists, Martin & Lonsdale, do a remarkably strong act. Both have more than usually good voices, which harmonize finely in their duets, and the lady dresses with elegance and taste. They are a strong card in any house.

The managers at the Comique see no reason why they should make many changes in their programme so long as last week's has proved so good.

Cort's Standard Theatre, Portland, Feb. 4th: Chas. B. Nelson, Durell Twin Bros., Leo & De Varo, Jessie Chapman, Lassard & Lucifer, Eugene Ward, Annie Ryner, Emerson & West, Dot Melville, Ida Chester, Jennie Fowler, Hattie Meyers, Ashley & Hess, Allen & Conklin, Lang & Sharp, Clara Stanley, Ida Campbell, Zanfretta Family, Winchell Twin Sisters, Mollie Le Roy, Bijou Mignon, Effie Hueston, Minnie Hughes and Louise Lester.

OUR HANDSOME THEATRES.

San Francisco now has three handsome theatres. The Bush Street is really a perfect gem in every respect. The decorations are perfect, reflecting a soft and mellow light, refreshing and restful to the eye and not trying to the beauty of either blonde or brunette. It harmonizes all colors in dress. Next comes the Moorish temple, the favorite Alcazar—strength hidden by lines of beauty—subdued in color, perfect in tinting, and unexcelled in ventilation and acoustic properties. The quaint little theatre will always rank among the first. The Baldwin is the showiest of them all. It has more bizarre effects, but it falls behind in the way of harmony of colors. It resembles the showy beauty who attracts the eye, but does not charm the senses as does the gentler and more demure sister at her side. The race for superiority lies very evenly, with the odds just a little in favor of our first love. Another rival is coming rapidly to the front, and Manager Leavitt has again shown his sagacity in having his practically new theatre in the field before the new California enters into the contest.

Miss A.—Don't you find New York society rather empty and unsatisfactory? Mr. S.—Not necessarily. You can take your choice in that respect. There is the Bohemian set, all brains and no style; society proper, with a fair ammount of each, and the Four Hundred, all style and no brains.

Miss Westend — Here are cards for my cousin's wedding reception; but as it is in Chicago, of course I can't go. In sending my regret should I write "Congratulations" or anything? Chicago Aunt — Certainly, my dear; write on it, "Many happy returns."

A Utah writer says "the washtub an excellent gymnasium." But will our young men take kindly to it? As Mr. Bacon says in Shakspeare's works: "Ay, there's the rub." And it is the "rub" that makes a washtub unpopular as a gymnasium.

Fair matron—"Won't you let your wife take a chance in this lottery?" Husband—"O, no; she never draws anything worth having." "Well you know, marriage is a lottery, sir." "Yes — er — that is — well, put her name down."

Merritt—Nice smoking jacket that. Kind of your wife to make it for you. Young husband — Why, how do you know my wife made it for me? Merritt — I notice that the buttons are sewed down the wrong way.

"I never saw such a man as Quimby. You can't believe a word he says." "I don't believe he says a word he can't."

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Charlie Cook goes ahead of Modjeska. He has started out already.

The Legions of Select Knights of A. O. U. W. of San Francisco, who have the benefit entertainments at the Grand Opera House this week, will meet the Grand Legion Officers and Select Knights of Oakland at the Oakland ferry and escort them in parade to the Opera House to-night.

Dan McCullough, late treasurer at the Baldwin, goes to Los Angeles.

Suppose that Radcliffe should swallow that cigar some night.

Mme. Modjeska will not play the Northern circuit, at least on the dates contemplated.

Ben and Idalene Cotten play Sacramento this week and put in a week at the Bijou on the 25th.

The Press Club will have an overflowing house at their benefit at the Baldwin on the afternoon of the 14th. Their valentine is assured.

Paul Juignet, the French actor, died Feb. 8th from a stroke of apoplexy. M. Juignot was 56 years of age. He entered the theatrical profession at 17. M. Juignet has made his appearance frequently in the past few years before the San Francisco public in French plays and always with great success.

The twenty-first anniversary of the organization of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks will be held at the Baldwin Theatre Sunday night, Feb. 17, and the Elks will celebrate their arriving at age in great style. Manager Al Hayman has kindly donated the use of the theatre for that night without charge. Once or twice a year the Elks give a ladies' social and always invite a lady to act for the night as president. Mme. Modjeska has been invited to act as president on this occasion, and has accepted the invitation to preside. As Robert M. Eberle is chairman of the entertainment committee, the invited guests are assured that the recitations and musical selections will be of the first order. The lower part of the house will be reserved for ladies and their escorts. The tickets are complimentary, and can only be obtained from members of the organization. The programme will be a souvenir for the ladies attending.

Albert Hosmer opens at the People's Theatre Feb. 18th in the sensational drama of A Life for a Lash.

By command of the son of heaven Shakespeare is to be translated into Chinese.

Revivals of Shakespeare are plentiful in London this season: Macbeth at the Lyceum, Hamlet at the Princess, Merry Wives at the Haymarket, Richard III, at the Globe, and As You Like It at the Croydon.

In the "Fall of the Bastile," this week at the Grand, 200 people will be massed on the stage in the scene of the storming of the Bastile, and in the grand old song, the "Marseillaise," all the voices will be heard.

The first annual entertainment of the Press Club of San Francisco will be given at the Baldwin Theatre Thursday afternoon, Feb. 14th. An olio performance will be given, in which the leading members of the dramatic profession will participate. Manager Al Hayman has offered the Baldwin Theatre for the occasion, and the managers of the Alcazar, Bush and Orpheum Theatres and the Tivoli Opera House have promised to lend their aid. In addition to the talent from the various theatres, a large number of well known and clever artists have volunteered their services. Mr. Robert M. Eberle will act as stage manager. The box office now open for sale of seats at Baldwin Theatre.

Mrs. Farmer (reading catalogue) — Two dogs, after Landseer. Farmer—But where is Landseer? I don't see him. Mrs. Farmer—Why, surely you don't suppose he would stay there with those two ferocious-looking brutes after him. I know I shouldn't if I were in his place.

"Will you have a piece of this nice mince pie, Tommy," said Tommy's aunt, with whom he was taking his dinner. "Please, ma'am," replied the little fellow, holding his plate, "but you might put two pieces on now; mamma has taught me never to pass my plate back for the second piece."

Tourist (to stage-driver in the Yellowstone region) — Are there any wonderful curiosities to be seen in this region, driver? Stage-driver—Wonderful curiosities! Well I should say there were! Why, you drop a rock down that gorge, come back in three days and you can hear the echo.

Oculist—When did your eyes first become inflamed? Patient — Yesterday I went up to a lady to speak to her and the peak of her bonnet — Oculist — I see. We have many such cases. Use this lotion and be careful while the present fashion lasts to do your talking to ladies by telephone.

"Hello, Jones, where are you going?" "Getting ready to develop my gold mine." "What machinery do you use?" "None. I'll take my wife along. She is the best person to find hidden pockets I know of."

"Ah, you are out with Miss Bromley?" "Oh, no. She made me a present last night. I asked her for her hand, and she gave me the next thing to it." "The mitten?" "Precisely."

"I — aw — wahn't a tie, donchernow, to match my eyes." "Let me see. Blue eyes and—er—sorry, sir, but our blue ties with red edges are all sold. Have some in next week."

Examinations for enterance to the New York asylums are so strict that few residents of the Empire State know enough to go crazy.

Passenger (on street-car, alarmed) — Conductor, that man is trying to get off the car while it is in motion. Conductor — Let him alone, he pays his fare.

IN VINO VERITAS.

Let a man be well mellowed with wine,
And his nature will quickly appear.
If it be genial and kind,
The liquor will make it more clear;
But if he's a villain ingrain,
The tipple will act like a spell,
And expose from his innocent brain
The thoughts and conceptions of hell!

Then pass 'round the bottle and drink,
That the truths of our souls we may glean;
And he who refuses, we'll think,
Has a heart that he fears to be seen.

Jack—Well, Clara made her debut at the reception as Cleopatra last night. Jack's Sister — Did she come out with honor? Jack, doubtfully—N-no, she didn't come out with much on her.

Notice to Stage Managers.

We cannot make changes in Programmes after two (2) P. M. All changes handed in after that hour will have to lay over until next day.

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

This is the last week of Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Company, and the famous burlesque of Robinson Crusoe will be the bright attraction for the week. Farnie's work stands at the head of this line of business, and the piece has had careful preparation to produce it in complete shape.

As the Chronicle says: "The company have grown in favor and the audiences have been made up of the best of our theatre-goers, a compliment not often paid to burlesque performances."

The company is talented. The ladies act with charming grace and spirit and the comedians distinguish themselves in the fun-making and burlesquing lines.

The cast can be found in the programme on first page.

On Friday evening a souvenir benefit will be tendered to Miss Thompson, upon which occasion every lady attending will be presented with a beautiful cabinet portrait of Miss Thompson.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it, and we are pleased to note the full and fashionable audiences that grace his handsome theatre.

—o—

Chas. H. Hoyt's funny farce comedy, "A Hole in the Ground," will be next week's attraction.

Baldwin Theatre.

Modjeska appears in her great character of Rosalind in "As You Like It" for her farewell week, with the exception of Friday night, when Mary Stuart will be reproduced for that night only.

On Thursday afternoon, St. Valentine's Day, the testimonial performance tendered to the Press Club, by the united talent of our theatres, comes off at this theatre. The bill is one of the best ever presented here, and includes operatic, dramatic and specialty numbers.

The Elks' invitation ladies' night, Mme. Modjeska presiding, on Sunday night.

J. K. Emmett, in "Fritz," next week.

Alcazar Theatre.

Joe B. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, supported by the Alcazar company.

Augustin Daly's New York success, Under the Gaslight, is the attraction this week with a strong cast.

Grand Opera House.
